Canada's Biggest Union Drives for Retirement Pay Of 75 PC of Top Income

TORONTO (CP)—The United Steelworkers of America (CLC) Canada's biggest union, pointed the way Thursday toward a drive for workers' retirement pay of 75 per cent of their top income.

The 110,000 - member union's national policy conference also was told by the new international secretary - treasurer, Walter J. Burke, that labor will have to aim for a drastically-shortened work week of perhaps 30 hours to take up job displacements caused by automation.

Mr. Burke, who won office in hotly - disputed union elections February, said in his first Canadian appearance since then that automation is a big problem confronting unions and it calls for a shorter work week, which should be obtained through national legislation.

"I'm talking of something approximately a 30-hour week, both in Canada and the United States," he said, although he admitted there would be difficulty convincing governments.

PASS RESOLUTION

On retirement pay, the 387 delegates at the annual two-day session passed a resolution after hearing National Director William Matonex say the goal should be a retirement income of 75 per cent of workers' top pay after 3 years' service.

The period should be shortened in cases of disability, with the amount should take into account cost - of - living fluctuations, the conference said in its resolution. It would include what a worker received from the Canada Pension Plan plus industrial pensions on a non-contributory basis.

Mr. Mahoney, in his annual report, called for "priority action" to establish guaranteed earnings of 75 per cent of normal pay in event of unemployment, sickness or accident. He also said wage discrepencies should be adjusted between different parts of the country and between Canada and the U.S.

DISCUSSION SET

Due for discussion today is a proposal from a section of the 20,000 - member local 1005 at Hamilton for more autonomy for the Canadian division of the union, whose headquarters is in Pittsburgh.

Mike Mahon, a Hamilton resolution on the issue has not yet reached the floor, newly-elected president of the local said in a direct belt at it during the day by saying "Nothing could be further from the truth" than the idea that membership interests would be better served by dividing the international.

Making his first Canadian speech since he deposed David J. McDonald in the election, Mr. Abel said the steel union's success has been due to uniting the strength of the Canadian and American branches. The Canadian section already enjoyed broad autonomy.

IMMIGRATION GAINS

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration to Canada totalled 22,779 in the first quarter of 1965, a gain of 4,723 from the same period of 1964, the immigration department reported Thursday. Arrivals from Italy topped the list at 4,828 as compared to 2,706 a year ago. Britain supplied 4,714 of the newcomers, against 3,811 in the comparable 1964 period.

Education Aid Platform Plank Added by PCs

OTTAWA (CP)—With an eye on the next election campaign, the Progressive Conservatives have drafted an aid - to - education platform plank which includes making municipal taxes paid by home owners a deductible expense for federal income tax.

The proposal is part of a program to assist in the burden of paying for secondary education.

The second feature involves an extension of the capital-cost grants for school construction.

This is an outgrowth of the program put into effect by the former Progressive Conservative government of aid to building technical and vocational schools.

Under this program, the federal and provincial governments made agreements whereby the federal government contributed up to 75 per cent of the construction costs of technical schools.

Informants say the plan is to extend this contributory system to other secondary schools.

A third aspect of the proposed platform calls for increasing the per capita grant paid to universities to $3 from the present $2.

The Conservative platform will call for a national constitutional conference at which special agreements would be made with provincial governments for assistance to ensure that every Canadian capable of attending university has the opportunity to do so.

Many Tropical Disease Cases Found in Canada

TORONTO (CP) — Several hundred cases of malaria and other parasitic diseases now are being found annually in Ontario, Dr. Michael Lenczner told the Ontario Medical Association Thursday.

Dr. Lenczner, who has set up tropical disease units at two Toronto hospitals, told the association's annual meeting that these diseases are being seen frequently in Toronto because of rapid international travel and the numbers of servicemen and technologists returning from tropical and underdeveloped countries.

He urged general practitioners to be aware of the possibility of these diseases. When taking a patient's history a doctor should always ask about recent short periods of overseas travel.

Colored Fuel Oils Will Be Introduced

TORONTO (CP)—Colored fuel oils are to be introduced in Ontario within the next few months to distinguish between taxable diesel fuels and non-taxable fuel oils. At present, a refund of the 20¼-cent-a-gallon tax on diesel fuel not used in motor vehicles may be claimed by the user.

Provincial Treasurer James Allan said Thursday in the legislature the addition of a red dish coloring to non - taxable fuel will help the revenue department in assuring that heating fuels are not being used to power motor vehicles.

Any person charged with using a colored oil in diesel trucks will be liable to a fine of up to $2,000 or one year's imprisonment, or both.

ARREST EACH OTHER?

Merry Ball For Secretary Comes to End

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alan Aylesn Foky's merry ball of living for a month on a free bank credit card is over.

She managed to spend about $1,500, including a whirl on all the rides in Disneyland.

She turned the car in at the rental agency after driving it on a vacation tour touching Sacramento, Fresno, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and Monterey, Calif.

Miss Foley, 25-year-old office secretary from Watertown, S.D., feels she did rather well spending $1,500 in a month.

And she did fulfill her assignment—to buy everything she needed without spending a dime in cash. The project's purpose was to demonstrate the versatility of the bank's credit card.

BACK TO BUDGET

"I was living on about $275 a month before this came along," she said, "I'll be going back now to that kind of budget or it might be even a little lower. I'll survive."

The Bank of America picked Miss Foley from about 100 girls who responded to its advertisement saying "girl wanted for experimental research project by leading financial concern."

She was picked because "she seemed the most enthusiastic about the project," a bank spokesman said.

"We judged her to be sensible and we didn't put any specific restrictions on her. What she actually spent came pretty close to our advance estimate."

Lamontagne to Discuss Problems of Centennial Project With Commissioner

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Lamontagne said Thursday he will discuss with Centennial Commissioner John Fisher the internal troubles of the organization which is planning Canada's hundredth anniversary of Confederation in 1967.

But an aide said it was "posh" to suggest either that Mr. Lamontagne was calling Mr. Fisher on the carpet or that Mr. Fisher was ready to quit the $24,000-a-year post to which he was appointed by the former Conservative government.

Mr. Fisher—known for his speeches and radio talks as Mr. Canada—said in Regina he had not suggested to anyone that he was fed up or prepared to confront Mr. Lamontagne with any complaints about his position.

The case developed with a report first in the Ottawa Citizen by its parliamentary reporter, Greg Connolley, that a major crisis in the centennial administration could bring about Mr. Fisher's resignation. The report said Mr. Fisher felt himself boxed in by the appointment of Georges Dauthier as associate commissioner.

IS ADMINISTRATOR

Mr. Gauthier, formerly with the civil service commission, has concerned himself mainly with the centennial body's administrative burden, leaving Mr. Fisher freer to be the chief public speaker and idea man of the commission. Mr. Gauthier succeeded Robert Choquette, Montreal dramatist and poet who recently was appointed to a diplomatic post in France.

Replying to questions in the Commons from Paul Martineau (PC — Pontiac - Temiscamingue), Mr. Lamontagne said he and Mr. Fisher had attended a centennial conference earlier this week in Regina and there had been no discussion about any special difficulties in the commission.

However, Mr. Lamontagne added, travelling back to Ottawa Mr. Connolley had informed him of some problems and Mr. Lamontagne had told the reporter he planned to find out about them from Mr. Fisher.

Mr. Lamontagne denied saying Mr. Connolley had reported, that Mr. Fisher was a poor administrator.

Asked about The Citizen's report in Regina, where he still was Thursday following the centennial conference, Mr. Fisher said: "I have never seen such a story and don't know where it came from.

A strong department should be established at Ottawa to take a long view in dealing with water resources and establish priorities in uses and fit individual projects into a truly national scheme, Dr. Davis said.

WATER FOR TRADE

The idea that Canada will engage in a measure of international trade with its water resources may be alarming to some people but makes sense because Canada's north and west have a surplus of water which should be moved to areas where it can be moved, he said.

Dr. Davis said a further reason for international trade in water is the urgent demand in the United States in addition to the international character of many of this country's river systems.

He viewed the Canadian Shield lakes, the Great Lakes and the valley reservoirs of British Columbia as "an overall Canadian storage capacity of staggering proportions."

"We have the tap in our hand. It is ours to turn on. But it will be hard to turn off. We must know what the United States intends to do with our surplus water once it begins to flow along or across the international boundary," he said.

"To do otherwise would be to abandon a position of strength we now have to strike a bargain."

Canada should assess its own water needs and insist on certain guarantees before letting any surplus water flow into continental water systems.

"Our water must never be used as a lever to national servitude," Dr. Davis said.

Lonergan Says Confession To Slaying of Wife Partly Invented by U. S. Attorney

By BORIS MISKEW

NEW YORK (CP) — Thomas Wayne Lonergan testified in his court Thursday that a statement he signed confessing to the slaying of his heiress wife in 1943 was partially invented by a U.S. assistant attorney.

Lonergan, 47, told a hearing that after 16 hours of questioning, threats and "lolls," he agreed to Assistant Attorney John Loehr's suggestion that he invent a story of a manslaughter and Loehr coached him as to what he should say in the statement.

The statement, said Lonergan, was intended according to Loehr mostly as something the judge could go on when Lonergan made his plea.

Taking the witness stand for the first time since his wife was bludgeoned and strangled in her New York apartment Oct. 23, 1943, Lonergan said he decided to make the statement after Jacob Grumet, the prosecutor, threatened he would "put me in the electric chair and would come to watch me burn."

SERVES 21 YEARS

Lonergan now has served 21 years of a 25-year sentence after having been found guilty by a jury of second-degree murder.

The hearing was brought before Justice Charles Marks by Lonergan's lawyer, Frances Kahn, who claims Lonergan had been coerced into making his confession. She said it was involuntary and therefore should not have been admitted at the 1944 trial.

Basing her argument on two recent U.S. Supreme Court rulings, Miss Kahn said Lonergan was denied counsel, questioned for long hours without sleep and harassed hours before his confession.

Judge Marks adjourned the hearing until Tuesday when, said Miss Kahn, she expects to call at least two Canadian witnesses to testify.

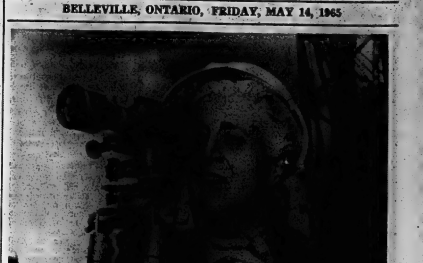
Lonergan was arrested in Toronto, his native city, Oct. 25, 1943, and held in custody without permission to call a lawyer or see his uncle, Joseph Lonergan.

When New York City detectives arrived in Toronto, along with Loehr, he agreed to sign an extradition waiver because this, was the only way, he said he was told, that he could attend his wife's funeral and see his infant son.

New Program Of Car Checking Starts Monday

TORONTO (CP)—The department of transport and the provincial police will begin a new program of compulsory automobile inspection Monday on Ontario highways.

Transport Minister Irwin Hazlett announced today that mobile safety check units will be set up at roadside weigh scales and provincial policemen will order cars into them.



The first unit of department of transport employees make a 36-point safety check on each car but the police will ask for drivers' licences and for certificates of insurance, or evidence that $35 has been paid into the motor vehicle accident claims fund.

Previously the department of transport has operated voluntary safety checks only.

The first locations of the auto check points will be Highway 7 west of Perth, and on Highway 5 west of Cookville. The safety check units will be moved to new locations each week.

Mr. Haskett said he hoped the checks would cause as little inconvenience as possible to drivers. Windshield stickers will be placed on cars that pass.

Among other things, the checks will include brakes, headlights, turn signals, license plate lights, steering, wheel bearings, exhaust system, and lights.

National Plan for Using Water Resources And Care in Trading Them Advocated

REGINA (CP) — "Canadians cannot afford the luxury of bickering among themselves over the management of the country's water resources, Dr. Jack Davis, parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson, said Thursday.

Dr. Davis, member of Parliament for Coast-Capilano, told the regional technical conferences of the Engineering Institute of Canada that although Canada has an abundance of water its needs will grow and needs time to plan for future uses.

"Dovetailing of projects is a time-consuming process and we must get together before it is too late. The provinces must forget their jurisdictional squabbles and Ottawa must take the initiative if we are to manage our resources for the benefit of all Canadians."

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver

Sports Editor

Out there in what they call "Potter's Field" in Edmonton they had a junior "A" hockey brawl which was described as a bloody brutal affair, the worst ever seen."

If you read the public prints hockey stories during the winter you'll realize that the Edmonton bloodletting rates was the main production of all-season junior "A" dress rehearsals.

Eastern junior hockey experts were horrified at the lawlessness of the western packmasters. Didn't someone once say "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone?" None of the Flyers, the Marlies and some other southern clubs would rate pass marks in a hula competition.

At that, the Edmonton brawl wouldn't qualify as a preliminary to some of the main bouts staged by the old National Hockey Leaguers of the days when Jack Adams was a hockey pup.

In an old magazine article Jack says "the university professors and boys of today have a picnic compared to what it used to be."

"The Rusty Crawfords, the Joe Halls, the Sprague Cleghorns and the Billy Coutu's of four decades ago have no counterparts in the game now. If you were lucky enough to skate past them in one piece, they'd turn and hook their sticks in your face or crack you over the head just for the hellavit."

Jack recalled the "most brutal game I ever took part in." It was the Toronto Arenas-Montreal Canadiens semi-finals series for the Stanley Cup second game played in Montreal.

"I got cuts over the eye, down the cheek and under the chin. In the hospital they breathtached me with 22 sutures. My sister, a nurse there, didn't recognize me."

The Canadiens, the story goes, went berserk. "They hammered and battered the young Toronto crew all over the ice."

"They put Ken Randall out of the game for keeps, cut Jack Adams' head in two with a stick, tiered Rusty Crawford from head to foot, sent Harry Mummery hobbling off hockey through the period with a slashed leg, broke the tooth of goalie Harry Holmes, knocked out Harry Meeking and Alf Skinner and crashed all other opposing players on the ice."

Adams was there on another night when a violet-tempered veteran named Billy Coutu attacked a referee and was barred from hockey for life for the assault. This was after the Ottawa Senators had whipped the Boston Bruins for the Stanley Cup in a game that ended with a mild brawl.

Coutu, a Bruin defenceman, led a surge of Boston players toward referee Jerry LaFlamme when the game ended. They engulfed him, Adams recalls, knocking him to the ice, pushing, punching and cuffing and bruising his face.

NHL president Frank Calder fined or suspended five players for the attack. Mooley Smith of the Senators was fined $100 and suspended for a month of the next season. Coutu in addition to his life suspension was also fined $100.

"But," Adams says in the story, "these guys weren't vicious. Rough and unbridled, yes, but rarely ruthless. They played hockey for a few bucks a game. I signed with the Toronto Arenas for $300. The total payroll totalled $5,536."

"They were undisciplined easy-going fellows who liked bodily contact, boisterous company and a rollicking life. Hard-drinkers, some of them. The manager many times had to make the rounds of bootleggers on the afternoon of a game to round up the gang."

"It wasn't necessary to get into condition, for they only played 18-20 games a season. Pre-season training was three or four days skating — and they were ready."

"But conditions like the times were different," Adams relates. "Rinks were small, smoke-filled and the ice grew heavy with snow as the game wore on. The players were 60-minute men who came off only if they were badly hurt. Spares sat out game after game without hitting a puck."

"The old Jubilee Rink in Montreal had to run a netting along the end of the rink to catch the empty gin bottles hurled by stomped-up fans. There was a pail of cold water and a sponge on the bench. If you got cut you skated over, sloshed off the blood, put on some sticking plaster and went back at it."

"Them were the days that was" pro-hockey wise, according to Jack's story.

Compared to some of the outbreaks of those days, the Christians-Lions weekly tournaments staged by the Roman Sidling promoter Nero were panty-waist affairs.

Littler Heads Top Threesome

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Golf is just another job to Gene Littler but the 34 - year - old former National Open champion is bidding today to end a three-year victory drought.

The smooth - swinging pro grabbed a piece of the first-round lead in the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open with a seven-under-par 65 Thursday. Jack Nicklaus, winner of the Masters six weeks ago, joined him at the front of the field of 145 along with Bill Martindale, a PGA tourist for slightly more than a year.

George Knudson of Toronto and Al Johnston of Montreal, the two Canadians in the field, shot a 69 and a 75 respectively.

Bobby Hull Wins Lady Byng Trophy

Hull won the award, presented to the player "adjudged to have exhibited the best type of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability during the season", with a combined total of 80 points, 31 more than runner-up Alex Delvecchio of Detroit Red Wings.

Delvecchio, who wins $500 as second highest point-getter, led the voting in the second half, polling 50 of a possible 90 points. Hull collected 30 points in the second half after leading the first-half vote with 50 points. Delvecchio wins as additional $330 as second-half leader while Hull collects a total $1,300, including $1,000 winner and $330 as first-half leader.

Third place in the over-all vote went to Dave Keon of Toronto Maple Leafs with 44 points.

Hull thus succeeds teammate Ken Wharram as the Lady Byng winner. Last season Wharram was the first Hawk in 19 seasons to win the award.

The 26-year-old Hull, who had a tremendous first-half scoring record this season with 33 goals and 31 assists in 35 games but who slipped in the second half and was hampered by knee injuries, finished fourth in over-all scoring with 71 points. He received 33 minutes in penalties, the highest total a Lady Byng winner has had since the 40 minutes assessed to Billy Burch of the New York Americans in 1926-27. Frank Nighbor of Ottawa, who won the award in 1925-26, also had 40 penalty minutes the season he won the Lady Byng for the second time.

Delvecchio has always been in the running for the Lady Byng Trophy and was the 1958-59 winner. This season he finished fifth in scoring with 67 points, including 33 goals, and 18 minutes in penalties.

The voting, conducted among sportswriters and broadcasters in the six NHL cities, was based on a point system of five for a first-place vote, three for a second and one for a third. A unanimous vote would be 180 points—90 in each half.

Following is a complete list of players who received votes in the voting for the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy. Figures in brackets are the points received in the first half, second half and combined total:

Bobby Hull, Chicago (30-30—60); Alex Delvecchio, Detroit (3 - 30 — 33); Dave Keon, Toronto (30-14—44); Camille Henry, New York-Chicago (28-2—30); Claude Provost, Montreal (0-12—37); Phil Goyette, New York (21-1—22); Bryan MacGregor, Detroit (13 - 2 — 15); Red Kelly, Toronto (10-1—11); Don Marshall, New York (0-10—10); Norm Ullman, Detroit (3-7—9); Henri Richard, Montreal (0 - 7 — 7); Dean Prentice, Boston (3-0—3); John Bucyk, Boston (1-1—3); Bobby Rousseau, Montreal (0-1—1); J. C. Tremblay, Montreal (0-1—1).

Koufax Arm Regains Old Magic

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"They bathe him in liniment before a game and soak him in ice-water after a game, but in between he's still the same Sandy Koufax."

Manager Dick Sisler of Cincinnati was said it last week and Koufax proved it against Holtzman artist Thursday night with a three-hit, 3-0 triumph wrapped up in a 13-strikeout package for Los Angeles Dodgers.

It was the first shutout of the season for the ace left hander but the strikeout total was the most convincing statistic for those who questioned Koufax's ability to pitch effectively every fourth day with an arthritic condition in his elbow.

The 13 strikeouts represented a high for the season in the majors and Koufax's best performance since he fanned 14 in a game against Houston April 19, 1963. It also returned Koufax to his usual position as the majors' No. 1 strikeout artist with 61 in 54 innings.

Despite the fact that the arm has not swelled recently, Koufax resorts to the liniment and ice-water against any flare-up and the side-armed curve balls he used to throw against left-handed batters also have taken out of his act.

But there is little doubt it still is a first-rate show.

While Koufax was taking over the strikeout lead, Willie Mays hit his 11th homer and added two doubles, raising his average to a National League-leading .387 in San Francisco Giants' 4-3 victory over Chicago Cubs.

SINGLE WINS GAME

Elsewhere, Joe Torre's fourth straight drive in the winning run in Milwaukee Braves' 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Phillies edged Cincinnati Reds 7-6 in 10 innings when Deron Johnson threw away a bunt by Frank Thomas. New York Mets and St. Louis Cardinals were not scheduled.

Koufax, bringing his record to 4-2 while lowering his earned run average to 2.17, got the only run he needed when Lee Johnson hit his first homer of the season, a solo shot off Houston starter Bob Bruce in the second inning.

Johnson was forced to leave later in the game when he was hit on the helmet by a Bruce fast ball. He was able to walk off the field and the injury did not seem serious.

Mays led an extra - base barrage for the Giants, with Jesus Alou and Tom Haller also contributing homers, Jim Hart smacking a triple and Willie McCovey a double. Seven of the eight San Francisco hits went for extra bases against Ernie Broglio and three successors.

Torre, who lifted his average to .330, drove in a run for the Braves in a three-run sixth-inning rally that tied the score, then clinched it in the eighth inning when he singled home Frank Bolling.

The Phillies won in the 10th when Dick Stuart drew a walk off Jim Duffalo and moved around to third on a wild pitch and a grounder. Then, with two out, Thomas laid down a surprise bunt and Johnson peered it wild, Stuart racing home with the winning run.

Kings Confident

Says Joe Louis

Liston Now Carries The Load

(Joe Louis, who qualifies as the world's most experienced expert on the heavyweight championship, today begins analyzing the upcoming return bout between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston. Louis, whose own championship reign covered over 10 years and 25 successful defences, will apply his backlog of knowledge and his personal contacts with both fighters for this paper in previewing the match. There will be several more pre-fight stories, as well as a report by Louis on the fight itself.)

BY JOE LOUIS

Anything I say in starting off this series of articles on the fight has to bring up to date the situation as it goes back to the postponement last fall.

The postponement was on account of Clay but you don't blame Cassius. It could have happened to anybody, including Sonny Liston. What is more important to me is this: How has starting all over again hit them?

You may recall that on the day Clay went into the hospital I said I was more sorry for Liston than for Clay. A youngster can come back from an operation like it never happened. In fact, he's likely to be better. Probably bigger and stronger. And have you noticed that he said the other day, on opening training, that he's grown half an inch.

The question in my mind is Sonny, because a fellow getting on in years — as a fighter, I mean — just doesn't pick up where he left off from one training camp to another.

Remember, he'd put in the toughest grind of his life getting ready for the fight that didn't come off. I know he punished himself in the gym and on the road. And I know he had hit a peak, a real peak.

He had me convinced. I was getting ready to pick him. I had a picture in my mind of the way it was going to go . . . Clay winning the early rounds by pop-popping Sonny on the move but with Liston staying in there until Clay came down off his toes, then getting to him with body punches in between good left jabs and finally putting the slug on him around the 10th round.

Now I have to start from scratch to put together an opinion. I'm not saying he can't get to the same condition, I just know what waiting for the second time might mean.

The first shock of postponement he got over without trouble, I'm sure. But since then he has had to put up with the idea that, once the fight's off for some reason, maybe it will happen again.

Sonny finds it hard to trust people, least of all Clay. There may be no justification to any such thinking. From the minute he got sick, Cassius alertly has acted like he can't wait to go through. Still, Liston only knows what he knows. And, in his heart, he feels Clay is against him in more ways than one.

So, where does it leaves us? Well, there are cards in Sonny's hand — the ambition to get even with a man who has hurt him in a lot of ways, and hurt him bad — and the ability having gotten plenty of tips from good people around him on how to prevent these. And, in his favor again, I don't have to tell you he will be working hard. But he's carrying the load, not Clay.

I'll be getting closer to the situation, visiting camps and talking to the fighters as I get closer to the fight. For now though, what can I tell you? Except that it's great to be young and to be the heavyweight champion. I was there, Cassius.

SAYS HE'S FIRED

GLASGOW (AP)—Ian McColl, Scotland's soccer team manager since 1960, said Thursday he has been sacked—just before vital World Cup qualifying matches against Poland and Finland. The Scottish Football Association said he resigned.

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings and Niagara Falls Flyers will ice rested players tonight in the fifth and crucial games of the best-of-seven 1965 Memorial Cup finals for the Canadian junior hockey championship.

The Oil Kings, whomped 8-2 in the fourth game Wednesday night and trailing in the series by three games to one, took a rest Thursday while the Flyers held only a 30-minute morning workout.

"I don't think the boys are down at all," said Edmonton coach Harry Allen. "Right up to the end of the second period in that (Wednesday) game, the game could have gone either way."

And coach Bill Long of Niagara Falls agreed that the Flyers easy victory then doesn't mean anything. Every game's different and all we can do is hope.

Both teams will regain players lost to one-game suspensions in the fight - shortened third game Monday, but the Flyers still will be without Derek Anderson, who is sitting out an indefinite suspension.

Forward Ron Anderson returns in the Oil Kings lineup after his suspension following a stick-swinging duel Monday.

"Ron will play a lot," said Allen, who complained that the Oil Kings lacked "stability" in defence Tuesday. "Ron will help both offensively and defensively on the right side."

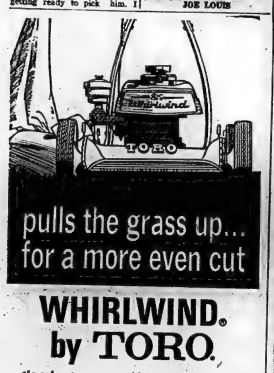
But Edmonton defencemancaptain Bob Falkenberg, knocked unconscious by a pummelling in the third game, won't be back tonight and his loss will be keenly felt, Allen said.

Long said the Flyers will feel Sanderson's absence heavily, but are thankful to have defenceman Ricky Ley back after a one-game suspension drawn Monday.

The Flyers will make way for Ley by dropping from their lineup defenceman Barry Williss, who saw his first action in the series briefly in the third period of Wednesday's game.

Allen said the Kings likely will open a slot for Anderson by not dressing Craig Cameron, who has a sore shoulder.

Cameron played only one shift in the third game and injured his shoulder again. Allen said he was awaiting a doctor's report on Cameron but there is only a "slight" chance he'll be fit to play.



Except for these changes, both teams likely will use the same lineups as they did Wednesday.

Among the Flyers dressed will be left winger Brian Bradley, who belted home two goals in the first period of the Flyers' easy victory Wednesday and three in the third.

Falkenberg suffered a concussion and a cut over one eye in the brawl Monday. Allen said he does not know if Falkenberg will be fit if a sixth game is necessary.

PATTERSON FIGHTS

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Floyd Patterson expects to take another step along his second comeback trail tonight when the former heavyweight champion boxes unranked Tod Herring of Houston, Tex., in a 10-round match.

Despite Bad Ankle

Lucky Debonair Favored 7-5

It is very important that your putts be stroked solidly so that the ball rolls the direction and distance that you intended it to. In order to strike a putt as squarely as possible, the ball must meet the club on what we call the "sweet spot." Let me explain:

Hold the grip end of your putter very lightly between the thumb and forefinger of one hand. Just let the club hang in front of you. Now, with the forefinger of your other hand, tap the putterface. You will note that usually when you tap the putterface, the blade will turn as it is tapped. However, if you tap one certain spot on the face, the putter moves straight back with no turning of the blade. You have found the "sweet spot."

On the course, try to strike all of your putts on this spot; you will have better results if you do.

Fears that an inflamed right hind ankle would keep Mrs. Ada L. Rice's colt out of the second event in the triple crown for three-year-olds was dispelled Thursday after an examination and treatment by a Kentucky veterinarian.

Lucky Debonair, who beat Dapper Dan by a neck in the Derby, turned up with the swollen ankle Thursday morning a few hours before entries closed for the Preakness.

Told by Dan Rice, husband of Lucky's owner, to use his own judgment, trainer Frank Catrone entered the Derby winner to join eight other three-yearolds.

Even before Lucky Debonair was given a clean bill of health, the track handicapper made him the 7-to-5 choice to capture the 1 3-16 - mile race, slated to be run under fair skies and temperatures in the mid-70s.

Post time is 5:40 p.m. EDT with CBC televising the race from 5:30 to 6 p.m.

With nine starters, the gross value of the race will be $130,000, with the total decreasing $1,000 for each horse under nine. Of the total, $65,000 is earmarked for second, $15,000 for third and $7,500 for fourth. The remainder goes to the winner, which would be $128,100 with nine starters.

The Trots

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Night Shift trotted in his seventh consecutive victory Thursday night in Mohawk Raceway's featured M. C. Ross Junior Invitation event.

Night Shift, bought for $1,100 last year at a standardbred sale by K. C. Mayhew and R. V. Smith of Ottawa, has winnings of $4,775 so far this year.

In eight races this year, it has seven wins and a second. The gelding defeated Lallwater Forst by 1¼ lengths in Thursday night's race, won in 2:08 3-5, and paid $4.00, $2.80 and $2.40. Lady Ezra was third.

HOLDS RECORD

CINCINNATI (AP) — It's a bit belated but the National League baseball statistical experts came up Thursday with the word that Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee Braves now is the league record holder for games played at third base. Mathews broke the field for the second game of a doubleheader Philadelphia May 2 he set a league record of 1,983 games.

Four Homers, Ten Runs

Horton's Blasts Broom Tigers' Sweep

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two weeks ago Willie Horton couldn't breathe. Now he has American League pitchers gasping for air.

The young outfielder, who underwent surgery for the removal of growths from his nose early this month, slammed two home runs and a double, driving in five runs Thursday night as Detroit Tigers routed Washington Senators 13-3.

The victory completed a three-game sweep for Detroit and Horton's eight hits in 13 swings for the series rocketed him into fourth place in the American League batting race with a .345 average. He slammed four homers and drove in 10 runs against the Senators in the three games.

"I've been feeling a little worse because of my nose operation," Horton said. "But I've been drinking a lot of juice and I'll be strong again."

He looked strong enough to Washington manager Gil Hodges, who ordered him intentionally walked in the first inning Thursday night. Don Demeter followed with a two-run single and the rout was on.

Horton faced Al Kaline's two-run homer with a solo shot off reliever Pete Richert in the second inning and exploded for a three - run blast against Jim Duckworth in the fourth. Willie doubled home another run in the sixth.

Horton struck out in his final trip, after reaching base 10 straight times in the series.

YANKS LOSE AGAIN

Yankees lost to Al, New York Yankees lost their ninth game in the last 13- 6-1 to Boston Red Sox. Baltimore Orioles edged Cleveland Indians 3-2, Los Angeles Angels whipped Minnesota Twins 4-3 and Chicago White Sox downed Kansas City Athletics 6-3.

Tommy Harper's batting surge has given him five homers and 12 runs batted in for seven games following his operation.

The Tigers' hasty hitting made Hank Aguirre's fourth victory without a loss easy. Aguirre permitted seven hits including a homer by Doug Camilli.

Yankees manager Johnny Keane hoped Whitey Ford could halt the Yankee slide but the veteran left hander was lagged for a home-loaded triple by Frank Mazilla in a four-run Boston third and Dave Morehead made the lead stand up.

Doug Powell slammed an eighth - inning two - run homer off Luis Tiant, giving the Orioles their victory. The Orioles left Soldier's Field with a share of the year mapped a 3-3 tie and gave Milt Pappas his 100th major league decision.

The Angels snapped a five-game Minnesota winning string as Costen Shockley's two-run homer off Camilo Pascual tied it in the seventh and Willie Smith's infield single delivered the winning run in the 10th.

The White Sox benched four hits, a walk, an error and a wild pitch for four runs in the second inning with J. C. Martin's single and Danny Cater's double the key hits.

Wants Ruling Clarified

Larks' Trimble Is Unhappy

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Jim Trimble of Montreal Alouettes said Thursday he will seek "further clarification" from the Canadian Football League of regulations governing territorial rights and dual residence of players.

Trimble was upset about losing Willie Dunychuk, a highly-rated rookie prospect, to Hamilton Tiger-Cats on a ruling by league commissioner G. Sydney Halter.

Hamilton announced the signing of Dunychuk, a 260-pound tackle from the University of Tennessee, on Wednesday.

A native of Timmins, Ont., Dunychuk played amateur football as a quarterback in Niagara Falls, and has been living in recent years in suburban Lachine.

Alouettes announced last Dec. 30 they had signed Dunychuk after obtaining a letter from Commissioner Halter that the signing was legal.

Trimble said he received a letter from Halter May 30, 1964 informing the Alouettes that Dunychuk came under their territorial jurisdiction.

When the Alouettes signed him, John Gendron, Tiger president, protested to Halter that Dunychuk emanated from the Niagara Falls area, exclusive Hamilton territory for player recruitment.

"I guess Hamilton's evidence was enough to convince the commissioner we couldn't keep the boy," Trimble said. "Naturally, I'm not happy about it. We proceeded in good faith. It's very difficult to talk, particularly since we were relying heavily on Dunychuk."

Trimble said changes may have to be made in regulations dealing with recruitment, so that a similar situation will not arise again.

Leafs Edge Jets 3-1, Hens Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons' record in the International League looks a lot like Jack Cullen's did last year.

But Cullen, who had a 14-14 record with Richmond Virginians, has posted a 4-2 record this year with Toledo Mud Hens and the Bisons are partly responsible.

The 25-year-old righthander, who blanked Buffalo April 22, gave up three hits over seven innings as the Mud Hens defeated the Bisons 6-3 Thursday night.

Elsewhere, Toronto Maple Leafs edged Columbus Jets 3-1, Atlanta Crackers walloped Rochester Red Wings 7-2, and Syracuse Chiefs defeated Jacksonville Suns 5-4.

Joe Foy hit a two-run homer for the Leafs. Russ Nixon scored the other Toronto run on a walk, a steal and a wild throw to second.

A bases - loaded triple by Adrian Garrett and a pair of homers by Bill Robinson in his first two trips to the plate were all the runs Atlanta needed.

Rochester, Buffalo Dominate

American League All-Stars

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Rochester Americans, winner of the Calder Cup, and Buffalo Bisons dominated the 1964-65 American Hockey League all-star selections by capturing six first-team places and four on the second.

The team, selected by writers and broadcasters in the nine league cities, was announced Thursday.

Arbour and Stratton were picked for the third straight year.

Scoring champion Stratton was top point-getter with 43 out of a possible 48. Cheevers, Arbour and Lunde received 39 points each, and Hillman and Hannigan 37 each.

Each league city had one ballot each, made up of a consensus of the voting writers and broadcasters. Five points were given for a first place, three for a second and one for a third.

The Fishing Report

TORONTO (CP) — A late breaking of ice in lakes and rivers put the damper on a productive opening of Ontario's 1965 angling season. But things are bound to improve.

Ice - logged lakes or extremely cold water greeted many anglers who ventured into their favorite fishing grounds, particularly in Northern Ontario.

The Ontario department of lands and forests, kicking off its series of weekly reports on fishing conditions in the province, reports fair to good angling for lake trout but trout, pickerel and pike have been generally slow rising to bait and lure.

The speckled trout season opened May 1 in most areas. Feb. 27 in others. The season generally closes Sept. 15. The pickerel season generally opened May 8 and closes March 31, 1966. For bass, it runs generally from June 26 to Nov. 30.

Reports from 16 of the department's 22 districts as of Wednesday:

NORTH

Kapuskasing — Angling poor because of spawning activities and ice conditions.

Sault Ste. Marie — Rainbow trout fair in streams on north shore of Lake Superior. Little fishing in inland waters because of ice conditions. Speckled trout poor in lakes; good in streams.

SOUTH

Lindsay—Pickerel fair to good at Rosedale, Burleigh Falls, Young's Point and Jack Lake. Lake and speckled trout fair to good; rainbows poor to fair.

Parry Sound—Lake trout good in Lake Simcoe. Fair to good catches of speckled and rainbow trout. Pickerel fair to good at Wasaga Beach, Port Severn and Washago. Pike good in the Nottawasaga River, Stur geon Bay and Cook's Bay.

EAST

Kemptville — No unusually good catches of pike or pickerel despite heavy weekend and evening fishing. Perch in Lake St. Francis excellent.

Tweed — Lake trout catches good, notably in Wenaney Lake. Speckled trout generally good. Pickerel and pike poor in Bay of Quinte, good in Marble Lake.

WEST

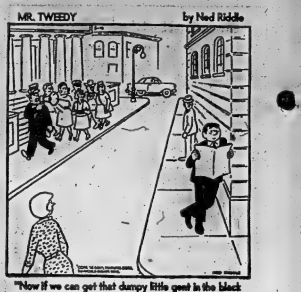
Big Field Expected For Plate

TORONTO (CP) — With just over six weeks remaining before the 126th running of the $50,000 - added Queen's Plate June 26, the field of eligible three - year - old thoroughbreds has been narrowed down to 52.

Since Dec. 16, 1964, when 200 horses were eligible at an entry fee of $25 each, the field has grown smaller with additional increases in fees.

Two days before the 114-mile event, an additional $200 payment will be required.



But a large field still is expected to compete for the $30,000 purse and what now stands at $17,375 in added money made up of the entry fee.

A field of 16 horses will bring the total purse to more than $78,000.

The Queen's Plate is North America's oldest annually - contested thoroughbred race. This year's plate will be attended by the Queen Mother, who will make her third visit to see the race. She attended first in 1939 with her husband, the late King George VI, and again in 1962.

Bill Leyden Logs Many Miles to Do N. Y. Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — David Frost was automatically retired from American television last week with the end of That Was The Week That Was. Bill Leyden then succeeded to the title of broadcasting's long distance commuting champion.

Frost flew from London to New York weekly for his television chores. Leyden makes a weekly round-trip between Los Angeles and New York to preside over NBC's day-time game show, Call My Bluff. The show had its debut late in March, but if it goes on for a year, Leyden's commutation costs and distance will total $18,850 and 300,000 miles.

Call My Bluff is a word game in which one team of panelists tries to guess which of three opponents is giving the honest definition of a rare or unusual word. It's an offspring of To Tell The Truth where panelists try to pick the honest one from two contestants.

"But they are really playing poker-bluffing," said Leyden. "Sometimes the best player is the one who can convince his opponents that he is lying when he's telling the truth, just as a skilful poker player with a great hand tries to convince other players he is over - reaching himself."

Among Leyden's other jobs have been five years on It Could Be You, a variation of the old This Is Your Life gambit and two years on Your First Impression.

He is prepared to continue his commuting for the life of the show, primarily because his wife and their three children are happy in Los Angeles.

He leaves home Tuesday afternoon to be on stage in New York Wednesday morning. By noon on Friday five programs have been taped, and Leyden leaves for home.

"It's not the flying time that bothers me," he said. "The disturbing thing is the three-hour time difference. The first day I'm at either end of the country, my schedule is all off."

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — By all the logic of show business, folks should now be asking, "whatever happened to Frankie Avalon?"

So how come he's making four pictures this year?

Avalon became a star seven years ago. Within a few months he was appearing in The Alamo with John Wayne and selling one hit record after another.

Many young chaps with $300 suits, wavy hair and wavering voices hit it big in that era, only to vanish with the advent of Beatles and other English singing groups. It figured that Frankie Avalon should join the march to oblivion. Yet he works.

He was working the other day in Sergeant Deadhead, his third American - International film this year. There he was, bronzing into a scene and taking cover from such pros as Eve Arden, Cesar Romero, Fred Clark, Reginald Gardner and Gale Gordon.

LOOKS GOOD

Avalon came out of the scene to say: "Being in a picture with people like these can only make me look good. My next picture is going to be Dr. Goldfoot and the Sex Machine with Vincent Price. Great! You can't help but come off well when you're with fine talent."

"Look, I was a star when I was 17," said Frankie, now 24. "I mean I knew from nothing. In the old days they had vaudeville, stock, burlesque — lots of ways to learn the business before they hit it big. Me, I had to learn the business after I became a star."

"A lot of guys went down the drain because they wouldn't learn," Frankie said. "Not me. I did everything I could — took singing lessons, learned how to dance, paid money for a night club act. I also took a few acting lessons — until I decided I didn't need them for my kind of work."

The Avalon career was beginning to flag when he was offered a role in a quickie called Beach Party. The film was a success and the youngster crowed and was the progenitor of the series that has minted millions for American - International.

Astrological Forecasts

BY SYDNEY OMARR

For May 15

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Full Moon highlights special papers, policies, accounts. Be thorough. Don't be afraid of the unknown. If you ask questions . . . you can serve yourself nicely.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Give credit due allies, partners. Realize many need attention, praise. Avoid self-deception. See persons, situations as they actually exist.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Full Moon spotlights solution to problem. Key is getting cooperation of one who serves you. Be tactful to clerks, community workers — all who provide services. Major gain indicated!

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Impulsive statement could offend loved one. Weigh actions, words. Rest to delay unnecessary travel. Finish. Extend influence. Fine for visiting friends.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): Full Moon highlights the conclusion of matters. May affect romantic interests. Respect opinion of parent or one in authority. Emphasize mature approach.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Be sure of directions. Double-check. Ask until answers are clear. Avoid forming hasty conclusions. Don't act in anger. Wait for all the facts.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Make adjustment if necessary in money affairs. Be versatile. Seek compromise. Display sense of humor. Your love of justice wins valuable ally.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Key is poise. You may find yourself in spotlight. Make intentions clear. Don't take others for granted. Cycle high. But be aware of possible legal complication.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Key now is change, travel, variety. You attract members of opposite sex. Indications point to need for helping one in distress.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Avoid depression which could follow disagreement with loved one. Compromise indicated. Be receptive. Welcome visit from friend.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): If you demand perfection now — disappointment results. But you can exercise authority in sensible manner. Then you get what you need. Be fair — and firm!

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Full Moon accents journeys, correspondence, ideals. This is time to transform thoughts into action. Be aware of image. Don't go overboard at social affair!

General Tendencies: Full Moon position relates to exposure of financial secrets which could make headline news.

Watch Careless Kisses: They May Lead to Trouble

DEAR DORIS — I would like to add my five cents' worth to any teen-age girl who thinks she is in love.

I thought I was in love but found out different at his expense. Some old sayings are true but not always, for example "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." Don't let that fool you. It will more than likely make you grow further apart.

DORIS CLARK

Any girl who gives in to a boy's passion, she kisses should be so sure that it is love and not just a passing fad. If you are not sure and give in, you will live in shame and regret all the rest of your life, especially when you do find Mr. Right. (Of course sex relationship should be kept until marriage.) If you do give in Mr. R. will be the hardest one to find. You may not have any after effects except your conscience and the thought of what might have happened.

The way I feel now, I will never be in love until I am around 90 or 90 years old. Love is something that should be handled with lots of T.L.C. (Tender, Loving Care.) — SEVENTEEN AND ON GUARD.

P.S. — Some questions to ask if you think you are in love: (1) Do I really want him all my life? (2) Do I know what marriage is all about?

DEAR SEVENTEEN — Words of wisdom! But I'm willing to wager that your "second time around" will arrrive well ahead of your 90th birthday.

DEAR MOLLY — Not very exciting ones: unskilled factory work, dishwasher, delivery girl, chambermaid, domestic. These jobs need doing and rightly belong to the slower learners.

But it's good sense to get as much education as you can absorb, before joining them. Ask your teacher about it.

DEAR DORIS — Our son is unhappy with his Christian name. We are thinking of having it changed. We would like to know how to go about it. — QU'APPELLE?

DEAR QU'APPELLE? — Vital statistics are on file at provincial capitals, in the office of the registrar or director of vital statistics.

There is usually a nominal charge for changing such a name on the records. If your son was baptised, would he like to be re-baptized again and thus make the new name his on a new baptismal certificate? Perhaps he would prize this ceremony, which is not legally essential, but physcologically sound.

Confidential to A PARENT — Thank you for your letter. I agree with everything you say.

* * *

(Doris cannot begin to answer all your questions in the column. To make sure of your reply, remember to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Fledgling Industry, Booming Giant

Japanese Now Invading World's Auto Markets

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

TOKYO—(CP)—Canadians are likely to see a lot of Japanese cars on their highways this summer.

Two of Japan's Big Three auto makers—Toyota and Isuzu—already have a coast-to-coast sales and parts network in Canada through a new company, Canadian Motor Industries Ltd., and the third—Nissan—recently announced plans to ship 3,000 cars in Canada this year.

Even Honda, a name that in a few years has almost come to mean motor scooter, should be appearing in Canada with a two-seater sports car by June with Studebaker of Canada is reported negotiating a sales agreement with still another Japanese auto firm, Crown Motor Co.

Shipping targets of most of the companies still are flexible, ready to be revised depending on how the cars are received, but they are thinking in terms of 10,000 or even 15,000 units this year. And that is only the beginning.

Although a comparatively new industry—output was only 100,000 units 10 years ago—the Japanese manufacturers are highly pleased with their reception in the other export markets they've tackled, including Australia, South Africa and the Philippines.

In Australia, for example, they picked off four per cent of the market in the first year. In Canada, they are confident they can nail an important part of the import sales and unofficial talk of shipping 50,000 cars to Canada in a few years is common.

By comparison, Volkswagen sold 34,500 units in Canada last year to lead the import field.

Although this expected influx of cars will be the most noticeable, it is only a part of a renewed drive by Japan to sell in Canada.

Japan exported an estimated $174,000,000 worth of goods to Canada last year, while buying $350,000,000 in return. Removing this deficit is considered a key to easing Japan's ever-present balance - of - payments problem.

Japanese exports to Canada have moved slowly; in 1960, the total was $119,300,000 and in 1963 it was $134,000,000—an increase of only 4.7 per cent compared with the over-all annual average increase of about 20 per cent.

The two main areas where Japan hopes to step up its trade with Canada are in heavy machinery and in easing the export quota Japan has put on a score of items at Canada's insistence.

Japan now exports almost $6,000,000,000 worth of heavy machinery around the world, but a trade official notes that Canada buys only $4,000,000 worth of that—although Canada imports about $1,000,000,000 worth over-all.

"We consider that it is possible for Japan to provide virtually all the items of capital goods required by Canada for her industrialization," a recent official statement on the situation says.

"We are hoping that Canadian people will increase their understanding of Japan's industrial strength and capital goods in order to promote an increase of imports from Japan and cooperation between the two countries."

LOBBIES ARE VOCAL

All official comment on this drive goes to some length to emphasize Japan is talking about equipment not made in Canada, so there would be no direct competition with Canadian manufacturers—an obvious reflection of Japan's sensitivity to the export quotas.

In public utterances, Japanese government officials call politely for mutual understanding of each other's problems. In private conversations, they're hoping mad.

"We find it hard to understand this discrimination," one senior official said acidly. "We happen to believe trade is a two-way street, as Canada says it does, and we try to live by that principle."

An official of one Canadian electronic tube maker says Japan could flood the Canadian market at prices impossible to meet if they were allowed to.

The Canadian Apparel and Textile Manufacturers' Association recently called for a continuation and extension of the quota system.

"Since 1954, when Canada signed its first trade treaty with Japan, shipments of clothing and textiles from Japan have increased tenfold and our industries feel they are being forced to accept too large a share of the total trade," it said.

TEXTILE SALES UP

Japan's clothing and textile sales to Canada last year totalled $44,700,000, a 37.5-per-cent increase over 1962.

"Canadian producers of clothing and textiles, and their 190,000 employees, have a right to know the scope of competition faced from Japan and other sources," the association said.

A change in government and business thinking in the last two years has opened the door to a flow of Japanese investments in Canadian mineral and timber resources.

So far this has been limited to a few mines—mostly copper—in British Columbia, but it is expected to rise sharply during the next year. Joint participation in refineries and pulp mills, either in Canada or in Japan, also is under study.

"Japan is very short of minerals and we look on Canada as a great potential partner," Misuo Yora, exploration geologist with the giant Mitsubishi Metal Mining Co. Ltd. says.

"Canada is becoming more and more important as a major source of ore for our industries."

He admits his firm is considering a number of investment possibilities in Canada, especially in copper, lead and zinc.

"We have to consider the economics of transportation, so up to now we have been concentrating our attention on the resources of British Columbia, but we are interested in all parts of Canada."

Another official says partnerships could benefit both countries.

"By putting up capital we can make it possible for Canada to operate mines that otherwise might be dormant for a long time, thus providing additional employment opportunities.

"At the same time we can assure ourselves of a reliable supply of ore."

Japanese thinking appears to favor the buying of a minority share of enterprises they are considering, instead of full ownership or a controlling share.

"We're not interested in ownership, just in raw materials," a government official explains.

Until recently, the government has frowned on overseas investment by Japanese firms.

There is only a limited supply of capital available in Japan and it is needed at home. With its first big plunge into modern industrialization virtually completed, however, Japan with its ever-roving eye is starting to look abroad for earning possibilities as well as sales.

JAPANESE CAR INVASION — A shipment of 350 Japanese cars is unloaded in Vancouver for distribution across Canada. They will compete with small European compacts and will sell at between $1,900 and $2,600 depending on the model. One Japanese company, with eyes on North American market, is building a ship designed to carry 1,000 cars a trip. (CP Photo)

Chinese Bomb Blast Brings Sharp Reaction

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — China today called its second atomic explosion "a great victory" but tried to cushion the shock among its dismayed neighbors by promising it will never be the first to use nuclear weapons.

The United States, at the same time, said that President Johnson's statement following the first Chinese explosion seven months ago still holds. It offered to support non-nuclear nations against Chinese atomic blackmail.

"China is developing nuclear weapons solely for defensive purposes," the official Peking People's Daily said. "It is the firm determination of the Chinese people that there will never be nuclear war."

In Japan, the reaction to the explosion was sharp and critical. The government said it would make a strong protest and leftist organizations, normally friendly to Peking, declared that they called a menace to peace.

CALLS IT 'TIME BOMB'

The Japan Socialist party called it a time bomb blown up in Japan's back yard. Japan is the only country to suffer no clear bombing, twice by the U.S. near the end of the Second World War.

The newspaper Mainichi said: "Wherever this radioactive dust falls over Japan, we are fed up with it. What the Japanese people really seek is an immediate halt to all nuclear tests for the sake of mankind."

The Chinese did not say whether the second bomb was dropped from a plane or was touched off from a tower on the ground. Use of the words "over the western areas" was seen by the Japanese as an indication it had come from a plane. If so, this would mean that the Chinese have at least limited delivery capability. In announcing the Oct. 16, 1964, explosion, the Chinese did not use the word "over."

Japanese correspondents in the Chinese capital—who reported intense excitement and celebrations—said there was strong possibility the bomb was released from a plane.

IMPRESSED POLITICALLY

Western diplomats in Peking regarded the explosion as primarily a political demonstration and as an answer to U.S. threats of bombing the Chinese mainland if China enters the Viet Nam War.

Some Western observers reported that Premier Chou En-lai cheerfully timed in view of the coming Afro-Asian conference in Algiers, where he was to be brought under fire by neutralist

Three New Charges Are Laid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The U.S. Immigration service filed three new charges Friday against Georges Lemay of Montreal in a continuing effort to deport him to Canada.

Joseph A. Thurman, acting government trial attorney, broke up Friday's first session of a deportation hearing by introducing the new charges.

A defence move for an adjournment to study the charges and prepare a defence against them was granted by Milton Miller, special inquiry officer for the immigration department.

The new charges against the 40-year-old Lemay, accused in Canada of masterminding the burglary of $200,000 to $4,000,000 from a bank of Nova Scotia branch at Montreal in 1961, were:

1. That at the time of his last entry into the United States, he entered fraudulently by using the alias Joseph Rene Roy.

2. That he intended to remain indefinitely in the United States without benefit of a visa or re-entry permit.

3. That his conviction in Toronto in 1943 on a breaking and entering charge precluded him from admission to the United States.

CAPTURED ON YACHT

Lemay was captured May 6 on his yacht Triana at Fort Lauderdale after his "wanted" poster, beamed around the world by the Early Bird communications satellite, was recognized by a Fort Lauderdale man who turned him in.

Millich also continued a deportation hearing for Lisa Delmieux Lemay, who claims to be the defendant's wife. Her case is being handled separately.

Mrs. Lemay was convicted in 1962 of complicity in the Montreal bank theft but was sentenced only to the five months she had spent in jail before her trial.

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Nicholson told the Commons Friday Georges Lemay, who was on the RCMP's most wanted list, "presumably" will be returned to Canada from the United

From AP-Reuters

KARACHI (CP) — A cyclone that ripped through densely-populated East Pakistan Tuesday killed up to 5,000 persons and left about 20,000,000 homeless, reports reaching here said today.

The unofficial figures put the death toll at 1,435. But a Radio Pakistan broadcast said this total may well rise as reports trickled in. 700-square miles of devastated by 100-mile - an hour winds and tidal waves.

Thousands of flimsy houses were destroyed as violent winds whipped through the densely populated area in the southern part of East Pakistan.

The highest number of deaths — more than 700—was reported in the Barisal region, 70 miles south of Dacca, the provincial capital.

(In Geneva, the League of Red Cross Societies announced that Albert Battel, a Canadian Red Cross delegate, is expected to leave for Pakistan during the weekend to survey the needs of the stricken populace.

Batten will fly from Toronto to Karachi on his way to Dacca. The league also has notified its 194 member societies of the relief needs of the Pakistan Red Cross before launching an international appeal.)

Film Ring In Montreal Is Smashed

MONTREAL (CP)—An elaborate network, centred in Montreal, to distribute pornographic material throughout Canada and the United States has been smashed by Quebec Provincial Police.

Three men have been arrested and police have confiscated enough pornographic film, photographs and literature to fill two large trucks.

Insp. J. H. Patenaude Friday described the investigation which began last February, as "an exhaustive one" involving police and postal officials from both countries. He said the distribution setup was "continent-wide."

Arraigned in municipal court were two brothers, Bernard Randolph, 37, of suburban Chomedey, and Morris Randolph, 48, of Montreal, and Ted Mitchell, 39, of Kingston.

They were charged with making, publishing and preparing pornographic material for sale, and other charges. They pleaded not guilty and were ordered to appear May 20 for preliminary hearing. Bail was fixed at $15,000 each.

Insp. Patenaude said the material confiscated in Quebec included about 200 reels of film, thousands of pictures and about a ton of obscene literature."

Raids in the U.S. produced 31 reels of film and great quantities of photographs and literature, all of it distributed from Montreal.

In Canada, the QPP were aided by the Ontario Provincial Police and the Montreal police department.

Avoided Knowing TooMuch

TORONTO (CP)—Viola MacMillan told the Windfall royal commission Friday she avoided knowing too much about drilling results on Windfall's property near Timmins.

She told the commission she had travelled 300 miles to Timmins two days before will trading in Windfall shares began last July. But she didn't bother to look at a drill core which her husband George, Windfall's president, had told her "looked interesting."

Mrs. MacMillan, a part 62-year - old, had told her four hours Friday's commission, headed by Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly of the Ontario Court of Appeal, is investigating why shares of Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd. rose to $5.60 from 56 cents and then collapsed to 80 cents in a three-week period.

She had given evidence for four hours Thursday and was followed on the stand Friday by her husband.

George MacMillan told the commission he had offered July 14 to show the Windfall core to officials of the Toronto Stock Exchange, and repeated the offer the next day, but nobody showed any interest.

Mrs. MacMillan said that she had her hands full with Windfall's financing and didn't want to take too much about the drilling results because she was constantly being asked for information.

She said that on July 6—after her trip to Timmins—she sent a small core samples to be assayed. She said she could not

Uneasy Two-week Truce Threatens to Disintegrate

SANTO DOMINGO (CP)—The United Nations is setting up a watchdog post in the Dominican Republic as the increasingly uneasy two - week truce threatens to disintegrate into bloody new fighting in this divided city.

An advance part of four UN secretariat members was flying here from New York today under orders from the Security Council to report on the present situation."

The rebel radio and television station in Santo Domingo was blasted off the air Friday night for the second time in 24 hours as an announcer was reading telegrams of support.

The station supports the "constitutional" government of Provisional President Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, leader of the revolt which sought to unseat a military junta, now headed by "reconstructionist" Brig.-Gen. Antonio Imbert Herreras.

A rebel spokesman said a truckload of Dominican troops drove past the station, hitting an antenna and transmitting equipment with automatic weapons and possibly a bazooka.

The station had returned to the air earlier Friday after being knocked out Thursday in an air attack by Dominican Air Force planes.

The rebel station has been delivering a harangue against the 22,000 U.S. marines and paratroopers here, as well as against the forces of the military junta.

No injuries were reported at the station, Thursday, but a teen-age boy was killed when a shell fell in a patio where five persons were seated.

Imbert said the rebels would be knocked out "if the situation warrants it."

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker told a special conference of the OAS in Washington Friday that there have been 137 violations of the cease-fire

Senate Bill Is Stopped

By PAUL DUNN

OTTAWA (CP)—With leaders of the major parties tending political chores in Northern Ontario, the Commons hands kept the ranch work moving Friday.

MPs moved swiftly to give second reading — approval in principle, to amendments to the National Housing Act and Bank of Canada Act but had to settle for two-out-of-three when New Democratic Party members balked at a third bill.

The NDP stand came on a bill to retire future senators at 75 on annual pensions of $8,000. The New Democrats want the Senate abolished, feeling it's simply a political reward. They introduced a amendment to postpone the Senate bill for six months.

Citizenship Minister Nicholson, whose portfolio includes administration of housing, piloted the NHA amendments through the Commons. The legislation drew all - party agreement and likely will be approved Monday.

RAISE COMMITMENT

The amendments will raise by some $3,650,000,000 over-all the government's commitment under the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.

Earlier this month, Mr. Nicholson announced that ceiling limits on housing loans under CMHC would be raised effective immediately. One of the reasons for the amendment to the act is to provide for the ad-

The bank amend ments would give the government the final word in any monetary policy dispute with the bank governor.

The Commons then turned back to another consideration of a bill to retire senators at age 75.

Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) proposed that the bill be shelved for six months and a vote is to be taken on this later.

Pearson Sounds Message Of Hope for Uranium Areas

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson sounded a message of hope Friday for the depressed uranium mining area of his Algoma East constituency.

Today he headed into Elliot Lake, centre of the uranium field, where the industry - age mineral seems certain to command most attention.

"I think the dark, dim, dreary days of what you might call the depression in Elliot Lake are just about over," he told a meeting in this lumber town 100 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie Friday night.

Earlier in the day, he told a Sault Ste. Marie luncheon in his honor that although the uranium field had experienced heartbreak the "tide is changing."

In a stop at Thessalon on his auto trip to Blind River, he said, "I hope that in the next few months we will have some announcement of some interest to you."

In his speech here, the prime minister cited two reasons for optimism for the area's future.

One was the government's intention to introduce legislation to continue tax incentives for exploration in the industry's areas of high unemployment and low income.

He expressed disappointment that a prospective pulp mill for Blind River didn't materialize because of uncertainty that the incentives would continue. He hoped the extension would prove fruitful.

His optimistic forecast about the future for uranium was tempered with a warning that it might not be immediate.

Before many years, he said, the world will need all the uranium that Elliot Lake can produce."

It might not be this year or

Will Ask Heavy Prison Terms For Accused "Missionary Spies"

HAVANA (AP) — A Cuban prosecutor has asked prison terms of 10 and 18 years for two American Baptist mission aides accused of spying for the U.S.

Rev. Herbert Caudill, 61, and Rev. David Fite, 31, are expected to be sentenced next week. Their trial and that of 32 Cuban Baptists ended Friday night.

One of the Cuban defendants, Lidia Amalia Serrano, 40, testified that Caudill headed an organization within the Cuban Baptist church whose object was to fight communism.

It gathered military and economic information and helped smuggle Cubans out of the country, Aguero testified.

Both Americans have denied spying but admitted illegally trading U.S. dollars for Cuban pesos. Caudill denied making a profit but Fite said he made some transactions "for personal gain." He said he made some exchanges at the rate of five pesos to one dollar. The official rate is one to one.

Caudill, who is superintendent of missions in Cuba for the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, said he exchanged about $300,000 for pesos after the United States took measures to stop the flow of dollars into Cuba.

He said he was unable to receive church funds from the home mission board for several months but that about the end of 1963 a system was worked out to get funds through Montreal and London. He has been in Cuba 25 years.

The two missionaries were arrested April 8 in a roundup of 40 Baptist preachers and 13 laymen in western Cuba.

The prosecutor said those on trial were "only part of those in the plot" and that others have been detained in eastern Cuba. He gave no further details.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Cold air moving southward across Northern Ontario has met in a head-on clash with warm air from the south along a line just north of Lake Superior. The result is an extensive area of rain over upper lakes districts and snow in extreme Northern Ontario.

Warmer moves behind air is being moved northward from the Mississippi Valley and showers or thunderstorms will develop tonight and Sunday in most lower lakes regions.

Hard for Mrs. JFK to Keep Back Tears At Dedication Ceremony by Queen

RUNNYMEDE, England, (CP) — Jacqueline Kennedy came close to tears Friday as she watched the Queen dedicate an acre of England's most historic land to the memory of her late husband, president John F. Kennedy.

The Queen, inaugurating British's national memorial to the slain president, called Kennedy a "man who championed liberty in an age when its very foundation was threatened on a universal scale."

"With all our hearts my people shared his triumphs, grieved at his reverses and wept at his death."

It was fitting, the Queen said, that Kennedy should be remembered here, where the Magna Carta, charter of western democratic liberty, was signed 750 years ago almost to the month in a Thames-side meadow.

Several times during the moving eulogies to her husband Mrs. Kennedy pressed her lips firmly together as if keeping back tears. At one point she swallowed hard and gazed straight ahead as former prime minister Harold Macmillan spoke of Britain's shock and angry grief at Kennedy's death and his personal mourning for "a good friend, a wonderful friend."

The Queen dedicated a simple rectangular memorial of Portland stone as a gift from the British people to the memory of them regarded as the embodiement, in the words of Harold Macmillan, of "all the hopes and aspirations of this new world that is struggling to emerge phoenix - like, from the ashes of the old."

The inscription on the seven-ton stone, taken from the late president's 1961 inaugural address, reads:

"Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe, in order to insure the survival and successes of liberty."

After the first joint public ceremony by the Queen and Mrs. Kennedy. Standing together on the dais as the band played the U.S. national anthem, they made a striking pair — the Queen's pink-and-white complexion contrasting to Jackie's sunless tan. Kennedy is a few inches taller than the Queen.

Mrs. Kennedy children, Caroline, 7, and John Jr., 4, were dressed in identical cream double - breasted coats with white socks and red strapped shoes. They looked solemn though at one point in the Queen's speech young John's blond head could be seen bobbing from side to side as he shuffled in his gilt chair.

Most of the national British newspapers turned over their front pages to the story of the ceremony.

It was a classic English summer day, with the grass in fresh green finery, the scent of grass rising in the hot sunshine and cherry trees in a multi-colored tapestry on the lush green meadow sloping south to the river from the wooded memorial hill. The band of the Grenadier Guards, clad red and gold played merrily, adding to the garden-party atmosphere.

Mrs. Kennedy held Caroline in one hand, John in the other. The children sat behind their mother and the Queen, flanked by U.S.- senators Robert and Edward Kennedy, brothers of the slain president.

Expect 1,400 Forest Fires This Month Across Canada

Over 1,400 forest fires will be started this May across Canada. Based on past records, over one fifth of our forest fires occur in this month.

During the full fire season in 1963, it is estimated that a total of almost 6,700 fires will burn over 3,700 square miles. In other words, in one year forest fires will burn over an area equal to about one fifth of the total land area of Nova Scotia or one eighth the total land area of New Brunswick.

Many of these fires will be caused by people just like the pleasure-seeking folk you meet on your camping expeditions or who cheerfully pass by on the highway en route to their cottages or favorite fishing spots. Seventy-five percent of all fires caused in Canada are caused by people and the tendency is for this number to increase as the population of Canada rises and the shorter work-week and larger financial resources put people more and more to holiday in the out-of-doors.

Many Canadians don't realize that they can be held responsible for the damage from forest fires whether started purposely or through carelessness.

Provincial laws in all provinces require restrictions on building fires in forested areas and provide penalties for those who cause forest fires. The Criminal Code of Canada also has provisions for fines and imprisonment for those who set, starts, or attempts to start, a fire which may endanger woodland.

EASY TO PREVENT

Just as it doesn't take much to start a fire, in the same way it doesn't require much individual effort to prevent forest fires. Those who work in the woods — and there are the equivalent of 80,000 such people in Canada—are much more conscious of fire than are the average travellers in summertime. They know their jobs depend upon preventing forest fires so are quite happy to observe strict fire rules while working in the woods. Most woods workers are required to sit down while smoking, use tobacco and paper for roll their own cigarettes, use a lighter instead of matches in the woods, eat thermos for tea or coffee rather than building a campfire for lunch, and use safetyrs in vehicles while travelling to and from work. When it is appreciated that the true selling or belittaging public are the largest single cause of fires then it might be expected that they would learn to be as careful as the professional logger.

Those who live in the city and travel in the forest only during holidays, don't appreciate how easily a fire can start when bush are dry and when weather conditions hazardous. How many times do you see a motorist ahead of you flick a lighted cigarette out of his window or the picnicker leave his campfire without being sure that it is fully out. The careless habit of throwing away matches or lighted cigarettes while walking along city streets is not readily dropped when a folk travel in forested areas.

MANY ARE CARELESS

It is the same careless habit that results in fires in littered highways and rubbish-strewn campsites that causes forest fires. Lack of respect for public property and lack of recognition of how much harm can result from a simple thoughtless act are the over-riding factors responsible.

Whether we work in the forest or live in the city, our livelihood depends to a large extent on getting the maximum use of our forest resources. Over 300,000 Canadians rely directly on forest produce to provide their employment. All Canadians have an economic stake in the wise use of our forested land. What better way for every Canadian to participate in Canada's War on Poverty than by making sure that he is not responsible for destroying our forests!

WILL AID BIRDS

VICTORIA, (CP) — The federal government is prepared to spend $3,000,000 over a 10-year period to preserve breeding grounds for migratory birds on the Prairies, Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing announced Friday. Ottawa is prepared to spend $5,100,000 a year for the next 10 years in the form of payments to Prairie landowners in return for agreement to preserve breeding grounds.

Convict Hangs Self in Cell At Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said today that Jean-Guy Genereux, 28, a prisoner at nearby St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, hanged himself with his belt late Friday night.

Police were sketchy but police said Genereux, serving a 12-year term for the armed robbery of a suburban Verdun hardware store, was found dead in his cell around 10:30 p.m.

Genereux was sentenced by Sessions Judge Jacques Trahan Wednesday. He admitted robbing the store Feb. 11. He was captured minutes after the robbery and police recovered $10.77 taken from the store and another $7 from a post office on the premises.

Before sentencing Genereux Judge Trahan said: "Making long speeches to people like you is a waste of time and the only help I can give criminals like you is to lock you up for considerable lengths of time."

Three Dairies Planning Bulk Milk Pickups

Reid's Dairy were the first distributors in the city to announce the change-over intention, but now three city dairies are reported to be planning to institute bulk tank milk pickups.

The procedure is that farmers' milk, instead of being delivered in cans, will be pumped from a bulk tank on the farm into a big tank truck for delivery to Grills dairy.

Making the change-over this summer are Reid's, Roblin and Grills dairies.

The Belleville area is one of the last in the province to make the change from cans to bulk tank milk pick-ups.

Ladies' Night Will Climax Club's Season

The Belleville Sales and Advertising Club climaxes another successful season next Wednesday evening with their annual Ladies' Night.

The meeting will convene with a reception line at 6 o'clock, followed by a banquet at seven and entertainment and dancing for the rest of the evening. The affair will be held in the Crow's Nest, formerly Club Commodore and highlights of the evening will be the introduction of the new president, Bill Slade, and the 1963-64 directors; several attractive door prizes will be drawn, consisting of a first prize of a complete outdoor living room, donated by several members of the club, followed by 26 other major prizes.

Entertainment in the form of comedian Billy Meek and vocalist Doris Swan will be a major highlight of the evening and dancing will follow the dinner and entertainment with Hal MacFarlane's Orchestra from Peterborough.

There will be a total of 120 couples in attendance, including club members, their guests and out-of-town guests consisting of the presidents of Peterborough and Kingston Sales and Advertising Clubs.

Finds Old Intells Tacked to Shed Wall

Mrs. Vernon Shapley, 31 Brock Street, in the section of West Belleville below the hill, has found herself in possession of some interesting old relics. The family moved to the present home about a year ago, but it was only this week that the papers were discovered in a back shed. They were tacked to the wall, underneath some brown paper. One of the issues is the Intelligencer of Aug. 13, 1910, three years also some "Intells" of 1912.

Witness Given Protection Of Court

TORONTO (CP)—Loyalty to a friend and fear of what he might do to revenge a friend netted Lawrence Richard Skay, 26, from hurling police about a bank robbery and killing Const. Garfield Friday.

Skay, charged as an accomplice to murder in connection with the killing of Jack Blake, who escaped gunfire with a closing bank robber last July 24, testified at the capital murder trial of Joseph Bell.

Skay was given the protection of the Canada Evidence Act before testifying. The act provides that testimony given by a person cannot be used against him.

DEPOSITS MONEY

Skay said he deposited $9,785, given him by Smith, in several bank accounts. He testified he knew Smith obtained the money by robbing a bank and killing Jack Blake.

Skay said he bought an apartment building in nearby Scarborough in partnership with Smith and Mrs. Eileen Smith, with whom they were living at the time of the robbery.

He stated that he knew several days before July 24 that Smith was planning to rob the branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Vaclav Krems, ballistics expert from the attorney - general's department, said that shell casings found at the robbery scene "beyond any shadow of doubt" were fired by a rifle and automatic pistol found among the weapons in the Smith's home.

The trial continues Monday.

Adlai Stevenson To Be Honored As Planned

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the University of Toronto senate Friday night overwhelmingly rejected petitions from faculty and student representatives asking the senate not to confer an honorary doctor of laws degree on Adlai Stevenson at a convocation May 28.

Senate voted instead to honor the United States ambassador to the United Nations at plenary.

Dr. Claude Bissell, university president, who received letters and from a number of senate faculty members and the student union for peace action, said after the senate session:

"The senate offers its honorary degrees to individuals for their personal intellectual qualities and their achievements over a period of years.

CITES CONTRIBUTION

"Mr. Stevenson has made a great contribution to the cause public life of his country and he has been a friend and benefactor of the academic community."

The letters, written independently of one another, claimed that by granting the degree, the university would be endorsing U.S. policy in South Viet Nam.

Dr. Bissell said: "It would be surprising and disheartening if there were not lively discussion in the university community about fundamental issues.

"It would be even more surprising and it's heartening if there were unanimity," Dr. Bissell added.

REACHES $5,000,000 MARK

TORONTO (CP) — A cheque for $20,000 Friday helped boost the Hospital for Sick Children building fund to the $5,000,000 mark. The largest contribution by an employees' group to date was collected from staff of Richert Simpson Co. Ltd. and Simpson-Sears Ltd. The campaign opened April 26 with a target of $13,900,000.

Trent Canal System Opens For Season

TRENTON — Navigation on the Trent Canal system opened for the season yesterday and the first boat through Lock No. 1 was Bonita the Second from Erie Beach. Bonita is made through first for several years back, with the exception of 1963 when a Cleverly owned houseboat beat her to it.

Bonita's owner, Ryke Dubbeld, has been wintering with Bonita in Florida and is on his way to his summer home in Orillia.

The two other boats to pass through the lock yesterday were a government work boat and a pleasure craft.

Mock Meeting Of UN Assembly Held in School

TRENTON — A meeting of the United Nations' General Assembly was held in Trenton this week — a mock meeting, that is, and the event took place in the high school auditorium with members of the school's U.N. Club carrying out the duties of the delegates.

U.N. president was Bill Williams; secretary - general, John Ross Macdonald; assistant secretary; Tony Cervinka, vice - president; Sheila Baldwin, treasurer.

The U.N. flag floated over the school for the day the U.N. was in session, and a number of proposals were handled on the agenda.

The U.N. financial crisis was resolved by accepting the Soviet Union's proposal to set up a peace - keeping fund and to have this fund under the control of the General Assembly.

The dispute between India and Pakistan was also settled, when it was agreed that Pakistan should withdraw a position north of the 20th parallel, and that a special peace force should be maintained in a neutral zone, with men taken from both countries.

Approved was a proposal submitted by Tanzania to take measures to compel the Union of South Africa to withdraw its policy of apartheid, since it is making a mock of the German Rights' Code.

As usual, the delegate from the U.S.S.R. had the last word in most debates . . . and the last word was "nyet".

Key Clubbers Conduct Meet

TRENTON — The members of the Trenton High School Key Club conducted a meeting of their sponsor club, the Trenton Kiwanis, in the Gilbert Hotel, Thursday night.

Allan Carl, the junior club secretary, told the members of the senior club of the increased Key Club activity over the past year.

Key Clubbers have donated a scholarship to the high school, helped out with various Kiwanis Club activities and contributed the winning district lieutenant governor to District Six, Robert Shoulder.

ENTERTAIN MINORS

The Trenton Kiwanis and Trenton Lions' Club entertained the boys from the Lions' Midget Hockey team and their coaches at dinner in the upper auditorium of the country club, Thursday night.

Douglas Patterson of Stirling, vice - president of the OMHA was the guest speaker.

Damaged Safe Found in Field Near Melville

WELLINGTON — Police are seeking to identify the origin of an office safe, found looted in a farmer's field in Hillier township.

The safe was found in a field bordering Church Street just north of Melville, Thursday.

Police said door hinges had been damaged. The safe weighs three feet high had apparently been once bolted to an office floor.

Investigators now are checking reports of all burglaries in the area.

However, no known safe-robbery has recently been reported.

President Tells How to Digest An Education

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Advice from the president of Yale University on how to digest an education:

Take small bites.

Several times since he took office Kingman Brewster has said he would like to do something about the dreadful aspect of acquiring an education.

"I think there ought to be more landings a and detours and places to stop and get off," he said in an interview.

What bothers Brewster is that formal education has become, for many young Americans, a non-stop process that may last for 20 years. Small wonder some of the participants get a little weary along the way.

Brewster said he feels it might be sensible to "build in some discontinuities."

One way, he said, would be to make the conventional four-year program leading to a bachelor of arts degree five years instead. It's a student could have a year along the way to take a break if so inclined.

Another approach would be for students, immediately after completing high school or prep school, to spend one year in some worthwhile non-academic activity.

I think there's a kind of blind conformity to the expectation that you must go straight from school to college," Brewster said.

Brewster does not intend that young men should defer starting college just to spend a year lying on a beach. He wants this year off to be used for stretching the mind.

"It could be a job," he said. "It could be travel. It could be domestic peace corps work."

The Ontario Podiatry Association in conjunction with the Candian Association of Podiatrists will observe
"ANNUAL FOOT HEALTH WEEK"
from May 14-21, 1965 and:
HEREAS, the Ontario Podiatry Association estimates that two out of every three children face the future on unfit feet; and
WHEREAS, because of great strides in medicine the life span has been considerably lengthened; and
WHEREAS, with a greater number of senior citizens now part of our population; and
WHEREAS, many of these older people suffer from foot disorders; and
WHEREAS, it is the common responsibility of every citizen of the City of Belleville to contribute to greater knowledge and understanding of the need for sound foot health as the foundation for the general health and welfare of our nation;
THEREFORE, it is hereby designated that the week of May 14/21, 1965 is "Foot Health Week" in Belleville.

MARRIAGES

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to publicly express my sincere thanks to Dr. Peter Scott, Dr. Ross Hunter, Dr. Peter Scott, Dr. S. D. Hume, Dr. W. J. Tuttle, Dr. R. E. Tuttle, Dr. A. Tuttle, and Dr. R. E. Patterson for their exceptional care and attention rendered me, resulting in my recent successful operation. I would also like to thank the nurses and staff of Belleville General Hospital for the extraordinary personal care I received recovering.

Cecil A. Chapman.

I would like to thank the many friends and relatives who sent cards, flowers and visited me with gifts, during my stay in hospital and visits while I was a patient in the Belleville Hospital. Also I wish to thanks to the kind doctors and nurses.

Ruth Carter.

I would like to thank my relatives, friends and neighbors for their gifts, cards and visits during my hospital. Also to Drs. Tuttle and Scott, also the nurses and staff of the 2nd floor for their kindness on second East. My appreciation to the Rev. Mr. Rickard who so generously offered to help at home.

John Walsh.

IN MEMORIAM

ESMARK — In memory of a dear daughter and sister, Irene Esmark, who passed away May 18th, 1960.

In heave we watched you fading,
We watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You thought so hard to stay,
But when we saw you sleeping,
Beautifully from your pain,
We could not wish you back,
To suffer that again.

—Sadly missed by mother, Beth and daughter, Jeri.

ESMARK — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, who passed away May 18, 1960.

Sadly missed by mother, Beth and daughter, Jeri.

ESMARK — In loving memory of our dear daughter, Irene Esmark, who passed away May 18th, 1960.

We little knew when we made that move,
The memory the day would bring.
For the call was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Those words, but poor indeed to express
Jacqueline, son-in-law Jose, grandson Richard and Beverly and granddaughter Charmaine.

WEESE — In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, William Henry Weese, who passed away May 18th, 1962.

Two years have passed,
Our hearts still ache,
Sometimes in silence,
Sometimes we break.
No life so dear, dear Charles,
As when he calls me home to God.
And when his calls me home to God.
When we shall meet again.

—Always remembered by wife Ada and daughter Phyllis.

ASH — In loving memory of our dear father, Charles Ash who died May 18, 1940.

Dad, I miss you more each day,
Why, why must we long?
Memories remembered by his wife, Helen Ash.

JOHNSON — In ever loving memory of a dear husband and father, George Edward Johnson, who passed away May 18th, 1961.

The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the memories remain,
Reminds me of the face and smile,
Of the one we loved in vain.

—Sadly missed and always remembered by our Georgie, daughter-in-law Betty and grandson Ricky.

HARVEY — In loving memory of Mary Ann, who passed away 3 years ago, May 18th, 1960.

Three years have passed since that sad day,
That our Lord called her away.
We miss his smiles and sunny way,
But we know God doeth well again.

—Sadly missed by Mom and brothers Clarence, Richard.

Canada Cement Bowlers Fete New Champions

The Canada Cement Company five-pin bowling league wound up another successful season with an annual presentations banquet and dance at Club Canera last night.

Frank Insley was master of ceremonies for the evening and also gave the welcome on behalf of Local 219. Newtie Burroughs spoke briefly on behalf of the Canada Cement Company and bowling league president John Green thanked all those connected with the loop this season, including Secretary Ron Ferguson and Treasurer Keith Anderson.

Election of officers for next season saw Jim Hunter named president, Ed Weatherdon secretary and Jim Horwood treasurer.

The presentation of trophies saw the Foremen sweep a good share of the awards. The team, consisting of captain Frank Insley, Neville Burroughs, Ron Ferguson, Bob Strahan, Doug Bennett, Al Uens, Jim Hunter, Jack Hart, Ed Weatherdon and Art Genereaux, were league champions, high pinfall winners and also won two of the quarters.

John Green presented them with the Canada Cement Trophy, Belleville Bowl Trophy and their quarterly trophies.

Jim and Rita Hunter were proud winners of the Mr. and Mrs. Trophy for this season, receiving it from last year's winners, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin McKenzie.

N. Burroughs made the presentations to top individual award winners, to which John Stewart added high average honors with 220, Al Uens high single with 366 and Maurice Vollick high triple with 842.

The ladies of the CNRA were thanked for a delicious turkey dinner.

Questions Need Science Council For National

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—The director of the National Research Council's division of pure physics Friday questioned the need for a national science council in Canada and attacked the idea of planning pure science research.

The federal government recently announced it will establish a science council as a further step in organizing a national science policy.

Dr. Gerhard Herzberg, speaking at a symposium on Queen's University, said he was expressing his own opinions and not those of the NRC.

He said Canada has been fortunate in the past in having an enlightened and foresighted policy for science which was flexible and compact as a result of the formation of the NRC.

"It came therefore as a great shock to me when two years ago the Glassco commission came along and suddenly discovered that there was a lack of science policy in Canada."

He said scientists have told him the council's laboratories are one of the best organizations in the world. The reason, he said, is because its overriding philosophy is that working scientists themselves should largely determine what has to be done.

Efficiency experts who look on science in the same light as they consider the organization of the post office or income tax departments, cannot understand the organization, he said.

The Glassco commission and the earlier Heeney commission should have left research organizations alone. They would continue to flourish and would not have to spend their time fighting the aftermath of these commissions.

Dr. Herzberg suggested the commissions want uniformity and conformity, two qualities that should be the death of science and creative work.

"In my opinion if we want to improve the scientific scene in Canada, we should not listen to the efficiency experts. We should not listen to the planners who think they can foresee scientific developments even in the immediate future," he said.

The symposium marked the formal opening of the university's $3,500,000 physics department.

In Ethiopia, few people outside the towns know their exact ages. Sophisticated girls usually say 17.

Scouting activities

The annual Father and Son banquet of the First Avondale Cubs and Scouts was held on Monday, May 3, at the Holloway Street United Church hall. The banquet which was organized by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the First Avondale Cubs and Scouts was well attended with Mr. Art Fort, District Scout Commissioner, as the guest of honor. Mr. Fort addressed the banquet and brought greetings from district council.

David Harris Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Harvie, 22 Glen Road, was presented with his 14th Cub Badge by the District Commissioner and Mr. Fort congratulated him on his achievement.

Skits were presented by the Cubs and Scouts as part of the after dinner entertainment program and five Cubs, Haig Chalmers, Blair McCorquodale, Donald Skelly, Lawrence Brown and David Lewars, were accepted into the Scout "circle" in an appropriate ceremony under the direction of Mr. Ron Shetler, Scoutmaster, and Mr. John MacKinnon, Cubmaster.

Head table guests in addition to Mr. Art Fort, were members of the Group Committee, the Scoutmaster, the Cubmaster and Assistant Cubmaster Mrs. Bob Legoff and Mrs. Reid. Scout Patrol Leaders and representatives of the Ladies' Auxiliary completed the head table seating. The banquet program was chaired by Dr. Finlay McCorquodale, chairman of the 1st Avondale Cubs and Scouts Group Committee.

New Building Is Opened By Chancellor

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Dr. J. B. Stirling, chancellor of Queen's University, officially opened the university's new $3,500,000 physics building Friday.

The cylindrical building, 155 feet in diameter, is a departure in design for Queen's but retains the limestone exterior common throughout the campus.

A symposium dealing with the roles of government, industry and the universities in the future development of physical science and engineering was addressed by Maj.-Gen. R. H. Keefler, president and chairman of the board of Northern Electric Co. Ltd., of Montreal; Dr. C. G. Laurence, president of the Atomic Energy Control Board, Ottawa; Dr. G. Herzberg, director of the division of pure physics, National Research Council, Ottawa; and Dr. K. W. Taylor, Skelton-Clark fellow at Queen's and former deputy minister of finance and receiver-general of Canada.

Maj. - Gen. Keefler will receive an honorary doctorate of laws Saturday at convocation for the faculty of applied science. Laurence and Dr. Herzberg will receive honorary doctorates of science.

Members Will Tour Doomed Landmark

A special meeting of the Hastings County Historical Society will be held Monday evening, May 17, to tour the old Police Station on the Market Square. This building was built about 1850 and has served as town hall, market, armories and police station. The building is now scheduled for demolition.

The tour of the old police station to be conducted at 7.30 by City Clerk Adam Stalker will be followed at eight by a tour to the City Hall bell tower and Council Chambers where Rodger Greig will outline briefly the history of the City Hall.

At 8.40 a meeting in the Corby Library auditorium will see slides of Belleville landmarks, past and present. A discussion on the preservation of buildings of historic importance will follow and coffee and cookies will be served.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting and tour.

Conservation Authority Given Grants

The Moira River Conservation Authority has been given grants by the Ontario Department of Energy and Resources Management, Clarke T. Rollins, M.P.P., Hastings East announced today.

The grants include $600 to the Price Conservation Area; $2,000 to the Colonel Rescorla Lands and Conservation Area and $400 to the Stoco Mill Conservation Area.

Mr. Rollins stated the grants were approved by the Hon. John R. Simonett, Minister of Energy and Resources Management.

KISSING BRINGS FINE

RENFREW, Ont. (CP) — Smooching while driving is an expensive pastime, Constable Russell Roy of Pembroke learned in magistrate's court. Police testified they followed Roy along the highway at 60 m.p.h. and saw him exchange kisses with his lady passenger. After each embrace, the car swerved over the centre line. "Expensive kisses," commented the magistrate, fining Roy $30 and costs.

Canadians Must Be Given Ownership, Direction Share Of U. S. Firms in Canada

- - Gordon

By JAMES NELSON

ALBION, Mich. (CP) — Finance Minister Walter Gordon of Canada mixed an air of friendly persuasion with a stern admonishment when he spoke Friday night on the subject of American investment in Canada.

He told a group of business and academic leaders studying Canadian - American relations that Canadians must be given a share in the ownership and direction of American branch-plant business in Canada.

No other major industrialized country, Gordon said, permits foreign businessmen to set up and run subsidiaries in its territory without requiring the designer to give its own nationals a chance to share in both the investment and the direction of the enterprise—and the profit from it.

Gordon spoke to a regional meeting of the American Assembly, a Columbia University-directed body which this year is studying U.S.-Canadian relations. At Albion College, Gordon spoke to a group of 40.

In this automobile - building state, he suggested that General Motors might make 25 per cent of its holdings in General Motors of Canada available to Canadian ownership and promise to make another 25 per cent available in 10 years.

He hoped this would be done voluntarily and said it was illustrative of what would like to see done by other U.S. and European companies with large subsidiaries in Canada. But later in his speech he also said he hoped his views "will be heeded" by say who have large investments now in Canada or contemplate making new investments.

At the end of his speech the meeting was thrown open to questions from the floor.

If Canada admired the regulation of foreign investment practiced by such countries as Britain, France, Germany, Mexico and Japan, why didn't Canada adopt the same regulation?

Gordon said he wasn't praising those regulations, and he wouldn't say there would not in fact be cases where Canadians would want them. For one thing Canada's tax, anti-combines, tariff, property and civil rights are provincial matters and they are involved in the economic direction of industry, Ottawa might find it difficult to make regulations in this field.

A questioner began asking "if Canada wants less foreign investment why do finance minister cut him off.

"Don't misunderstand us. For-eign investment has a role to develop our country, and the fact that it has come in freely has developed our country much faster than otherwise might be the case. But the fact that 60 per cent of our manufacturing industry is foreign-owned is a source of friction."

CAPITAL WAITING

Where would Canada find the capital needed to assume a greater share of ownership of industry in Canada?

"It's sitting around, waiting," Mr. Gordon said.

In his speech, Gordon said Canada will continue to require substantial supplies of long-term capital. But he hinted that his government would prefer the foreign investment to be in terms of bonds and debentures —debt financing rather than equity ownership of Canadian industry.

"We are becoming increasingly concerned about the character of the capital inflow and the ownership pattern it is generating."

He noted that as foreign investment pays off, the earnings are reinvested in further ownership, thus pyramiding U.S. control.

"It would have been preferable from the point of view if more of the foreign financing had gone into fixed-term securities," he said.

In suggesting that more equity stock be made available to Canadian investors, Gordon said he was not suggesting these offers be made at anything less than current values.

"Canadians are not looking for any handouts, and I do believe Canadians should have some opportunity to share in the ownership and in the growth of the larger industries in their country."

If the present trend continues unchecked, economic union with the United States would in effect follow, and this would be a disaster for Canada.

"We would be swallowed up, and nobody likes to be swallowed up, even by his best friend."

WILL VISIT GERMANY

OTTAWA (CP)—A group of 286 Canadian university students will visit West Germany this summer, the West German embassy said Friday. The German government will pay half the students' flight expenses and will provide summer jobs for eight to 10 weeks.

Utilities Honor Champs At Banquet

The Belleville Utilities Mixed Bowling League completed a successful season with a presentations banquet and dance at the Legion Hall this week.

James Scriven, league president, thanked all for their cooperation and offered a special "thank you" to Mrs. Dorothy Rashotte, captain of the team who filled in when one team dropped out of the league midway through the season.

At the election of officers for next season, this year's executive was returned as well.

This included President Scriven, Vice-president Sam Poppa, Secretary Jacha Vesterfelt and Treasurer Ila Howard.

During presentations, the Jets were named as league champions, presented with the Belleville Utilities Trophy, plus individual trophies. Members of the team, captained by Adam Chalmers, were Grace Pearce, Alma Vesterfelt, Jacha Vesterfelt, Marlene Henderson, Alf Rodgers and Madalene Rodgers.

The second place team, also captained by Len Mason, received individual trophies, while a special presentation was made of crying towels to the ladies' Jets, captained by Janet MacDonald.

Individual awards for the women went to Grace Pearce for high average, Freda Mason for high single and Bev Rushlow for high triple.

In men's competition for awards, James Scriven got the high average trophy, Bruce Dennis the high single and Bill Somerville the high triple.

Gifts were presented to Cliff and Alma Vesterfelt for their work as secretaries.

The Legion ladies were thanked for the delicious turkey dinner and later dance music was supplied by the Trubadors.

Interest in the Community

Occasionally a citizen feels sufficiently interested in the affairs of his community to write a letter to the newspaper; or alternatively, make a personal call to air his grievances and, perhaps, make suggestions.

Our most recent caller showed commendable interest and verve. Though not yet at the age of official manhood nor a taxpayer he had some ideas on community betterment.

A local high school student, he came in to this office, books under his arm, to tell us what was on his mind. For one thing, he felt the river bank could be cleaned up and beautified. And all those parking lots and meters — were they all necessary? Why not a mall—similar to Ottawa's Sparks Street—at Market Square? And window boxes and floral arrangements to brighten the business district.

All interesting ideas — and worthy of consideration. People were apathetic, said our friend. He thought there should be some action along the lines he suggested. Could the newspaper help? We explained that any plans of this nature required money and must also be weighed against other plans for city improvement and against budget requirements.

A newspaper welcomes suggestions on community betterment, as does the city itself. The "Letters to the Editor" column is always available for authenticated correspondence on the issues of the day, whether on the local or world scene. And the more citizens who express their ideas in this way the better. Otherwise the suggestion that the community is "apathetic" may be a valid one.

A Strange Policy

According to Paris Match, de Gaulle's long-coveted "force de frappe" is now a fact. France not only has nuclear bombs, but the planes to deliver them to a target.

Far from illuminating the motives behind Gaullist policy over the past few years, the facts as outlined by the Paris paper make the whole conduct of the French Government more puzzling.

The "force de frappe" does not make sense.

Its bombs have four times the power of that dropped on Hiroshima — but are "a hundred times less powerful than the most ordinary American or Russian H-bomb today."

Add to this the fact that the French supply of bombs, and of the means to deliver them, is dwarfed by the Russian and American arsenals, and it is obvious that France could not hope to defeat the major powers in a nuclear war. As a matter of fact the French nuclear force could hardly be considered a real deterrent force — its damage which it could wreak, while terrible, would not compare with what would happen to France.

One can only suppose, therefore, that the force is designed to keep in check the aggressive tendencies of nations which have no nuclear arms. But what nations? Does de Gaulle foresee the day when Germany may again be a threat to French security. Or Britain?

The easy answer is that the force exists for prestige purposes only. But what prestige attaches to the possession of atomic weapons which could only be safely used against a foe completely lacking in arms of this nature?

Diplomats Bounced

Cars belonging to members of the diplomatic corps are among the worst traffic violators in the United States, according to reports from New Jersey.

It has become so bad that New Jersey state troopers have been authorized to stop the diplomats' cars and "explain" the dangers of speeds of 100 m.p.h. and more (one was clocked at 115 m.p.h.)

Then one day Ambassador Gershon Collier of Sierra Leone berated a trooper who spoke to him of the dangers of excessive speed

"You do not tell me," the trooper quoted the diplomat as saying. "I have made a note of your discourtesy and using my time. We are in a hurry."

With this Collier's chauffeur-driven car shot away and was later clocked at 85 m.p.h. before leaving the turnpike at Newark.

This was too much for turnpike director Thomas Flanagan who has ordered that speeding diplomats be turned off the freeway onto local roads. He has, also, sent a sharp letter of protest to Lloyd W. Hand, State Department chief of protocol.

Meanwhile, The Ottawa Journal has summed up the situation in a cryptic heading: "New Jersey Fed Up—Hot-Rodding Envoys Bounced From Turnpike."

Ottawa Offbeat

CBC Draws No Line Between Freedom and Licence

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Did you happen to catch the ever-so-revealing series of questions about the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation the other day in the Commons?

And CBC's ever-more-revealing answers?

It boiled down to this:

Knowingly the CBC hires and puts on radio and television — the French networks, if not the English — personalities who make no secret of their sympathy with and even active support of Quebec Separatist organizations.

Does this and railleries it in the name of freedom of speech.

This was the question, No. 69, to be found on page 260 of Hansard, as asked by Bert Leboe, Social Credit MP for the Cariboo, in three parts:

1. Has one or more of the following persons or groups ever appeared on CBC radio or television (there follows a list of 21 men and women, all of them Quebeckers)?"

The CBC answer: "Yes."

2. "Were any of these persons or groups under contract with the CBC?"

The CBC answer: "Yes."

"FREEDOM OF BELIEF"

And here came the kicker:

3. "What is the intention of the CBC been drawn to the advertised appearances of these persons and groups in a concert sponsored by the Quebec Separatist organization the RIN (Rassemblement pour L'Independence Nationale) held at the Montreal Forum, and, if so, what is the CBC policy with regard to employment of such persons?"

The CBC answer: "Yes (its attention had been drawn). The persons referred to are free lance performers engaged on a per program basis. Performers are employed on the basis of talents merit. Their political beliefs cannot be made a factor of employment as freedom of belief is assured by the laws of the land."

Bert Leboe scarcely had to remark how odd it was that the CBC, living off a $100,000,000 grant this year from the Federal Treasury — a new high in handouts by the taxpayer to this voracious corporation — should be allowed, in the much-abused name of freedom, to employ even a fraction of that fund in payment of people who campaign to divide and perhaps destroy the nation.

If "freedom of belief," as the CBC expected to find it might guaranteed to Separatists by the "law of the land," is there not another law dealing specifically with people who endanger the safety of the state?

Both the Conservative and Social Credit opposition in Parliament over the past two years have asked — and received no firm answer— where Separatism ends and disloyalty or even treason begins.

ITS OWN TICKET

Mr. Leboe's pointed question was answered for the Government by Maurice Lamontagne as the Member of the Cabinet "responsible" for the CBC. He spoke it in Parliament, for CBC accounting to the Commons.

But what kind of accounting is it?

Nothing remotely like the accounting most federal agencies, and certainly all Government departments must make, in submitting to the Auditor General and by Parliament of their actions in general and their taxspending in particular.

The CBC, if in a benevolent mood, answers questions from the Commons in a casual and frequently cavalier manner it chooses.

So in answering, the State Secretary informed Mr. Leboe: "I am advised by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation" that "yes" it had these 21 people under contract, and "yes" it knew about the Separatist rally, but "freedom of belief" must not be allowed to interfere with "artistic merit" as CBC terms it, on the publicly-owned networks.

The actual payment by the CBC of supporters of Separatism seems to go one step further than merely massively publicising Separatists — a broadcasting practice that increasingly has concerned those Canadians who persist in believing Quebec's place is still in Confederation.

There is at least one highly-placed aide in Prime Minister Pearson's office who makes no secret of his belief that the CBC is one of the root causes of the not-so-"quiet" revolution in Quebec.

And there is just a hint now that when the Fowler Commission reports shortly on the CBC, it will draw a hard line between freedom and license.

Diabetics Need Extra Care In Extraction of Teeth

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Some questions that have been asked convince me that a few words about diabetes and teeth are in order. The subject isn't mentioned much, but perhaps it should be.

First of all, any focus of infection in the body is harmful for diabetics. (It's harmful for anyone, but more so for diabetics.).

There was a time when some diagnosticians refused even to examine a patient until he first had his teeth checked. In those days focal infection was of prominent concern. Well, focal infection still exists, and still does its dirty work, often subtly.

In earlier years, diabetics had notoriously bad teeth. Today, with the widespread use of insulin as well as the sugar-lowering drugs, it is possible for diabetics to eat a well-balanced diet. Their teeth are much better. In fact, in many instances their teeth are better than average because they don't encounter the dental problems that come from eating sweets and candy.

Still a person with diabetes, also like anyone else, can develop deep root abcesses and overbite, both of which are infections. Either can creep up without being suspected at first by the patient. You don't have to have a rotting toothache to have a root infection, and you don't have to wait for a tooth to get loose before your dentist can detect gum infections.

So have dental checkups at regular intervals. This has been said so often that we (physicians, I mean) take it for granted that everybody will do so. But the fact is that some don't.

Finally, tooth extraction may at times be necessary for any number of reasons having nothing to do directly with diabetes. In such cases, dentists take precautions against infection. But when the patient has diabetes, some added caution is wise, simply because infection getting into the system is doubly hazardous for a diabetic. I know of fine dentists who, when the patient has diabetes, double check in advance with the patient's medical doctor concerning the amount, type and timing of protective drugs (sulfa or antibiotics).

For the patient himself, if you are going to have an extraction, be sure your dentist knows about it. He can't know by looking at you that you have diabetes — so tell him!

Dear Dr. Molner: I have taken quite a bit of cortisone which has helped my arthritis, but I don't understand what some people mean by bad side effects such as "moon face," etc. Can you explain? — E. B.

"Moon face" means that the face takes on a rounder look from fluid accumulating in the tissues. Swelling can occur elsewhere in the body, too. Nervousness of house sometimes results. And some more subtle unwanted effects. Trust your doctor to recognize when one of any such effects start to develop. Cortisone, when used too much, can cause trouble and then must be halted, but it can be an extremely useful medication. Don't fret about this; just take it for granted that your doctor is watching out for you.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor is giving me prednisolid for gout but hasn't said anything about diet except to refrain from fatty food. What kind of an article mean by "red meats"? — R. M. F.

Red meats are beef, sweetbreads, liver, heart and other such organ meats. There used to be a great deal of emphasis on diet (avoiding foods high in purines) but that was when we did not have our modern medications. We tried to do the best we could, but unless one is a heavy eater, I don't think gout can be proved to have any very great effect. Follow your doctor's advice. It makes sense to me.

Must Respect Constitution

Ottawa Le Droit

When one government begins a quarrel with another, we always wonder why. It is usually that it needs a smokescreen for some unpopular measure, some action some turnabout, some neglect or falldown.

It is obvious, however, as Ontario Quebec's deputy minister of federal-provincial affairs, Claude Morin, may argue, that under the present constitution, treaties, agreements, joint declarations and international proceedings with foreign countries belong to the central government and not to the provinces.

And even in defending his education minister, Paul Sauvé, Lajoie, Premier John Lesage indicated he doesn't consider himself in any way bound when it comes to the provinces' right to reach international accords without consulting Ottawa. It is normal for constitutions to be behind the times, he said, and "we are living in a period of evolution of the customary constitution through precedents, as for example the right to withdraw from federal-provincial programs." A verbal pirouette, this. What is a "customary constitution?" And what would the premier of Quebec and his attorney-general, or as he is now to become, justice minister Claude Wagner, say if citizens of "La Belle Province" went around breaking laws they object to? Of course there are bad laws everywhere. We obey them while waiting for them to be changed, and for anyone who is not an anarchist it is the same with the constitution.

Need we repeat that the constitution in question is outdated and must be changed — notably to give the provinces the right to sign international agreements within their areas of jurisdiction — but until the day that happens, we have to submit to it as to any other law we don't care for.

And for that matter, the time is ill-chosen even from Quebec's viewpoint to make such an argument just as the central authority and the government of Ontario are trying—haltingly perhaps, but truly—to satisfy French-Canadian opinion on many issues. It would seem Quebec's leaders create pitfalls for French-Canada just as she herself makes gains.— Willie Chevalier.

China Forces Russia's Hand

Granby La Voix de l'Est

Soviet Premier Kosygin, in rejecting U.S. proposals for peace talks on Viet Nam, says such negotiations are impossible as long as the forces maintain their attacks in that land. He contends that the Americans are not to prevent the reunification of Viet Nam.

This Soviet pronouncement indicates not the imminence of armistice talks, but that country in Viet Nam but rather interest in another objective. Russia has stood aside until a critical moment had arrived before making their policy known. It is still Peking announced its decision to send troops into Viet Nam to aid the Viet Cong estimate could also be attributed to a desire not to allow the Chinese Communists a free hand in the area.

Moscow, still at loggerheads with the Chinese, know the necessity for maintaining a state of unrest with the Western nations. But they also realize that failure to intervene in Viet Nam would bring them hostile reactions in the Communist camp, and could result in their expulsion as a kind of second-rate position there. And there's also the consideration that the Soviets would want to get involved to some degree in the Asian dispute. Dr. D. M. Waters, druggist, returned last evening after a trip to Toronto and Buffalo, N.Y.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

May 18th, 1945

During the five and a third years of war to last December 31st, the Canadian National Railway System, the largest single industry in the Dominion, carried on a gigantic work for the people of Canada and the Allies, says the supplement to the annual report to Parliament.

Freight and passenger train miles-travelled during the period aggregated more than 330,000,000 or measured in car miles, the total is nearly ten billion. Freight amounted to more than 433,000,000 tons, while 223 million passengers were carried — greater than ten times the entire population of Canada.

More than four million troops were carried during the period, requiring 8,540 special trains. Nearly 11,000 meals a day were served on dining cars of the C.N.R. More than 14 million guests were accommodated at the company's 12 hotels. Purchases by the railway amounted to considerably more than half a billion dollars.

30 YEARS AGO

May 15th, 1933

Mr. George B. VanBlaricom of Toronto, a former resident of Belleville, is spending a few days in town.

Postmaster J.V.C. Truaisch spent yesterday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Baldrez of Everett Street, have returned home from California where they spent the winter.

Miss Rhea Bush and Miss Myrtle Reid, nurses-in-training at Belleville General Hospital, left today for Montreal where they will enter upon their associate course at the Shriners' Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Quintin Boyd of this city, were in Peterborough on Monday to attend the installation of officers of the order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Boyd is Past Worthy Grand Matron of the O.E.S. of Ontario and Mr. Boyd is a member of the Grand Executive of the Order.

40 YEARS AGO

May 15th, 1923

The members of the Belleville Kiwanis Club celebrated their second anniversary at the New Queen's Hotel last night and it was indeed a most enjoyable party. Kiwanian Tom Power provided a grand feast of good things to eat and those who delightful music under the guidine hand of Harold Holton; vocal solos were rendered by Allan Schryver, Dr. Haffner, Hugh Middlemiss, Jack Fahey and Harold Barrett. The genial president, Will Lattimer presided and helped greatly to make everybody happy.

Patrick Kurk of Prince Edward County recently shot an eagle near Crofton. The bird weighed ten pounds and measured 6 feet and 10 inches from tip to tip of wings.

The Rev. C. E. Clarke, rector of Christ Church, was presented with a new Ford car last evening by the members of the Young People's Association in connection with the parish.

Successful Living

Language Barriers Make Communication Difficult

DEAR DORIS — About your answer to Heavy Hearted and Lost. I quote: "A mother who hasn't learned to converse in the adopted tongue of her family is no help at all when it comes to social things or any things!"

How can you suggest that, Doris? This mother is perhaps a very poor illiterate hard working woman who never had time for learning. If in the home the family speaks this foreign tongue, the girl surely must understand some of it and be able to communicate with her mother. ✓

I came to this country at 23 years of age and after 18 years my English is still rather poor. I have a lovely daughter of 17 (university student) and may I assure you that she does not need to go seek advice out of the house, even if her mother doesn't speak good English — EX-SOCIAL WORKER.

DEAR EX-SOCIAL WORKER — I dare say that university daughter of yours would never think of saying "Mom doesn't know what's going on." The cleavage between European parents and Canadian children is nothing new, even though your insight has made it possible for you to be different. There are others like you, but "Heavy Hearted" does not have one of those.

DEAR DORIS — Where could I get a cook book for diabetes? Is there such a thing? — DIABETIC'S WIFE.

DEAR WIFE — There's a wealth of helpful material to be had from the Canadian Diabetic Association. Write to: The Canadian Diabetic Association, 1491 Yonge Street, Toronto 7, Ontario.

DEAR DORIS — We have four boys and a girl. The girl is eight. The others older.

About a week ago she told me one of the boys was trying to "feel" Mr. Husband and I don't believe this is a terribly alarming but is mostly curiosity in the boy (who is 12.)

He's a quiet boy and rather a dreamer. He is absolutely dependable about doing things in the home. I feel he should be talked to. We are good church members and I believe he knows this is wrong. — CONCERNED.

DEAR CONCERNED — Full marks for making no fuss to the girl. You're right — it's curiosity. Children are full of it. We are prone to establish sex taboos, then wonder why children keep their explorations secret.

Now you talk to him, remember that your goal is to help him look at sex in such a way that he can one day grow up to lead a happy and successful sex life. Encourage his questions, merely explaining that one does not touch or maul others to find things out.

Confidential to NIECE — When a man in his sixties has had two strokes and is retired from his job, it can hit him like a ton of bricks that he is no longer accomplishing anything.

He needs new hope, someone like you to persuade him there is a spot for his skills, and where. Consult your welfare council or family bureau about this.

DEAR DORIS — My secret is a member of a credit card group and it is his habit to put the card on the table when we arrive. He says this is so that if the dining room is no longer a member, the waiter can tell him so then rather than when the bill is presented.

I maintain that it is a type of snobbery to leave the card so prominently displayed. Even if he has checked with the cashier when we came in, he will sometimes put the card on the table anyway. (This may be because I have objected on other occasions and he is determined to do as always.)

Please let us know your opinion. He may have a valid argument. — WHAT'S PROPER?

DEAR WHAT'S — Is it a case of once bitten, twice shy? Has he once been turned away? I fail to see the snobbery angle in being able to get diner card credit.

If you by me, card should stay in pocket until bill is presented. But you tread on shaky ground in criticising your escort's manners. Even a wife does it at her peril.

Such wrangles over trifles suggest that all is not well. Can you accentuate the positive for a while? Letting him know you enjoy the dinners and his company might get you farther.

DEAR DORIS — My husband is 61 years old and has taken up chewing tobacco. Do you think it is right when I am his wife and so much against it? Is there any love there when a husband does what his wife doesn't want him to do? — WORRIED.

DEAR WORRIED — Haven't you found out yet about the love?

We don't promise to renounce all self-indulging habits on marriage, nor to resist new ones. Just how far can one go in imposing one's will on another?

Maybe Hubby is thinking that if you loved him you wouldn't object. Better work out a compromise. Let's say you'll bake his favorite dessert the day he doesn't chew! (I agree that the habit is distasteful.)

DEAR DORIS — We have a daughter going to university and a son who quit school and is working. Should they both pay us board now?

We hate to burden our daughter with so much debt as she will be owing her tuition and books to the government loan already. Our son is working for a small wage, is willing to pay board but wouldn't have much left.

We probably could scrape by without help from either, but there are five more coming along who will be in that position before long and we would like to know how to cope with this. —BUDGETER.

DEAR BUDGETER — Your daughter is mortgaging her future for the sake of an education. Where would she find anything to pay you? On the other hand, your son is now self-supporting. He may not have much left after paying board, but who does?

The thing is, you rob an adult of a privilege, when you carry him free. Your son is learning how to manage money and will take pride in this independence. The girl's turn will come later.

Confidential to "ANOTHER ONE" — Sorry but I have no proper name or address for "Blushing Bob." He must have been too bashful and blushing to identify himself. If he would like to write in again, doing so, I would be glad to forward your helpful note.

Home and School News

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

The last monthly meeting for the school year was held by King George Home and School Association on Monday evening.

President Mrs. N. McKibbon welcomed the parents and students and thanked everyone for his and her support during the year.

The attendance banners were won by Mrs. Voaden's and Mr. H. S. Mundrell's rooms. These two rooms were also recipients of a $5.00 cheque from Home and School as Leaning with the banner the most number of times during the school year. The money is used for a treat for the students of these rooms.

Mr. R. A. Maddock, principal, spoke briefly on the forthcoming report cards and kindergarten registrations.

He thanked the executive and parents for a most successful year. NEW EXECUTIVE

Mrs. Colahin installed the executive for the coming year. They are: President, Mrs. N. McKibbon; first vice-president, Mrs. T. McCracken; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. MacDonald; recording secretary, Mrs. R. Wilkinson; treasurer, Mrs. L. Wallington; executive members, Mr. R. Nitz, Mrs. Manley, Mrs. Derry and Mr. Burnett.

The entertainment for the evening was under the supervision of Mrs. Voaden and Mr. Workman. The grade seven girls put on a display of folk dancing. Grade eight girls did square dancing. Boys from grades six, seven and eight demonstrated tumbling and gymnastics.

At the close of the meeting milk and cookies were served to the students while the parents enjoyed coffee.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

MOUNTAIN VIEW WI

MOUNTAIN VIEW — Mrs. Wilfred Motley was hostess for the May meeting of Mountain View Women's Institute, with Mrs. Fred Motley as co-hostess. About 22 women attended.

Mrs. Lottie Green was appointed delegate to the convention to be held in Demorestville. One lady replenished the birthday box.

This was a grandmother's meeting under the convenership of Mrs. W. Nightingale and Miss Grace Minaker. Each grandmother was presented with a carnation corsage. Mrs. Nightingale conducted a quiz on life when grandmother was young. Prizes for the grandmother having the most grandsons went to Mrs. Frank Robin, for the most granddaughters to Mrs. E. Hall, for the youngest grandchild to Mrs. Stanley Barber, for the oldest grandchild to Mrs. Edward Hall.

Mr. R. Summers showed slides of Australia where he and his wife lived for four years. Mr. Summers was presented with a gift by Mrs. Minaker from the institute. Mrs. W. Motley thanked the program committee and a sing song was enjoyed with Mrs. R. Barber at the piano. Mrs. W. Nightingale thanked the hostesses for their hospitality and the meeting was closed.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughters, Debbie and Doris, and the lunch committee, Mrs. David Farmer and Mrs. Alfred Poste.

WOOLER W.I.

WOOLER — The May meeting of Wooler W.I. met in the institute room with Mrs. William McKee presiding. After a brief business session, Mrs. Erwan Scott, curator, gave a report of the Guelph conference, devoted mainly to girls' work in 4-H Clubs.

The program was under the leadership of girls' work convener Mrs. Alex Ball. The 4-H Girls' Club, with their leaders, Mrs. E. Tunnicliffe and Mrs. Alex Ball, were in attendance. Each girl was presented with a silver coffee spoon. Lorna Cole and Patricia Down played a piano duet. The 4-H girls gave a skit which they had presented at a conference day May 8. Chris Crosby and Linda Richards gave a clarinet duet. Karen McGill played a piano solo. Lunch was served by the girls.

Going Places

Plush Puerto Rico Retains Latin Look 'With Vengeance,

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Condominiums are creating pandemonium all over the place. Apartments and hotels are rising like concrete mushrooms. Thousands of wharf rats once the most downtrodden inland in the Caribbean has been growing by 10 percent a year, one of the fastest rates in the world.

To some, all this opulence is a source of great pride for citizens from their vacation business. The purchase of out-of-the-way resort islands accessible only by Piper Cub and rowboat, where the plumbing won't plumb, and electricity isn't, flies over farther in stark horror of air conditioning and other people.

The cosmopolitan tourists, these coarse souls who require beds with springs, pools with filters and golf courses with grass, are finding more and more each year — that Puerto Rico offers just about everything but the wrist thing.

TOURIST JOYS

A decade ago, when the tourist boom was just getting under way, there were only one or two good hotels, probably no good restaurants, and room clerks made their living by the good old American. To the rowboat-and-Piper set, this may have been the definition of "unspoiled." Today, the dozens of hotels of every size and for every taste all have Spanish or Italian maître d's, and French chefs that keep the goggle-eyed set from Cleveland as much as the other in search of ever greater tourist joys.

This is, of course, fashionable to equate all this with Miami Beach (as if that were bad). Collins Avenue on the Caribbean is the epithet, or Lincoln Road East. Nothing could be further from the truth.

What is happening is that the more touristy Puerto Rico becomes, the more Latin it becomes, like with a vengeance. As if on signal, all the new hotels are done up in tasteful and elegant Spanish motifs that don't even have much truck with Spanish motifs.

The satisfied with being Spanish, the architecture of the Da Vinci is Italian Renaissance, with grand balconies that look as if they were designed by Leonardo himself. And the Lee is Arabic.

The manager of the Lee, a European by way of Venezuela, delightedly has just booked Rosenberg G., after the Latin-American fashion of adopting the mother's maiden name as second surname and abbreviating it to Rosenberg. Rosenberg calls his Jewish guests the "G." Stands for gauntlet. Hebrew for Yiddish. The Sir John Hotel hopes to gain the hotel a large Puerto Rican and South American clientele by adopting the name Sir John with hosher food, and approaches the small hotel's quiet, reserved air.

CONVENTIONAL TRENDS

There are more conventional trends in the super-Latinization of Puerto Rico, chancing as position as probably the most Hispanic-minded place in the Western Hemisphere (Argentina is more Italian, Chile German, Peru Indian and Mexico Mexican). Even bull fighting has been introduced, complete with Spanish fervour, horror, American delicacy won't permit the final thrust, and purists call the Spanish animals "pets of old cows." Another American touch is that the local entrepreneur is developing a portable collapsible bullring so he can take his exhibitions all over the island.

Cuba's most famous restaurant, La Zaragozana, has resettled in black beans and rice and paella here, and the Barrachina family of Valencia has opened a patio restaurant. They both must feel very much at home, for their Old San Juan location is probably the best preserved and maintained Spanish quarter in all of Latin America. The project of keeping Ponce de Leon's original settlement just that way has been going on, tourists or no, for several years.

Art has a thriving home here temporary this and the primitive woodcarved saints characteristic of Puerto Rico are on sale in several Old San Juan galleries. A craft market and folk art centre has been opened in a former Spanish army barracks. High fashion shops, tucked into cool shuttered houses of the old quarter, have developed a booming business with combinations of American workmanship and Latin Spanish resplendory and intricate beadwork.

American ingenuity has been applied to touring too. For $2.50 a small transistorized tape recorder can be rented from American Express and toned in as the visitor passes his way around the Dalila Palace. The guides of the world, it can be shut off at will, and doesn't smell from garlic.

ACCOMMODATIONS PLENTIFUL

Though Puerto Rico's luxury hotels are the plushest in the Caribbean, they aren't the only accommodations. Some 21 guest houses with 300 rooms are in operation in San Juan and there are others out around the island.

This is a year for plans to add that he who must get away from civilization on a holiday can do that too in all-things-to-all-tourists Puerto Rico. Lush beach-green mountains, coffee and sugar plantations, quiet and lovely fishing villages with beaches untouched by human foot, and even plush resorts like the El Ponce Intercontinental in Ponce and the new Mayagüez Hilton that are only 1 hour from the boom of San Juan, all add up to a holiday island that could discourage even the Puerto Rican if who is happiest when he has something to complain about.

And what of the Puerto Rican? Well, they're having a ball. The posh new restaurants and hotels are the clubs of those who can afford them. Latin music has a great time with the single turistas (and vice versa), and they can still have all their fiestas without skipping a beat.

The only potential hitch is that they don't have to learn French, Italian, or German after a while to make themselves understood in the hotels and restaurants. Except at the Lee.

ST. ANDREW'S W. M. S

The May meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. afternoon meeting was held in the Sunday School hall. Mrs. J. Darwell opened the meeting and welcomed the members.

The usual reports were read and an announcement made regarding the Synodical rally of the Kingston Presbytery to be held in Picton on May 20th.

The group in charge of the devotional period consisted of Mrs. G. E. Miller, Mrs. J. Browning, Mrs. E. Shier, and Mrs. W. J. Mills. Mrs. Miller led in the mission study "Through the Years in Canada." Mrs. Mills spoke of the work among the Indians and services rendered by trained deaconesses. Mrs. Shier told of the work among the Chinese.

Mrs. Iven Rollins and Mrs. W. Mantle favored with a duet with Mrs. M. Barlow at the piano.

Refreshments served by the group in charge brought the meeting to a close.

CLUB 4-H NOTES

ALBURY JUNIORETTES

The Albury Juniorettes met at the home of Mrs. Charles Weese for their seventh meeting. After repeating the 4-H pledge, each member reported on the soup and dessert she had made. Louise Miller read the minutes of the last meeting.

At the conclusion of a discussion of using milk in baking, Marjorie Bedford and Evelyn Peck made pancakes which showed a good example of a poor batter using milk. These were served with maple syrup and butter.

Church Groups

ST. JOSEPH'S C. W. I.

St. Joseph's C.W.I. held its May meeting and new members' coffee party in the Parish Hall, Hereditaments Avenue, on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. D. Dunnine president welcomed the members and extended a special welcome to the new members and presented a gift and expressed a wish that they would continue to come to the meetings regularly.

Mrs. H. Carr-Briant, Hospital Convener said plans were all complete for the tea and spring tea. At a later date a rummage sale will take place in the Parish Hall. Mrs. Harold Carveth, convener. The fall bazaar is scheduled for November.

A Rosary was presented to the past president Mrs. Y. Bateman by the association to her for all she accomplished during her two year term as president of St. Joseph's C.W.I.

The meeting came to a close with the League Prayer and an hour of card playing followed, during which time refreshments were served by Mrs. Carr-Briant, Mrs. Keeley and Mrs. B. Lynch.

ST. THOMAS W.C.Y.

The May meeting of St. Thomas Church Women's Church Year Group opened by Archdeacon A. S. McConnell. Mrs. H. Crowe presided and welcomed the ladies and members. It was decided that a letter of sympathy be sent to bereaved families in the Parish rather than making a donation to the Memorial Fund. It was moved by Mrs. Crowe that W.C.Y. pay three quarters of the cost of any boy eligible to attend choir camp. Mrs. Crowe gave a very informative report from the Diocesan Congress held in Kingston.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. J. F. Gill and the members of the month of May. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. M. James who left some thoughts on the kind of prayers we like to be. The guest speaker Mrs. E. Thrasher was introduced and gave an interesting history of an ancient Scottish castle and showed some beautiful slides of its hand carved furniture and tapestries, beautiful gardens and surrounding countryside.

Mrs. R. Pringle thanked the speaker for her enjoyable talk and presented her with a gift of flowers.

The members adjourned to the lower hall where a most attractive and delicious lunch was served by Mrs. W. Page, Mrs. G. Baker, Mrs. J. F. Clarke, Mrs. R. Griffith and Mrs. M. James.

Mrs. T. S. Ransom thanked Mrs. Gill and the members of her group for a most informative evening and a delicious lunch.

ACCEPTS CHURCHWOMEN

The Lutheran Church in America will accept deaconesses next fall at its theological seminary in Philadelphia.

MR. AND MRS. RUSSELL JAMES YOUNG

Young — Fair

The Rev. A. L. Sutherland officiated at a double-ring ceremony in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, on May 8 for the marriage of Lynda Marie Fair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fair of Belleville and Russell James Young of Oshawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Young of Wellington.

White mums and gladioli decorated the church for the candlelight service. A white carpet was rolled down the centre aisle by the ushers just before the bride's mother was seated.

Mr. Redman, church organist played during the service, and Miss Terry Lane was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white satin brocade gown with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline and long sleeves ending in points over her hands. Her bell-shaped chapel train was held by a bow at the back of the waistline. Her shoulder length bouffant veil of silk illusion fell from a ball crown of pearls and white blossoms. The bride carried a Bible adorned with a single white orchid and cascades of stephanotis and green ivy.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Helen Dempsey of Belleville, and the bridesmaids, Miss Kathy Miller of Belleville and Miss Rosemarie Potter of Cooksville wore identical floor length dresses of green imported silk print with bell shaped skirts, fitted bodices and green silk shantung waist length jackets with elbow length sleeves. Matching matching headdresses were of matching print and they carried sheaf type bouquets of yellow mums.

Mr. Richard Davis of Brooklin attended the bridegroom, and the ushers were Mr. Richard Reid of Oshawa and Mr. Robert Young of Oshawa, brother of the bridegroom.

The reception after the ceremony was held at the Shrine Club with Mr. S. L. Allcorn as toastmaster. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake with ivory roses on top and cascading down the sides.

To receive the guests the bride's mother wore a gown of turquoise silk shantung with matching hat and shoes, and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow Sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a mauve Chanel type suit with white braid, white accessories and a corsage of mauve carnations.

The bride donned a light blue tweed walking suit, with white and tan accessories and a white orchid corsage for her wedding trip to western points.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was entertained at the home of Mrs. Gerald Johnson by Mrs. Arlene Dempsey and Miss Kathy Miller. Following the wedding rehearsal a party was held at the home of Mrs. P. L. Allcorn.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Young will live at 20 Avenue Street, Oshawa.

WEDDINGS

JONCAS — DUVAL

TRENTON — A lovely spring wedding was solemnized in the 6 Repair Depot Roman Catholic Church on May 8 when Miss Jean Duval, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Duval, was united in marriage to Mr. Serge Joncas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. C. Joncas, of Montreal. Reverend Father M. M. Waugh officiated at the double-ring ceremony, before a background of white mums and pink snapdragons. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Moore.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white brocaded satin with a scalloped neckline and lily point sleeves. Her shoulder length veil flowed from a bow matching her dress. She carried a bouquet of red roses and feathered white carnations mingled with trailing ivy.

Miss Nicole Joncas, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor was attired in a rose color lace suit, with matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of white mums.

Attendant of the bridegroom was Mr. John Simard of St. Johns, Quebec.

The reception was held at the Queenway Hotel where the bride's mother received the guests in a powder blue sculptured satin dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother assisted in a three-piece beige ensemble.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Joncas will make their home in Montreal, Quebec.

Mother, Daughter Banquet Concludes Successful 'Y' Year

Many lovely girls and their proud mothers were guests of the Y's Menettes at a dinner in the cafeteria of Moira Secondary School on Friday evening. The occasion marked the conclusion of a successful year of participation in the programs offered by the new YMCA.

Mrs. Hugh Watson, outgoing president of the Y's Menettes, presided at the head table. "Y" member, Miss Ann Mikula offered the blessing, and following Dinner Mrs. Slim and Mrs. V. Weir conducted a sing-song.

Mrs. Watson extended a sincere welcome on behalf of the YMCA and the Menettes, after which Mr. D. G. Dimmerfelder, general secretary of the YMCA introduced the head table guests.

INCREASED MEMBERSHIP

Mr. Hugh Watson, president of the Board of Directors, brought greetings from the YMCA and described the chess which was encountered in the move from the old building to the new one. One of the great problems which now exists is that the children now spend much more time at the Y during hours when there is no program in progress for them, and they become harder to supervise. Since the move, the membership of the YMCA has increased from 2781 and the building is becoming already too small. Mr. Watson urged the support of all present to the United Appeal, without which the "Y" could not operate.

The toast to the mothers was offered by Miss Georgina Brickwood, to which Mrs. R. Laughlan responded.

Mrs. John Hagerman, outgoing president of the Y's Menettes, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A. C. Austin.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mr. Austin is former owner of the Austin Telephone Company of Wisconsin. Previous to he chose photography as his hobby. He is a member of the Color Photographic Society of Canada, the Photographic Society of America, the Toronto Guild of Color Photography, and the Trenton Camera Club. He is also a member of The Federation of Ontario Naturalists, and has won many awards for his work. Out of four slides entered by him, in the biggest show in America at Chicago, which had received 4,000 entries, from 28 countries all four were accepted and two were given honorable mention. He has also been cited by an American magazine as one of the top three photographers in Canada. His pictures are all taken within one hundred miles of his home. He has travelled extensively for birds at his home, and he demonstrated on film how photographing wild life will become with humans who have the time and desire to reciprocate. He has also taken pictures available to schools and service clubs throughout Ontario.

The speaker closed by quoting from the Bible and with pictures showed that people do not take the time to appreciate the wonderful works of the Creator. "Hastings County", he said, "has the best scenery in Canada; also the finest parks where the government is attempting to preserve the wonders of nature." With the use of telescopic lenses and flashes, and many, many hours of concentration, Mr. Austin feels fortunate to get one perfect picture from a roll of film.

COLORFUL PICTURES

The pictures shown included flowers, fruit and all kinds of local fish, small animals such as chipmunks, cottontails, woodchucks, squirrels, and even a nest of hairless, blind baby mice. Two of the award winning slides are of Algonquin Park deer.

In the realm of feathered creatures, this gentleman's photography excels. Mr. Austin seemed concerned about the possible extinction of some birds, especially the bluebird.

PRESENT AWARDS

Miss Diane Schroder won the trophy for the annual marathon swim. This was presented to her by Miss Joan Wiggins, on behalf of the Girls' Leader Corps.

Due to the illness of Miss Heather Wood, Miss Arden Southcotte thanked the Y's Menettes for the lovely dinner and a most entertaining evening.

The singers will be invited in Monday's issue of the Ontario Intelligencer.

A REMINDER

Wedding forms for writeups are available at The Ontario Intelligencer and should be completed and returned BEFORE the ceremony, as a report can be published immediately after the wedding.

Pictures may be submitted by your photographer up to three days after the wedding. We cannot promise publication of weddings sent to later.

W.I. Members Enjoy Hydro 'Quick Tricks'

The Hydro demonstration "Quick Tricks" with portable electric appliances with Mrs. Knight, home economist of the Toronto district of Ontario Hydro was the feature of the May meeting of Sidney South Women's Institute in the Centenary Hall on Wednesday evening.

By using the deep fryer, mixer, blender and other electrical appliances Mrs. Knight served a meal of "Snappy Frankfurter Supper," "Chicken with Cocktail Sauce," "Stuffed Salmon Loaf," "Cucumber Dip" and a "Blueberry Cheesecake". These delectable dishes were also made prize dishes by five lucky ladies.

Institute members and friends were present from Bay of Quinte, Chatterton, Pine Grove, River Valley, Hicksville, Wallbridge as well as the Centenary community. Mrs. Dunsdon Douglas, home economics convener, introduced Mrs. Knight to the gathering and Mrs. Fred Meeks thanked her for her most interesting demonstration. Lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

The members of Sidney South voted on the leadership training courses with the first choice "Hats for You" followed with "Hooked Rugs" and as a short course, first choice is "Copper Tooling" and second "Women's Institute Procedure".

Several Institute members attended the Achievement Day in Moira Secondary School on Saturday, May 8th. Mrs. Meeks, Mrs. Ted Aikens, Mrs. Tony Pearce and Mrs. Roy Nobes, the local leaders were present. They took part in the program of songs and demonstrations on buying materials and costume planning. Each girl wore a blouse she had made during the course.

Miss Coby Mywaart will be one of three Hastings County girls representing the 4-H Homemaking Clubs at the 9th Conference to be held in Guelph in June.

U.C.W. Meeting

SHANNONVILLE U.C.W.

The Shannonville U.C.W. meeting was held in the church hall on May 6th with an attendance of 20.

The president opened in the usual manner and group leader Mrs. A. Houston gave the devotional assisted by Mrs. O. Stretton, Mrs. S. Bates, Mrs. S. Elliott and Mrs. Little on the theme "Pentecost."

Mrs. A. Houston and Mrs. S. Elliott sang Mrs. Little on the Houston sang a solo.

Business period followed during which time it was noted that proceeds from spring tea were most gratifying.

Next meeting will be in church hall on June 2nd.

SPRINGBROOK U.C.W.

The Springbrook United Church Women met for their May meeting in the Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Harold Manery, president opened the meeting with prayer. Ong. minute's silence was observed in memory of the late Mrs. Percy Bateman.

Mrs. Gerald McFall and Mrs. George Thompson conducted the Bible study. Their lesson was based on a chapter from the study book God and His Purpose. Worship people seek to use the world for themselves. God seeks to save the world, and those who serve Him share in this purpose. God's saving purpose for the world is worked out through people like Paul and Livingstone, who share in this mission whether overseas or right where we live."

This was followed by a question and answer period. The secretary, Mrs. Murney Bateman read the minutes and correspondence. The Springbrook U.C.W. are invited to a dessert and coffee party at Hoards on May 18 and to meet with the Stanwood Ladies May 19.

A donation will be sent to Dr. Gooding's Camp at Oaks. Mrs. D. Fleming reported for the social functions committee and the plans for the years' activities were accepted.

Mrs. R. McKeown reported that the dividers for the Sunday school room were being made. A motion was passed to sponsor sending a C.G.I.T. girl to camp this summer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Sun Valley Motel. The brides mother received the guests, wearing a printed silk sheath in tones of brown and beige, with a matching organza jacket and head bag covered with ivory cymbidium orchids. She was assisted by the mother of the bride groom, who wore a blue silk shantung suit with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Before her marriage, the bride was honored at a number of social events. Mrs. E. Pidwell and Mrs. H. J. Hemsley entertained at a dessert luncheon at the home of Mrs. Pidwell. The bride's classmates of Kingston General Hospital gave a miscellaneous shower. The bride's co-workers from the staff of Belleville General Hospital held a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. D. Stewart. A miscellaneous shower, was held by the professional friends of the bride's mother at the home of Mrs. Ken Thrasher. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allison entertained at a rehearsal dinner at the Sun Valley Motel.

F/O DAVID H. AND MRS. ALLISON

Allison — Taylor

A lovely wedding was solemnized in Christ Church, Bellaville, on Saturday, May 8, at 12 o'clock noon, when Lynne Ann, daughter of Mrs. J. L. Taylor of Belleville, and the late Mr. Taylor, was united in marriage to F/O David Heathcote Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allison of Bath, Ontario.

The church organist and choirmaster, Mr. Withers, played the wedding music and accompanied six choir boys who sang as the bridal procession entered the church and also during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Rockne Warren Taylor, wore a floor length gown of white silk peau-de-soie with a molded bodice and dolman sleeves. Her bell shaped skirt swept into a chapel train, and her bouffant waist length veil flowed from a miniature coronet of white roses. She carried a white prayer book adorned with white phalainopsis and stephanotis.

Miss Diane Ferguson, Smithfield, and Miss Elaine Turtle of Trenton, classmates of the bride, wore identical floor length gowns of shell pink satin with lace overskirts and elbow length sleeves. Their dresses were complimented with pink shoes, white gloves and small pink coronets.

The bridegroom was attended by F/O Brian Wiley of Ottawa, and F/O A. Robertson and R/O W. Anderson, classmates

Ann Landers

Mother Tries to Relive Youth Through Daughter

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My daughter is 17, and very beautiful. I'm not saying this just because I'm her mother. Others have said it.

Penny has been going steady with a fine young fellow who wants to be a doctor. Kenneth is 18, extremely handsome, well-mannered, comes from a wonderful family and he's just the kind of person I would like Penny to marry. He is so much like a boy I had a crush on in high school it's almost as if I had turned the clock back 30 years.

ANN LANDERS

This morning Penny told me she and Kenneth agreed to break up because they were getting too serious. When she noticed the tears I pretended to have something in my eye. I didn't want Penny to know how upset I was.

If Kenneth and Penny don't get back together I will be heartbroken. She will never meet a boy as fine and attractive as Kenneth. It worries me that I am taking this so hard. Is it wrong to want the best for one's daughter? — LOWER THAN LOW.

DEAR LOWER THAN — This is more than "wanting the best" for your daughter. The past is revisiting you, Mother, and you are attempting to relive your girlhood days.

If you can't disassociate yourself from Penny's social life, I suggest that you get professional help.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am a girl, 16, and don't know where else to go with this problem, so, like many others, I am turning to you.

There are three kids in our family. I am the oldest. My brother is 15 and my sisters are twins, age 13.

When Dad's business isn't good (which is like most of the time) he pulls at us kids and criticizes everything we do. It is hard to believe that he was ever young. To listen to him he never made a mistake in his whole life.

Please don't suggest that Mom talk to him for us. She can't even talk to him for herself. He yells at her, too. I think she is scared of him like we are. What can we do to keep our Dad from ruining our childhood? — YELLED AT FOUR.

DEAR YELLED AT FOUR — Your childhood is just about behind you. It's time you started to think in terms of your adulthood — and part of adulthood is understanding.

You aren't going to change your Dad's disposition, so try to figure out why he yells. Usually people who lash out at others are unhappy with themselves. Their nerves are not in very good shape and the least little thing corks them off.

Why don't you kids start tomorrow to be especially nice to your Dad? I'll bet his disposition improves and that he yells less.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — You have printed rules for gum-chewers, cigar-smokers, and drinkers. Now will you say something about characters who drop in, uninvited and unexpected?

Do you suppose it is a coincidence that the people I would like most never to see never drop in on me. Only the bores. Please say something frank and to the point on this subject. — TRAPPED TOO OFTEN.

DEAR TRAPPED — I've said plenty on this subject — and I intend to say more because it is a recurring problem and a bothersome one to busy people.

It may surprise you to learn that not everybody feels as you and I do about dropper-inners. Whenever I print a letter knocking the practice, dozens of folks write to say they love unexpected company. It flatters them that someone thought to drop in. I say the pleasure is all theirs.

Too many starry-eyed lovers do not know the difference. Do you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love or Sex?" enclosing with your request 30c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Home and School Association News

MACKENZIE ROWELL-AVONDALE SCHOOL—

The annual meeting of the Mackenzie Rowell - Avondale Association was held on Tuesday, May 11 at Avondale School. The following officers were sworn in by Mrs. V. J. Lavigne for the 1965-66 term: Mr. P. W. Kitchen, president; Mrs. O. J. Bertrand, vice-president; Mrs. F. Everard, secretary; Mrs. O. J. Riddell, treasurer; Mrs. W. B. Thompson, recording secretary; and committee members, Mrs. K. G. Corbett, Mr. H. M. Evans, Mrs. W. R. Guthridges, Mrs. E. M. Spencer, Mrs. A. A. Spitters, Mrs. D. C. Stirling.

This was also parents' information night, of particular interest to parents and children in kindergarten or grade one. Mr. Robert Horwood, principal, explained how the children are given a variety of tests to determine their capabilities and maturity, and are grouped accordingly under the unit system, so that they can proceed to their own speed. The average pupil completes three units each year, but the immature child, or the "slow starter" may achieve rather less, whereas the above-average child may cover four units in a year. No child is pushed beyond his capabilities, and testing up after the first year or so. On the other hand, if a child is found to be capable of proceeding at a slightly faster rate, parents must give sanction before the child is transferred to the "accelerated program".

Grade 7 pupils from Sir Mackenzie Bowell School enjoyed a bus trip to a conservation area where they participated in tree-planting.

Two trees, a Crimson King Maple and a Silver Birch, have been purchased to provide some shade in the Avondale playground.

A fireworks display has been arranged for Monday, May 24, in the Avondale School grounds. If the weather is wet it will be held on Friday, May 28.

Women's Institutes

MOIRA W.I.

The president, Jean Thompson, took the meeting in the usual way. Some letters were read and a business discussion followed. Plans were made for the district annual to be held May 21st at Moira.

The convener, Mrs. Wesley Farrel, gave the program based on safety when readings were given by Alice Mumby, Bessie Holbert and Pauline Thompson. The topic was given by Eva Farrel.

The meeting was brought to a close and a lunch served by the hostess.

READERS' SATURDAY COLUMN

Question—I understand from the Canada Department of Agriculture and potatoes are not fattening, have a nutritive value and are 'an important source of Vitamin C, which I understood, came chiefly from citrus fruits. However, in the improper cooking of potatoes, and other vegetables, much is lost. Can you suggest the best way to cook most vegetables, so that I can get the best nutrients from them? I am diet conscious, and the loss of vitamins and minerals down the drain, is very important.—T. D. F.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Hard-Cooked Egg and Rice Casserole (see Thursday); Generous Tossed Salad with Garlic French Dressing; Canned Canadian Peaches; Pineapple-Nut Bread (see Friday); Coffee.

Answer—Your letter is very welcome. One pound of potatoes, skin on, has 318 calories. Potatoes contain appreciable amounts of vitamins A and C and calcium, phosphorus and iron.

You should 1) prepare vegetables just before cooking (never prepare in advance and leave standing in water); 2) cook in smallest possible amount of boiling water short-est possible time, covered (ideally water should be almost gone when vegetables are tender); 3) serve at once (vitamins are lost when vegetables wait to be eaten).

The best way to cook potatoes and most other root vegetables is to bake them. Children (and adults) should be encouraged to eat the jackets of baked potatoes. In February 1964 I gave here a two-installment talk on conserving vitamins and minerals in vegetables. I have mailed these releases to you plus others giving baked root vegetable methods which have appeared in this column.

Question—In the past two weeks two of my favorite pyrex dishes have shattered. One was my "little gold jug" and the other the lid to my large glass pyrex casserole. It is over ten years old. I guess I figured they were indestructible. So I don't break any more would you tell me what I did wrong?—Sybil B.

Answer—I know exactly what you mean. I had a "shattering" experience when I took a hot pie, baked in a pyrex pie plate, from the oven. I sat it on my kitchen counter on a small puddle of water and the pie plate immediately cracked because of the sudden change of temperature. Cool your pies baked in pyrex pie plate on a board.

The rules are: 1) pyrex top-of-stove dishes like your jug and like percolators, saucepans, double boilers and carafes should have a wire grid between the top, especially on an electric burner and should never be allowed to boil dry. 2) pyrex ovenware — either clear or colored—should never be placed over direct heat on top of range.

THEATRE TALK

"The Theatre is the House of Life . . . "—Robert William Service.

"Even in Public School where I realised acting was not my forte, the theatre's magic which turns illusion into reality always fascinated me," says Mrs. Charles (Marian) Wilson, 256 Bridge Street, East, who as a homemaker and young mother of three children is the business manager of the Belleville Theatre Guild, and the first Bellevillian to serve on the executive committee of the Dominion Drama Festival.

A Queen's University professor's chance suggestion to study a preferred drama course, (which ultimately led to winning her degree upon completion of university work — interrupted by her marriage — "when we were living across the Bay and the children were small") proved says Mrs. Wilson, "to be one of the happiest choices I ever made," and brought her in touch with the Belleville Theatre Guild.

"This interest in the theatre which was a bond my husband shared even during our courtship days, I am happy to say, meets with the full approval of my theatre-loving family's schedule at home from where I operate as business manager. It is work which needed doing in that area of the Guild."

"What does it entail?"

One undertaking, for example, which has proved most successful, is the Guild sponsored "Theatre-Party" and "Travel" bus trips which Mrs. Wilson organizes, arranges and directs in co-operation with the Rawson Bus Company.

It was called The Loft.

It was no sooner completed, when as we sadly know, fire destroyed it.

"The loss of 'The Loft' was a heart-break for all the members," says Mrs. Wilson. "It was so lovingly assembled. Those who did not spray the seats with gold paint, helped up the rich red curtains along the black painted walls in a most effective manner. Or they built the revolving stage, our pride and joy, for it maintained just the proper space needed between the audience and actor to give that instant rapport and intimacy necessary in Little Theatre productions."

"Then of course our wardrobe and stage "props" each with a lovable little story of its own according to the amazing backlash it happened over the course of years are irreplaceable. They were priceless antiques in their own right.

"Nevertheless, our hopes are high. People both local and in other little theatre groups that form our Eastern Ontario Regional Theatre are unstinting in understanding, sympathetic and kind. They are responding to our need with money and "props" and thus we hope to raise like the Sphinx from our own ashes and begin anew.

"A Theatre Guild of adult standards such as ours, offers a much needed cultural service and its work becomes something of a family situation in a struggle to attain this contribution to the community's good.

"From an actor's point of view such a theatre affords a variety of roles. This keeps him in top form. It avoids type casting which takes the fun out of acting for both actor and audience.

"Then also, audiences love to see those they know all dressed up pretending to be somebody else, and a warm feeling is set up between the actor and audience. In this way actors get to know one another's merit and defects and gain confidence as they help one another.

"Upon producing plays, such little theatres as our Guild allow much needed creativeness and various testing of "untried techniques" which give that satisfaction of which stuff Actor's dreams are made."

Next week we conclude our Theatre Talks in a discussion with Mrs. Wilson concerning The Dominion Drama Festival, which as you may know is holding its final festival in Brockville beginning May 24th to the 29th.

Church Groups

ST. THOMAS' W.A.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Thomas' afternoon branch of the W.A. was held in the Parish House with a good attendance.

The Rector opened the meeting with prayers and spoke to the group. He stressed on social service in the church, community and the world. He reminded the members of the ordination service in the Cathedral on Sunday, May 23rd. Parish students will be made deacons, one, Mr. Martin Walsh, will be assistant to the Rector as acolyte. Reports were given by the various conveners.

On May 1st rallies were held for the juniors in Napanee and the girls in Kingston. Both of these were well attended by the girls and their leaders. A rummage sale will be held on Friday evening in the Parish House.

Mrs. C. W. Coleman, delegate to the annual meetings in Kingston, gave an interesting and informative report of the two-day sessions. The conference opened with a service of Holy Communion in the Cathedral which was almost filled for the occasion. The Bishop was the celebrant and preacher and was assisted by Dean Fleming, Rural Dean Good, and Archdeacon Hunt.

The noon luncheon was served at St. Paul's on Wednesday and altogether ten on Wednesday and Thursday by the other Kingston churches.

President, Mrs. Stanley Jackson was congratulated on the coming ordination on Saturday, May 8th of her two sons. The late Rev. G. Jackson was Rector of St. Peter's, Brockville.

Family Day Service Held

MADOC JUNCTION — On Sunday night, a combined church and Sunday - School Mother's Day service, with the theme, "Faith in God for today's families," was held in Eggleton United Church.

The minister, Mr. A. Smith, delivered a splendid sermon. The Sunday School pianist, Miss Sharon Reid, was pianist for all the hymns and the anthem sung by 11 girls and boys of the Sunday School.

The Scripture reading from Psalms was read by Wayne McMillan and the second reading was given by Brian Howcut. The story was read by Miss Dianne Frost. Lloyd Clancy also assisted by leading in prayer. Lin Stapley and Keith McMullen gathered the offering.

Daffodils, tulips, hepaticas, and a white chrysanthemum presented by Mrs. Keith Johnson in memory of her mother, Mrs. J. Gallivan, adorned the church. They were arranged by Mrs. Harlow and Mrs. Bridges.

In Ottawa, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said the second test was no surprise, but Canada received it with "regret and concern."

"We in Canada deplore this further contamination of the earth's atmosphere, which has taken place in the face of opposition from public opinion and governments in all parts of the world."

The second test adds greater urgency to the need for a universal treaty banning nuclear tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water, he said.

India's delegate to the United Nations, Vishnu C. Trivedi, denounced the explosion and expressed shock at the great and serious damage done to peace and security.

Trivedi called the 114 - nation UN disarmament commission in New York the explosion represents a health danger to present and future generations.

North Viet Nam welcomed the bomb as "a great encouragement to the people of socialist (Communist) countries."

The official newspaper Nhan Dan said "it is imperative to strengthen the national defence forces of the socialist camp in every aspect, and the forces of the front against war-seeking imperialists be headed by the United States."

South Korean Information Minister Chang Kiu-ha said the explosion "revealed again the warlike nature of Communist China."

In London, the government made no statement but a foreign office spokesman referred to a British statement after the first Chinese nuclear explosion.

The British government said then the Chinese explosion was set off "in the face of world opinion and in defiance of" the (Moscow) test-ban treaty. China did not sign the treaty.

China's reported progress in a summit conference of all countries to discuss the complete prohibition and destruction of nuclear weapons is not mentioned by the British government, officials said.

The Chinese proposal was first made more than a decade ago, its first atomic bomb in October and was repeated Friday. Officials said there is little the government believes nuclear weapons now are an integral part of the armories of some major powers. Therefore, measures to deal with them cannot be taken in isolation from other steps toward disarmament.

China has also proposed that it be made non-China nuclear powers should undertake not to use nuclear weapons. The Western powers feel this is not a realistic approach.

BRITISH DISAPPOINTED

The British government is deeply disappointed that China has carried out a second nuclear explosion in the face of world opinion and the 1963 Moscow partial nuclear test - ban treaty, the officials said.

China and France were the only two big powers that did not sign the 1963 treaty which prohibits nuclear tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water.

It was originally signed in Moscow by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union and does not cover underground blasts. More than 100 governments have adhered to it.

The minister was replying to an earlier question by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who had asked whether Lemay enlisted Canada April 23 and later returned to the U.S.

Mr. Nicholson said the RCMP distributed information on Lemay to police forces in Canada and the U.S. Such an alert does not include the Canadian immigration service, he said.

On the report that Lemay had been in Vancouver last month, the minister said it was not proper "to comment at this time on this aspect."

Pauline Jewett (L—Northumberland) was a main speaker on the Bank of Canada amendments.

The bank bill, among other things, would prevent any Bank of Canada governor from increasing his own pension — an obvious outgrowth of the dispute between former finance minister Donald Fleming and bank governor James Coyne in 1960.

The amendments would also give the government the final say in the disputes with the bank on monetary policy.

Miss Jewett said the bill "will prevent any further denial of ultimate responsibility on the part of the minister of the day" on central bank policy.

CITES HARRIS

Miss Jewett said after interest rates began to climb in 1956, Liberal Finance Minister Walter Harris and his Conservative successor, Donald Fleming, both disclaimed responsibility for monetary policy. The onus was shifted to the Bank of Canada.

There is a general move in other countries to make the central bank governor responsible to the finance minister, she said. Canada had not quite caught up with this trend.

She hoped the current bill would be a step on the way in a clear assumption of monetary responsibility by the federal government.

A Lift for Living

Magic Quality of Good Goal Makes Fear Secondary Thing

By REV. HAROLD R. KOHN

One secret of living with a minimum of fear, anxiety and despondency, is to have a worthy purpose. A good goal has magic qualities. It shrinks many a problem that seems too big to handle, and causes petty concerns to vanish.

When we believe that our purpose is of supreme importance, many temporary reverses and disappointments that fret simpler folk become secondary to us. The spot where we now find ourselves may be uncomfortable, and even hazardous, but we know that our discomfort is less important than our aim, and that where we are is not as important as where we are going.

During World War Two, millions of newspaper readers were thrilled by the heroic stubbornness of little Jack Kelly. Jack was an English lad, eight years of age. Like many other English children, he was evacuated from his homeland at the beginning of the war to escape the frightful German bombings of British cities. But on the way to America Jack's ship was torpedoed in mid-Atlantic. The ship sank. Jack bobbed to the surface and clung to some wreckage until he was picked up by three injured survivors on a life raft.

What were the half - frozen eight-year-old's first words when he was hauled into the raft — "I want my mother?" "Who's going to take care of me now?" No. Jack's first question was, "Which way is America?"

WISE QUESTION

The question is a wise one. "Which way is my goal?" When faced in a time of crisis, such a question dispels panic and controls fear. Mind you, I said it controls fear. It does not eliminate it. Attention to one's goal makes fear secondary to a person's main purpose. Jack Kelly will still be concerned about high waves filling the rubber raft, and may be apprehensive about how long it will take a ship to discover survivors of the sinking. But fear and anxieties were not as important as his strong intention of reaching America.

Isn't this always our problem? Not the utterly evil fear, but to control it by some superior force? Fear is like fire, which is a splendid aid to man's comfort, warming his body, making his food palatable, smelting iron and other metals, but only when controlled.

Fire is a terrible master, destroying many homes, a car, or, and man himself, when it rages unchecked by any other force.

So fear of inadequacy brings laring harm to ourselves and to others may be incentive enough for driving carefully. Fear of disease may lead to sanitation and other good health practices. Fear of war makes for efforts toward peace. Controlled fear can have so many wholesome uses.

WORTHWHILE PURPOSE

A worthwhile purpose exercises such control over fear. For one thing, constant attention to the goal toward which a person is headed controls his fear of failure. This is true providing his purpose is high enough. Let us say that a person's goal is growth toward Christ-like character. He will not need to fear that vexatious circumstances will thwart his seeking for a goal, for such a purpose is actually advanced by adverse circumstances.

Every experience can add some measure of breadth and depth to such a life, especially unpleasant experience. The man of faith knows that he can use every hour for growth, as do trees, thriving on sunshine, but also finding refreshment in rain and letting storms be incentives for developing deeper rootage.

The faithful uses all kinds of spiritual weather for growing a soul. Tough duty stimulates diligence, and discouragement develops determination. Irritations tempt and nourishes self-control. Every disappointment and misunderstanding suffered at the hands of his fellows becomes a force for digging more deeply into human nature, enhancing compassion. Even blindness and deafness afford greater dependence upon God, so that failure leads to success in the sight of God and Christ's character. If character is one's goal, the purpose controls fear of failure.

CONTROLS FEAR

Moreover, if our purpose is worthy, it controls fear of criticism. A circuit judge was plagued by a certain lawyer in a small community where the judge frequently held court. The lawyer was a man of vast conceit, felt he knew the law better than the man on the bench, and took opportunity to sneer at judge's decisions in the courtroom. But the patient judge seemed never to be greatly annoyed at the lawyer's attempts to embarrass him at dinner why he did not reprimand the fellow for his rudeness. The judge answered, "In my home town there lives a fellow. She owns a hound-dog who barks at the moon all night long." Then the judge continued with a smile, "But his barking does not disturb my sleep."

His friend asked, somewhat impatiently, "What's the point, Judge? What about the dog and the moon?"

"The moon kept on shining," the judge answered.

History shows that the brighter some lives shine, the louder the critics bark. But the bright lives kept on shining.

If you have a radiant, God-given purpose, you will keep shine, undistracted by fear criticism.

the next but it could "come more quickly than we might have expected."

BE HOPEFUL SIGN

The second hopeful sign was a new process for nuclear power development to be used in the recently-announced reactor for Quebec which, if successful, would mean a cheaper and wider market for Canadian uranium.

Moreover, "we are doing our best to negotiate an agreement with the French government—and it's not easy"—for a uranium sale which would help fill the gap.

His reference was to negotiations to sell 100,000,000 pounds of uranium to France.

He told his audience of about 400 at a meeting in the Bliss River Royal Canadian Legion Hall that Canadians too often were pessimistic about the future of their country.

"We should look on the brighter side. We have a greater destiny ahead of us than any country else in the world providing we all work as Canadians to achieve that destiny."

FROM PUBLIC MEETING

From the public meeting, headed for Blind River high school's annual spring prom where Mrs. Pearson crowned the newly-elected prom queen, 18 - year - old Dawn Wilson, a Grade 13 student.

Mr. Pearson danced with Dawn, also a Grade 13 student. Mrs. Pearson danced with Dawn's boyfriend, 19-year-old Dave Scanlon, a Grade 12 student.

The dance wound up a day of "mother and father" visits, one in the adjoining ridings of Algoma East and Algoma West. At Sault Ste. Marie, in Algoma West, he officiated at the formal laying of the cornerstone of a new YMCA bowling building and disclosed that his first paying job was playing lobby for Interborough YMCA bowling alley. He was paid five cents a game.

At Manitouwadge, he was presented with a steel plaque from Geraldton. Mrs. Pearson commented: "I prefer the friendly clasp of Algoma rather than the more icy feel of the brass knuckles of Ottawa."

LIKES SINGING

At Bruce Mines, a former copper mining centre in Algoma West, he was obviously moved by the singing of O Canada by the children. He told them: "Thank you. Remember Canada is a wonderful country and it's going to be an even better country when you grow up. Thank you for singing O Canada."

Carving of Christ on Cross Created in Gaspe Area

MONTREAL (CP)—A primitive and highly stylized wood carving of Christ on the cross, believed created in the Gaspe area of Quebec in the 18th century, has been acquired by the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

"We don't know the exact part of the Gaspe," Director David G. Carter said, "but it is believed that the piece originally came from a roadside shrine."

The figure of Christ is in pine and measures eight feet tall, with an armspread of more than 3½ feet. The cross itself is 18 feet high.

Mr. Carter, who acquired the piece from a New York dealer, said it had been sold first in Vermont and then in New York. He said another museum had done research on the carving, but had been unable for financial reasons, he believed, to acquire it.

The main portion of the figure—the feet, legs, cloth wrapping with delicate knot and stylized folds, trunk, neck and head—is of one piece of carved wood. The arms were carved separately and carefully fitted into the shoulders.

The work is considered in excellent condition, although it is extremely weathered from being exposed to the elements for perhaps 200 years.

"The carving belongs in Quebec," Mr. Carter said. "I have no idea how many carvings of this kind there were a couple of centuries ago, but there are few surviving works of this kind and haven't seen one like it anywhere."

The head of the figure is detailed, the unknown sculptor having taken special pains with the hair, ears, beard and other details to give the effect of pathos. Though somewhat small for the body, it dominates the figure.

"He's going to install air-conditioning this year or I'll make it the hottest summer for him he's ever seen!"

remember when she told her husband about the results, but that he said they were not important.

Commission Counsel Patrick Hartt asked why she had unimportant samples analyzed had not important ones which were in the MacMillans' car.

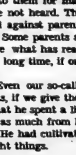
She replied: "I'm sorry, but you'll have to ask George about it."

She told the commission she had not informed her husband that she loaned 5,000 Windfall shares July 12 to Mrs. Ann Campbell, wife of the former director of the Ontario Securities Commission.

Mrs. MacMillan said the wild blazing in Windfall, which started July 6 when the price of shares more than tripled on the exchange, almost drove her crazy.

She said it was just accidental that purchases of Windfall shares for companies she controlled were made at times when the stock dipped in price.

She said the companies sold Windfall shares short from early in July for various reasons, including tax advantages.



Pressed to say why the companies were short in Windfall when announcement of assay results burst the bubble July 29, Mrs. MacMillan said: "I wasn't exactly sure where we were at in those hectic days."

A short seller borrows stock and sells it, hoping to buy it back at a lower price and thus make a profit.

Mrs. MacMillan said she did not think the price of 100,000 and 250,000 shares of stock Windfall paid for the Timmins property was excessive.

"Some very able geologists said it (the property) was interesting and I still think it is interesting. If we can ever get that investment to pay off and do some work, we may still find something."

How many of us actually know how to listen? We are so filled with our own ideas, our own inventions, our personal preoccupations, that even when we seem to be listening to others, we really do not hear them. How many of us know what to listen for? An ancient sage taught: "All my days I have grown up among the wise and I have found nought of better service than silence."

To listen are too busily being busy and not wise enough to know what to listen for. There are some parents whose children have been saying things to them for many years. But the parents simply have not heard. Then the day comes when children rebel against parental indifference to their human needs. Some parents are shocked to learn for the first time what has really been accessible to their ears for a long time, if only they had known what to listen for.

We learn most by listening. Even our so-called enemies have something to teach us, if we give them a hearing. One wise teacher said that he spent a lifetime studying, but never learned as much from his books as he did from his students. He had cultivated the capacity of listening for the right things.

To listen is also to understand. There can be no real understanding of things either great or small, without the will to hear things out. There is often more than one side to a story; there is usually more than our side. There can be no real understanding if we persist in our own prejudices, because we have shut our eyes and our ears to others' feelings and cast the yearning and the heartbeat of others! For this is the beginning of understanding. It is the beginning of that kind of understanding which teaches us what it is we must obey, if we are to be happy.

To understand is also to hear. This is a lesson for men of maturity who come to understand that they must surrender their will to a law of life which transcends their own persons. One does not jump from a high place because he knows he must fall. To refrain from jumping is to agreement arranged May 5 by an Organization of American States commission.

Informed sources said special U.S. emissary John Bartlow Martin has withdrawn, at least temporarily, from efforts to achieve progress toward negotiations.

The rebels said Friday they would not negotiate with the junta but said they would talk with the three U.S. ambassadors of this junta, the North American.

A force of 250 Honduran soldiers has set up a camp near the Duarte Bridge leading into Santo Domingo from the junta's military headquarters at San Isidro air base. The Hondurans are the first contingent of an Inter-American peace force authorized by the OAS.

Costa Rican police are being sent and the Nicaraguan Senate approved the sending of 144 officers and men to participate in this force.

The UN Security Council in New York acted unanimously Friday to withdraw the message from the rebels, saying Santo Domingo was in imminent danger of destruction.

Thant instructed the four-man group to "prepare the way on the spot for the early arrival" of a representative he planned to appoint to personally investigate the Dominican situation.

PLAN TRANSPLANT UNIT

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Western Hospital will become the first Ontario centre to establish a unit for kidney transplantation this fall, Dr. Abraham Rapoport said Friday at the closing session of the Ontario Medical Association annual convention.

Conservation of Heirlooms

By LENNY WILLIAMSON

BOOKS, PRINTS AND DOCUMENTS

Proper care of paper consists mostly of a formidable list of don't's. That's because paper is one of the most complex, infuriating and valuable substances made by man. Acids of sulphur eat it, and sulphur is found in printer's ink and in the make-up of paper itself.

Don't use any kind of plastic sticky tape on paper. It stains and destroys the fibres. Remove any you find on books or documents with benzol (from the drug store) and a camel's hair brush. Don't leave paper clips, pins, staples, in documents you want to keep from being exposed to the danger of sulphur and moisture into sulphuric acid. Rubber cement stains, and is for under six months' use only.

Here's the recommended way to repair torn book pages for any use other than in libraries.

Put a piece of waxed paper under the leaf of the book. Smear a thin layer of bond-fast resin glue along both torn edges. Bring the edges together and let the glue set. When it dries you will have the two margins of the paper secured between a transparent plastic film.

Paper should be glued in scrapbooks with photo corners or a daub of bond-fast glue at each corner. Too much glue will ripple the paper.

Old prints, maps and documents should never be sheilacked or lacquered. Maps, 200 years old, left alone and stored flat have outlasted those treated with varnish.

Tampering with old documents, prints and letters destroys completely their historic and market value. Don't trim the margins of prints to fit them into a frame, cut off a signature, trace over faded printing or writing, remove sealing wax or ribbons.

Remove pine backing boards from prints and pictures, and replace with white bristol board. Resins in wood cause ugly brown stains on paper.

Prints can be bleached clean, but the process requires a professional hand. To spruce up a dirty print, use powdered art gum in a porus bag, sold by stationery stores. When you get surface dust off the print you can go at pencil marks and fly specks with an art gum eraser, without fear of streaking.

Don't expose precious old documents and letters to the destructive action of air and sunlight. Seal them, flat and unfolded, in a big envelope and store them in a dark, dry spot. If you want to frame the Crown deed to the family acres, take a picture of it, put the negative in with the original document, and hang the positive print. Good clear prints can still be taken from the first photographic negatives made.

At the present time, micro-filming and photography are the only sure ways we have of preserving the printed record of the ages.

Lighting The Way

By Walter S. Crone

THE BOOMERANG OF KINDNESS

An Austrian immigrant, was hitchhiking to Los Angeles one day, when a family stopped on the highway, and invited him to their car. They had quite a distance to travel, and during the trip, enjoyed some lively conversation with their hitchhiking friend. Asking him to his destination, he thanked them profusely. Bidding him goodbye, they went on their way. 25 years passed, during which this family never saw or heard of Charles W. Babcock.

However, during this quarter century which followed the hitchhiking experience, fortune smiled on Mr. Babcock. He amassed quite a fortune. Obviously, he never forgot the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Tyson of Los Angeles, remembering them in his will. He died a bachelor at 66 years of age, and left the Tysons $100,000.

Kindness is like a boomerang. Human experience proves over and over, that when we sow the seeds of kindness, that sooner or later, directly or indirectly kindness comes back to us. The Good Book says "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." The way of life is brightest considerably when we are kind to others.

The Golden Years

Retired People Usually Are Best Neighbors You Ever Had

By THOMAS COLLINS

If, on the street where you live, some retired man and his wife have taken up residence, you might consider building a monument to them.

But better still, since they probably wouldn't like a monument, you might consider keeping your small children from trampling their flowers this year, keeping your dogs away from their evergreens, and stopping some of your noise.

Because retired people moving to a conventional street, in suburbia, a small town, or almost anywhere, are one of the finest economic assets their neighbors ever got.

A retired man, George W. Sawyer — who's getting pretty disgusted with the way children chasing balls and dogs chasing dogs are ruining everything he plants in his yard — tells why:

"A retired couple moving into a new neighborhood will usually set out at once to beautify their house and yard. They have the time, the motivation — and what else is there for them to do? The best lawns, the prettiest flowers, the neatest yards are always the trademark of today's retired couple.

"So what happens? All the neighbors are encouraged — or ashamed — into beautifying also. And as a result the whole neighborhood becomes a prettier spot, the value of everybody's house goes up. Usually to stay up."

A greater economic asset than this, according to Mr. Sawyer, is the tax windfall. The retired couple pay on their income the same proportion of taxes paid by neighbors who have small children and teenagers. Most of these real-estate taxes go for schools. "But the retired couple has no children to educate. So the neighbors get the benefits of their tax money without having to build a new classroom for them. You can realize what an economic asset this is when you compare the retired couple with a couple that might have moved into their house with eight kids."

The stability of retired people who move into a neighborhood is always important, Mr. Sawyer explains. "People who pick up and move every year or two are a serious detriment to their street. They cause changes in the character of a community. They invariably bring a decline in property values. Retired people as a rule come to sit and to stay . . . and to maintain standards."

Among other items from Mr. Sawyer's study:

Don't have noisy Saturday night parties that keep neighbors awake until 1 a.m.;

Don't yell, scream and run and romp — or have children who do — from sunup to sundown;

Don't come around asking for contributions to the Girl Guides;

Don't come around asking for cans of green beans to contribute to their sixth-grade teacher's projects to send a bundle of something to Pago-Pago;

Don't come around asking us we're.

Mr. Sawyer says he'd appreciate it very much if neighbors would take all these facts-of-life to heart and please keep their lovable little terrors out of his petunia patch.

4th Thurlow

4TH THURLOW — Mrs. Jim Dymock of Gravenhurst was a recent visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garrison.

A kitchen shower was held in the church hall on Tuesday evening for Miss Linda Ruckhaldt.

END OF THE STEERING WHEEL? — Ford Motor Company engineers are testing a steering device in which two transparent plastic discs, each sentitive enough to be operated by one finger, replace the wheel. Walter McCall, automotive writer for the Windsor Star, describes the series as "nimble but sure." (CP Photo)

Ford Has Steering Device Which May Replace Wheel

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) —The earliest cars, or auto buggies, were steered with a tiller.

Then the steering wheel came into being-and has been around for more than 60 years.

Now, depending on the experience of engineers, its days may be numbered, at least in one make of automobile.

Ford Motor Company engineers in Canada and the United States are testing a steering device in which two transparent plastic discs, each sensitive enough to be operated by one finger, replace the wheel.

The Lincoln-Mercury division of Ford at Dearborn, Mich., has produced four of these "wrist-twist" cars, similar in design to other vehicles except for the steering.

THUMB-HOLE DISCS

The two discs, each about five inches in diameter, are attached to the ends of a Y-shaped yoke fastened to the dashboard near what otherwise would have been the steering column. Each of the discs has a hole large enough for a thumb.

A reporter who tested the car here, Walter McCall, automotive writer for The Star, describes the experience as a "verte at first."

"Steering is nimble but sure. Slight fingertip pressure on either of the rings is all that is required to turn a corner, straighten out or park."

The two discs are synchronized through a chain and-sprocket mechanism beneath the stylized plastic cover of the Y, so that any movement of one ring automatically turns the other.

With elbow rests provided for both arms, driving is "a comfortable experience," M c C a l l says.

"The rings make 2.8 turns to lock compared to 3.6 turns on a more conventional Ford product."

Wooler

WOOLER — Mrs. C. E. Neyvalle and Mrs. Vera Teal visited Mr. Neyvalle in a Toronto hospital on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hubble of Toronto visited recently with Mrs. S. L. Terril.

Mrs. L. Tompkins returned to her home in Ottawa after spending three weeks with Mrs. N. N. Haggarty.

Mrs. L. E. Bryant and Miss Annie Richards of Madoc spent Friday and Saturday with Miss Margery Baldgley at Frankford.

A number of 4-H Club girls attended achievement day at Brighton on Saturday; also a number of the mothers and friends attended in the afternoon as three of the girls, Linda Richards, Chris Crosby, and Bonnie Tracey, received their Provincial honors.

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — Mrs. Don Cracknell is undergoing treatment in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Weltman was among those who attended Mrs. Linda Wellman's recital on Wednesday evening at Belleville.

The W. I. meeting of Springbrook - Bonarlaw has been changed from May 19 to May 20, at the home of Mrs. R. Dickie.

MR. MELTZER ON REAL ESTATE
"What's Your Problem?"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Letters are constantly being received from readers asking about investment returns that can be expected from real estate. The reply to our correspondents lists the typical return prevailing in the current real estate market.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: In going over my stock investment portfolio in preparation for my income tax return, I find that my average yield is less than 2.5 percent. I could do much better in government bonds!

My stock broker keeps talking about capital gains. So far I have seen little of these gains. Could you please tell me what returns I can expect if I were to invest in real estate? — Mr. T.P.R.

ANSWER: Real estate investment yields much better returns. The lowest market yield, involving riskless situations is about 7 percent. A property leased on a long term basis to a grade A.A.A. client will yield about 7½ to 8 percent. A property of average risk yields about 10 percent on cash investment. Returns of 11 to 15 percent are also common. Risk situations yield 20 percent and higher.

In addition, capital growth in real estate comes either from growth of equity due to the amortization of the mortgage or from a rise in market value.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I have paid fire insurance premiums for over 25 years and now that I have a small claim I cannot collect. The company does not even give me the courtesy of replying to my letters.

I have dealt with the same insurance broker for many years. Each year when my policy expires he sends me a new one from a different company—none of which anybody has ever heard about. The last one did not even have an office, just some desk space in a rundown office building.

Six months ago we had a small grease fire in our kitchen. The damage was mostly from smoke. I reported it to the insurance agent, and nothing happened. Finally five months later, after many phone calls and letters, a so-called adjuster appeared. Five minutes later he told me that the company would not pay because the fire was my fault. My agent shrugs his shoulders and says there is nothing he can do. What can I do? — Burnt Up

ANSWER: Treat-get a new insurance agent and a new policy in a reliable company, then engage an attorney to press your claim.

Unfortunately it appears that your agent was continually placing your policies with companies that paid him a higher than normal commission but give little consideration to their policy holders.

I'm afraid that it will be necessary to engage an attorney to press your claim. Otherwise, I predict that they will continue to ignore you. You might also consider filing a complaint with your state insurance commission.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: We are a community of 10 houses, each owner with an investment ranging from $22,000 to $27,000 but I'm afraid that all is not unless we can get help. we cannot use our toilets, drain our bathtubs or even get rid of the dishwater. The cesspools and French drains don't work for the ground is a solid blue clay.

Five neighbors have already abandoned their homes. We are about to do likewise. Dozens more are ready to follow. Our county board of health has investigated but its only comment is that the builder should never have built on the spot. A fine time to tell us after you ever! Returns of 11 to 15 percent are also common. Risk situations yield 20 percent and higher.

Construction Boom Forecast

By BARRY McCULLAGH

Belleville construction men face a busy future. The Economic Council of Canada says that construction volume across the country may well rise by 80 per cent to $13.6 billion by 1970, as compared with 1963.

This, says the Council in its first annual review, will require an addition of between 250,000 and 350,000 new entries into the on-site labor force.

"It is estimated that during the period 1966-70 the average annual net family formation (excluding the Yukon and North West Territories) will be 106,200, representing an increase of 35,000 over 1961-65 or approximately 50 per cent

A brief issued to delegates at the recent conference in Ottawa of The Canadian Construction Association said the above increase is estimated to require by 1970 the construction of new housing at an annual rate of 190,000 units, compared with 135,000 in 1963. The value of new residential construction for 1970 is estimated at $3,246 million, compared with $2,257 million in 1963.

At the same time new educational facilities, hospitals and roads will be needed. Increases indicated above are in terms of millions of 1963 dollars. On this basis, residential construction in 1970 would increase by 43.6 per cent; private social capital investment by 80.8 per cent and public social capital investment by 64.7 per cent.

Manpower requirements are such that by 1970 the Canadian economy will have to find employment opportunities for an additional 1,519,000 persons. This would bring the total number of persons at work to nearly 8,000,000.

The construction brief summarized the situation thus. (1) Population growth should raise the demand for residential and social capital construction services by more than 55 per cent between 1963 and 1970. (2) Economic development should raise the demand for industrial, commercial and financial services and agricultural construction by more than 100 per cent and (3) These increased volumes of construction will need to be performed to an unusually high degree by apprentices and semi-skilled workers.

"It may be difficult," says the brief, "to attract these into the industry against competition from other industries offering more attractive working conditions.

"The maximum possible utilization of the construction labor force throughout, regarding both year-round employment and improved productivity, will therefore become the key to the realization of the goals set for 1970."

"It is a tall order for Belleville and the county at large. "The industry is going to kick over more than $10 billion in Canada in the next five years and we have to work out means of fulfilling this program," said Beverley Quinney, president of the Belleville and District Builders' Exchange.

"The problem is that every one is busy right now," he added.

THURLOW BUILDING

Thurlow township building inspector Alex. J. Beaudrie has announced permits for construction totalling $157,900 for the period between Jan. 1 and April 30. This included $121,-500 in residential construction, and $30,500 for industrial.

The total for April was $94,-900, including $61,000 residential and $30,500 industrial.

Mr. Beaudrie noted that some builders are proceeding before obtaining a building and plumbing permit, contrary to township by-laws.

PLANS ON VIEW

Plans on view at the Builders' Exchange include a new eight-room school at North Fredericksburgh township near Napanee; a new ten-room school at Richmond township near Selby, and an addition to another school in the same area. Plans for an addition to a school at South Fredericksburgh near Bath are also on view.

Nuclear Capacity Among Other Countries May Grow

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

China's second nuclear blast underscores a growth toward nuclear capacity among countries in a world lacking effective control machinery.

In the next three years, an American authority reported in London Thursday, 20 more countries will have the savvy to begin producing cheap nuclear bombs.

The technical Chinese progress, as shown in the second test announced Friday will be measured over the next few days by aerial samplings and United States espionage activity.

More significant will be the extra pressure it creates in India where, for example, Prime Minister Shastri faces rising demands to start building an independent nuclear muscle.

UNDER U.S. UMBRELLA

India was believed the main target last October when President Johnson stressed after China's first test that the U.S. would extend its nuclear umbrella to Asia as a result.

That point has been repeated quickly by Washington now.

The prospect of what is called nuclear proliferation is acutely recognized by the U.S., Britain, the Soviet Union and other powers. But how to ban the bomb?

The U.S., Britain and the Soviet Union continue to adhere to the limited test-ban treaty which authorizes only underground testing. France continues to go her own way and China—a bitter outcast at the United Nations and most other East-West points of contact—proceeds independently.

Just how long it will take China to develop the bomb itself and the machinery to deliver it remains conjectural. Dr. Harold C. Urey, nuclear chemist who won a Nobel Prize, suggested recently that China's first nuclear test showed a lot more progress than was expected.

On that basis, he said, China might have a missile system within five years.

WILL BE CAUTIOUS

But there are authorities who also suggest that China with a deliverable bomb is not going to be any more or less aggressive than at present. They suggest that China will continue to be cautious about encountering any situation likely to blow out of control, and argue that China in the Viet Nam situation has been careful all the time despite the discomfort of being shown as a paper tiger before American air and sea power.

The real danger, many contend, lies in the difficulty of shackling nationalist ambitions to produce bombs.

Some of those near that capability, such as India or Pakistan or Indonesia, have much more pressing economic needs to meet. But national pride may intrude.

'De Gaullism' Finding Favor In Canada

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The policies of French President de Gaulle wrapped up in the phrase "de Gaullism," now seems to be finding more favor than criticism among Canadian diplomats at home and abroad.

There's still a good deal of criticism — de Gaulle is sometimes referred to here as the "Separatist of Europe" — but there's also a lot of sympathy for what he is trying to do.

Many officials say Canada is probably in a better position than any other nation to judge what de Gaullism means because this country constantly has to fend off heavy American influence.

They say de Gaulle is trying to get Europe to stand on its own feet and make its own decisions without American direction, however well intentioned.

There's much support here for such a policy. Informants say that with Europe booming economically there's no reason why it should let the United States take care of its defence and other policies. Europe, they say, should start acting like an adult.

The Canadian government is troubled by some forms de Gaullism takes: For instance, creation of a small, but expensive nuclear force which, sources here say, could scarcely damage Russia but which could bring on a world war.

BIG DIFFERENCE

This force is less than half the size of the RCAF air division in Germany. What difference is that France controls her own nuclear weapons. Canada does not control the nuclear warheads supplied by the U.S.

The government is also upset by Quebec's desire to negotiating treaties with France, which regards herself as the leader of the French community everywhere in the world.

One important factor in Canada - France relations at this time—and they are complicated by clashing views on NATO and the United Nations — is that External Affairs Minister Martin and French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville get on well together. They have met on eight times since Mr. Martin became minister two years ago and Mr. Couve de Murville is making another visit to Ottawa this fall.

Liberal Leader Opposed to Medical Bill

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Liberal Leader Andrew Thompson said Friday his party will use the forum of the legislature as well as public meetings to expose inadequacies of the provincial government's medical services bill.

He was apparently referring to public meetings to be held in the province during the month. Brracondale, left vacant with the death of Liberal Joseph M. Shaw, will be filled tomorrow and most other East-West points of contact—proceeds independently.

Just how long it will take China to develop the bomb itself and the machinery to deliver it remains conjectural. Dr. Harold C. Urey, nuclear chemist who won a Nobel Prize, suggested recently that China's first nuclear test showed a lot more progress than was expected.

On that basis, he said, China might have a missile system within five years.

WILL BE CAUTIOUS

But there are authorities who also suggest that China with a deliverable bomb is not going to be any more or less aggressive than at present. They suggest that China will continue to be cautious about encountering any situation likely to blow out of control, and argue that China in the Viet Nam situation has been careful all the time despite the discomfort of being shown as a paper tiger before American air and sea power.

The real danger, many contend, lies in the difficulty of shackling nationalist ambitions to produce bombs.

Some of those near that capability, such as India or Pakistan or Indonesia, have much more pressing economic needs to meet. But national pride may intrude.

WIN PRIZE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Ontario engineers have won a $5,000 prize for designing a rock climbing wheelchair. Neville E. Wells, 46, and Kenneth Gardner, 35, of Port Credit, were announced Friday as first-prize winners in a contest sponsored by the president's committee on employment of the handicapped and the National Inventors' Council of the commerce department. The battery-powered wheelchair uses caterpillar treads.

WEEKLY WAGES DOWN

Average weekly wages in Canadian manufacturing decreased 83 cents to $84.51 in February from $85.34 in January with average weekly hours going down to 40.6 from 41 in the previous month, the bureau of statistics said Friday. Average hourly earnings remained unchanged at $2.08, but were up nine cents from those in February last year. Weekly wages showed a $2.48 increase from a year earlier while the work week was three - fifths of an hour shorter.

MORE ORE SHIPPED

Producers' shipments of iron ore increased in March to 1,340,435 tons from 1,091,534 a year earlier. Export shipments in the first three months totalled 3,302,272 tons, up from 2,922,310 tons last year.

B.A. WINS AWARD

The British American Oil Co. of Toronto has been awarded the Silver Anvil Award of the Public Relations Society of America for its recent program of having new executives meet employees across Canada.

PRICE REDUCED

Price reductions of 25 a ton for Canadian newsprint sold to Australia will go into effect June 1, a spokesman for Crown Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd. said Friday in Vancouver. The price cut, in United States funds, amounts to about $5.40 Canadian.

Diefenbaker Sees Election Coming Soon

SUDBURY (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Friday he is in an "expectant mood" for Prime Minister Pearson to call an election soon.

He told reporters Mr. Pearson's visit this weekend to his riding of Algoma East "seems to indicate an election is not far removed."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Liberal government would like nothing better than to be defeated in the Commons so that responsibility for a call for an election would be placed on the Opposition.

Asked how he felt about Progressive Conservative strength in Quebec, Mr. Diefenbaker replied the Conservatives "have more supporters in Quebec today than we have had in that province until I became leader."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Pearson's introduction in the Commons of a Canadian flag was only the first step towards abolishing Canada from the Queen.

He said the government has called for tenders for security registration cards that will bear the red maple leaf flag and not the Canadian coat-of-arms.

"The government is negotiating with Canada that was illegge of the past," he said.

New Zealand's Alps Offer Unusual Flying Vacation

By BARRY McCULLAGH

The DC3 droned over the Canterbury—Plain toward the foothills of New Zealand's Southern Alps. Ahead, range merged into range and the sun cast shadows on rocky slopes rising from deep troughs carved out during the great earth movements of early times. Although it was mid - summer, the 10,000 feet peaks were flecked with snow.

Half - an - hour earlier I was in Christchurch. Now the Mount Cook Airlines plane was flying over some of the most dramatic terrain on earth — over the mountain fastness to Queenstown. This is an idyllic region of mountains and fiords, terrain resembling that of Norway and yet unique in its own right.

Remote as it may seem in its mountain - girt setting, Queenstown is within easy reach of any part of New Zealand. You can leave Auckland, some 600 miles north, on the early plane, transfer at Christchurch and be in Queenstown for lunch. Or you can land at Mount Cook and have lunch at the world-renowned Hermitage.

With Christchurch as base, you can enjoy a three - day excursion by air and coach for little more than $50. This includes scenic flights in ski - equipped planes to the Tasman, Fox and Franz Josef glaciers.

Mount Cook Airlines makes the most of its Alpine routes. Comfort chairs are left open and passengers invited to the flight deck for a closer view of the surrounding panorama.

TURBULENCE A PROBLEM

"Any special problems flying in mountain regions?" I asked Captain Geoffrey Williams. "We must watch the weather very closely," he replied. "Clouds and mountains just don't mix — and turbulence is a problem." His words took on added significance as the flight progressed.

Below, river courses, muddy from last night's rain, snaked through narrow passes and valleys. Seeing them for the first time, the mountains seemed a mere jumble—an age-old rock mass thrown together in tortuous intimacy. Captain Williams and his fellow pilots know the names of every range and peak, valley and river, and pass on their knowledge to passengers. In the cockpit you get a lesson in geography — the names of peaks and valleys and lakes (like Benmore, created following the closing of the floodgates of the dam of the same name).

Williams pointed to a craggy pass which once afforded a route for sheep smugglers into the lush pastures of Central Otago. A lake of pale green hue came into sight. "This was created by glacial action on the rock," said co-pilot Bill Allen. "Sediment from erosion hangs in the water and produces the green effect."

LAND ON PLAIN

Leaving the mountains briefly, the DC-3 began to lose height over a vast plain. In this largely unpopulated region the sight of a sheep station came as a surprise. We were approaching Glenorchy, an alternative landing field for visitors to Mount Cook where high winds made a landing impossible. Glencairn is one of the Scottish names that abound in the region. The plane banked over another green lake, a windsock flashed past the window and we were down—not on a concrete runway but on a flat tableland in the heart of the mountains. A late model Chevrolet which had brought Queenstown passengers 50 miles from the Hermitage stood beside the small hut which served as a terminal building. There were only seven passengers and three disembarked for the journey to the Hermitage. The rest of us filed out for a brief look at the surrounding countryside. Then we were airborne again on the last leg of the flight.

Some passengers looked anxious as we flew into cloud. But not for long, and the pilot's voice was reassuring. Another range loomed up and we began to climb.

"We are crossing the Kawerau Gorge and flying along the 45th parallel to Queenstown."

Now the mountains were even closer and the plane encountered very little turbulence. But pilot Williams was unperturbed. "To your right is Arrowtown, a major centre in the gold rush about a century ago, but today largely a ghost town," he said.

Some of the workings can still be seen, and in imaginative nation one saw be bearded adventurers panning the waters of the Shotover River. Here men endured many hardships in their quest for wealth and fortune.

The DC 3 touched down in wet drizzle at Queenstown's grass airfield. It was chilly too. But even in the rain Queenstown (it gets about 200 inches of rain annually) is impressive. Vacationers from near and far thronged the streets and I browsed through well - stocked stores, admired a Labrador brown dog (a Bizengi, with "no dew" and no bark"), according to the pretty lass holding it in a leash), and stood on the shore as the evening shadows closed over Lake Wakatipu.

AWAY FROM IT ALL

Queenstown is right away from it all. "I love the place — it's full of real live characters," said a Hungarian refugee from Sydney. Like Jon Dumble, a young New Zealander who built his Skyline Chalet 1,500 feet above the mountain above the town and drives relays of visitors up the approach road in his Land Rover. He built himself, for refreshments and an incomparable view of the lake and mountains.

I had wanted to fly to Milford Sound, one of thirteen fiords in the southwest, and one of the most majestic sights in the hemisphere. But it was not to be. The weather worsened and no flying was possible. Next day passengers for the return trip to Christchurch were assigned to travel by bus to Dunedin where the aircraft was waiting.

At Dunedin airport an American tourist greeted us. "You can have 10 minutes for a cup of tea and then we had better get going." Some of us were booked on the last plane from Christchurch to Wellington, and we were soon on our way — with Captain Bud King, of Anchorage, Alaska, at the controls. King told me he had attended school in Calgary.

It was the end of a vacation in New Zealand's rugged south island, where time seems to stand still. We were 30 minutes late at Christchurch, but NAC, the national airline, which has tradition of fine service, held its flight back for us.

New Flag Raised May 21

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Welch (PC — Lincoln) told the Ontario legislature Friday that county bar associations should set up regular public clinics to advise persons of their legal rights.

Speaking in the budget debate, Mr. Welch, a lawyer, said: "The legal rights of an individual in a democratic society should be as important as his physical health."

Individuals would come in and talk about their legal problems, he said, if they knew they would be charged only a minimum fee for a short interview.

Mr. Welch also proposed that old persons not ill enough to to qualify for hospitalization assistance be treated in convalescent and intermi-care units that would be established near acute - care and chronic - care hospitals.

He said Ontario should consider gradually lowering the qualifying age for its old - age assistance to 60 from 65 since the federal government is reducing the qualifying age for its old-age pension to 65 from 70.

WILL RAISE FLAG

Premier Robarts announced that Ontario's new flag will be raised in front of the legislature building in a ceremony at 9:30 a.m. Friday, May 21.

A second flagpole was put up Friday to the right of the existing pole on which the Canadian flag now flies. The Canadian flag will be transferred to the new pole to give it the place of honor.

The house last month adopted the former Canadian red ensign as the Ontario flag, substituting the Ontario shield for the Canadian shield in the fly.

Robert Nixon (L—Brant) said the hazards of alcohol addiction should be brought to teenagers in schools.

Mr. Nixon, a former high-school teacher, said students are being bombarded by advertising and propaganda that anyone who does not drink is a social outcast.

SHOULD BE INCLUDED

He said educating students in the dangers of alcoholism, which he described as a growing social blight, should be within the jurisdiction of the education department's secondary - school health program.

Mr. Nixon also said religious instruction should be removed from the public school system.

He said teaching Christianity is unfair to parents of many faiths who have no alternative to sending their children to public schools.

Instruction in religion should properly be the province of the church and not the public schools, he said.

DISCUS HOTEL

VIENNA (AP) — Cyrus S. Eaton, Jr., son of the Nova Scotia - born Cleveland industrialist, said Friday the "Eaton group" is discussing plans with the Hungarian government to build a $8,000,000 hotel in Budapest. Eaton and his father leave for Moscow this weekend on the next leg of their tour of Eastern Europe, but plan to be back in Budapest in about a week to continue their talks.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The stage is set. The actors are ready in the wings.

The curtain rises on the summer drama of sports next week.

Minor sports especially softball and baseball have a heavy agenda. The Belleville and District Softball League has expanded to seven teams.

The "working man's league", the Commercial, has developed into an eight-team circuit, the largest in years.

Golf is expected to enjoy the best season in the history of the Bay of Quinte Country Club.

The greens of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club are in perfect shape and the grass keepers are ready for another all-out season with all tournaments being up for repeats.

The Quinte Riding and Driving Club is readying the track stage for what is expected to be the best year on record for the trotting and pacing. A feature will be the Black Diamond Stake race during fair week.

I understand the "white wingers" of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Squadron and the "push-button pilots" of the Quinte Power Boat Squadron have a full agenda for the summer.

The sports department of this newspaper is ready, as in previous years, to co-operate with all sports organizations to the fullest extent as regards publishing events results.

Particularly as far as minor sports are concerned.

And we would like to remind all minor sports officials, coaches, executives, etc., that it is not a one-sided operation. We must have the fullest co-operation.

The Belleville Minor Sports Association is doing a tremendous job providing healthy wholesome pastime for the young fellows of the city.

This department has co-operated and is co-operating to the full with the association in publishing pre-season data, rosters, and schedules.

It is ready to publish the results of each and every game providing the material is sent to this office.

Publication of results is strictly up to managers, coaches, or their representatives. They should be submitted either written or phoned the day after the game.

With games scheduled for practically every night it will be impossible to publish results two or three days old.

Furthermore, if no information is forwarded by team officials, no publication will be made. It is impossible for members of the department to cover games personally.

The little guys like to see their names in print. And they will if their coaches or other officials see to it that the results of the games are forwarded promptly to this newspaper.

The sports department will take no responsibility for lack of publication of games. It is entirely up to club officials to see to it that the information is relayed to the newspaper "BEFORE NINE O'CLOCK THE FOLLOWING MORNING".

And aside to town officials. Results by telephone are preferred. This way names can be properly spelled and any desired information can be obtained. If you write, print all names of players.

We are desirous of keeping all local sports events, especially minor, in the public eye. But, as was noted, it cannot be a "one-man" operation. The fullest co-operation of club officials is necessary if publication is to be made.

We are ready and willing to do our part.

We hope you will do yours.

Horton Stars In Leaf Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mention the name of Horton and knowledgable baseball fans will tell you about the rookie slugger whom the pitchers can't seem to get out.

Most of them are thinking about Willie Horton, Detroit Tigers' phenomenal outfielder. But in the International League the name is Tony and he plays first base for Toronto Maple Leafs.

The 19-year-old Californian, no relation to Detroit Tigers' hot-hitting outfielder, won another ball game almost by himself Friday night when he doubled home a run in the first inning and tripled home the winner in the eighth as the Leafs nipped Syracuse Chiefs 2-1.

HEROICS NEEDED

Horton's heroics were needed to keep the second-place Leafs five games behind Atlanta Crackers, who reeled off their 13th victory in 14 starts by edging Jacksonville Suns 5-4. Columbus Jets blanked Toledo Mud Hens 3-0 and Rochester Red Wings shaded Buffalo Bisons 2-1 in the remainder of the night's schedule.

Jack Hamilton, who suffered his first loss in four decisions, drove in the run that put Syracuse ahead 2-1 in the seventh inning but Toronto tagged him for two extra-base hits and an infield single in the eighth-inning uprising. Mike Gentry was the winning pitcher.

Tim Harkness of Lachine, Que., and Adrian Garrett hit second-inning homers to pace the Crackers. Frank Bertaina's three - hitter helped Rochester break a three - game losing streak and Jose Martinez gave Frank Bork all the support he needed for his five-hit shutout by hitting a first-inning homer for Columbus.

ANNOUNCE DEAL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington Senators of baseball's American League announced Friday they have purchased pitcher Marshall Bridges from their Hawaii farm club in the Pacific Coast League. Bridges, from New York Yankees late in 1963, was on the Senators' 1964 roster until assigned to Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League last August. He was transferred this year to Hawaii Islanders.

Gallops Past Mate For Out

Willie Davis Forgot To Apply Brakes

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boy, that Willie Davis is fast. So fast, in fact, that he spoiled a sixth-inning rally by busting past a team-mate on the bases and helped Chicago Cubs hold on to a 3-1 victory over his Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

The Cubs led 2-0 in the sixth when a couple of errors suddenly brought the Dodgers close. Manny Wills reached base with one out on a muff by Ernie Banks and raced around to third on a single by Wes Parker.

Davis, acknowledged as one of the fastest men in the majors, then lofted a shallow fly to Don Landrum, who dropped the ball. Wills sped home and Davis zoomed around first so fast that he dashed right past Parker and into an automatic out.

In other National League action, San Francisco Giants edged Houston Astros 3-1 on Jim Hart's ninth-inning homer, Dick Stuart's homer sparked Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-3 victory over Milwaukee Braves, St. Louis Cardinals outlasted Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7 and New York Mets defeated Cincinnati Reds 5-3.

The Cubs scored their first run in the second inning on an error by Dick Tracewski, two wild pitches by Dodger starter John Purdin and Doug Clemens' sacrifice fly. Ron Santo supplied the eventual winning run with his sixth homer, a solo shot in the sixth inning.

Hart's homer, a leadoff shot in the ninth, broke up a duel between Gaylord Perry and the Astros' Ken Johnson. Perry checked Houston on four hits while Johnson allowed eight.

Singles by Bob Aspromonte and Eddie Kasko around a walk produced the Houston run in the second inning. The Giants tied it in the sixth when Willie McCovey doubled, moved to third on Willie Mays' bunt single and scored as Hart hit into a double play.

Stuart started a three-run rally that proved enough for the Phillies, collecting the first hit off Billy O'Dell with a leadoff homer in the fifth inning. Singles by Tony Taylor, Alex Johnson, Gus Triandos and Bobby Wine produced the other two runs.

The Cardinals came from behind to beat the Pirates with two ninth-inning runs on a walk to Ken Boyer, Dick Groat's triple and Bill White's third single.

EDMONTON (CP)—Niagara Falls Flyers took their revenge in convincing style Friday night as they whipped Edmonton Oil Kings 8-1 to wrap up the Canadian junior hockey championship in five games.

When the same two teams last met in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup series, in 1963, Oil Kings won it in six games.

There was bedlam in the Niagara Falls dressing room after the victory, before 2,477 fans. Players cheered, doused one another with soft drinks and tossed trainer Barry Kraat in the showers.

Owner - manager Hap Emms lauded his goaltender, Bernie Parent, as the biggest single thing we had going for us in this series.

"He kept us in the series. He's the best junior goalie I've ever had."

PRESIDENTS CUP

The Memorial Cup was presented to Emms immediately after the game by Bill Hunter of Edmonton, past president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and CAHA official in charge of the series.

Captain Dave Woodley and Don Marcotte said the Flyers with two goals apiece and Rosaire Paiement, Bud Dobrescu, Bill Goldsworthy and Gilles Marotte added one each.

Niagara Falls led 3-1 after the first period and 5-1 after the second.

Except for brief periods, Flyers dominated the game with superior skating, checking, passing and puck-handling.

With the Niagara Falls win, Memorial Cup goaltending great Jim Henry has now recorded from a minor ankle injury that threatened to keep him out of the series, revealed the strong favorite to capture the classic. The West Coast horse hopes to become the ninth horse and the first since Citation in 1948 to win the coveted triple crown.

Lucky's chief opposition figured to come from little Tom Rolfe, owner of Derby, with the fleet Flag Raiser also presenting a major problem.

With nine starters the gross value of the Preakness was $180,000 with $128,100 going to the winner, $36,000 to second, $18,000 to third and $7,200 to fourth. The deadline for nominations is 5 p.m. with conditions calling for a $1,000 starting fee.

The CBC was to televise the race from 5:30-6 p.m.

Kentucky Derby winner Lucky Debonair, fully recovered from a minor ankle injury that threatened to keep him out of the race, revealed the strong favorite to capture the classic. The West Coast horse hopes to become the ninth horse and the first since Citation in 1948 to win the coveted triple crown.

Lucky's chief opposition figured to come from little Tom Rolfe, owner of Derby, with the fleet Flag Raiser also presenting a major problem.

Edmonton counted the first goal eight minutes after the game opened when Cardiff scored from the point after taking a pass from Fran Huck, added for the series from Estevan Pats of the Saskatchewan Junior League.

It was only the second time in the series that Edmonton had held the lead in a game, and it lasted only 3¼ minutes before Parent checked on a power play while Edmonton's Greg Tomalty was off on a minor penalty.

Debrody scored a minute later to give Flyers a lead they never lost.

Woodley, Golds worthy and Marotte fired three goals in the third.

Oshawa 'Mad Over' Lacrosse

By JIM CREEAR

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—There's a new status symbol in this community—a 70,000 lb. lacrosse stick.

It hasn't quite run to seed because the kids have snapped them all up.

It's been that way for two years, since Oshawa Green Gaels moved to town.

The city has gone mad over box lacrosse and the Gaels have stoked the enthusiasm by winning the Minor Championship emblematic of the Canadian junior championship, the last two years.

The Gales open the Ontario Lacrosse Association junior A season here Monday night against St. Catharines. Minoo is at Long Branch in another Monday opener. Also in the league are Guelph, Brampton, Brampton, Etobicoke, Toronto Township and Hastings.

SAYS AMAZING

Jim Bishop, 36 - year - old manager - coach of the Gaels, thinks the support for lacrosse here is amazing. He says years of coaching boys he's never had such backing.

But the lacrosse boom has created problems, too.

Bishop owns a sporting goods store and can't keep enough lacrosse sticks in stock to satisfy the demand.

There are more than 1,500 boys playing the game in our area and they all seem to need sticks. But they have to be made by hand by Indians and they can't keep up to the demand."

Most of the sticks are made from ash, a specialty of the Hagis Reserve near Cornwall. About 30,000 are manufactured each year with Montreal going to the United States.

OFFER BEST WISHES

TORONTO (CP)—The executive of the Ontario Hockey Association, at its annual meeting Friday night offered best wishes to its secretary of 63 years, W. A. H. Hewitt, who will be 90 today. Mr. Hewitt, father of Foster Hewitt and grandfather of Bill Hewitt, has been secretary of the association since 1903.

Attention Tournament Golfers

It looks like a gala season if entries in the club's first tournament can be judged a criterion.

Up to last night between 40 and 50 couples had submitted their entries, and more is expected today.

To facilitate matters they decided to bring forward the start-time to 12 noon from one o'clock as formerly slated.

The draw will be made this evening and duties are requested to be performed at the clubhouse or pro shop to obtain their starting time.

A club spokesman said the course is in "beautiful shape"

"As of now" says Jim Lynch "I believe it is the best 18-hole set-up between Toronto and Montreal."

"We've had so many weekend golfers that the course looked like a political convention," he quipped.

"Three hundred teed off last Sunday and an equal number the Sunday previous."

"He asks us to remind Sunday tournament entries to phone the club or pro shop for starting times," he reiterated.

Lucky Debonair Strong Favorite

Nine Face Preakness Barrier

BALTIMGRE (AP)—The fortunes of horse racing placed husky Les Lear, former professional football player in the unique position for the 90th running of the Preakness at Pimlico today.

But for a broken leg suffered by Sadair last winter he might well have saddled the favorite today for the 1 3-16 miles of the second leg of the triple crown for three-year-olds which also includes the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes. Instead he sent out Needles Count, the outsider in the nine-horse field, for the 5:46 p.m. EDT start.

Sadair, world record money-winning two - year - old with major victories in the Garden State Stakes and Pimlico Futurity last fall, was retired after breaking a bone in his right front leg during a workout in Florida.

"It was like losing a member of your family," said the 260-pound Lear, who when some 35 pounds lighter played in the line for Cleveland, Los Angeles and Detroit in the National Football League and then coached Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian League for five years.

LIKE DIFFERENT JOBS

"Training horses is like Sadair and Needles Count is as most like two different jobs," Lear said. "I prepared Sadair, Needles Count against favorite Lucky Debonair and seven other leading colts.

"Sadair was a completely sound horse and you couldn't be tougher in your training. Needles Count ran all last year with one shin buck and since then there has been one little pitfall after another. Sadir had natural ability. This horse has to work for what he gets."

With nine starters the gross value of the Preakness was $180,000 with $128,100 going to the winner, $36,000 to second, $18,000 to third and $7,200 to fourth. The deadline for nominations is 5 p.m. with conditions calling for a $1,000 starting fee.

The CBC was to televise the race from 5:30-6 p.m.

Kentucky Derby winner Lucky Debonair, fully recovered from a minor ankle injury that threatened to keep him out of the race, revealed the strong favorite to capture the classic. The West Coast horse hopes to become the ninth horse and the first since Citation in 1948 to win the coveted triple crown.

Lucky's chief opposition figured to come from little Tom Rolfe, owner of Derby, with the fleet Flag Raiser also presenting a major problem.

Canadian Football League

Will Drop 3-Player Ruling

CALGARY (CP)—The Canadian Football League announced Friday it intends to revamp regulations limiting CFL teams to 14 American imports and drop completely a proposed rule restricting teams to three natural-ized Canadians.

The decision came after CFL club presidents and general managers held a special meeting to consider the growing violation of fair- employment and human rights legislation by the league's rules.

CFL commissioner Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, in a written statement following the seven-hour meeting, said the league decided that imports should be defined as players who receive their football training in the United States, rather than as American citizens.

The former naturalized Canadians will be treated as imports.

SET DEADLINE

But Americans who achieve naturalized. status before July 30, 1965, will be classified as Canadians for all purposes as at present. Players affected by the exception include Dick Shatto and Jackie Parker of Toronto Argonauts and Kenny Ploen of Winnipeg.

Halter was asked if Canadians who receive their football training in the United States would be classified as imports if they returned to play with the CFL.

He replied "no" and mentioned CFL teams that encourage young Canadian players to attend colleges in the U.S. and then return to Canada to play as Canadians.

The Friday meeting was called by CFL president Pat Mahoney of Calgary after protestor Ron Lancaster, Canadian league expert at the University of Toronto, advised the league that its player roster rules probably were a violation of such legislation as the Ontario Human Rights Code.

Nicklaus Back In Form

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It's the new look these days on the fairways for Big Jack Nicklaus. The Masters champ is clowning and cutting up to the delight of huge galleries.

There's no change in his phenomenal golf game, however, and he started today's third round of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open with a two-stroke bulge over his nearest eager, victory - hungry youngsters.

Jack sank birdie putts on three of his last five holes Friday for a three-under-par 69 on the 7,000-yard Lakewood Country Club layout.

Coupled with his course-record 64 from the first round, it gave him a 134 going into the final 36 holes.

After Nicklaus at 136 came Homero Blancas, Bill Martindale, Sam Carmichael and Ray Floyd, George Knudson of Toronto was in the next group at 137.

Al Johnston of Montreal didn't make it, bowing out at 148.

Yastrzemski Hits 'Around The Horn'

Adds Extra Homer

The Blat! The Bear!

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe Willie Horton and Carl Yastrzemski are drinking from the same bottle—of juice.

The two left fielders exploded in a furious slugging battle Friday night in a Detroit Tigers' 10-inning, 12-8 triumph over Boston Red Sox.

Detroit's Horton erupted for two home runs and two singles while Yastrzemski of the Red Sox belted two homers, a triple, a double and a single. Each drove in five runs.

Horton, who has been drinking juice to regain his strength since a nose operation, was hot for the fourth consecutive game. In that time, he has collected 12 hits in 18 times at bat, slammed six homers and knocked in 15 runs. His slugging percentage, based on total bases and times at bat, has been 1.722. That's nearly 300 points the .606 mark Boog Powell achieved in leading the American League last season.

Over-all, the 22-year-old right-handed batter leads the league with a .395 average and nine homers. He has batted in 20 runs and has a slugging percentage of .900.

Interestingly enough, it was a year ago today that Horton was shipped to the minors with an anemic .167 average. He is so far from that level now as Yastrzemski, the AL's 1963 batting champion.

The 25-year-old Yastrzemski has rocketed his average from .236 to .304 in the last week, clouting five homers and driving in 10 runs in five games.

In two of Open contests, the lefty rapped two homers each. Horton has accomplished that feat three times this year, including the last two nights.

Elsewhere in the AL Friday night, Cleveland Indians edged Washington Senators 2-1, Chicago White Sox nipped Los Angeles Angels 2-1, New York Yankees whipped Baltimore Orioles 8-3 and Minnesota Twins beat Kansas City Athletics 5-3.

TRIPPLE BROKE TIE

The game dragging by Horton and Yastrzemski, it was a leadoff triple by Jerry Lumpe and Don Demeter's double in the 10th inning that broke an 8-8 deadlock. Horton added a run with a single, and Norm Cash finished the winning rally with a two-run double.

Sam McDowell stopped the Senators on five hits while striking out 12. Vic Davillo homered in the Cleveland fourth while Fred Whitfield doubled in the winning run in the seventh.

Ken Berry's fourth - inning homer and Bill Skowron's run-scoring single in the fifth gave the White Sox their victory. Joe Horlen and Eddie Fisher combined for a six-hitter.

The Yankees erupted for five unearned runs in the ninth inning, clinching their triumph over Baltimore and Robin Roberts. Tom Tresh's two - run homer was the only hit in the rally, aided by errors by Harvey Haddix and Jack Brandt.

Bob Allison's three-run homer handed Minnesota a 3-2 lead in the eighth. Then the Twins went out and beat Kansas City in the ninth on Zoilo Versalles' run - producing single and John Wyatt's wild pitch which permitted Jerry Zimmerman to score from third after a double play.

Patterson Hooks Herring

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Floyd Patterson of New York, former heavyweight champion, stopped unranked Tod Herring of Houston, Texas, in 60 seconds of the third round Friday and scored another step toward a new chance at the title.

Herring was on his feet but helpless when the scheduled 10-round match was stopped in the third.

It was the fifth straight victory for the 30-year-old former champion since he started his comeback campaign after suffering two first - round knockouts at the hands of Sonny Liston.

Patterson scored a 12 - round decision over Georges Chuvalo of Toronto in New York Feb. 1.

Says Joe Louis

Cassius' Lip Powerful Weapon

(Editor's Note: Here is another article by Joe Louis, analyzing the upcoming championship fight between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston at Lewiston, Maine, on May 25.)

By JOE LOUIS

You'd admit I've been through a few important weigh-ins — those with Primo Carnera, Max Baer, Jim Braddock, Max Schmeling (twice), and Billy Conn (twice) to name some that come to mind.

And I don't think anybody learned much from watching me on those occasions. I didn't show any feeling. The writers always described me as "sleepy eyed" "icy-nerved" and "expressionless" and the reason wasn't that I had myself under so much control . . . it was just that I was a shy boy.

But the shy boy was seeing things in the fellows he was fighting. I remember Carnera grinning and showing he was a little nervous, even though he was a head taller and 50 pounds heavier. Baer, I expected would be giving all over the place. Instead, he had a serious look and I figured He was worried.

Braddock, he looked me in the eye, old as he was, and I felt there was a guy I'd really have to take apart to beat. Schmeling? Years later when I met him I had a good feeling about him but then after he had knocked me out the first time, I could only see him as scornin' me to cover up his own fear, maybe. I got a charge out of Conn because he came to the weigh-in like he came into the ring — fresh as a kid from up the block and believing in himself.

The reason I tell you all this is to build up to what I saw over a year ago in Miami Beach when Clay and Liston were weighing in. I saw Clay doing things that no fighter in history ever did. For almost an hour he yelled, screamed, insulted, made faces, all to one purpose: to bother Liston.

Well, he upset more than Sonny. He had the Commission in an uproar. The doctor gave out a report that he was scared of his life, "might not be able to climb up the steps and so forth." Some newspapermen sat down and wrote that "the fight ought to be called off to save his life". But anybody who got to the building early that night and talked to Clay, which I did, soon knew that this all had been an act.

"I psyched him," Cassius told me. He said the hardest part of the fight was over; "the psychological warfare" were the words he used. And he told me that I should go out and get some of that 6-1 money against him.

I don't bet on fights, so I paid him no mind.

The way the fight came out, however, I guess he knew what he was talking about.

I don't know exactly what's in his mind this time but I know he'll be working the same side of the street to disturb Sonny.

Apart from his natural ability and his size and strength, which a good many people keep on underestimating, Clay is one of the smartest, strategy boxers I've ever come across. When I say strategy I mean how he works up to the fight as much as how he fights an opponent.

When he pops off he isn't talking for publicity alone, he's trying to put ideas in the minds of the fellows with Liston.

Willie Reddish, Teddy King and Al Braverman, they are only human and when Cassius puts out the bait, they go for it. For example, he said Liston was getting ready "a hernia punch to cripple me again." Naturally, it burned him up and they couldn't keep it to themselves . . . they told Sonny and he got hot.

The last fight should have taught Sonny that being angry isn't the answer. If they'd been locked in a room that night the odds might have been right. But they were in a 30 foot ring and Liston needed other things going for him than hating.

The danger for anybody against Clay is the state of mind he'l put you into before a glove is lifted. He aims to jolt your outlook off balance and then keep you jittery by what he says or does next.

This is something new, to my experience. It's tough to listen to and It's tough to ignore. I know that I bruised kind of easy inside when guys needled me. Conn told somebody "that Louis will never catch me." I told that somebody "he can run, but he can't hide." And I straightened out the question when we got into the ring.

Still, the problem here is Sonny's and he alone can solve it.

LA Pitcher Dies In Hospital

Wantz, 25, a right - hander who had appeared in only one baseball game this season, had undergone surgery to relieve pressure on the brain.

He began experiencing severe headaches during a late April series between the Angels and Yankees in New York. When the club moved to Detroit, he was put in hospital there for a few days. He flew here last week and was reported to be feeling better.

But last weekend he was put in hospital again, given a spinal tap and x-rays, and a tumor was found.

He spent four years in the minor leagues and had a 3-7 won-lost record in a reliever role last in the Pacific Coast League last year.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rookie outfielder Lou Johnson of Los Angeles Dodgers had a baseball - sized dent an inch deep in his batting helmet but was resting comfortably under observation in hospital Friday.

Johnson, 31, was hit in the forehead in the sixth inning of Thursday night's Dodgers-Houston game by a fast ball thrown by Houston pitcher Bob Bruce.

Bruce said later that Johnson seemed to freeze on the fast ball pitch. Doctors said the blow might have been fatal if the helmet had not absorbed most of the impact.

Postpones Move To Up Status

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association executive decided at its monthly meeting Friday night to defer until the June meeting any decision on the bid of the Western Ontario Junior B league to move to A status next season.

The league comprises London Nationals, Windsor Spitfires, St. Thomas Barons, Chatham Maroons and Sarnia Legionaires.

If the circuit did move to A status it would play the winner of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series in the Memorial Cup playoffs.

It was felt that decision on the status of this Western Ontario section should be made until after the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in Vancouver May 24 to 27.

The next OHA executive meeting after that is in Waltham June 12.

Set Record In School Mile Relay

WINDSOR (CP)—Spurred by a brilliant clocker run by Ray Tasker, Hamilton Westdale Collegiate set a Canadian high school record of 3:21.7 in the mile relay at the 17th annual Kennedy Relays Friday.

Westdale created the mark of 3:21.3 set last Saturday by Toronto Parkdale at the Hamilton relay carnival. Windsor Kennedy Collegiate, which finished second, also broke the previous record, Senior Norman was third.

Windsor Kennedy compiled 31 points to win the team championship for the ninth time in the last ten years.

Jim Smith of Galt Glenview raced to a 4:21.3 victory in the individual mile run, more than four seconds faster than the listed record.

Rear-end Noise Not Always Axle's Fault

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

Pinpointing rear-end noise complaints has challenged the skill of many mechanics. The rear-axle is usually under immediate suspicion — but it's really just one of several possibilities.

Tires, springs, shock absorbers, universal joints, wheel bearings, hub caps, mufflers, tail pipes, brake lini, spare mountings, loose jacks, etc., have often caused rear-end noise. Eliminate them as suspects before concentrating on the rear axle.

With rear-axle trouble, the noise is generally a hum, a growl or a rumble. It may be heard whenever the car is driven or only at certain times, depending on the exact nature of the trouble.

Noise heard on turns only (usually a growl) will indicate wear, binding, scoring or looseness in the differential. Some rear-axle noises are evident only when the car is either pulling straight ahead — rolling along at an easy, even speed — or decelerating. Poor gear mesh or tooth contact is the likely reason in such cases.

C. L. asks: "Does constant night driving or starting the engine with lights on have any effect on headlight aim?"

No, but constant vibration, jolts and jars, do.

L. T. writes: "At certain speeds, my defroster dash light stays on. Since this started happening, the engine has been running very hot, too. A friend says these troubles may be related — perhaps tickled by the fan belt. Is this likely?"

A loose, slipping fan belt can affect both engine cooling and generator charge. It's happened to several readers in the past.

From B.U.: "Our engine starts fine, idles perfectly, but then skips or hesitates when I accelerate. It's a '63 compact."

Check for fouled or poorly gapped spark plugs. If this isn't the source of trouble, it's probably due to a defective carburetor accelerating pump.

S. B. asks: "Does the sulphur content in gasoline cause engine parts to pit or corrode?"

On burning, the small amount of sulphur changes to a gas. This does no harm. If it mixes with water (due to leakage or excessive condensation) a corrosive action may take place.

Champions Register Victories

CALGARY (CP) — Three defending champions registered impressive victories Friday night to qualify for the finals tonight of the 1963 Canadian amateur boxing championships.

Three-time champion Walter Hickey of Orillia, scored a unanimous decision over Real Bonefant of Montreal in the 119-pound class in a bid for his fourth dominions championship. He previously won at 112-pound in 1958-59 and 1962.

Henz Koppe of Toronto, at 178 pounds, and Siegfried Fischer of Toronto, 165 pounder, joined Henry in the finals. Koppe blasted Marion Iolar of Prince George, B.C., with a short, vicious right hand for a knockout at 1:58 of the third round and Fischer won a unanimous decision over Cint Page of Vancouver.

About 400 persons watched the contests.

Precautions introduced to the national championships for the first time, in the form of compulsory headgear and 10-ounce gloves, prevented a barrage of knockouts, although most matches were marked by hard punching.

The Trots

He outlasted The McNab in the stretch to win the $1,500 featured event pace in 2:05.

Driven by Findley, Palermo rewarded his backers with a payoff of $5.30 and $3.40. The McNab paid $5.50 and $4.50 and third-place finisher Rendezvous Boy paid $4.10.

JOCKEY DIES

FOWLER, Ind. (AP) — Val Mischel, Lexington, Ky., jockey who trained and rode the only white race horse in the United States, White Beauty, died Friday when his car smashed into a train at a road crossing in town 70 miles south of Chicago. Mischel was en route to Chicago to ride in races there.

Mary Rand To Run At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Mary Bignal Rand of Britain, world record - holder and Olympic gold medallist in the broad jump and relay, will all - round woman track and field athlete in the world, will compete in an international meet here June 10.

The willowy blonde, who gave Britain its first gold medal in history in Olympic women's track at the 1964 Tokyo games, will compete in the city's Varsity Stadium here.

The meet already has a number of stars lined up, headed by New Zealand's Peter Snell, the king of the world's half - milers. And Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont. A feature is the 880-yard race between Snell, 1964 Olympic gold medallist in the 800 and 1,500 metres, and the 22-year-old Crothers, who placed second in the 800.

Also in the 880 field at Varsity Stadium here is Tom Farrell of the United States who placed fifth at Tokyo and is the only runner to defeat Crothers over 880 yards indoors.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — John Le Blanc, 24, gave a fine display of horsemanship Friday when he won the first three steeples in the eight - race program at Greenwood Raceway.

LeBlanc, once seriously injured when a horse stepped on his stomach, took the opener on Tulmar and followed it up in the second race on Saga Boga.

In the featured seventh race — the Toronto Turf — four-year-old Wall To Do went to the post as the favorite and didn't disappoint the crowd of 6,823. He returned $5.30, $3.10 and $2.30.

The quinella—King Jive and Interdom—paid $7.50.

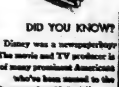
Newspaper Route Pays Profits Plus Dividends

The young man who delivers this newspaper to your doorstep every day is in business for himself. He profits in dollars and cents by buying a product at wholesale and selling it at retail. His profits increase through his enterprise and effort in securing new customers.

Meanwhile, route management pays him dividends beyond financial gain. Newspaperboys learn the importance of service to success in any business, they learn the fundamentals of salesmanship, they learn to meet and deal with people successfully.



A newspaper route is a wonderful opportunity for any young man!

DID YOU KNOW?

Walt Disney was a newspaperboy!

The movie and TV producer is one of many prominent Americans who've been named to the "Newspaperboy Hall of Fame."

Steve Allen Spends Much Of His Time Writing Songs

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steven Allen has television's ideal job — if you like transcontinental commuting.

As he stood waist-deep in his Sherman Oaks swimming pool, Allen told how he jets to New York once every two weeks, tapes two I've Got a Secret shows and then comes home in a day or two and spends the next two weeks writing songs or articles.

"I hate to say it," says Steve, "but being the emcee of a panel show is like stealing money."

"I even enjoy the flights because I can do a lot of work on them. I never watch the movies."

Steve says the new set-up is a lot easier than his former nightly show — but he enjoyed that too. Steve enjoys whatever he is doing.

IS PROLIFIC

Allen is one of the more prolific composers. He estimates that he has composed more than 2,000 songs. Some, like the theme from the movie Picnic, and This Could be the Start of Something Big, have become big hits.

"When he is not writing songs, he is studying languages. He and his wife, actress Jayne Meadows, now are studying Chinese.

He also does a lot of reading, mostly on weighty philosophical subjects. He is among the deepest of the comedians.

Fellow clowns stars have developed so many other stars as Allen. On his old Tonight show Don Knotts, Tom Poston, Louis Nye, Bill (Jose Jiminez) Dana, Steve Lawrence, Edye Gormé, Jonathan Winters and others got their first major breaks.

PLAYS STRAIGHT MAN

Unlike other top comedians, Allen allowed himself to play straight man for the hilarious antics of the second banana.

"I used the old Jack Benny theory—let the Knotts and the Nyes play off you. Let them get all the laughs they deserve. And the next day people will say: 'Steve Allen had a good show last night'

"Everybody below everybody is his business. I don't claim to have discovered any of these fellows. My only claim is that I was not stupid enough to pass up such talent when I saw it."

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

This time of year is perfect for a trip to Ottawa for the whole family. Ottawa has the largest display of tulips in the whole of North America. More than a million tulips bloom along the driveways and on Parliament Hill. Along with the magnificent displays of tulips there are many other interesting things to see and do in Ottawa: the Federal House of Parliament, Royal Mint, National Mounted police Barracks and the Garden of the Provinces. All in all a most interesting and beautiful trip . . . so don't forget your camera.

A SPRING DRIVE NO. 2

The best time of the year to drive through the Niagara Peninsula is at the Blossom Festival Time, May 13 - 24. A permanent scenic route has been mapped out for visitors to view the cherry, pear, peach and apple blossoms in their splendor. Coming from the north, north-east and north-west, motorists will get an excellent view of the orchards by leaving the Queen Elizabeth Highway at the Stoney Creek Traffic Circle and going south on Highway 20 as far as Ridge Road on top of the escarpment. Proceeding east ward, the route continues to County Road No. 30, north of Highway 8. Then, eastbound on No. 8 to County Road No. 18, north to Lake Shore Road. Then proceed eastward to Niagara-on - the Lake, and the Niagara Parks Boulevard to Queenston and Niagara Falls. The white blossoms to be seen are either the plum, cherry or pear, while the pink blossoms are those of the peach, and the whitish-pink blossoms are apple. This route also provides an opportunity to see several historic sites, including the Jordon Museum of the Forty, old Fort George and Navy Hall in Niagara-on-the-Lake and Brock's Monument at Queenston Heights.

In 1905: In Lancaster, Massachusetts, police set up speed traps at the foot of a hill where speed was required to achieve the necessary momentum to get over the next hill. Fines of $15 had to be paid by each speeder.

In 1912: Ten miles an hour in cities, towns and villages, and 15 miles an hour in the country, was the limit for Ontario motorists.

In 1919: It wasn't until April of 1919 that the Ontario Legislature, through its municipal committees, was able to pass a bill and have the speed increased to 20 miles an hour limit in cities, and towns, and a 25 mile an hour limit in the open country.

In 1939: In Japan, this notice was given to motorists: "You must drive your automobile at the speed of eight knots per hour on the city roads and at 12 knots per hour on the country roads. Do not drive the motor car when you get drunk and do not smoke while in the driver seat."

Many tourists will be visiting our area for the first time this summer, and using unfamiliar with our city streets and highways, some of them may have a little trouble finding their way around. We ask everyone to be co-operative and helpful to the tourist in our town. After all, be was nice enough to come here.

Many people will soon be loading their cars down every weekend to go north to open up the cottages, and get them ready for the summer season. The Ontario Motor League advises you not to overload the trunk of your car. Too much weight in the rear of the automobile affects the balance of the car and tends to point the headlights off the road.

Whether you are going on a trip in the country to enjoy the beautiful spring weather or just around the corner, seat belts are a necessity. More than half the injury-producing accidents occur in urban areas and three out of four traffic deaths are caused within 25 miles of home. The Ontario Motor League urges every motorist to use seat belts.

Baseball season is here and . . . DANGER. A youngster interested in the ball game than in traffic may pursue it without looking. Be on guard and watch out for that rolling ball.

Hugh Curtis of Saanich Following Footsteps of Father in Municipal Life

By LESLIE MILLIN

VICTORIA (CP)—Some men follow in their fathers' footsteps. The degree of success determines whether they will be known for their own achievements or simply as the son of a successful man.

In Greater Victoria, citizens have a problem in conversational usage: Is Austin Curtis Hugh's father or is Hugh Curtis Austin's son?

At 65, Austin Curtis is a Victoria alderman and something of an elder statesman, with 25 years of municipal service behind him.

At 32, Hugh Curtis is reeve of the neighboring municipality of Saanich—larger than Victoria in area and population, but not as rich.

Austin Curtis rose in municipal politics by a long road that is traditional in the Victoria area—work in service clubs, a seat on the school board, then school board chairman, then alderman.

Hugh ran for Saanich council at 29, led the polls, and repeated the trick when he came up for his second council term two years later.

Last fall, he ran for reeve in a byelection and thought he'd lost.

His opponent was ahead in the poll-by-poll preliminary returns chalked up on a board in the municipal hall. Most of the spectators went home.

Then a tallying error was rectified and Hugh went ahead by a few votes. He held the lead through two recounts.

SET EXAMPLE

Hugh's success has been a source of pride to his father—"but he never influenced my decision to go into municipal work," says Hugh.

"He's not the kind of guy who brings his problems home, and we never talked about politics around the dinner table or anything like that.

"But he gave me an example of hard-working dedication to municipal affairs.

"Now, he says less, perhaps, on civic politics than M I weren't in it myself."

Austin Curtis retired last year as district manager for the Canadian National Railways and devotes even more of his time to municipal work.

Without referring specifically to his son, he says the basic requirements for a candidate are simple.

"Essentially, it is the interest and willingness. If they have these, the rest will come."

His home life, he says, is quiet, and his wife has long since learned to accept the absences of her family because of public life.

"There have been more meetings than she bargained for," says Austin, "but she's been very nice about it."

Hugh, a radio station executive, says there were times when he was younger that he wished his father had avoided municipal politics.

"Any youngster who goes through school with his father on the school board knows the situation is fraught with danger."

Now he has reached the point where "I used to be kidded about being Austin's son. Now he kids me about being Hugh's father."

But Hugh has a story that makes you wonder.

"A lady said to me not long ago, 'Isn't it wonderful—Mr. Curtis, You are in Saanich politics, and your older brother is in the city.'"

Scoharie

SCOHARIE — Mrs. Douglas Pearce opened her home on Thursday evening for the meeting of the Live Women's Circle with a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wilson, Toronto, spent the Mother's Day weekend with her mother, Mrs. Bessie Leavitt.

Mrs. Harold Hicks has returned to her home here after spending the winter with her daughters at Guelph and Huntsville.

SHOWER HELD

A good crowd gathered at Orser Hall on Saturday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood with a miscellaneous shower following their recent marriage.

Mrs. Roger Hobson gave a vocal solo accompanied by Mrs. Blaine Foster, Mrs. B. Foster and Mrs. Ben Chapman gave humorous readings and Miss Darlene Foster favored with piano accordion.

Mrs. Roger Hobson extended the best wishes of all to the bride and bridegroom who received many beautiful and varied gifts.

Both expressed sincere thanks to everyone.

The ladies served a bountiful lunch.

Terrific Rain, Hail Storm Sweeps Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—A rain and hail storm swept across southwestern and Northern Ontario Sunday, disrupting power service, flooding hundreds of basements and making highway driving hazardous.

Winds gusted to 45 miles an hour in the storm.

Golfball-size hailstones fell in the Huntsville area 100 miles north of Toronto. Hail also fell at Centralia and Mount Forest in the London-Stratford region.

Weather officials said the "wide observance" indicated that hail fell over a generally wide area of the province.

Areas north of the Upper Great Lakes had almost continuous rain during the weekend. At Timmins, more than three inches was reported. Basements were flooded and creeks on the west side of the town overflowed.

Toronto received about a half inch, most of it in a three-hour period Sunday night.

MANY ACCIDENTS

The weather office said the Timmins rainfall was the heaviest in the area since August, 1962, when three persons were drowned by flooding creeks.

Provincial police reported an outbreak of auto collisions on the Queen Elizabeth Way between Hamilton and Toronto, but found no serious injuries.

Some suburban areas of Toronto were without power for two hours after lightning struck transformers.

High wind fanned sparks in a bonfire near Branford to a nearby barn, causing damage to the barn and machinery stored in it.

Hydro officials of Brampton brought his single-engine plane down on the lawn. Some curious motorists, their minds distracted from the road momentarily, were involved in several minor accidents as they watched the plane land.

Servant Involved Near Death

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian civil servant involved in the latest Soviet espionage plot in Canada is unlikely ever to go into court, even if the government decides he should be prosecuted, says an authoritative source.

The civil servant, one of two men referred to in an announcement May 8 that two members of the Soviet embassy had been expelled from Canada was described by Prime Minister Pearson to the Commons as being "gravely ill."

In fact, says a high source, the man is dying and is not expected to live more than another week or so.

The source declined to state the nature of the illness. In the Commons Mr. Pearson assured questioners it was a "natural illness."

The Soviet embassy employee was A. E. Rychkov, commercial attache, and N. Rybchikin a clerk. They left Canada Friday, May 7, after being declared "persona non grata."

Their departure was announced the following day in the most elaborate statement the department of external affairs has issued on such an action.

RECALLS 1945 CASE

A key source said that the nature of the statement reflected the feeling that the case was the biggest of its kind in Canada since 1945 when Igor Gouzenko fled from the Soviet Embassy with documents revealing existence of a widespread Soviet espionage network in Canada.

Usual practice has been to announce simply the fact of expulsion. This was done three times since 1945. Two other expulsions were not announced at all.

The source also said the 175-word announcement in the latest case was to let the Soviet authorities know that the Canadians were aware of all aspects.

Junta Attacks Rebels

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The United States has reported putting pressure on the Dominican junta to resign as junta tanks battled rebels in northern Santo Domingo Sunday night.

Tank - led fonts forces renewed their offensive against the rebels in a driving rain. The battle had raged through Saturday night, diminished around noon Sunday and flared up again Sunday night.

Residents who fled the area north of the east-west supply corridor reported heavy military and civilian casualties.

Eyewitnesses reported that dead and injured civilians apparently caught in a cross-fire between the rival groups, lay unattended in the streets.

There was no immediate indication of how many troops of either side were involved in the first major engagement since a ceasefire agreement was signed two weeks ago, seven days after the revolt broke out April 24.

The battle was between soldiers loyal to Col. Francisco

Hardware Warehouse Fire Quickly Quelled by Firemen

TRENTON — Quick action on the part of Trenton firemen prevented what could have been a disastrous blaze in downtown Trenton yesterday afternoon. Destroyed in the fire on Elgin Street, near Front Street, was a warehouse, owned by Bailey Hardware and used to store paint as well as excess stock from the Eaton's and Red and White Groceteria.

Furnishings were removed from the S.A. Citadel while the fire was in progress.

Other fire departments were called—Belleville sent an aerial ladder, BCAF and Batawa one truck, but by the time these arrived Trenton firemen had the blaze under control.

Hundreds were attracted to the scene. Cause and estimate of damage not yet available.

Also severely damaged in the warehouse blaze was the Salvation Army Citadel next door which had all its windows shattered and fire damage to the roof.

The roof will have to be replaced and extensive repairs made before services can be resumed.

But in the meantime the Salvation Army congregation will not be without a meeting place. They already have had the offer of three meeting places, including one from the Anglican Church for use of its Canterbury Hall.

There is still no loss estimate for the weekend fire with Fire Chief Ellis stating this will not be available until some time on Tuesday.

TRENTON FIREMEN fight Sunday blaze which heavily damaged Bailey Hardware warehouse. Salvation Army Citadel was also damaged in blaze which caused still undetermined loss.

Says Businessmen Must Give Moral Leadership to World

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Businessmen are responsible for giving the world moral leadership as well as making decisions for increasing profits, Dr. G. E. Hall, president and vice-chancellor of the University of Western Ontario, said today.

He told 200 delegates attending the 53rd annual meeting of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce that if business leaders do not accept the challenge "50 or 100 years from now the question of profits and of free enterprise will be of significance only to historians and economists as parts of a system which was tried and found wanting."

He said the problems associated with demands for security, social justice and higher material living standards will not be solved only by governments or treaties, "but primarily by business leaders with a conscientious attitude and a sense of community responsibility."

Dr. Hall said that worrying about tomorrow is "not just dreaming."

"Allowing, through our actions today and tomorrow, the peoples of the world to enjoy full development due them as human beings is a concern of ours.

"Business leaders must become philosophers and social scientists fully aware of the impact of their decisions, as well as corporate executives in the narrower sense."

E. P. Taylor's Wife Robbed By Bandits

TORONTO (CP) — Three masked bandits, one armed, stole jewelry worth several thousand dollars and a small amount of cash from Mrs. Winifred Taylor, wife of industrialist E. P. Taylor, in her home early today.

They took a jewel case containing a pearl necklace worth $3,000 and a number of bracelets and pendants, as well as a purse containing $37 in British and U.S. currency.

The trio, one carrying a rifle, entered the house through a rear door, aroused three women servants, and forced cook Mrs. Marjorie Hawkins to lead them to Mrs. Taylor's bedroom.

Paper Calls Johnson Impulsive, Over-conscious of Own Power

LONDON (Reuters)—The Financial Times says President Johnson's foreign policies in the last six months have given some people an image of an "impulsive president, over-conscious of his own and America's power."

Today's Chuckle

"Boss, I need a raise because of illness in the family. My wife is awful sick of being broke."

THE WEATHER

Synopsis — Cooler air is spilling over the lower lakes. Gradual clearing is expected later today as a high pressure ridge over Lake Superior moves eastward. A storm which has moved into the Prairies will be in northwestern Ontario Tuesday morning and showers will move across the upper lakes again. However, this will bring a warming trend to the localities of Lake Superior today and tonight.

The influential business daily says the president now had to regain the confidence of the world. An editorial headlined U.S. Policy Comes Under Fire, the paper says:

"Criticism of President Johnson not only at what the president has done but also at the way in which he has done it.

"His sudden reversal of policy on the multilateral force in December of last year, his various decisions on Viet Nam, the acceptance of the cancellation of the visit of Pakistani President Ayub Khan and (Indian President) Mr. Shastri and, finally, American intervention in the Dominican Republic, have all caused misgivings.

The paper questions President Johnson's declaration that the U.S. would not stand idly by and let the Communists set up another government in the Western hemisphere. It asks if this meant that any future popular revolt against a right-wing regime would precipitate U.S. intervention aimed at restoring the "status quo ante."

The Daily Telegraph says in its editorial Washington's advocates of unrestricted bombing of North Viet Nam appear to have had their proposals thwarted by State Secretary Dean Rusk.

Commenting on Peking's explosion Friday of an atomic bomb, the Conservative daily said that Rusk had said a congressional subcommittee not too much weight should be given in Russian fear of China and that a serious threat to either Russia or China by the West might reconcile the two Communist nations.

The Telegraph says:

"This would seem to clip the wings of the extremist 'hawks' who advocated the unrestricted bombing of North Viet Nam, and argue that China would not intervene for fear of retaliation against her Lanchow atomic plant."

There was "not the slightest reason," the editorial says, for thinking President Johnson was more prepared to risk extending the Viet Nam war than he had been before China exploded its second atomic bomb.

Question Polish Defector

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. officials questioned the chief of Poland's military mission in West Berlin today after he defected and asked for political asylum in the United States.

A U.S. Air Force plane flew Wladislaw Tykocinski, about 44, to West Germany. U.S. officials said his request for asylum is being considered.

It was the first defection in years of a high-ranking Communist diplomat in West Berlin. Tykocinski had the rank of minister—corresponding to that of a major-general—and was the senior foreign diplomat in West Berlin.

The Polish and Czech military missions were established in West Berlin after the Second World War and are accredited to the Western Allies. Their work now ostensibly is confined largely to consular matters, and most of the military members have been replaced by civilian diplomats. But Western intelligence authorities claim that they are important espionage centres.

Tykocinski had been in West Berlin five years. A friend said he had been minister in the Polish embassy in Rome previously and before that was a member of the international armistice commission in Korea.

A big man, six - feet - three weighing 250 pounds, Tykocinski walked up to 1st Sgt. My-

25 Americans Dead, Missing In Chain Blasts

By PETER ARNETT

BIEN HOA, South Viet Nam (AP) — More explosions were feared today from bombs scattered about the Bien Hoa Air Base by the chain of blasts that left 25 Americans dead or missing and wounded 74.

In Washington, the U.S. Defence Department said four Americans were killed and 21 are missing.

One of the "unstable," high-powered bombs buried in the wreckage went off while U.S. and South Vietnamese crews were cleaning up the area devastated by Sunday's blast. There were no new casualties, but officials feared other bombs might go off.

"We have evacuated all personnel from the area until our disposal experts decide what to do with the bombs," said Maj-Gen. Joseph H. Moore, commander of U.S. Air Force operations in Viet Nam and Thailand.

The New York Times reported that there are 5,000 pounds of live delayed - action bombs jolted out of the smashed planes. The bombs have fuses that will cause them to explode 12 to 144 hours from the time they are activated, The Times said. If tampered with they could go off immediately.

The explosions at the base 12 miles north of Saigon Sunday caused more death, injury and destruction to U.S. forces than any single Communist attack of Gen. Maxwell Taylor said after a preliminary investigation that it was "definitely accidental."

He said: "It was an accidental explosion of a bomb on one aircraft which spread to the others."

U.S. officials said the disaster began with the explosion of a bomb that had been loaded aboard a B-57 Canberra jet bomber for an attack against the guerrillas. Within seconds neighboring planes in the flight, fuelled for take - off and maintenance men, began exploding and burning.

Napalm (jellied gasoline) bombs, white phosphorous fire bombs and 750-pound bombs all went up. Five minutes after the initial blast, the jet plane ramp was a mass of smouldering debris. Forty planes were destroyed or damaged, and the control tower was knocked out of operation for several hours by the concussion.

Later an ammunition dump exploded, but no casualties resulted.

In addition to the Americans, at least one South Vietnamese was killed, three were missing and the death toll might climb to more than 30 as the wreckage is cleared.

Johnson Asks Congress Reduce Excise Taxes by Four Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson submitted to Congress today his request to cut excise taxes by nearly $4,000,000,000, and gave assurances he will not veto legislation providing for military forces in the Dominican Republic and South Viet Nam would upset the planned reduction.

The president filled in the pieces in his program he announced Saturday. He said that the recommendations "will accomplish, prudently and responsibly, a major reform of the excise tax structure."

The Johnson plan would eliminate most of the existing excise taxes on July 1, with a total stash of $1,750,000,000 on that date and with a reduction of the same amount effective next Jan. 1.

Beyond that, Johnson is proposing a $464,000,000 slash spread over several years, up to 1970.

Apparently aware of some misgivings over whether the government should advance the substantial tax cuts in view of possible increases in military spending in South Viet Nam, especially, Johnson told Congress:

"In proposing these reductions, I am fully aware of our present and prospective commitments for the defence of the free world. It is impossible to predict precisely what expenditures we may involve in the future. There is, however, no present indication that expenditures will increase to an extent that would make these excise tax reductions inadvisable.

"Indeed, our international responsibilities require that we redouble our efforts to assure the continued healthy growth of our economy. Barring some sudden change in the present world situation, I am sure that these excise tax reductions will be a sound and profitable investment in that growth."

To ensure that the tax reductions make a maximum contribution to price stability and balanced prosperity, Johnson said:

"I call on American business to translate lower excise taxes promptly into lower retail prices for consumers."

No Winning Side In 'Teach-in'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some who stayed to listen and argue for hours came away feeling there was no winning side.

But college students and professors, after a weekend mass "teach-in" discussion of U.S. Viet Nam policy, seem to think the idea is simply great.

"Questioning of American foreign policy is a responsibility that students have never taken on before in this country," said Margaret Thomas, a political science student at American University in Washington. "They should have done so long ago."

The scene of the marathon, 12 hours of discussion Saturday, was Washington. It was broadcast by radio and televisión to more than 100 college campuses in the United States and Canada. In some instances, groups watched a few hours, then went into their own lengthy debates over the U.S. position in Viet Nam.

Carroll Cagle, former editor of the campus newspaper at the American University, a friend Thomas Horn, a student council member at that school, said they didn't think either the administration or critics of its policy won the debate.

REACTION MIXED

Reaction to the teach-in was mixed, a survey found.

Some verbal heat was directed at McGeorge Bundy, presidential adviser on national security affairs, who cancelled out of the Washington program at the last minute.

Many members of the teach-in wired Bundy Sunday asking for an "alternative confrontation" with leaders over Viet Nam policies. This, however, was before it was revealed Bundy was a member of a U.S. fact-finding commission that was sent to Santo Domingo.

While many, like Dr. Edwin Hoyt of the University of New Mexico, felt the teach-in worth while, others disagreed.

Republican Governor Warren P. Knowles of Wisconsin turned down an invitation to attend a teach-in at the University of

Hydro Transformers Take Brunt of Electrical Storm

Hydro transformers took the brunt of the season's first severe electrical storm which swept through the Bay of Quinte district Sunday evening.

The local public utilities commission was flooded with calls as residents reported power failures in many parts of the city.

Street lights in many instances were off and several city districts were without power for periods ranging from minutes to several hours. Power on West Bridge Street was off until 7:30 this morning.

In isolated instances power was off for longer periods and hydro crewmen were still hard at work this morning clearing up some of the trouble.

Approximately three quarters of an inch of rain fell in the city in the storm, which was accompanied by gusting wind, loud claps of thunder and severe lightning.

During the height of the storm firemen answered a false alarm to the hospital while at a West Bill residence lightning followed a TV antenna lead-in wire and damaged the television set.

VERY FORTUNATE

But aside from the burned-out hydro transformers fuses there appeared to be little other damage in the city result-ing from the storm.

Fire Chief Ted Poste said Belleville was "very fortunate" there were only service calls answered by the department.

During the storm a call was received from Trenton Edward county reporting a roof afire west of Redmerville. But fire-men could not be unable to find the blaze and it was assumed the rain must have put the fire out of the roof.

The local utilities had three trouble crews working until 2 a.m. this morning. Other service crews were back to work early Saturday up the re-pair of trees and poles.

"It was mostly transformer fuses," reported a hydro official. "Fortunately there was no tree damage from winds."

Second Edition Of Poems Ready To Publish

Mrs. Andrew Sharpe, 110 Stanley Street, who writes under the pen name of Margaret Jean Andrews recently completed an album of poems entitled "I Heard a Voice Calling" and had it published in paper-back form for the second edition "And I Answered" which is dedicated to all those whom God has called.

This second edition, now before published will be displayed in Reid's Music Store.

Cambodia Asks UN to Move

PHNOM PENH (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, proposed today that the headquarters of the United Nations be transferred to Geneva from New York because of the "racist policy" of the United States.

Speaking to the opening session of the Cambodian parliament, Sihanouk said:

"Without wanting to ask for the founding of a rival organization like the United Nations, our country should assume the honor of proposing that in face of the racist discrimination of the American whites, the real partisans of racial equality should respond by deserting the headquarters of the United Nations in New York. We even suggest that the United Nations move, for example, to Geneva, at least until the American government abandons its racist policies at home and abroad."

Glen Miller Boy Struck by Passing Car

TRENTON — A three-year-old Glen Miller boy, David Hillsire, suffered lacerations to his head and abrasions to his head and thigh, when he was struck by a car near his home late Sunday morning.

The boy was taken by ambulance to Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Boy Is Shot Through Heart While Hunting

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for 15-year-old David Murney Wright, Belleville high school student, accidentally shot through the heart while hunting near Halloway Saturday.

The fatal mishap occurred as he climbed a farmer's fence while with a 12-gauge shotgun shot rifle, between the seventh and eighth concessions of Thurlow township.

With him was David Huffman, also 15, of R. R. 1 Halloway.

Police said the Wright youth was following Huffman over the fence when the gun went off. He died instantly.

The dead youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wright, 30 Auburn Street. He was a grade nine pupil at Quinte Collegiate School and received his primary education at King George Public School.

He was a member of Parkdale Baptist Church.

Besides his parents, three sisters survive — Karen, Patricia and Laurie Ann.

Women Bowlers Ready to Start Another Season

The women's section of the Lawn Bowling Club held their spring meeting at the clubhouse last week when they met to enjoy a full summer of lawn bowling. Mrs. Jessie Hunter, president, presided at the meeting and present were a number of members of the former Trenton City Club. The bowlers of last city last year and notified the club it was their intention to join the club in the Belleville bowlers.

The president extended a hearty welcome to anyone in the city that is contemplating taking up the game and also to those who have bowled and may consider coming back. Mrs. Hunter said that the social functions of the club were a part and parcel of the game and many pleasant hours have been planned for the coming summer. The secretary-treasurer reports have been which showed the Club in excellent condition.

The Thursday club games will be started on June 3rd and on June 11th a tournament will be played for the district and the May Knott trophy. This was to be played last year but there a large entry was available.

The money derived is used for district funds and it is hoped a large entry will result.

The members voted to purchase clock for the sum youth, which will add greatly to the comfort for the bowlers and guests. The meeting was closed with a delicious lunch after which cards were enjoyed.

City Women Ten-pinners Hold Tourney

Meagher's Men's Wear won the Belleville Women's Bowling Association city tournament (handicap) over the weekend with an aggregate score of 3079.

Grace Post and Maxine Mosher won the doubles event with 1276 and Lee Todd and the Dixie Lee Trophy. This was presented by association president Mrs. Vivian Brant.

The singles top award was won by Audrey Hinchey with a score of 587. She won the trophy donated by Milady's Shop and Alycia presented by the stores manager Mr. Art Shulman.

Audrey Hinchey won her second award with the Paul Kelly's Drug Store Trophy for the top score. Her record for nine games was 1.663. The Trophy was presented by Mrs. Ruth Bell president of the Belleville Men's Ten-Pin Association, (no name submitted).

Jo Mascaro took the all-events scratch first prize with a score of 1,370.

Series of Fires Keep Firemen Busy in Storm

Four homes on fire at the same time—St. Paul and Pinnacle—and a series of fires caused by one of the worst electric storms in recent years.

That was part of the Belleville fire department story at the weekend. At one time all units were engaged fighting or investigating one outbreak or other.

The blaze involving four homes at 13-18 St. Paul started in a shed at the rear of one of them. Nobody was at home and the blaze had gained a considerable hold when units arrived.

"We had an awful time," said Fire Chief Ted Poste. The four homes were only four to six feet apart. A fifth house got the roof was ignited by spark but this was extinguished."

Mr. Poste said he didn't know what caused the fire, but children had been observed letting off fireworks in the vicinity.

Other calls during the weekend included a mutual aid call to Trenton where a warehouse blaze was brought under control before it threatened to engulf a Salvation Army building next door.

Lightning blew a fuse at Sinclair-Gimour Ltd. on fire result-ed. A similar call sent units to the home of Russell Kitchen at R.R. 4 and to the Educational Hall at Belleville hospital, where a short circuit set off the alarm, and to Redeemville, where a roof was reported on fire. No serious damage was reported from any of these calls.

For good measure the department dealt with a Queens fire at 3.10 a.m. Saturday. Smoking in bed was the cause of that one.

Mr. Ronald A. Hotchkiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hotchkiss, Belleville, graduated from the Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, Toronto, on completion of a business and administration course. Graduation ceremonies were held on May 7. Ronald is a graduate of the B.C.I. and V.S., Belleville.

Junta

Wessin backs the "National Reconstruction" government — the five-man civilian - military junta headed by Brig.-Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras.

U.S. troops were not involved in the action, but three U.S. paratroopers were wounded Saturday night during a heavy exchange of fire between Dominicans and the 82nd U.S. Airborne Brigade.

A U.S. spokesman said the firing across the Ozama River was the heaviest action recorded for a 24 - hour period since U.S. forces arrived.

The Americans now control the river's west bank and the rebels the east.

A high-level White House mission which came from Washington Sunday met with junta president Gen. Imbert Sunday night and put pressure on the junta to resign, Imbert refused.

Junta sources said the U.S. government was trying to get the junta to step aside so "that an understanding could be reached with rebel constitutionalist forces for a peaceful solution to the Dominican conflict."

The White House mission also includes McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the president on national security affairs and Jack H. Vaughn, assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs.

The White House mission held "brief consultations" Sunday with U.S. Ambassador William Tapley Bennett Jr. and members of the Organization of American States mission and other parties involved in the revolt.

Jose Antonio Mayobre of Venezuela, appointed by UN Secretary-General U Thant as his special representative to the Dominican Republic, arrives today. He is to report to the UN Security Council on the situation.

A team of UN observers toured the 29 blocks of the capital held by the rebels. They were told by shouting crowds "United Nations si, OAS, no," and "Out with the Yankees."

The UN mission is headed by Maj.-Gen. Indar Rikhye of India, military adviser to Thant.

Talk on Cyprus Given at Dinner Meet

The Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting was held this week at the Royal Hotel, Marmora. The 30 members attending were welcomed by the president, Howard Bleecker.

Bus tour through the Land of Lakes District for members and wives was scheduled for June 14th. Plans for village jamboree to be held in July will be completed at the June meeting.

Vaughn Glover introduced guest speaker, Mr. Nick Skoulas, a native of Cyprus, who spoke to members about incidents which led up to disagreements in that locality and stated that the conditions there are of interest to all morality, politically and economically. A resident of Canada for four and one half years, Mr. Skoulas was in Cyprus when disagreements between Britain and Greece began.

Mr. Skoulas was thanked for his address by Mr. Henry Visser.

Jewish Teeners Attacked, Two Are Charged

TORONTO (CP)—A gang of about 20 youths wielding baseball bats, chains and rubber hoses attacked 25 Jewish teenagers Sunday on Centre Island in Toronto Harbor.

Three youths from Beth Sholom synagogue were injured and two youths in the other group later were charged by police.

Howard Hoffman, 17, candidate for a rabbinical seminary in the fall, was taken to hospital with a possible fractured skull and concussion after a baseball bat was broken across his head. His condition today was satisfactory.

Mark Hundert, 17, another injured youth, was trying to help Hoffman to his feet when he was attacked.

Hymie Bergel, 17, also injured said the Jewish group was walking quietly towards a baseball area when the gang approached and asked to play ball.

"We didn't like the looks of them and turned them down," he said.

TWO CHARGED

After the fight, police charged James Brunswick, 17, and a 15 year-old with assault causing bodily harm and possession of dangerous weapons.

Police said the attack probably resulted from mistaken identity of the Jewish group by the gang.

The gang had a previous arrangement to meet a group of youths of Italian extraction for a fight.

Neither police nor the Jewish youths attributed the attack to anti-Semitism.

However, Rabbi David Monson of the Beth Sholom congregation later called for parliamentary action to make attacks—physical or otherwise—against Jews illegal.

"This should be considered an emergency, just as if we were at war, because we are at war with evil and with hate," he said.

Police said they still were searching for two other suspects nicknamed the "Mouse" and the "Rat."

Britain, France Plan to Pool Plane Output

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain and France held talks here today on joint development and production of war planes.

A formal agreement was expected later.

Today's talks concentrated on a jet strike trainer and a supersonic interceptor. They were between Denis Healey and Roy Jenkins, the British defence and aviation ministers, and their French counterparts Pierre Messmer and Marc Jacquet.

Joint production of about 1,000 aircraft is expected to be involved and the decision to pool the resources of the aircraft industries of both countries, according to responsible sources here.

Reports here said the strike trainer would be developed from a French design, the Breguet 121.

The swing - wing interceptor would be designed by expert teams from both countries and be capable of operation from aircraft carriers as well as airfields. Britain is hoping the aircraft will replace its American-made Phantom interceptors in the 1970s.

Students Urged To Protest

TORONTO (CP) — Students and professors at the University of Toronto were urged Saturday to demonstrate against Adlai Stevenson, United States ambassador to the United Nations, when he visits the university May 28 to receive an honorary doctorate of laws.

The call came from Paul Simon, an Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission employee and part-time university lecturer, during a day-long campus "teach - in" that featured debate on Viet Nam.

Sharpe Going to France Soon to Negotiate Sale Of Uranium Says Pearson

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (CP)—This depressed uranium mining centre got assurance from Prime Minister Pearson Saturday that the government will not let it die.

He said that if current negotiations to sell France 30,000 pounds of uranium oxide fall through, his government will find some other way to keep the uranium industry in being.

It was as member of Parliament for Algoma East that Mr. Pearson sat down with a group of Elliot Lake municipal officials and businessmen, discussed their frustrations and disappointments and pledged to bring their urgent needs to the attention of the prime minister of Canada.

He said Trade Minister Sharp would be going to Paris soon for negotiations on the proposal by Elliot Lake's Consolidated Denison Mine to sell uranium oxide to France. The minister was to have gone at the weekend but his trip was postponed because France was not ready to start talks.

MUST ISSUE LICENCE

It was a straight commercial transaction but the government entered into it since its atomic energy control board would have to issue licence for shipments. Difficulties arose because the government had international commitments on selling uranium.

It would also be necessary to weigh the long-term effects of a deal which would involve some 25 per cent of Canada's proven reserves of uranium.

"I hope we will be able to overcome the difficulties," said Mr. Pearson. "If consummated it would be the biggest commercial transaction ever negotiated by Canada.

Although he cited no figures, the deal is understood to be worth some $700,000,000. Current price for uranium oxide is $4.38 a pound but informed sources say the price under discussion is much higher. Experts are forecasting that demand for uranium will rise sharply and that the price is likely to go beyond $7 a pound by the 1970s.

Length of American Stay Indefinite Says Official

An AP News Analysis
By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—It sometimes seems that the more Americans than Dominicans involved in the Dominican Republic's conflict.

The involvement is at all levels and has brought criticism from Dominicans, a few French counterparts Pierre Messmer and Marc Jacquet, rebel rejection of about 1,000 aircraft is expected to be involved and the decision to pool the resources of the aircraft industries of both countries, according to responsible sources here.

Reports here said the strike trainer would be developed from a French design, the Breguet 121.

The swing - wing interceptor would be designed by expert teams from both countries and be capable of operation from aircraft carriers as well as airfields. Britain is hoping the aircraft will replace its American-made Phantom interceptors in the 1970s.

Americans and some foreign officials. But it is also applauded by some Dominicans and Americans.

A force of about 22,000 U.S. marines and 82nd airborne troopers was sent here to protect American lives and to prevent a Communist takeover of the island.

The question of a possible Communist takeover has raised the question of the length of the American stay, Lt.-Gen. Bruce Palmer, commander of U.S. forces here, has said the stay is indefinite.

U.S. authorities are trying to help arrange a peaceful settlement of the conflict, but it is no secret that Washington backs the new civilian-military junta, set up as a rival to the rebel regime.

The criticism that followed the intervention seemed almost inevitable. It has been said that Washington over-reacted and was too hasty in labelling the rebels Communists and thugs.

This is the estimation of ex-president Juan Bosch, now in exile in San Juan, whose sympathizers were behind the revolution that came within an eyelash of succeeding.

Ambassador William Tapley Bennett Jr., however, stands by his evaluation that Communists brought U.S. troops here. And John Bartlow Martin, former ambassador to the Dominican Republic, insists the rebel movement now is Communist-controlled.

While he does not say how he reached this conclusion, Martin was a staunch supporter of Bosch. He quit the foreign service after Bosch was overthrown by a military junta in September of 1963.

R. E. Followell Granted B. A. With Honors

Rodney E. Follwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Follwell, 208 George Street, Belleville, has been notified that he will be granted the degree of Bachelor of Arts with honors at Queen's University spring convocation to be held Friday, May 21.

An officer cadet in the RCN for the past four years, Rodney will receive the rank of sub-lieutenant and will commence a three-year term with the Fleet Air Arm early in July. During the school year he was attached to HMCS Cataraqui where he was named the best cadet in each year.

During his four years at Queen's he was a member of the boxing and water polo teams, and was a member of the Arts '65 executive, president of the Queen's ski club, and was participant in campus politics and model parliaments.

After his next three years' service with the RCN Rodney hopes to return to university for post graduate work in law or business administration.

Police Can Take Licences Of Unsafe Cars

TORONTO (CP)—A program of compulsory automobile safety inspection was to begin in Ontario today.

The program, to be carried out by the provincial police and the provincial department of transport, will give vehicles a 28 - point safety check. Windshield stickers will be issued to drivers whose cars pass the test.

Under the Highway Traffic Act, police are authorized to remove license plates from vehicles badly in need of repair and have them towed away. They are also authorized to instruct the driver to have repairs made within a specified time and report back.

Auto check points will be moved to new locations each week. The first check point locations are Highway 7 west of Perth, and Highway 5, west of Cookville.

Perth is 40 miles southwest of Ottawa. Cookville is 15 miles west of Toronto.

"Mudcat Lane" Yields Nice Pickerel

A local fisherman discovered more than muddcats in the Moira River's "Mudcat Lane" over the weekend.

Harry Oake caught a fine member of the pickerel family. The finned beauty measured 26 inches in length and weighed in at six pounds, four ounces. Perhaps a little late for the local "derby" - but mighty fine for the Oake fry pan.

Untimely Demise

Perhaps there is really no need to worry about the population explosion, for people are dying who have no need to die—dying, in a sense, by their own hand.

Consider for example that a startling increase in traffic accidents, deaths and damage has made the first three months of 1965 the blackest in Ontario's road history.

The number of pedestrians killed—97—was 56.5 per cent higher than the figure for the first three months of 1964, when 62 were killed.

For the first time, says The Globe and Mail, the number of pedestrians killed nearly equalled the number of dead drivers. Of the total deaths in traffic during the three months the number of pedestrians was 97 (35.7 per cent) while the number of drivers was 99 (36.4 per cent).

There is little to be said about this situation except that the figures are in keeping with the motoring trend today—more cars, more young drivers on the roads and the overall picture becoming more dangerous by the hour.

The other factor contributing to untimely demise is lung cancer. Once more the increase in deaths from this source is attributed to cigarette smoking.

Dr. Norman C. Delarue, assistant professor of surgery at the University of Toronto, used coloured slides to hammer home the hazards of smoking in a recent address to a press conference in the Queen city. One slide showed a vivid photograph of a section of inflamed and cancerous lung.

More people die in North America every year from smoking than in traffic accidents, the doctor said. Doctors believe as many as 250,000 are dying every year from lung cancer. Dr. Delarue said the death rate for smokers is 30 to 50 times higher than that of non-smokers. If they continue their smoking habits, 1,000,000 North American teenagers will die before age 70.

These facts come from a reputable medical man, one who daily sees the grim facts revealed by X-ray and other diagnostic aids.

That young people are taking up smoking at an earlier age than before is plain for all to see. From casual observation, girls seem to smoke as much if not more than boys. Teenagers and young adults alike in large numbers have acquired the nicotine habit. And Belleville youngsters—say from age 15 on up—are no exceptions.

Moss Criticizes Seat Belts

There have been many, though, who have suspected that automobile manufacturers were carrying this principle a little too far in their general refusal to install seat belts as standard equipment—and that car drivers themselves were being much too casual in their reluctance to order belts as additional equipment, or even to use them when installed in their cars.

Now along comes an expert, Stirling Moss no less, with a sweeping condemnation of the type of belts installed in cars on this continent.

"I would rather drive a car on a pool of gasoline than use a lap strap," says the world's most famous racing driver.

The reason—these straps are 90 per cent ineffective, he contends, and to offset what little protection they do provide they give the driver a false sense of security.

Moss is certain to find his contentions disputed by many safety experts on this continent, who have been energetically promoting the use of this type of seat belt.

His complaint, though, strikes a chord in memory. There were days when some people were advocating the use of governors on cars, to prevent them being driven at excessive speeds.

As one who has had the misfortune to be asked to drive a governor-equipped car in the line of duty, we can report without fear of contradiction by the knowledgeable that this device was guaranteed to expose the driver to the most nerve-wracking experiences. With governor set at the speed limit, in no-passing zone car "all out" all of the time. Manufacturers' stress on engine power as a safety factor is unquestionably overdone today—but driving without any reserve power is almost as dangerous as driving without brakes.

It is a long time since we have heard any body arguing for the installation of governors on cars. Perhaps the advocacy of seat belts, in the lap pattern, will undergo a similar decline. In their case there seems to be an acceptable alternative. Moss says that diagonal belts, which are compulsory in Sweden, cost only about 15 cents more to manufacture than lap belts and they hold "the top part of your body, where the weight is that you want to check."

Motels Adopt Hotel Style

New York Times

It is a law of American life that any change tends to make things more difficult, and what is happening to the motel in this country illustrates the law at its strongest.

Originally, the motel flourished because it was the motorist's easy alternative to the difficulties of the hotel. It was located outside the central cities, which made for additional acreage and a car. There was no parking problem, no doorman problem and no bellhop to tip.

You put the car in front of the room door and there was no difficulty shoving all the luggage and scruffy effluvium of auto travel across a few feet of pavement and into shelter. It was beautifully easy.

Best of all, it eliminated the unpleasantness of the hotel lobby. Every motorist knows about this. A hotel lobby is basically a pressing stage for the affluent. Vital men who have just closed big deals stand about with their secretaries under the proud scrutiny of the room clerk.

Wives of people have spent a day in a car step onto this stage, they inevitably subject them selves to loud laughter and contempt, with their stained clothing, bloodshot eyes and unkempt hair. If they carry a bag of dirty laundry or a bag of decaying banana peels or a bowl containing the heads of small and precision and volume. But, at fish, they are treated with the same time, we have put ourcontempt as if they were not selves utterly at the mercy of of such forces.

"All the resources of the Power Age are available to you," observed the late W. J. Brown, "and yet I am more powerless than the cave-savage." We are able to do less and less for ourselves, and have become increasingly dependent upon the garage mechanic, the plumber, the public utilities, the repairmen of all kinds, the technicians and specialists who run our massive society.

And the more we accelerate our industrial machine, the more impotent each of us becomes in dealing with any given aspect of our daily lives. There would be absolute chaos if the machinery should break down.

This condition, aggravated every year, builds up an enormous amount of frustration within us. Since we can, or will, do nothing to alter the technological environment, we "displace" our feelings toward the social and political elements in our society.

It is much easier to blame a political party, or an economic measure, for our loss of individualism than to face squarely the fact that in a mass industrial society each of us must deny certain cuts more deeply than this. Whether our managers are bureaucrats, bankers—leaders, or Bolshevists, 20th century technology poses some frightful problems to the individual.

Industrial independence is diminishing as rapidly as individual autonomy. Few people any more make everything they need for their product; they are dependent upon other plants. A dispute in one factory can tie up a dozen others; a strike in one area can cripple a city or a state. Where "private enterprise" ends and "public welfare" begins is a matter not easily decided.

Political controversies do not reach to the heart of our modern malaise, which is the loss of personal decision. Bigness, complexity, rule-consciousness and horsemen of the modern world, running roughshod over all of us alike, left, right, and centre, constitute of life, and that dirty little secret and those should be kept in concealment.

This is not a vicious against the system, but a matter inn. It is just that it's no fun to be conveying where you are when you get into one of these things.

Strictly Personal
Individual No Longer Has Control

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of our chief sources of frustration — which in my explain a great deal of bitterness and aggressiveness in our society — is what the British sociologists have called "the helplessness of them."

It is the most basic paradox of the 20th century that the more powerful we become as a community, or a nation, the more powerless we become as individuals. This is not merely a political or economic fact, as some would have it, but a technological fact.

We have learned to control and manipulate the forces of nature so that in our transportation, our communication, our manufactures, we can perform incredible feats of speed and

"All the resources of the Power Age are available to you," observed the late W. J. Brown, "and yet I am more powerless than the cave-savage." We are able to do less and less for ourselves, and have become increasingly dependent upon the garage mechanic, the plumber, the public utilities, the repairmen of all kinds, the technicians and specialists who run our massive society.

And the more we accelerate our industrial machine, the more impotent each of us becomes in dealing with any given aspect of our daily lives. There would be absolute chaos if the machinery should break down.

This condition, aggravated every year, builds up an enormous amount of frustration within us. Since we can, or will, do nothing to alter the technological environment, we "displace" our feelings toward the social and political elements in our society.

It is much easier to blame a political party, or an economic measure, for our loss of individualism than to face squarely the fact that in a mass industrial society each of us must deny certain cuts more deeply than this. Whether our managers are bureaucrats, bankers—leaders, or Bolshevists, 20th century technology poses some frightful problems to the individual.

Industrial independence is diminishing as rapidly as individual autonomy. Few people any more make everything they need for their product; they are dependent upon other plants. A dispute in one factory can tie up a dozen others; a strike in one area can cripple a city or a state. Where "private enterprise" ends and "public welfare" begins is a matter not easily decided.

Political controversies do not reach to the heart of our modern malaise, which is the loss of personal decision. Bigness, complexity, rule-consciousness and horsemen of the modern world, running roughshod over all of us alike, left, right, and centre,

Control of Diabetes Varies With Individual Patient

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Doctor: I have diabetes and I take insulin. How often should one have a checkup? — Mrs. C. L.

Diabetes can vary a lot in ease of control. A brittle diabetic will show wide swings, vary readily, from heavy sugar to insulin reactions.

A stable diabetic can remain sugar-free, without having insulin reactions, by taking a fixed dose of the drug.

A stable diabetic, obviously, needn't see a doctor as often as a brittle one.

Another important point is whether you are gaining or losing weight. If you are doing either, you should see your doctor to make sure that your diet (and the amount of insulin you are getting) is right.

Or if any new symptoms develop (disturbances of vision, leg cramps, or others you should see your doctor immediately.

In general, stable diabetics should consult their doctors every three or four months. It should be oftener for any of the exceptions cited above.

Juvenile (or child) diabetes should be checked more frequently, since in young people the disease is more likely to be severe and, in addition, they are growing and both diet and amount of insulin should be adjusted more often.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 20-month old son fell on our puppy. The dog bit him under the eye, leaving three small breaks in the skin.

The child had had his tetanus booster shot only three months before, but the doctor still insisted on giving another shot and two prescriptions for medicine. Was this tetanus shot necessary so soon after his booster? — Mrs. M. R.

The shot was necessary for complete safety. True, the little fellow might not have gotten tetanus (lockjaw) anyway, but I certainly favor being safe rather than sorry. The prescriptions, I'm sure, no doubt, were for medication to protect against any other infection which might have been present.

Dear Doctor: My husband is 81 and suffers, especially at night, with pain in the calves of the legs. He smokes and chews. Do you think that stopping either form of tobacco would help? — Mrs. J. S.

At his age one suspects faulty circulation as the cause of the cramps. Tobacco in any form is a potent cause of cramps because it impedes circulation.

I would most certainly urge him to give up tobacco. If relief does not follow, your doctor may suggest medication to dilate the blood vessels — quinine, antihistamines or the like.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a sagging bladder which creates pressure and discomfort. Surgery is necessary. Is this considered a painful and serious operation? I am 58 and have a job. How long would it take for complete recovery — Mrs. S. B.

Any operation can involve some discomfort, but medication keeps the pain at a minimum right after surgery. I don't think you should be too uncomfortable.

This type of surgery isn't "serious" in that it does not interrupt ordinary functions of the body, such as digestion or elimination.

The average stay in the hospital should be from 10 to 14 days, plus two to three weeks at home before you return to work. Your surgeon can give you a closer estimate on the basis of your particular case.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Tribune-New York Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Everyday Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

He Patents Wheelbarrow

The Sherbrooke Record

The wheelbarrow, a one-wheeled affair for transporting earth and other commodities, has been discovered by a Virginian inventor by the name of De Graff Du Puy, living in Roanoke.

Mr. Du Puy says his invention will be of immense value to the construction industry and to gardeners, both amateur and professional. It will avoid the need of transporting earth from one section of a field to another a shovelful at a time.

Lest anyone think that this sounds familiar, it may be pointed out that Mr. Du Puy has recently received the first patent ever issued by the United States Patent Office for such a contraption.

It seems that the Roanoke man had devised a new grip for the wheelbarrow and, in the course of conducting the research necessary for patenting the grip, found that no one had ever taken out one on the wheelbarrow itself.

He decided to take the plunge and filed for a patent on the barrow. Now the inventive-minded inventor and his lawyers want royalties from the 43 American companies that have been manufacturing wheelbarrows for years.

There has been no indication as to his intentions regarding the exercise of his patent rights in Canada.

Perhaps he is awaiting the outcome of legal proceedings expected to follow on his demand for royalties from the manufacturers south of the border.

Patent experts point out that the wheelbarrow has been around for a long time and that there are certain provisions in the patent law which restrict the registering of such articles.

Thus Mr. Du Puy's claims may not stand up in court.

Mouthful Of Skeeters

BBC London Letter

The swarms of dancing mosquitoes to be seen in certain times of the year were really a form of marriage mart, said Ray Smithers in the BBC World Service 'Science and Industry' programme. Only the males took part in this ritual dance. If a female approached, males detected her wing-beat at several yards away and there was a rush to win the bride. A question that had puzzled scientists for years was how the males recognized a female, since it was known that one mosquito could not tell the sex of another by sight or smell, especially at a distance.

The discovery that the male and female wing-beats differed — the male beat 300 beats per cycles per second, and the female 300 — still left many biologists wondering how a male in the middle of a buzzing swarm could detect the sound of a female so far away. Then Professor Horst Tischner, head of the department of applied engineering Division at the Technological University of Hanover in Germany, had discovered that the hearing organ of the male mosquito was tuned so precisely to the wing-beat of the female that he could hear the sound even in these circumstances. Professor Tischner found that variation in the wing-beat of the female due to such things as temperature and local pressure put the male at no disadvantage, because his hearing organ was subject to the same kinds of state variations as her wing-beat.

Finally, said Smithers, to convince any remaining doubters, "Professor Tischner told his astonished assistant that a deafening swarm of male mosquitoes and sing slowly down the scale. He then assistant that reached 300 cycles per second he was humming the note of a flying female. Almost the entire swarm rushed directly into his mouth."

Comics Not For Children

Vancouver Sun

A U.S. newspaper executive thinks it's time the newspaper comic strip was given back to the children. Where did he ever get the idea that it was intended for the children in the first place?

In this connection it's noteworthy that Charles Shultz has just won, for the second time, the cartoonist of the year award of the National Cartoon Society for the Peanuts strip which appears daily and weekly in The Sun.

Peanuts is about children and a dog but it is 'too subtle for most children, and dogs can't understand it at all.

Maybe back in the days of the Yellow Kid and Little Nemo, strips were for kids. But even that's doubtful.

Sociologists and psychologists have studied the comic strip phenomenon and its fascination. But the truth is few such strips are intended for children. Perhaps children have too much sense, of humor to be amused by most of the characters in this field.

Adults Still Take Chance

Financial Post

The official anti-cigarette campaign in the U.S. is gathering momentum; but its effectiveness is still open to question.

From July 1 all cigarette ads and all packs entering into interstate commerce must bear a warning. This is by order of the Federal Trade Commission.

A bill before Congress would require the words "injurious to health" on all packs; but P. R. Dixon, FTC chairman, says this overstates the evidence. The official formula is to be "hazardous to health." .

Despite many such warnings in the past 18 months, cigarettes smoked in the U.S. fell only from 524,000 million in 1963 to 511,000 million last year. (In Canada sales actually rose to 41,000 million in 1964, compared with 39,000 million in 1963).

The decline was in the early part of 1964 when the U.S. Surgeon-General's report, linking cigarettes and lung cancer, was still making a powerful impact. As this wore off, consumption climbed back.

The statistical evidence, though it does strongly support the Surgeon-General, remains unconvincing to many because it shows that the question involved is a matter of odds.

Perhaps everyone would kick the habit if the figures showed that, say, one in every 10 heavy cigarette smokers died of lung cancer. But the odds in favor of the addict are very much better than that.

The long-term effect of the official campaign, in Canada as well as the U.S., could be to persuade a majority of boys and girls never to start smoking. But it looks as if most adults already hooked will continue to take the risk for the sake of the pleasure.

Election Talk Predominant At Meeting

No one would hazard a guess as to when the next federal election will be, but discussion centred around plans to fight it when it is called.

"We want to be in good shape if an election is called," said Ernest Murray, president of the Carleton Liberal Association and chairman of the meeting.

Senator John Connolly, party leader in the upper house, addressed a luncheon meeting of the association representing 11 federal ridings in Eastern Ontario and spoke in favor of the government's current bill for retirement of senators.

"Many members of the Senate have passed their day of usefulness but no longer keep in step with the young blood," the 58-year-old senator said.

Senator Connolly said Prime Minister Pearson's inauguration of a national flag, passing of the Canada Pension Plan and reduction of unemployment ensure him a place in history as "another great leader who has made his mark."

Joseph MacDonald of Ottawa was elected president.

Union President Resigns Post Over Agreement

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—James Beattie, president of striking local 61 of the International Distillery Union, resigned Sunday "because the membership has repudiated my bargaining."

The union — the Distillery, Rectifying, Wine, Allied Workers International Union of America (CLC)—voted Sunday 280 to 78 to continue its strike against Hiram Walker and Sons Ltd., the first strike in the company's 107-year history.

The strike began officially May 6 when 430 members of the local walked out after the collapse of negotiations between the union and the company.

Mr. Beattie said Sunday night he tendered his resignation during a membership meeting and it was to take effect from the end of the meeting Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Beattie, elected president in January, said he felt that "we had achieved a good package agreement from the company in negotiations earlier this year. But the membership did not seem happy with what had been gained."

Sunday's meeting followed recommendations from the union's international headquarters that the strikers return to work and continue negotiations.

DOLLAR RATE

Queen Ready For Visit to West Germany

BONN (Reuters)—This West German capital today was in a fever of last-minute preparations for Tuesday's state visit of Queen Elizabeth — the first to Germany by a British monarch in more than 30 years.

The Queen and her party are due to arrive by air at 11 a.m. to begin an 11-day tour.

Intensive security precautions, designed mainly to protect the British queen from terror - enthusiastic crowds, will get a final rehearsal today.

Meanwhile, workmen raced the clock to complete road repairs, paint road signs and hang miles of flags and bunting lining the city's route.

British and West German officials attach great political significance to the royal visit, designed to set the seal on Anglo - German reconciliation 20 years after the end of the Second World War.

GIVES IMPETUS

The Queen's visit was expected to give new impetus to British and German efforts to strengthen NATO integration and European economic co-operation, in the face of the opposition line of French President de Gaulle.

The West German press and public have given evidence of mounting excitement over the royal tour. Newspapers are printing "Queen supplements" and the Queen's picture is displayed in many store windows alongside British goods.

The "queen fever" sweeping West Germany has even produced a new German verb— "queenen," meaning to prepare for the visit of "die queen."

Bank Debits

MONTREAL (CP)—Debits to Canadian bank accounts in April totalled $41,822,000,000, a decrease from March but a substantial increase over April, 1964, the Canadian Bankers' Association reported today.

The figure for March was $41,794,000,000 and in April last year was $35,577,150,000.

Despite the decrease compared with March, the total raised the third highest in the history of the banking system that the figure has exceeded $40,000,000,000.

Eight Dead, Nine Missing After Avalanche Sweeps Over German Hotel Patio

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN (AP)—Nine persons are still missing in West Germany's worst recorded avalanche. Eight bodies have been recovered.

The avalanche roared down 9,718-foot Mount Hupfgipfel Saturday and swept over a terrace of the Schneefernhaus Hotel, 5,000 feet above Garmisch Partenkirchen.

Police announced today that 58 of 59 persons listed as missing have been accounted for. They said there was hope some of the remaining nine also had got away but did not realize they were being sought.

The bodies of seven Germans and an Austrian were recovered. Twenty-one persons were injured.

POPULAR RESORT

Mt. Zugspitze, Germany's highest peak, towers over Garmisch-Partenkirchen, a popular ski resort 45 miles north of Munich near the Austrian border. The resort was the site of the 1936 Winter Olympics.

Germany's previous worst avalanche tragedy struck in the Bavarian Alps in 1931 and killed seven persons.

About 250 rescuers braved howling winds, rain and low temperatures Sunday, digging long trenches that crossed at right angles and probing the hard snow.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Roy

"I don't care what the recipe said . . . I know lamb when I see it."

Alting German army and police units and American police were five helicopters from the 24th. U.S. Infantry, American soldiers vacationing here also volunteered.

"The avalanche came down down with a roar that made me believe we were being hit by an earthquake," a Garmisch farmer told reporters.

Rescue operations paused three times to permit ordnance men to blast more shots that threatened new slides.

Massive chunks of packed snow or ice described by one rescuer to be "as hard as reinforced concrete" hampered the search.

The Schneefernhaus Hotel is connected to Garmisch by a cog railway. The high slopes around it are popular with ski enthusiasts who find them one of the few German spots where they may ski well into spring.

Recent warm, sunny weather in the Bavarian Alps had increased the danger of avalanches. But the chairman of the Bavarian Mountain Rescue Service, Fritz Lenze, said the point where the avalanche struck had not been marked as a danger area and the disaster could not have been foreseen.

Possessive Mother-in-law Could Ruin Marriage

DEAR DORIS — I have been going with a man seven years older than I am. I am 22. He wants me to marry him and I'd be very happy except for one thing — his mother.

His dad has died in their eighties and are dependent on him, even though there are other brothers. His mother is possessive and because her son shows an interest in me, she is mean to me. When he tries to stickup for me and objects, she says she is sick and doesn't know what she is doing. But then she is worse again when he isn't there, criticizing every little thing.

DORIS CLARK

Should I give him up and try to find happiness in just work? I could never marry someone else. — DOUBTFUL

DEAR DOUBTFUL — Well, you won't change her, at this late date. Whether your marriage to her son would be happy depends on how strong the apron strings are.

You do him a great injustice if you don't discuss this with him. It would hurt him far more in the end if you were to marry him without clarifying your position, or if you were to sign off with him because you couldn't stand his mother.

Make your stand clear. Your home must be separate from his parents; and his first loyalty must be to you. If he can't see this, his mother could ruin your marriage anyway.

DEAR DORIS — The bride's mother would like two little pieces to add with her in church. These little girls recently lost their mother, who was sister of the bride's mother. Would you give your view on this? — FAITHFUL READER

DEAR FAITHFUL — Thoughtful and quite appropriate. Each little girl should be separately escorted down the aisle by an usher, preceding the bride's mother.

DEAR DORIS — My stomach sticks out so much I look like I'm pregnant. I'm not. I wear girdles to flatten it down but they only hurt and I feel uncomfortable. I guess it sticks out so much because I drink a lot of milk. I'm 14. I do not intend to hold it in everywhere I go. What could I do to flatten it besides exercise and reading booklets of help? — TAMMY S.

DEAR TAMMY S. — Books and booklets can only help if you follow their instructions or carry them on your head.

Better than that is a reducing diet and an exercise especially designed to get at that "spare tire." All of which should follow a visit to your doctor and his o.k. on such remedies.

I'll send them when you say the coast is clear and let me have name, address, stamped envelope and ten cents.

Marion Wilson Will Head Theatre Guild

The Belleville Theatre Guild recently held its annual general meeting at which Marion Wilson was re-elected as president with Gordon Collins as vice-president. Gene Hamlin as past president, Flo Yanover as secretary, Lorraine Foll as treasurer, Ruth Kennedy as business manager and Maurice Sisk as technical director.

The membership listened to a recent recording of a radio played taped for CJBQ and they are planning to produce another series for next year. This phase of the Theatre Guild's activities will be under the guidance of Jim Alexander. Plans are now being discussed for next year's plays and hopes are high that three full plays will be produced.

The Theatre Guild has had a generous response to their plea for help since the disastrous fire in February which effaced the Loft-Theatre. So far they have not been able to locate new premises, but it is still their dream to find a suitable location for a theatre of their own to blossom in Belleville's midst.

FULL GOSPEL W. M. C.

FRANKFORD — Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle Women's Missionary Council met on Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Paul Spurrell. President, Mrs. E. Strome opened the meeting assisted by Mrs. K. Wright.

The president gave a few spiritual thoughts. Secretary, Mrs. Lonnie Reilly gave the secretarial report and treasurer, Mrs. Paul Spurrell gave the financial report. The May Bulletin was read by the president. Various readings from evangelical churches were read by W.M.C. members.

The evening message was brought by Mrs. George Chapman speaking on "Thou therefore, endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

A time of prayer was spent on behalf of missionaries.

Refreshments were served and a time of fellowship was enojyed.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL CARL BRADLEY

Bradley — Labelle

Baskets of white lilies formed the background setting in St. Joseph's Parish Church for the recent wedding of Helen Mary Labelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Labelle, Belleville, to Daniel Carl Bradley, son of Mr. Clarke Bradley of Toronto and Mrs. Marjorie Dunstan of New York. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Carley officiated at the ceremony with Rev. Sister Mary Polycarp as organist who accompanied the soloist Miss Cathy O'Connor.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of Belgian silk satin peau de soie featuring a scooped neckline edged with Viennese lace and long lily point sleeves. The controlled skirt was enhanced with a gently flowing train caught at the waist with a self bow. A shoulder length veil fell from a crown of lace and flowers, studded with seed pearls. She carried a semi-cascade of pink Sensation roses encircled with white feathered carnations.

Miss Mary Dunley, cousin of the bride as maid of honor was gowned in a street-length yellow organza over taffeta dress with a Chantilly lace jacket. To complete her ensemble she wore a white bow headdress, with gloves and shoes and carried a hand bouquet of white and tinted turquoise 'mums.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Tom Woodward and Mrs. Carl Harrison, both sisters of the bride were identically attired to the maid of honor but in turquoise and carried bouquets of white and tinted yellow 'mums. The flower girl was Miss Cindy Labelle, niece of the bride, who wore a street-length eyelet dress with a band of pink roses for a headdress, and white accessories. She carried a nosegay of white and pink 'mums centred with a Sweetheart rose.

Master Tony Woodward, nephew of the bride was the ring bearer, dressed in blue sports jacket and grey trousers.

Mr. Richard Labelle, brother of the bride was groomsman, while Mr. Leo Labelle, another brother, and Mr. Floyd Phillips, uncle of the bridegroom ushered the guests.

The reception was held in St. Joseph's Parish Hall at which time Mr. Gerald Labelle brother of the bride, was master of ceremonies. The bride's table centred the guests wearing a street-length turquoise lace over taffeta sheath dress, white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Floyd Phillips, assisted, wearing a street-length pink lace over taffeta sheath dress with matching three-quarter duster, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

For the wedding trip to New York City, the bride chose a two-piece beige knitted suit, beige and brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Previous to the marriage a miscellaneous shower was held in St. Joseph's Parish Hall with Mrs. Vince Muldoon as hostess, assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. Harry Carr-Brainé, Mrs. John Manley and Miss Mary Dunley.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley will reside at 245 Herchimer Ave., Belleville.

White House Social Whirl Is Rarely Viewed by Mr. and Mrs. John Public

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)—In the social whirl of President Johnson's Great Society, the White House offers champagne, shrimp and sweet dance music.

Not least is a rare opportunity for Mr. and Mrs. John Public on occasion to gawk at Who's Who.

The Public, undoubtedly, it is a time to take stock of the latest in formal fashions and general female chic. Mr. Public is more prone over his champagne to eye the proportions of hemlines or tot-at-linesme matrons and misses tripping out to the frug, the enduring foxtrot or the more exotic gyrations from Africa or Slam.

The price he pays is a compulsory turn or two himself around the floor when the red-jacketed marine dance combo plows in with a waltz.

The President and Lady Byrd Johnson are assumed in Washington to favor social functions with a more utilitarian flavor than those presided over by the late President Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline.

MAKE HIMSELF

It may be large batches of congressmen, who receive briefings on Viet Nam, or the Dominican Republic while the ladies take refreshments with Mrs. Johnson, later joining the men for food.

It may the usual state dinner for visiting dignitaries, although there have been fewer of these of late, or smaller receptions.

But more than 500 people were invited recently to the White House for a evening reception which, it turned out, was chiefly to honor the heads of the 114 foreign embassies and missions in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kidd—he is former Canadian ambassador to Cuba—attended in the absence of Ambassador Charles Ritchie and his wife, on holiday.

The guest list ran from Vice-President Hubert Humphrey and Mrs. Humphrey down through the cabinet to lesser officials, congressmen, some domestic and international press representatives and fellow brings choices from inside and outside Washington.

It was not a gala night, otherwise. The president, it was made known later, was preoccupied with the Dominican Republic and wept back to work at 8:40 p.m. after shaking all the hands in the receiving line. But, first, in a typical personal gesture, he had posed with all the diplomats for individual color photographs, helped himself to two plates of curried shrimp from the buffet and had two or three talks with individuals about the latest crisis.

TIRELESS DANCER

On occasion, the president's tireless performance on the dance floor has single-handed kept such festivities rolling for hours. This one was dead at 10:30 shortly after Mrs. Johnson—in lemon—had gone to her third - storey quarters for the night. That was also after oldest daughter Lynda Bird had mingled briefly and danced, before returning to her studies.

The occasion had been signalled 10 days earlier by an envelope bearing four cards, one inviting the couple for 7:30 p.m., another stipulating formal (black tie), a third, unsurprising prompt Yes or No and another with the names in ink to be used for entry to the White House and marked "not transferrable."

The 7:30 guests drank champagne in a long spacious first-floor hall in the east-or residential — wing of the White House. Before eight, they began filing up stairs to shake the hand of the president and his lady in the Blue Room.

There were two buffets laden with lemonade, two kinds of ham, cold fowl, sliced rare beef, potatoe rings stuffed with meat or food, curried shrimps, cheeses and sweet cakes. Waiters maintained a steady flow of champagne and the only hard liquor to be seen was borne by diplomats.

MADE MISTAKE

There had been one minor slip. Mrs. Lloyd Hand is the young, blond wife of a senior aid of yet another Texan addition to the Johnson team, the new president's secretary. She misread an Indian journalist for the Indian ambassador.

Many watched the dancing without joining, although African diplomats were notable for the participation in flowing robes or Western formal wear. The capacity always is in the East Room, largest on the second floor and done in cream, gilt and huge chandeliers. Between it and the smaller West Room is an open hall where the marine orchestra played chamber music.

Facing them is a trio of flags.

Women's Institutes

MARMORA W.I.

MARMORA — The first meeting of the year 1965-66 of Marmora Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. James Nobes on Wednesday evening, May 12th with...an attendance of 12 members - and one visitor.

Due to the absence of the president, Mrs. Joseph O'Neill chaired the meeting.

Delegates to the district annual meeting were appointed with Harta Riggs branch as hostess which will be held at Hazard's Corners.

Miss Grace Warren gave an interesting report of her trip to Guelph as convener of historical research and curator. Miss Warren brought back a vivid picture of the Adelaide Hoodless Home. She informed the members that "MacDonald College", "The Ontario Veterinary College", "Ontario Agriculture College" and "Wellington College" are now members of and called Guelph University, which has one of the highest ratings in Canada and their work in science and research competes with any.

Mrs. O'Neill thanked Miss Warren for her educational report.

Mrs. H. P. Naylor gave a reading and Mrs. Neal read a story on the "Old Box Social". A social time enjoyed and lunch was served.

on a lounge, talked for one hour and 25 minutes with Russian Ambassador Anatolly Dobrynin. Most of the guests were gone when they broke up.

Lights at the gates were White House guards, plainclothes secret servicemen and military aides in close-fitting white jackets with gold braid, and dark trousers.

A REMINDER

Wedding forms for write-ups are available at The Ontario Intelligencer and should be completed and returned BEFORE the ceremony, so a report can be published immediately after the wedding.

Pictures may be submitted by your photographer up to three days after the wedding in order to complete publication of weddings sent in later.

U.C.W. Meetings

CENTENARY U. C. W.

CENTENARY — The regular monthly meeting of Centenary U.C.W. was held at the home of Mrs. Percy Sutherland May 12th. The president opened the meeting with a poem. Mrs. Christopher welcomed the 31 members and two visitors present and thanked the hostess for opening her home. Members were invited to the home of Mrs. R. Thrasher for the June meeting.

Mrs. Roy Nobes introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. J. Mulheron of Stirling and Chairman of Christian Citizenship and Social Action of the Belleville Presbytery. Mrs. Mulheron gave us her challenge "Go ye into all the World and preach the Gospel".

Mrs. Christopher thanked the speaker for her inspiring talk. Mrs. L. Pearson led in the devotional meditation with a reading.

Invitations to attend Johnstown U.C.W. June 1st and Cannifton U.C.W. June 2nd were accepted.

Mrs. R. Thrasher and Mrs. J. Best assisted the hostess in serving lunch.

ELMBROOK U.C.W.

The May meeting of the Elmbrook U.C.W. was held at the home of Mrs. Marian Stone, with an excellent attendance. The "Thought for the Day" was given by the president, Mrs. Arnold Ackerman. The theme for the worship service was "Love Thy Neighbor." Love thy neighbor forever be is, regardless of creed, color, race, and he willing to lend assistance whenever needed, as this is the only peaceful way of existing in this world.

It was announced that a tea is to be held at the parsonage at Northport in June, with two volunteers from each U.C.W. group to assist with the service.

The June meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Arnold Ackerman, with Mrs. Gerald Norton in charge of the lunch, Mrs. Orval May the program, and Mrs. Reg Moore the contest.

Nineteen sick calls were reported. Mrs. Patrick Rogers gave an excellent reading, pertaining to sick calls. Christ visited the sick, and did all within His power to assist them in any way that He could.

An interesting chapter from the new Study Book, "A Meeting of Faiths" by Stephen J. Mathers, was given by Mrs. Arnold Ackerman, followed by a reading given by Mrs. Rea Rolston.

Two "adjective" contests were conducted by Mrs. Orval May, consisting of two stories with blanck spaces to be filled with an adjective by those present.

A social time followed, accompanied by a lunch being served by the hostess and Mrs. Arnold Ackerman.

A vote of thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Marion Stone, was given by Mrs. Orval May and Mrs. Reg. Moore, on behalf of those present.

The minutes were read by the assistant secretary, Mrs. Orval May, in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Gladys Lister.

Ann Landers

Husband's Catsup Capers Tagged as Cheap Stunts

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am married to a man who drowns everything in catsup. Before we were married I noticed Louie's mother always had two bottles on the table and the whole family went for it like crazy. But here you ever heard of catsup on fried eggs? Well that's the way Louie likes 'em. Lots of people use catsup with French fries — but on mashed potatoes, too?

ANN LANDERS

The other night we were at the home of friends and someone mentioned that Louie could never be a blood donor because he probably doesn't have blood — only catsup. This got a big laugh. Then Louie said, "I eat catsup on everything, even ice cream."

With that, the hostess brought him a dish of chocolate ice cream and a bottle of catsup. All eyes were on Louie as he poured about one-third of the bottle on the ice cream. This was after three vodka martinis and I was hoping he would get sick as a dog. But he didn't. I got sick.

This morning I phoned our doctor and asked if so much catsup could injure Louie's health. He said "I check your husband regularly. He is in good condition. Catsup won't hurt him. "What do I do now? — SEEING RED.

DEAR RED — Now accept the fact that Louie is hooked on catsup. Keep plenty on hand and make no mention of his excesses. When he grows up he won't resort to cheap parlor stunts in an effort to capture an audience.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — In a recent column you said, "People don't have to be invited to the home of the bereaved after the funeral — they just go."

I wish you hadn't printed that, Ann. In our town we have a couple of nutty women who show up at every funeral whether they know the family or not.

They are the first ones in the church, always getting as close to the family as possible so they can see how everybody is taking it. If there is a service at the cemetery they are right there — rain or shine — standing at the grave, gawking and rubber-necking. If a widow or mother faints, their day is complete. Then they crowd into the car of a relative because they know a free meal is in sight.

Speaking for myself, I hate funerals and dread it when I have to attend one. Will you tell me what makes people want to see others grieving? — P.L.R.

DEAR P.L.R. — Morbid curiosity — the same twisted emotion that makes some people rush to the scene of an accident. One in 50 wants to help — but most of the accident-chasers want only to look.

Of course you're sick but nothing can be done to keep such people away unless the funeral is declared private and a guard is posted at the door with the list of those who have been invited.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Our school is having a big dance. This is one dance I don't want to miss, no matter what I'm scared to death some creep will ask me and I'll be stuck. On the other hand, if I turn the creep down I may not get asked by anyone better. Then I'd end up staying home.

As you can see, I am in a terrible spot. Any advice? — UNCERTAIN.

DEAR UNCERTAIN — I've never bought the idea that any date is better than none. But why should a girl who is A-1, super-duper herself worry about getting snatched up by a creep? Why aren't the top guys beating her door down? Clue me. I'm baffled.

RECIPE FOR MYSTERY CAKE

On April 24th I sent out an S.O.S. by way of this column for a recipe for Mystery Cake which M. E. requested.

In your loyal and generous fashion you came to my rescue. Nearly 30 of you have written to date and this is amazing for the recipe was in a baking powder cookbook published in 1922! One reader even sent the cookbook — yellowed but legible.

Thanks to all of you darlings.

It took me all of one morning to make the cake but it is a dandy. I am giving you the recipe just as I made it, using 1965 terminology.

MYSTERY CAKE (courtesy dozens of readers for M.E.R.)

Batter 1½ cups butter-quality shortening, 1½ cups sugar, grated rind ½ orange, 2 egg yolks, 1 stiffly beaten egg white (second white is used in icing below), 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons single-acting baking powder, 1 cup milk, 1½ sq. (1½) cups unsweetened chocolate, melted.

Filling and Icing: 1 stiffly beaten egg white (leftover from batter), 3 tablespoons butter, barely melted, 3 cups icing sugar (not sifted), grated rind ½ orange, 2 tablespoons orange juice, pulp from 1 orange (see note below), 3 sq. unsweetened chocolate.

To Make The Batter: Cream the shortening, sugar, grated rind and egg yolks until pale and light. Sift together the sifted flour, salt and baking powder. Remove beater and fold flour mixture into creamed mixture alternately with the milk. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Have ready three 8½" layer cake pans — bottoms paper-lined and buttered. Spoon half of this batter into the 3 pans, making 3 mounds of batter in each. To the remaining batter add the melted chocolate, stirring to blend, and spoon it between the mounds of plain batter. Smooth top. (When baked this gives a marbled effect.) Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes or until cake test done when touched with fingertip at centre. Turn out on cake racks, peel off buttered paper and let cool.

To Make The Filling and Icing: Add the icing sugar, orange rind and juice to the melted butter. (Note: use 3 large oranges altogether. Grate rind from half, then cut orange in half and from one half squeeze 3 tablespoons juice. Loosen pulp from remaining half as you would prepare a grapefruit, minus any membranes, and add it to icing ingredients. With spoon scrape any juice cells left on squeezed half into icing bowl too.) Now beat until light. Fold in beaten egg white. Use about one-third of this to frost top of what will be top layer of cake, resting on cake rack. Put a sheet of wax paper under it and grate over this on 1/3rd shredder, ½ sq. unsweetened chocolate. Retrieve and sprinkle over top any grated chocolate that falls onto wax paper. Barely melt remaining 2½ squares chocolate and beat into remaining frosting. Put 1 cake layer on large fancy cake plate, spread with ½ remaining frosting; put on second layer and repeat. Cover with previously frosted top layer. Frost sides with remaining chocolate frosting: With damp clean dishcloth over your fingertip wipe up any untidy icing which drops on plate as you apply it.

This is a time and patience-consuming creative work of art. Do not be rushed or disturbed when you make it.

Thank you, M.R., for asking for it and to all the readers who helped us both.

College Guild Bases Program On Spring Theme

Mrs. Frank Davidson, the president, welcomed Albert College Guild to the May meeting, in the Manor.

In the business session the members were gratified to learn of the success of the annual dessert bridge. There was a record attendance. The June meeting was given special announcement. It will be a picnic at the country home of Mrs. C. W. Smith, where the members remember with pleasure, a former occasion.

The program was in harmony with the spring season, when thoughts turn to the Creator of beauty. Mrs. Winnifred Graham, the Dean of Women in Albert College, in Scripture passages and hymns outlined the foundations of faith.

Pamela Horn, a senior student in the College assisted Mrs. Graham in the musical part of the program. The audience participated in the singing led in the opening of the General Confession.

Mrs. Davidson thanked Mrs. Graham and Pamela.

During the social hour, arranged by Mrs. N. Grown and her committee, Mrs. H. B. Fetterly and Mrs. E. M. Hubbs presided at the tea table, with its beautiful centre of colorful spring blooms. At this time, the members were invited to inspect the attractive, improved Kitchenette, in which they shared the considerable expense involved.

Lady Bowlers List Officers

Officers elected at the 44th annual meeting of the Belleville Women's Bowling Association, held at the Belleville Bowl on Sunday for a two-year term are were:

Mrs. Dorothy Anderson was also elected as the delegate to the Ontario Provincial second annual meeting to be held in Hamilton, November 13, at which time she will present a bid for the 1966-67 third annual provincial 10-pin tournament to be held in Belleville.

Susanna's Family Farc

JOIN THE REGIMENT!

Dear Susanna: I'm certainly not the best housekeeper in the world, but since I be a m e a faithful reader of your column, I've come to realize there is a whole army of women out there just like me. That is, life around the house isn't always (if ever) quite the way it appears on the TV commercials.

Consequently, I love hearing how other women do or don't cope with gardner-variety household headaches, and I'm proud that I've progressed to the point where I too, can make a contribution:

Everyone knows that garden implements and tools — particularly hammers and screwdrivers — often get left outside when someone has been working. To make them easy to find at the end of the day, I wound a length of orange reflector tape around each handle. Then, all one of us needs to do is swish a flashlight all about the yard after dark and the lost object is easily picked out. — "Sergeant Major"

What a boon this will be, "Sarg." When we are off on furlough at the camping grounds or cottage! — SUSANNA

AS SOFT AS SUGAR!

Dear Susanna: Brown sugar that has gone rock hard and solid, can be made quite edible again. Place it in an air tight plastic bag (twist the top shut and fasten with an elastic band) put it in the refrigerator and forget about it for several weeks. It will emerge as fresh and soft as when you purchased it. — Elsie

KEY TO NEW PHYSICS CENTRE — Dr. J. R. Stirling, (right), chancellor of Queen's University, turns over to Dr. J. A. Corry, principal of Queen's, the golden key to the university's $3,500,000 physics teaching and research centre. The building was officially opened Friday. It is named for Dr. Stirling, whose association with the university began some 60 years ago. Centre is Col. R. D. Harkness of Montreal, chairman of Queen's board of trustees.

were U.S. B-57 twin-jet medium bomber Canberras, which cost $1,200,000 each; two were propeller - driven A Skyraider fighter - bombers, one was a U.S. Navy F-8 Crusader jet and two were single-engined South Vietnamese spotter planes.

A helicopter and 34 South Vietnamese Sky raiders were damaged.

Moore said the loss of the aircraft "will have a negligible effect on military operations in the near future." Replacements "will be in Viet Nam in a matter of hours," he said.

For the fifth consecutive day, there were no U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam. Instead, American planes launched a series of raids on Viet Cong targets inside South Viet Nam.

U.S. officials in Saigon again refused to say why the raids on North Viet Nam had been stopped. Reports have said Washington halted them.

The New York Times reported from Washington that the United States had temporarily suspended the air strikes as a sign of good faith to support President Johnson's offer to negotiate with the North Vietnamese.

Sky Divers Thrill Crowd At Flying Club Show

PICTON (Staff) — Excited crowds watched Sunday's parachute and flying displays at Prince Edward Flying Club's 'open house' show. People started to gather at Picton airport shortly after noon to inspect the club's new premises and facilities. All of the club's aircraft were on display and rides were featured. The club, now boasting a membership of 200, have five aircraft of their own while many other private planes are kept here and use the club's facilities.

Sky divers thrilled the crowd with jumps from 5,200 ft. The weather was fine and although there was a fair breeze blowing it did not deter the jumpers.

The Prince Edward Flying club is celebrating its 12th anniversary this year. The local open-house is in conjunction with the cross Canada "open-house" of all 36 Royal Canadian FlyingClubs over the weekend. One of the highlights of the show was a gyrocopter, made from a set of plans by Arnold Whaley and his 14-year-old son Randy, of R.R. 1 Trenton. The gyrocopter seats only one and is of open frame construction. It is propelled by a small motor located behind the pilot who sits in the open with not even a windshield in front of him. Turning blades over the copter hold the vehicle aloft. The copter can take off on its own power or can be towed into the air from behind a car. A top speed of 85 m.p.h. can be obtained with the aircraft. Only recently this type of machine has been legalized in Canada.

The aim of the "open-house" is to encourage the general public to come out to the airport and see the local flying club facilities for pilot training actually in operation. In this the Prince Edward Flying Club with the co-operation of Picton's Rotary Club succeeded in doing very well. The Rotary Club who received all the monies and airplane rides will donate the profits to their crippled children's fund.

Scouts, Cubs Hold Service In Theatre

PICTON (Staff) — All of Prince Edward County's Scout and Cub troops were represented Sunday in the annual Scouts Own Service held in the Regent Theatre. Following a long parade down Picton's main street from the cenotaph the troops filed into the theatre to attend an interdenominational religious service. It was an all uniform service with members of the Commission Staff conducting. Following the service Jack Rogers, president of the Prince Edward Scout Council spoke on the progress of Scouting in the county during the past year and said that Scouting generally in the county is progressing very well. He stated that there are some 780 people in Prince Edward now actively participating in the Scouting movement.

A surprise presentation was made by District Commissioner William (Bill) Gassira of Wellington when he presented one of the Scout leaders from 1st Picton Heights Troop, Douglas Rye, with the Wood Badge, one of Scouting highest awards. Gordon Leveryon of the 1st Picton Troop (United Church) received an honor as well when he was selected to attend Camp Winisk in Northern Ontario. Only two boys in the area, the other was from Colborne, were chosen for this camp. It is expected the boys will attend Winisk late in August for a period of two weeks.

Kente Chorus Well Received By Large Crowd

PICTON (Staff) — Picton's Kente Chorus may well be proud of the results of its first major production, the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Pirates of Penzance." The musical, directed by Peter Briggs and Allan Redmond, played to packed houses on both Friday and Saturday nights. The chorus, sung by F. L. LeReverend and Mrs. D. Taylor were well presented as was a superb performance by the Rev. D. Barns (as the Major General.)

Proceeds from the show will be given to the newly formed Prince Edward County Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Pope May Pay Poland Visit

WARSAW (Reuters) — Inquiries have begun here with Communist authorities to explore the possibility of Pope Paul visiting Poland next year as a pilgrim when his country celebrates its millenium.

If the visit took place it would be the first by a pope to a Communist state and would mark a milestone in relations between the Vatican and Communist regimes of eastern Europe, where millions of Roman Catholics live.

Confirming that feelers have been put out at a high level by the Church, a Catholic source today said inquiries were of such a private nature that no details could be expected for many months.

He said no formal request would be made until official reaction had been thoroughly tested.

RCAF Fighter Lost at Sea Off Scotland

PRESTWICK, Scotland (Reuters)—Hope faded today for the missing pilot of an RCAF jet fighter that crashed Sunday at sea off northwest Scotland.

The F-104 Starfighter was piloted by Flt. Lt. Ian McKnight. Wreckage of the plane was seen in the water off the northwest coast during a joint American-British search.

An RAF Shackleton aircraft searched for more than four hours today but found nothing. U.S. Air Force planes at Prestwick were standing by to rejoin the search if needed.

McKnight, married with two children, lived with his family near the Prestwick airport where he was based.

Standard equipment: a bank loan

It has become almost standard practice today for people to go to their bank to finance the purchase of cars and other family items. You, too, may have found it a good idea to borrow where you save — at your local bank. It is often simpler, because the bank already knows you as a savings customer. And it also may save you money because bank loans are low-cost loans. For borrowing and saving, and for any other bank service you may need, just visit your local chartered bank. It's the one place where you can get all your banking done, under one roof.

THE CHARTERED BANKS SERVING YOUR COMMUNITY

Through 5,650 branches, all across Canada, the chartered banks bring full-range banking within the reach of everyone.

CAN'T COMMUNICATE — This is a scene from I. Vor Pittfalks, a cartoon about an artist who is a failure because he can't communicate esthetically. But he is able to captivate the world with crudities. This scene shows him attacking the churches. Creator of I. Vor Pittfalks is Dick Williams, Toronto-born artist who makes TV and movie cartoons in London. (CP Photo)

Latest Williams Creation, Horrible I. Vor Pittfalks, Inspired by Madison Ave.

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP)—On the movie screen is a line drawing of a wretched rectangular little man who is mainly mouth. Out of that mouth spout black clouds of venom, tongues of fires and dark angels articulating doom.

The little rectangular man is a failure as an artist called I. Vor Pittfalks who, because he cannot communicate esthetically, has made a vocation out of vulgarity and succeeded in captivating the world with his crudities.

The creator of this monster, inspired more by Madison Avenue than by Hitler, is Dick Williams—a cheerfully talented Toronto-born artist who plays a cool fingerl-born for relaxation and swims 880 yards every morning to keep his head clear.

Williams makes his living out of a profitable little Soho studio that turns out top-quality cartoon films as television commercials. The studio was largely financed with the proceeds from one brilliant commercial Williams did four years ago for one of Britain's best-known beers.

EXPENSIVE PROCESS

His work has won first prizes at film festivals around the world and his admirers, who discuss a Williams cartoon as they would a Rembrandt sketch, say he has advanced a stage beyond Goya and Picasso by making art—serious art—move.

Williams, interviewed in his modernized mews apartment where he prefers to do his private work, explained that thanks mainly to Walt Disney the movie cartoon medium has long been highly developed technically. But it has remained under-developed in terms of art and ideas.

"I'm not a cartoonist. I'm arrogant enough to consider myself an artist and with animated film I can convey feelings and express ideas in a way that I cannot do in any other field."

The chief drawback to animated films as an individual artist's medium is the expense involved. It takes 1,440 separate pictures and hours of painstaking photography to produce one minute of fluid movement on the screen.

The first Williams film, an eight-minute fantasy called The Little Island, won acclaim at the Venice film festival in 1958. Williams conceived the film during a three-year sojourn on the Spanish island of Ibiza after to quit the Ontario College of Art without a degree.

BEGAN AS JOKE

It took him another three years and $25,000 to put the film together while he alternately starved and worked as a freelance for television advertising firms in London.

When he hit the financial jackpot with his beer commercial, Williams set up his own studio and now employs nine film animators. About the same time his second film, Love Me, Love Me, Love Me, was spotted by drama critic Kenneth Tynan and was eventually given a general release by Britain's biggest distributor.

Love Me, originally produced as a private joke and now almost an intellectual institution, tells the story of the impeccable Thermus Fortitude who is detested by everyone except his stuffed alligator Charlie.

Current Williams projects are less light-hearted. Besides the 30 minute saga of I. Vor Pittfalks, the Universal Confidence Man, due for release at the end of the year, he is working on an eight-minute film based on sketches he made while following a Spanish circus around for months.

His most ambitious venture is a 60-minute version of Gogol's Diary of a Madman. He believes the swirling visions in the madman's mind, originally realistic and becoming increasingly abstract, provide an ideal subject for film animation.

DOG FOOD PAYS OFF

The pitfall suggested by Pittfalks, the dangers of crude commercial exploitation in advertising, is a subject about which Williams feels strongly.

He started drawing for a dog food account at the age of 15 and paid his own way through the Ontario College of Art with his commercial earnings. Dog food seems to be one of his best lines. A TV commercial he did on the subject won a Venice film award in 1960.

"I regard most of my commercials as hack jobs, just bread - and - butter necessities. My real interest is in my private work."

Williams has resisted several lucrative offers to go back to Canada, he says, preferring to work in London where he feels more in touch with things.

"I've got dozens of ideas dancing round in my head. I'd like some time to do a documentary of a single universal concept, who first thought of it and how it affected men's lives through history.

"But the trouble with animated films as a medium of expression is that the idea comes in an instant and the projection of it takes years of work."

"I question whether these individuals realize the consequences of their acts," the governor said.

A Vietnamese professor at Duquesne University, Rev. Joseph Hoe, said he thought the teach-in caused many young professors and students to switch their opinions . . . to now favor the administration policy.

"For the first time," he said, "those who favor the administration's policy had a chance to speak out . . . and because of it students listened rather carefully and quite a bit of them changed their thinking."

Two professors who took issue and opposing sides in the teach-in continued their debate Sunday night on NBC's radio-television program, Meet the Press.

Hans J. Morgenthau of the University of Chicago again contended the United States should find a way to disengage from South Viet Nam. Zbigniw Brzezinski of Columbia University in New York argued the administration was taking the right course.

ron H. Tomlinson of Mt. Vernon, Ind., Sunday morning as Tomlinson was shopping in a delicatessen in a U.S. shopping centre near military headquarters in West Berlin. The Polish official had wanted political asylum.

Tomlinson got in touch with his superiors in the U.S. Berlin brigade and they turned the defector over to officials of the U.S. state department.

A U.S. spokesman said American officials accompanied Tykocinski at his request to his residence in the U.S. sector of West Berlin for a talk with his wife.

"Mrs. Tykocinski did not choose to go with him and his 17-month-old child remains with the mother," the spokesman said.

Tykocinski's friend who talked to reporters said he was sure family troubles had not been a factor in the defection.

"He loved his wife dearly," the friend said. "She had been in a Nazi concentration camp for years and they had a child very late in life."

NOT CURIOUSITY

The friend said Tykocinski was a man of "extremely liberal convictions who told him many times that he was a socialist but not a Communist."

The friend added that Tykocinski was "very sociable" and more interested in art than in politics.

"He had a collection of old Polish masters which, I am sure, was priceless," he said.

Tykocinski was well known among other diplomats. Described by some as a jolly man, he was nicknamed "the gypsy baron" after the Johann Strauss character.

INSURANCE FACTS.....

From the Belleville Fire & Casualty Insurance Agents Association

In 1963, 34,473 people were injured in Ontario in automobile accidents. In 1964, 38,806 people were injured. An increase of 4,333 people injured in Ontario alone!

Your premium is reduced by 35% if you are three year accident free; so it pays to drive safely.

The Ontario Safety League states that Saturday is the worst day to drive and Tuesday is the safest.

In the first six months of 1964, motorists collided with 26.7% more deer, cows, moose, dogs, skunks, horses and other animals than in 1963. It seems that animals are getting more careless all the time.

The Insurance Bureau of Canada has estimated, that when the final figures are completed, the Insurance Companies writing automobile and truck insurance will lose $20 million in 1964.

It is estimated that four drinks can cost you $512.00. The fine could be $200.00 for impaired driving, $150.00 for legal fees, $14.00 for police towing, $10.00 to file financial responsibility, $115.00 increase in auto insurance rates, $18.00 for getting the car fixed up after the suspension period is completed and $5.00 for a driver examination fee. Obviously it doesn't pay to drink and drive.

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP)—For the first time police and academic authorities are beginning to take a hard look at the drug addiction problem at Oxford, Cambridge and other British universities.

Until last week the official line was that drug taking was a rare and minor problem within the ancient ivy-clad walls of higher education.

Wednesday's inquest into the death of Joshua Macmillan, 20-year-old Oxford undergraduate and grandson of former prime minister Harold Macmillan, uncovered evidence that there has been a sharp increase of marijuana smoking at both Oxford and Cambridge.

Macmillan, who died of an overdose of drugs and drink, had been taking heroin and cocaine before confessing his addiction to his father, former Tory MP Maurice Macmillan. The young Macmillan went to Switzerland for a cure earlier this year.

Macmillan's best friend, undergraduate Andrew Mowatt, 21, told reporters after the inquest that the hard core of marijuana smokers at Oxford has grown to 30 from 10 in the last year or so.

SAYS 200 TAKE IT

Mowatt, who has also flirted with heroin, says there now are at least 200 undergraduates who take marijuana occasionally and "about four" students who are heroin or cocaine addicts.

Most of the drugs are bought by undergraduates in the clubs around London's Notting Hill Gate area and are sold to other members of the smoking group —usually for little or no profit. There are also professional "pushers" operating in Oxford and Cambridge pubs.

At Cambridge the university newspaper Varsity last week sent out a reporter to try to buy drugs and police said also there was no evidence of drug trafficking in the university city.

The reporter managed to buy 10 shillings worth of marijuana within minutes in a local pub.

Police in both Oxford and Cambridge have also agreed with the university proctors to keep a tighter watch on drug taking. Mere possession of marijuana will become a university as well as a criminal offence.

HARD TO PROSECUTE

Police say prosecution of undergraduate addicts is difficult because of the informality of the university and the fact most transactions are between friends.

Students who admit to smoking marijuana say the tension and pressures of academic work are the main reasons they seek relaxation and escape in marijuana.

They also cite some recent arguments by certain doctors and liberal-minded journalists in Britain that marijuana is essentially non-addictive, is less dangerous than alcohol and should be sold under licences to whoever wants it.

Robert Pitman, writing in the Sunday Express, says this "appalling and irresponsible advice" and "the glib, smiling, permissive attitude of these thinkers" is the real menace behind the Oxford tragedy.

36 Fatalities Across Canada Over Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The accidental death toll climbed to at least 36 across Canada during the weekend.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday local times included 25 road deaths, 10 drownings and one hunting fatality.

A province-by-province count showed Ontario and Quebec with nine and eight traffic deaths respectively and four drownings each. Ontario also reported the lone hunting fatality.

New Brunswick, Manitoba and Saskatchewan each reported one traffic death, British Columbia had two and Alberta three.

There were also two drownings in Alberta.

Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia were fatality free.

Diefenbaker Honored Guest At Dinner

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker says the time has come for Canadians to restore integrity and honesty in public life.

At a testimonial dinner Saturday marking his 25 years as a member of Parliament, Mr. Diefenbaker charged the Liberal government with incompetence and lack of integrity.

He said Prime Minister Pearson suffers from "selective amnesia, a most unusual affliction, which permits him to know nothing of allegations of dishonesty within the government and later to recall he had been informed of the instances, after all."

In a reference to the Liberal-proposed amendment to the British North America Act — in effect, Canada's constitution — which would give the provinces veto power, Mr. Diefenbaker warned French-Canadians they are being "sold a dish of political crow," which will prevent a constitution ever being changed because of the veto power.

Prime Minister Pearson also was in Sudbury Saturday and provincial police were kept busy sorting out arrival times and providing car escorts for the two leaders. They did not meet.

Pearson Asking Supporters In House to State Views About Election This Year

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson is reliably reported to have asked his 129 supporters in the Commons to write him with their views on whether a federal election should be held this year.

The fact that there is less enthusiasm for a 1965 election among the Liberal backbench members than among Mr. Pearson's cabinet colleagues may explain a tapering off of talk of the government calling an early election.

The significance of Mr. Pearson's step about 10 days ago is in the fact that it indicates the prime minister has come a long way from his views on an election of a year ago.

At that time, Mr. Pearson is reported to have considered it out of the question to call an election even when urged by many of his supporters to do so over the flag issue.

His request for the members' views now appears to indicate that Mr. Pearson is prepared to contemplate calling an election without his government being defeated in the Commons by numerically - stronger opposition parties.

WILL BE FACTOR

Whether he decides to call one will depend on a lot more than the views of his supporters. But they will be a factor and, if the degree of opposition to such a step has been accurately gauged, will cause him to move slowly.

Mr. Pearson revealed a lingering hope that the Opposition might provide him with a Commons defeat as the road to an election in a recent speech in Montreal.

Noting that his minority government faces a series of votes in the Commons, on which a defeat would mean an election, Mr. Pearson told his Montreal Liberal audience that one day the opposition parties may miscalculate and defeat the government by accident.

Then he added, "or we may calculate," implying that the government might court a Commons defeat and thus escape whatever stigma is attached to calling voluntarily the third election in four years.

However, the performance of the opposition parties indicates they will take great care not to provide the government with this easy road to the polls.

In asking for his members' opinions on a 1965 election, Mr. Pearson may also have had another purpose. On the assumption that most of the opposition members don't want an election and knowing that word of his request to Liberal MPs would filter out, Mr. Pearson may have been counting on election worries to make the opposition more amenable to passing the government's legislative proposals.

Three Drown When Canoe Is Capsized

TIMMINS (CP)—Three young men were drowned Saturday when the wash from their own motorized canoe swamped the vessel as they were fishing. A fourth man swam a mile in the frigid waters to safety and later joined the search for his companions' bodies.

Dead are Stanley Thompson, 23, a provincial police constable, Robert McCullough, 26, and Robert Haley, 24, all of Matheson, 42 miles east of here. Their bodies were not immediately recovered.

Allan Clark, 23, also of Matheson, told police he managed to kick off his boots before setting out for shore in heavy oilskins. He left one man clinging to the canoe and the others clutching their floating sleeping bags.

Police said the men were fishing in Lake Abitibi when the accident occurred.

Mr. Clark said he swam in the direction from which their vessel had come. When he reached shore, he had to walk back along the bank of the Ghost River for 20 miles to the main highway and then there to Matheson. He arrived early Sunday, about 10 hours after the accident.

Clark was taken first to his home for treatment. Later, he joined a group of 21 volunteer searchers who set out in seven motorized canoes from a point 30 miles from the accident site.

The search was carried out in steady rain which had been pounding the Timmins area since Friday.

Blame Firecrackers, Tossed By Children, for House Fires

Fire, blamed on firecrackers tossed by children, Saturday threatened three homes on the corner of St. Paul and Pinnacle Streets.

Damaged were homes owned by G. A. Newton, 73 Pinnacle Street, G. J. Johnston, 15 St. Paul Street and Joseph O'Connor, 18 St. Paul.

Flames at the rear of the three frame homes were discovered by Fire Chief Ernest Parrish and Capt. Ralph Ellis when they arrived at the scene of a fire in a shed between the Johnston and O'Connor homes and rapidly spread to the three close-built houses.

Damage in all three cases was described as "fairly heavy" before firemen managed to control the outbreak — and prevent it from spreading through an area where frame homes predominate.

The fight was given a touch of irony when Mrs. Clifford Rushlow, living directly across the street at 18 St. Paul, suddenly noticed her front door frame smouldering — for no good reason.

She hurriedly unreeled a garden hose and was still fighting her own fire when a firefighter noticed her predicament, uncoiled a line from a pumper and doused the smoking woodwork.

TOLL RISES

RAWALPINDI (AP)— The Pakistan Press Association said today that 5,432 deaths now are officially confirmed, in the cyclone which struck eight districts of East Pakistan for nine hours last Tuesday and Wednesday. About 3,000,000 to 7,000,000 persons lack shelter, their bamboo and tin sheet houses blown down by the storm.

Aside to harness racing aficionados:

You've got from now to May 29th to pick out whatever shirtit you can spare to place on the noodle of your favorite nag.

That's the date the Quinte Driving and Riding Club has set for the grand opening of the 1965 trotpace season.

Originally the starting date of the sixteen events season was scheduled earlier but face-lifting activities on the track forced the layover.

The track, when the season's sportdrives are completed won't exactly be a "thing of beauty and a joy forever" but it will show a big improvement over the circuit of a year ago.

Driving Club president Gerald Vance who is spending as much "retirement" time on his harness-racing chore as he did when he was in harness himself in the fire department, is not letting anything grow under his feet, so to speak.

"We believe that interest in harness-racing in this district is on the upsurge and we expect the largest crowds in the club history to patronize the meets this year," he told me.

While almost every race has its thrilling moments, the biggest thrill for the two-dollar boys and gals in the stand comes when a closely-packed field rounds the bend into the home stretch. Men have been known to drop dead from the "click" of seeing their favorites surge into the lead and win by a butterfly's length.

There will be no more "squeezing" 'or bunching at the west end of the track. The "hot corner" leading into the stretch has been cut off permitting five horses to race abreast to the wire. This alone could mean the difference between "win or place."

President Vance says that 250 tons of rock dust is being utilized to improve various parts of the track. A new hub rail has been installed.

To offset the possibility of skullduggery, the urine test will be in affect this year. This, I understand, is a "must." The photo finish equipment will be back as will the augmented pari-mutuels.

District tracks management, I'm told, are cooperating with one another as regards dates of meets. With Belleville set Saturday night the Kingston harness-racing organization will hold their weekly get-togethers on Wednesdays. This arrangement is said to be highly satisfactory to drivers of the district.

All the necessary charters have been obtained says President Vance and with weather permitting the track should be in good racing shape come opening night.

As was noted and as reports from other parts of the district indicate there is a marked upsurgeupon in interest in the harness racing sport. Quinte Driving Club directors reported good success last year and hope for even better this season. They are devoting all efforts to laying the groundwork for a record year in 1965.

The inauguration of the Black Diamond Stake Race at the fair here last year proved a barometer of interest. It was run during a special card at the fair and the fan stamp of approval moved fair directors to include an entire evening of harness racing during this year's four-day operation.

And with 32 entries submitted at last reports, it appears the Black Diamond Stake events should again prove popular with the racing public.

With some $1,500 purse money besides the horse for other included events, "Harness Racing Night" at the fair should prove a big attraction for drivers and public alike.

Top harness horsefleck of the district is expected to be on hand for the four-race eight-heats card. The Stake Race will see the cream of the district's colts, geldings and fillies which had not won $200 up to December 1st last, vie for the handsome trophy and the loot that goes with it.

Crack "senior citizen" equines will be seen in action in the other events that will rate among top attractions of the racing season.

Moira SS Girls Win Title

Fifteen schools competed in the meet that saw eleven records go by the board.

Athletes finishing in the first four positions in each event will compete in the COSSA Girls' Track and Field Meet at Peterborough next Saturday.

Bloomfield Whips Juniors

Bloomfield wound up a successful pre-season exhibition stint in Picton Saturday night by bombing Belleville Ella Juniors 12-7 in a free-hitting affair.

Both clubs are entries in the Belleville and District Softball League which opens its schedule tonight.

The winners, who earlier beat Trenton Commercial Printers twice in exhibitions, jumped into a 5-0 lead in the first inning and led 9-4 mid-way through the game.

Both teams clouted the ball consistently.

These two clubs meet in a scheduled play at the Belleville Fairgrounds tomorrow (Tuesday), at eight o'clock.

First Organization ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Will Meet Owners

Gary Schreider Heads Gridders' Body

TORONTO (CP) — Initial reactions of Canadian Football League owners have done nothing to disturb the low - keyed atmosphere of the new - born Canadian Football Players Association.

The infant organization was formally launched at a weekend meeting of representatives of all nine CFL clubs. Its stated purpose is to "better the relations between players, coaches, managers and owners, to afford player group benefits and, predicated on a realistic appraisal of what conditions are necessary, to maintain the CFL at the highest level."

GARY SCHREIDER

The owners' welcome was restrained. Several questioned the necessity of a players' organization but expressed their willingness to listen to its proposals.

Gary Schreider, a nine-year veteran with Ottawa Rough Riders and president of the new group, emerged from two days of closed sessions to announce that his executive hopes to talk to the owners at a CFL meeting in Winnipeg next month.

League commissioner Sydney Halter said in Winnipeg Sunday night he had no comment. In an earlier statement, he said the CFL executive would accept representations from the players but that they would not be granted the automatic right to attend its deliberations.

MAJORITY INTERESTED

Schreider, a 31-year-old defensive half and linebacker who has a law degree, said 254 of 297 listed CFL players had replied to the group's organization letter and only two had said they were not interested.

"We'll try to be as business-like as we possibly can," he added. "We don't intend to bulldose anybody."

Schreider's vice-president is Norm Rauhaus, 29-year-old defensive half with Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Both are native Canadians. Secretary - treasurer Dick Shatto, Toronto Argonauts' 32-year-old All-Star halfback, is a naturalized Canadian from Springfield, Ohio.

Others present at the meeting were the backer Norm Fieldgate, 32, of British Columbia Lions; tackle Don Luzzi, 29, of Calgary Stampeders; end Tommy-Joe Coffey, 27, of Edmonton Eskimos; tackle Reg Whitehouse, 31, of Saskatchewan Roughriders; quarterback Frank Cosentino, 27, Hamilton Tiger - Cats, and defensive halves Clare Exelby, 26, and Ralph Goldston, 35, Montreal Alouettes.

All except Luzzi, Coffey and Goldston attended. Norm Goldston, a naturalized Canadian, was traded by Hamilton to Montreal earlier this year but has not yet signed with his new club.

Also attending the meeting was John Agro, a Hamilton lawyer who is the association's legal adviser.

In its statement after the weekend meeting the association listed its aims as recognition by the CFL, a pension scheme and other benefits.

Schreider declined to elaborate on the "other benefits" until they have been proposed to the owners.

Several club officials said formation of the new organization was unnecessary.

Rogers Leharv, general manager of the Stampeders, said in Calgary he is always ready to listen to proposals from players and "they didn't need an association to get this privilege."

Hugh McColl, president of Edmonton Eskimos, said his club has had no serious disagreements with its players and President Ted Workman of Montreal Alouettes said he has no objection to the association but does not understand why it is necessary.

Turcotte 'Closed The Gate'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ron Turcotte, the little jockey from Grand Falls, N.B., who guided Tom Rolfe to victory in the Preakness Saturday, said he deliberately "closed the gate" on Dapper Dan as he drove down the Pimlico home stretch.

Ismael Valenzuela, on Dapper Dan, contended Tom Rolfe made his colt hesitate several strides near the sixteenth pole and lodged a foul claim, which was disallowed.

"I didn't think I fouled him," Turcotte said. "It is a natural thing to do when you get in front. I got closer to the rail so the horse behind will have to go around. That's worth another length."

When Dapper Dan challenged along the inside, Turcotte moved his mount to the left, but provided enough room for Dapper Dan along the rail.

HORSE 'HESITATED'

"When he came over, my horse kind of hesitated," Valenzuela said.

"There was no contact, but I think I would have gotten him at the wire. My horse hesitated at the wire. My horse sort of checked himself then came on again."

Turcotte, riding in his first Preakness, acknowledged he might have claimed foul also if the situation had been reversed.

Turcotte, 23, said he felt Dapper Dan was the horse to beat in the Preakness because of his big finish in the Kentucky Derby when he also lost by a neck—to Lucky Debonair.

'Lucky Debonair' Seventh

'Tom Rolfe' Wins Rich Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Injury, which have plagued thoroughbred racing's three-year-old division all year, struck again in the Preakness as Tom Rolfe won the $130,000 race Saturday with a neck decision over Dapper Dan.

Lucky Debonair, a fading servant in the 1 3-16 mile race after winning the Kentucky Derby, and Native Charger, fourth in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, went on the hospital list for indefinite periods with leg injuries.

Even Tom Rolfe didn't escape unscratched as jockey Ron Turcotte of Grand Falls, N.B., survived a claim of foul while throwing back Dapper Dan's bid in the stretch between two sons of the unbeaten Italian sire—Ribot.

Tom Rolfe, owned by Raymond Guest, the U.S. ambassador to Ireland, threw his left front shoe and returned to the winner's circle with his front heels run down and some hair brushed off the ankle.

Trainer Frank Whiteley said Sunday there was not much soreness in the heel. He will point Tom Rolfe for the 1½-mile Belmont Stakes June 5, in which he will again hook up with the stretch-running Dapper Dan from Ogden Phipps' stable.

Lucky Debonair, never far from the back than fourth as Flag Raiser led the field of nine through a swift six furlongs and a 1:37 mile, suffered bucked shins in his two front legs.

Trainer Frank Catrone said Lucky Debonair will be out of action for at least two months. He added: "I am not worried. The horse needs the rest after starting 10 times and winning $357,200 this year."

Native Charger, winner of the Flamingo and Florida Derby for 3 - year - old Admiral Warner, bowed a tendon in his right forelegg.

After Dapper Dan's stretch runs just missed in both the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, there are those who believe the longer distance of the Belmont will be down his alley.

The Preakness, Milo Valenzuela brought him charging along the inside and then claimed that Turcotte, astride Tom Rolfe, caused him to check while the winner was moving closer to the rail. The 23-year-old Canadian jockey admitted he swung into the rail with intention of closing the gate on Dapper Dan.

"My horse went in a little more than I planned," said Turcotte after the race. "But I didn't bump him." The stewards agreed after looking at the pictures for some 15 minutes.

Mays Giants' Sparkplug
Helps Win Pair

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Give Willie Mays five feet, and he'll take 90.

Mays, on another of his early season streaks, scooted home on a not-too-wild pitch with the winning run in San Francisco Giants' 4-3 victory over Houston Astros in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday.

Mays also figured in the opener, cracking his 13th home run as the Giants won 10-5.

The 34-year-old whiz reached first base in the sixth inning of the nightcap when first baseman Jim Beauchamp dropped Joe Morgan's throw. He stole second, then moved to third on a ground out.

With Thom Haller at bat, Houston's Jim Owens uncorked a pitch that wound up five feet in front of the plate. Mays, spotting the ball 85 feet, won his race home—and the game.

That dashing play climaxed a prolific day for Mays, who rapped five hits in seven at-bats, sco.ed four runs and drove in two.

HAS A .466 AVERAGE

At this time in 1964, Mays was hitting .422 but was on his way down. He eventually landed at .296, marking only the second time in 11 full seasons that he dipped below .300.

In other National League games, Milwaukee Braves trimmed Philadelphia Phillies 8-6 in 10 innings, New York Mets swept Cincinnati Reds 6-3 and 8-5, St. Louis Cardinals rolled over Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3 and 5-1 and Los Angeles Dodgers edged Chicago Cubs 3-2 after losing 5-3 in 10 innings.

In Saturday's games, the Dodgers downed Chicago 3-1, the Reds outslugged the Mets 12-7, the Giants clobbered Houston 8-2, the Cardinals whipped Pittsburgh 5-1 and the Phillies stopped Milwaukee 6-4.

Mays doubled in one run and scored another in the fourth inning of Sunday's second game.

Juan Marichal brought his record to 6-3 in the opener behind bolstered by Willie McCovey, Mays, Jim Hart and Haller. Houston's Dave Giusti was battered for seven singles in 1 1-3 innings as he lost his first game after winning six.

WINS HELPS BRAVES

Milwaukee rallied for three runs in the 10th inning, the first two on Gene Oliver's bases-loaded double, for its triumph over the Phillies. Bobby Wine helped the Braves by throwing high on Ed Mathews' leadoff grounder. It was Philadelphia's 22nd error in 29 games.

The Mets moved 414 games away from last-place Pittsburgh by defeating the Reds twice. Jack Fisher won the third straight game in the opener behind home runs by Johnny Lewis, Charlie Smith and Roy McMillan.

Smith and Ron Swoboda connected in the second game, helping Warren Spahn even his record at 3-3 and hand Sammy Ellis his first defeat in six decisions.

Bob Gibson of the Cardinals became the winningest pitcher in the majors, scattering 10 hits for his seventh victory against no defeats. Gibson also homered in the ninth inning of the first game.

Billy Williams snapped a 1-1 tie with a run-scoring single in the 10th inning, and the Cubs scored three more times, offsetting Wes Parker's two-run double in the Dodgers' half of the inning.

Parker won the nightcap for Los Angeles, driving in pitcher Don Drysdale with a ninth-inning single.

Seven Teams Ready In Wings

B. D. Softball Curtain Rings Up Tonight

By GARRY ALEXANDER
(Staff Sportswriter)

Seven teams, the most entries in a number of years, are set for battle as the Belleville and District Softball League swings into official action this week.

The first scheduled game will be played at Madoc tonight with Trenton Lansdowne entertaining the Trenton Commercial Printers.

On Tuesday, Belleville Ellis Juniors play host to Bloomfield and Belleville Trudeau Motors visit Stirling.

Wednesday action has Madoc clashing with Bloomfield, in Picton, and Stirling doing battle with the Commercial Printers, in Trenton.

Trudeau Motors has a home opener, against Tweed, here Thursday night while Madoc's first home plate on the same evening will be against Ellis Juniors.

Madoc Juniors are defending champs and appear to have much the same club as last year. Main changes are in the executive spots, with Paul Russell as manager and Harold Reid as coach.

Reid ran over his expected lineup Saturday, listing Bob Ethier and Bob Boyle as his starting pitchers. He hopes to add another name to the list. Bob Moon will be back to do the receiving again.

In the infield, Stu Muirhead will be at first base, Wayne Woods at second, Mike Chatterton at third and either Don Gardiner or Pat Glancey at shortstop.

Outfielders to see action will include newcomers Bob Smith, Jury, Dwight Rathwell and Jim Rutherford, plus returnees Larry Soule and Carl Boenbower. Both Ethier and Boyle, who are several letter sports-ers, can play more than one-position.

The Belleville senior squad, Trudeau Motors, will be coached by John "Shaker" Baker. Right now the team is attempting to line up a manager to fill in for Ron Fralick, expected to be out of the picture for some time with a broken ankle.

The Trudeau lineup has many changes from last year although back on the pitching rubber will be veteran lefty Bob Green, as well as former Tweed Ted Larmon and possibly Doug Ellis.

Larry Mavety will start behind the plate while Gary Duggan and Pete Weston are expected to split first. First-base duties.

Bobby Wannamaker is the second baseman with newcomer Tom Meeker, a brother of the former NHL star, Howie Meeker, at third base. Ralph Plane is back in the shortstop spot.

A solid outfield has Paul Zakos, Rick Locke, Everett "Pug" Kellar and Bert Faulkner slated for action.

Up Trenton way, the veterans have been strengthened by several highly-rated youngsters such as Bob McAloine, Jim Shoniker and Terry Hutchison.

The old master moundsman, Pat Marachi, is back in full stride and other well - known names include Roger Drake, Donnie Cole, Gordie Simmons, Lem Mowatt and Al Beaugrand. Other new faces belong to Chambers and Jim Whyte.

Bloomfield's lineup appears strong, including Carl Stacey, Keith MacDonald, Leo St. Denis, Ron Weese, Keith Stacey, Gene Yorke, Ken DeMille, Doug McBride, Bob Hefferman, Dave Lockwood, Frank Forester, Eldon Carson, Jim Gourmey and Warren Ostrander.

Bloomfield captured the OASA intermediate "B" title last fall and are looking for a repeat. Bob and Dennis Hull may also be out with this club.

Tweed Lombanks have lost star pitcher Blaine Healey, to Oshawa, but Wig Eldon Gray is expected to be a three-way mainstay with the club, aided by Paul Mercer, Gore, the LeSage brothers, Richard Morton and Don Cotton. Gray is the loop's defending batting champ and a pitcher to boot.

Overall strength of the Stirling club is unknown here but Bobby Hunter and Wayne Shaw both veterans of a few years back in B. and D. play, are said to give the club an impressive pitching staff.

The Madoc club, according to bossman Charlie Hamilton will consist mainly of district youngsters with a sprinkling of veterans, and at the moment is the question mark of the league.

Suitable opening ceremonies are planned in most centres and fans are reminded once again that all games this year will be "under the lights".

Leafs Take Three From Syracuse

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Age and experience may yet prove to be what the young Toronto Maple Leafs need to steady them down.

Roman Mejias, 34 - year - old Cuban playing coach with the Leafs of the International League, collected a basses-loaded triple and a single to lead the Leafs to a 6-5 win Sunday and a sweep of the three-game series with Syracuse Chiefs.

In Saturday's 4-1 win over the Chiefs, Mejias, who had not played this season until last Wednesday, collected two doubles and another run batted in.

And the exuberant Leafs, usually prone to errors, have committed just one miscue since Mejias was placed on the active roster.

SPLIT DOUBLE

In other Sunday action around the league, Jacksonville Suns split a doubleheader with the league - leading Atlanta Crackers, winning the opener 9-2 and dropping the nightcap 9-2, Rochester Red Wings won the nightcap 4-3 in their doubleheader with Buffalo Bisons after dropping the first game 11-7 and Columbus Jets defeated Toledo Mud Hens 5-3 in a game called in the seventh inning because of rain.

Saturday, the Leafs whipped Syracuse 4-1, Rochester downed the Bisons 8-5, Toledo won over Columbus 4-2 and Atlanta edged Jacksonville 3-2.

GREY COLTS TOPS

CURRAGH, Ireland (Reuters) The only three grey colts in the 21-horse field took the first three places in the Irish 2,000 Guineas Classic here Sunday. Green Banner sprang a 100-to-7 surprise by beating Dandini, piloted by England's champion jockey Lester Piggott, by 2½ lengths. Two lengths behind Dandini in third place came Sovereign Edition, who proved himself the best of the four English-trained runners.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore Willie Mays, Giants, lifted his batting average to .408 with his 13th homer, a double and three singles, reaching base seven times in eight appearances as San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Houston 10-5 and 4-3.

Pitching — Earl Wilson, Red Sox, checked Detroit on four hits in Red Sox' 5-0 first game victory.

Kelly Denies Trade

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Leonard (Red) Kelly, forward with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, says rumors that he will be traded to Chicago Black Hawks next season are "just innuendos and insinuations."

"But they had better not be true because I don't think I would go to Chicago," Kelly said in an interview.

Kelly, here to attend the annual Liberal ball Friday night, scored campaign for Phil children's wards of city hospitals Saturday. He is Liberal member of Parliament for York West.

RUNS FAST MILE

WICHITA (AP)—Jim Ryun, 18, a senior at Wichita East high school, ran the mile Saturday in 3:58.3, a high school record, in the Kansas State High School track meet. The old national high school record of 4:06 was set last year by Garry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash.

OSD Wins 'B' Honors

Trenton, 'A' Track Champs

TRENTON (Special) — Four-teen new records were set here Saturday as the host Trenton High School team captured the "A" division honors of the annual Bay of Quinte COSSA Track and Field meet.

While the Trenton squad piled up 148 points for the "A" crown, Ontario School for the Deaf, of Belleville, won "B" honors in the combined meet, with a 56-point total.

There were 14 district schools competing in the day-long meet, convened by Charlie Lynch of CampbellFord.

In the record department, seven of the 14 total were set in the juvenile division, four in senior, two in junior and one in intermediate.

Dale Carl of Trenton, was the juvenile individual champion, chalking up new records while winning his three events.

Carl's best marks came in the hop, step and jump, with 37' 5½", in the 880, with the time of two minutes and 10 seconds and in the 440, with a time of 58.9 seconds.

The other four juvenile records were shared by as many athletes.

Cass of BCHS, set a new broad jump record of 18' 8½", Spencer of Tweed, a new 100-yard mark of 12.5 seconds, Dempsey of Picton a 220 record of 27 secs., even, and Mathie of Picton pole vaulted 8' 8"., tied 8' 8".

Hazel, of the championship OSD girls' captured the junior title, with one first and two seconds. He won the discus with a record toss of 127' 8½" and came second in the hop, step and jump and second in the broad jump.

Curzon, of Belleville's Moira Secondary School had the other junior record, in the 120 yard hurdler. His time was 16.4 seconds.

The intermediate crown was shared by Johnny Hayman, of Moira S. S., and David Cole, of Trenton H. S., each with two firsts and a second.

Hayman had the only division record, in the mile event. His time was 4:32.4 and he also won the two-mile race while coming second in the 880.

Cole shared the title by winning the 220 and 440 and placing second in the broad jump.

Vic Witrisk swept his three events, setting a record in one of them, to win the senior championship.

He bested his own former hop, step and jump mark to set a new record of 40' 2½" and also won the broad jump and the 100 yard dash.

Clyde Journals, of O.S.D. established new records in the mile and in the 880. He ran the mile in 4:26.6 and the 880 in 2:06.8.

Bloom, of Norwood District High School, had the other senior record, hitting 11' 8½" in the pole vault.

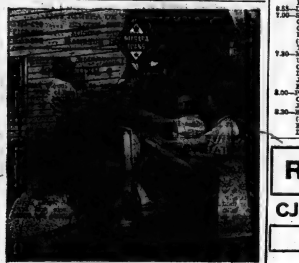
Charming Children's Story Attraction for Many Adults

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's Children's Theatre Sunday night was a delightfully sneaky program.

Ed Begley read a gentle and charming children's story, Kristie, about two youngsters who loved a horse. It was accompanied by springtime illustrations about the kind of country childhood every adult surely wishes he had.



What must have been an hour designed especially for the youngest members of the family, suddenly claimed the attention of all age groups. As the story unfolded about the two children and their horse, the older members of the audience were attracted by the warmth of family life, the affection of the children for the animal and the idealized pastoral background of green meadows, red barns and sparkling streams.

Another weekend treat was the dancing of Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev of the Royal Ballet on Ed Sullivan's CBS hour Sunday night. This was a fascinating interlude in black and white when one's enjoyment was heightened by the lack of color.

NBC's news special, The Man Who Walked in Space, Friday night consisted of six minutes of beautiful and almost unbelievable color film made in space but surrounded by an excessively long and dull interview with the Russian cosmonauts. It would have been a much more interesting program if it had been cut to a half hour.

90-Foot Chip Wins For Mayer

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Dick Mayer, who dropped out of sight just months after he became king of golf in 1957, will tell you that it's sometimes a little heartbreaking for a former champion to attempt a comeback.

But the 42-year-old Mayer struck a blow for old age and sentiment Sunday when he chipped in from at least 90 feet out on the 18th hole to win the $100,000 New Orleans Open He shot a 68 in the final round for a 272 total and $20,000.

"That may just score some of those kids," Mayer said. "That was a great break for a real old man."

Bruce Devlin and Billy Martindale finished in a tie for second with 274 and pocketed $9,400 each. Both finished with 70s.

Mayer was at his prime in 1957. He won the U.S. Open and the $100,000 World Championship of Golf, was named Golfer of the Year and led money-winners with $65,835.

Then, beset by personal problems, Mayer made the short trip to oblivion. By 1960 his name was forgotten.

Eve Arden Making Film Return, 5-year Absence

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Money isn't everything," says Eve Arden with such conviction that you find yourself wanting to believe her.

The lanky, wry-voiced comedienne was explaining how she happened to turn her back on a thriving career to live with her family in Europe for two years.

The film has afforded her a sentimental reunion with Gale Gordon, her principal in Our Miss Brooks. It seems incredible that it has been eight years since the television series ended —maybe the continual reruns make it seem more recent.

Eve looks her same handsome self, and she admitted that she never felt better. The two-year leave of absence had a lot to do with that. How did it come about?

ALWAYS TALKED ABOUT IT

"Well, we always talked about how nice it would be to show the children Europe," she explained. "So one day we just decided to do it."

She and her husband, Brooks West, packed up the four children, closed the ranch and flew to Rome. They stayed in a hotel until they decided it was too noisy, then rented a villa outside the city.

"It sat upon a hill, with nothing nearby but a farmhouse in each direction," she recalled. "We had a tutor for the children and every day or so we would take expeditions to the Vatican and other points of interest. It was a marvellous education for the kids, and for Brooks and me, too."

After six months at the villa, the family set up residence in London for a year. The elder daughter, Liza, went to school in Switzerland, while Connie attended a dramatic academy in London. The younger boys, Dean and Douglas, were enrolled at a school within walking distance from home.

The family took a tour of the continent before coming home. Now all of them are willing to return to Europe at any time.

At 10-year NHL veteran, Pilote established a league record for points by a defenceman this season. He had 38.

The voting, conducted among sports writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities, is based on a system of five points for first place, three for second and one for third.

Voting is split into halves, the first half for games won and lost including Jan. 3 and the second half for games in the last half of the season.

Pilote gets $1,000 for winning the trophy plus $250 for leading the vote in the second half. Laperriere gets $500 as runner-up the $250 for leading the first-half poll.

Following is a complete list of players who received points in the voting. Numbers in brackets are the points received in the first half, second half and combined total:

Pierre Pilote, Chicago (33-21—93); Jacques Laperriere, Montreal (35-23—78); Bill Gadsby, Detroit (18-22—40); Tim Horton, Toronto (15-12—27); Marcel Pronovost, Detroit (0 - 20—20); Carl Brewer, Toronto (14-5—19); Doug Barkley, Detroit (9-6—); Bob Baun, Toronto (15-3—18); Harry Howell, New York (9-4—13); Doug Harvey, Montreal (6-1—); Elmer Vasko, Chicago (1-0—1); J. Pilote Norris Winner

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Pilote of Chicago Black Hawks is the 1964-65 winner of the James Norris Memorial trophy as the National Hockey League's best defenceman, it was announced today.

The 33-year-old Hawk captain polled 93 points, 15 points more than runner-up Jacques Laperriere of Montreal Canadiens. Third in the over-all result was veteran Bill Gadsby of Detroit Red Wings with 40 points.

Pilote is a three-time winner of the award, presented to "the defence player who demonstrates throughout the season the greatest all-round ability in that position."

The Trots

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP)—Good Flyer, owned by the Armstrong Stables of Brampton, won the $2,500 invitational mile pace at Buffalo Raceway Saturday night by three lengths edging out favored Mighty Arian.

The five-year-old son of Good Time-Flying Dream handled by Hal McKinley, moved out of the pack with a quarter remaining to cover the distance in 2:03.2 before 9,283 fans.

Good Flyer paid 11.80, 4.20 and 3.00, Mighty Arian 2.70 and 2.30, Moon Glitter 2.20.

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Angelic Wick, guided by Dr. John Findley, won the $6,000 Million Stakes pace at Mohawk Raceway Saturday by pacing the one-mile test for aged mares in 2:09 3-5.

The fleet daughter of Gene Abbe, was bought as a yearling by George Boyce of Ottawa for $3,500 and banked $12,800 last season. She paid 11:40, 5.00 and 3.20.

Finley wheeled Angelic Wick out from the rail at the head of the stretch and went on to win 1¼ lengths ahead of Fleetwood E. Grattan who paid 5.90 and 3.10.

Highland Girl placed third and paid 2.40.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Health Minister Yacoub Sharraf of Lebanon has urged the government to ban cigarette advertising on television, citing the recent decision of the British government to eliminate such ads on TV. He said rising tobacco sales menace public health.

Bosox, Senators Win Twins

Chisox Sweep Three Wins From Angels

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Haywood Sullivan can win a few more games, he might find himself riding around in a green and gold air-conditioned trailer with piped-in music for his listening pleasure.

The new manager of Kansas City Athletics took a giant step toward ousting Charley Finley's mule's trailer as well as the animal's place in Charley Finley's heart by halting a seven-game losing streak Sunday with a doubleheader sweep over Minnesota Twins 7-4 in 10 innings and 4-2.

Sullivan, a former catcher with Boston Red Sox and Kansas City who had been managing Vancouver Mounties in the Pacific Coast League, got the call from owner Finley during the weekend and replaced Mel McGaha. He became Finley's fifth manager in five years and the youngest in the majors at 34.

He immediately found a willing ally in Rene Lachemann, a former Dodger bat boy. Lachemann was sent up as a pinch hitter in the opener and produced the tying run with a ninth-inning single, then was inserted into the lineup in the nightcap and responded with two singles and a homer.

SOX, TIGERS WIN TWO

Meanwhile, the American League-leading Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels 6-4 and 5-4, Boston downed Detroit Tigers 5-0 and 4-3, Washington Senators edged Cleveland 8-7 in 11 innings before the Indians won 7-3 and Baltimore Orioles defeated New York Yankees 7-6 in the only single game scheduled.

On Saturday, the White Sox topped the Angels 8-3, the Twins blanked the Athletics 2-0, Washington slammed the Indians 9-7, Detroit downed Boston 6-2 and the Yankees zipped Baltimore 3-2.

After Lachemann drove in the tying run in Sunday's opener for the Athletics, Ed Charles won it in the 10th with a three-run homer following singles by John Blanchard and Dick Green. Green hit two homers and Jim Gentile one for Kansas City while Jimmy Hall and Tony Oliva connected for the Twins.

The Athletics broke a 2-2 tie in the seventh inning of the nightcap when Bert Campaneris singled, stole second and scored on a bunt single by Jim Landis.

Pete Ward and Moose Skowron supplied the major fireworks for the White Sox in the opener, the Montreal-born third baseman doubling home two runs in the first inning and Skowron slapping a two-run single in the third before hitting a homer in the seventh.

MAKES TWO ERRORS

In the nightcap, Bobby Knoop's second error, in the seventh inning, paved the way for three unearned runs and the White Sox's seventh consecutive victory.

Earl Wilson got the job done for the Red Sox in the opener by limiting the Tigers to four hits while Lee Thomas drove in three runs with a single and a double.

Ken McMullen doubled and scored on Jim King's single to give the Senators a 7-7 tie in the ninth inning, then won it in the 11th with a homer off Dick Donovan.

The Indians came back to grab the second game with Fred Whitfield hitting a pinch-hit grand-slam homer and Joe Azcue connecting for a two-run shot.

Luis Aparicio's two-run homer in the sixth inning gave Baltimore a four-homer salvo that powered Orioles over the Yankees. Curt Blefary, Norm Siebern and pitcher Jim Palmer hit the others.

Wins Stakes

TORONTO (CP) — Brother Leo, owned by Mike Starko of Edmonton, won the $11,425 Ultimus Stakes at Greenwood Saturday, whipping E. Day, last year's top handicap horse.

Avelino Gomez urged the five-year-old gelding to a time of 1:36 1-5—just two seconds off the Greenwood track record for the mile, set by Grey Monarch in 1958.

Gomez rode a perfect race, allowing E. Day and Brockton Boy 15 lengths for the last stretch of the way, then going ahead in the stretch. He finished five lengths in front of E. Day. Big Rocky came on to take third.

The winners share of the Ultimus pot was $8,425.

Brother Leo was first brought east a year ago by Spod Murphy who had bred and trained him. But the little thoroughbred didn't live up to advance notices and Murphy sold him to Starko for $20,000.

Matthews Gives Lesson

Small Crowd Sees Knight

TORONTO (CP)—Sir Stanley Matthews received a bouquet of flowers and the cheers of a small crowd of 9,567 fans Saturday night, then gave a brief lesson in soccer finesse for the patrons.

Matthews's mere presence many times in the last 34 years, the length of his career, has ensured promoters of sold - out crowds. But Saturday's crowd was less than one-third capacity in Varsity Stadium, which has seen crowds of over 27,000 for football.

The 50-year-old knight was playing the first of his last six professional soccer games for Toronto City of the Eastern Canada Professional Soccer League.

He has already retired from English football and will hang up his spikes forever after fulfilling his six - game contract with City.

His team, badly outplayed in a scrambly game, dropped a 3-2 decision to Montreal Italica but Sir Stanley set up the only legitimate City goal.

Matthews suffered a slight back injury Saturday and was unable to play in the return match Sunday in Montreal. But he is expected to play in City's next game Wednesday against Toronto Italia.

Italica also won Sunday's return match, 4-1, in the only other game, Hamilton Primos easily defeated Toronto Inter - Roma 2-0 in Hamilton.

Leads Field of 28

Maier Wins At Mosport

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Ettel Maier, 38-year-old Thornhill, Ont., sailmaker, stopped five years of sports-car racing in Canada Saturday by winning the $2,000 Sunday race in his Ford-powered Lotus 35B.

The German-born driver led a field of 28 across the finish line, covering 20 laps of the twisting 2.65 - mile circuit at nearby Mosport Park in 35 minutes, 41.5 seconds.

Maier, in a second-hand car he bought a year ago, went out in front when the green flag dropped and stayed there although Jacques Duval of Montreal in a Porsche 904 threatened him for a time.

Runner-up was Louis Donolo Jr. of Toronto in a Merlyn with 33:51.8. Third was Don Kindree of Burlington, Ont., in an Austin-Healey with 36:24.3.

Maier also was over-all winner of a 15-lap race for modified and production sports cars with Kindree second and Duval third.

A crowd of 3,500 paid to watch the series of races organized by the Oakville - Trafalgar Light Car Club.

Two spectators suffered injuries when Dino Delullis, of Toronto lost a wheel from his Dodge Polaris in the touring-car race. The wheel bowled over Mrs. John Van Heuzen of Peterborough and Tom Eady of Toronto.

Hospital officials in Peterborough said Mrs. Van Heuzen's chest injuries were severe. Race officials said Holy suffered bruises.

The over-all race winner, included Milt Tinsil of Oshawa, Ont., driving for sedans. He drove a Mustang.

Canadian Champ Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Firstseeded Pat Kirby of New York, who captured the Canadian four-wall singles handball championship last month, added the National Amateur Athletic Union crown to his list Saturday. The 26-year-old construction worker, native of Ireland, rallied to beat his New York Athletic Club teammate, Harry Hyde, 16-21, 21-6, 21-14.

DIED FOR A DOLLAR

LONDON (CP)—At a recent inquest, a London woman told the court her husband fell to his death while trying to cross the Thames on the parapet of Chelsea Bridge. He did it for a five-shilling bet—less than a dollar.

The Tracks

NEW YORK (CP)—While Canadian jockey Ron Turcotte was guiding Tom Rolfe to victory in the Preakness Stakes, second of the three chief races for three-year-olds, the first leg of the triple crown for fillies was being run at New York's Aqueduct track Saturday.

In this race, the Acorn Stakes, Ground Control edged Marshua by a neck, with Up Oars another nose away, and survived a claim of foul by Marshua, by virtue of riders' return $79, $19.60 and $9.40 for her first stakes victory.

Marshua, the favorite, checked the crowd of 38,545, and Up Oars, a 14-to-1 risk, battled for the lead deep in the stretch of the one-mile event. But Don Pierce, aboard Ground Control, saving ground all the way, steered inside the two front-runners just before the wire.

What a Treat, the favorite, was fourth.

Yeaza claimed Ground Control had interfered with Up Oars in the stretch but the judges disallowed the objection. Marshua returned $4.40 and $4.10, while Up Oars paid $7.50 to show.

The victory was worth $38,220 to the winner, who ran the distance in the slow time of 1:37 1-5, doubling her previous earnings. All the fillies carried 121 pounds.

NO TRIPLE WINNER

Since the triple crown for fillies—made up of the Acorn, the $25,000 added Mother Goose at 1½ miles May 29 and the $100,000 added Coaching Club American Oaks at 1¼ miles June 12—was inaugurated in 1961, no filly has been able to win all three races.

At Inglewood, Calif., Azure broke on top and made it a wire-to-wire triumph over nine rivals in the $25,200 Debonair Stakes at Hollywood Park.

Chiclero was second by a little less than two lengths and the favorite, Nasharco, third.

The time was 1:10 4-5 for the six furlongs.

The winner returned $18.60, $8, and $4.60. Chiclero returned $7.40 and $4.40, and Nasharco paid $3.

Isaduchess and Swoonalong finished in a dead heat for first in the $26,825 Colonial Handicap at Garden State Park, N.J. It was almost a triple dead heat with Beautiful Day just a nose back in third place.

Isaduchess paid $4.60, $4.40 and $3.20, Swoonalong, ridden by Dom Brundield, paid $7.80, $7.20 and $4.20 with Beautiful Day $3.80 to show.

The six furlong race was run in 1:09 4-5.

Viet Cong Trap Mauls Aid Sent Overrun Hamlet

From AP-Reuters

SAIGON (CP) — South Vietnamese ground forces and U.S. helicopters killed 128 Viet Cong and captured 31 in three operations Monday and today.

But the Viet Cong inflicted heavy casualties when they attacked a hamlet 100 miles east of Saigon and badly mauled government reinforcements.

Two platoons of government militia men, trapped by the Viet Cong in Binh Thuan province were reported missing with their weapons. Two companies sent to their aid were badly mauled.

A U.S. military spokesman said the two relief companies lost 11 killed, 17 wounded and 58 missing.

The action occurred after the Viet Cong overwhelmed the hamlet of Phu Long, defended by the militia platoons, and then laid a trap for the reinforcements moving in. A second relief force was sent in and took over, but without no contact with the Communists.

More than a battalion of South Vietnamese troops hit a Viet Cong training camp 30 miles south of the Da Nang Air Base early today, leaving seven bodies at fighting they killed at least 40 guerrillas and captured six aboard with a number of weapons, grenades and mines, U.S. officials reported.

There were no immediate report of government casualties in the operation.

In Binh Tuy province, two companies of Viet Cong attacked a village 65 miles east of Saigon Monday. Four U.S. helicopters battered the Communists while ground troops reinforced a regional forces company defending the village.

A U.S. spokesman said 50 Viet Cong were killed—30 of them by fire from the helicopters—with five of the defenders were killed and four wounded.

South Vietnamese marines made a series of sweep operations Monday in Kon Tum province, 40 miles north of Saigon, and killed 38 Viet Cong, a U.S. spokesman said. Twenty - five suspected Communists were captured.

In the air, U.S. navy and air force jets flew 153 sorties against suspected Communist positions in South Viet Nam. For the sixth consecutive day no attacks on North Viet Nam were reported.

In another operation, government troops today launched a major attack on a key Communist Viet Cong base only 20 miles from the North Vietnamese border.

Six battalions totalling more than 2,000 men were thrown into the attack on the Ba Long stronghold at Ba Long. At least two battalions of Viet Cong guerrillas are reported to be based at Ba Long.

Two squadrons of U.S. marine helicopters lifted part of the government troops into the area near the demilitarized zone along the 17th parallel.

A South Vietnamese patrol located the Viet Cong base last month. The patrol reported that elephants were bringing in large amounts of supplies from infiltration zones on the Laotian border and the demilitarized zone. The area extends five miles on each side of the border dividing North and South Viet Nam.

The Communists have been using the Ba Long base for large - scale guerrilla raids

SAIGON (AP) — The United States stepped up air strikes against North Viet Nam today, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The spokesman said 20 U.S. Navy war planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Coral Sea attacked a petroleum storage area at Phu Qui, 125 miles south of Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital. Initial pilot reports said severe damage was inflicted on the target, which was reported burning.

The strikes were the first against the Communist north in six days. There was no explanation here for their resumption.

Twenty A-1E propeller-driven Skyraiders and A-4 jet Skyhawks reported up to 10 F-8 Crusader jets, hammered the target with 25 tons of bombs, rockets and air-to-ground missiles in a 30-minute assault, the spokesman said.

The planes encountered light ground fire and all returned safely, the spokesman said. No enemy aircraft were reported seen.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis—An approaching weather front associated with a Prairie storm will cross Lake Huron and scattered thunderstorms are anticipated tonight.

The four retiring teachers at the Belleville Public School Association's annual banquet at the Masonic Temple last night fondly glance over one of the school texts they will be putting aside this year after many years of service. The teachers are, from left, Mrs. Beatty Forbes, Miss Mary Cook, Miss Daisy Young and Mrs. Wanda Sine. (Story on Page 3)

Stage Sit-in For French Kindergarten

GEORGETOWN, Ont. (CP)— About 30 parents and University of Toronto students continued an all-night sit-in at Holy Cross Separate School Monday curling up in sleeping bags and blankets after sending children home.

The sit-in was organized to enforce the demands of a committee of French-speaking parents for a French - language kindergarten in the school.

Mrs. R. A. Gelineault, secretary of the parents' committee that organized Monday's sit-in and last week's boycott of the school by 103 French-speaking students, said today the sit-in would continue until it was decided what further action to take.

The school board in this community, 15 miles east of Guelph, announced Monday the school is closed and would "remain closed until law enforcement agencies can ensure the safety of the school children and the safety and privacy of school property."

The parents have kept their children from classes since last Monday, sending them instead to makeshift classes run by sympathetic university students.

Earlier Monday night, some of the students along Queen with English-speaking members of the parish discussed a possible solution to the dispute.

More than 200 parishioners recommended to the board that a bilingual kindergarten be held for both English- and French-speaking children. The group was almost unanimous in its declaration that English and French be taught in a united kindergarten class for both language groups. At present, there is only an English kindergarten although 47 classes are held in both languages.

Older Senators To Retire

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP) — A government spokesman suggested Monday that some senators soon will take the unprecedented step of retiring.

Privy Council President Mc-Ilraith, government leader in the Commons, told the House he "has reason to believe" that a majority of the 36 senators aged 75 and over will retire voluntarily once the new Senate bill becomes law.

The measure was expected to get third reading today with little or no debate and come up in the Senate at 8 p.m. EDT Senators have been appointed for life until now and few have retired.

The government proposes to amend the British North America Act to set 75 as the retirement age for all senators to be appointed in future.

Incumbent senators over the age limit are not required to give up their seats and their $15,000 salaries. However, the government will encourage them to retire on an $8,000 annual pension.

Mr. McIlraith told the House that he has not asked the older senators whether they are willing to retire.

Reports persist that Prime Minister Pearson hopes several new vacancies will be opened in the upper chamber which he could fill in a major cabinet shuffle. There now are seven vacancies in seven provinces—all but Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Manitoba.

Of the senators age 75 and over, 21 are Liberals and five are Conservatives. Senate standings are Liberals 60, Conservatives 32, Independent two, Independent - Liberal one and vacant seven for a total of 103.

Provincial Criticism Of Govt. Undeserved

- - Pearson

REGINA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Monday night much provincial criticism of federal - aid policy is undeserved. He called for patience and understanding by the provinces.

Winding up a flying visit to the Saskatchewan capital, the Liberal leader said at times "there does not seem to be adequate recognition by the provincial governments of what Ottawa has done or why it can't do more at once."

He spoke to a crowd of 1,500 at a $25-a-plate Saskatchewan Liberal fund - raising dinner marking the first anniversary of the party's term in office.

Among his listeners was Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher, who has been critical sometimes of Ottawa.

Mr. Thatcher and his cabinet met with Mr. Pearson earlier Monday to talk over a Saskatchewan demand for tax concessions for solution potash mines, which use a washing process to extract ore.

Industry - conscious Saskatchewan is in the midst of a potash boom. Mr. Thatcher wants a three-year tax write-off for new solution potash mines, the same deal now in effect for shaft potash operations.

Mr. Thatcher earlier threatened to review the provincial party's relationship with federal Liberals unless the tax write-off was granted. After the morning meeting, Mr. Pearson

Bolivian Miners Protest Against Exile of Leader

LA PAZ (Reuters)—The Bolivian military junta today ruled this landlocked South American country under a state of siege after 7,000 striked tin miners took over several mines Monday night in protest against the exile of their leader.

Mine administrators and engineers were taken hostage and all but two of the country's nationalized mines were said to be paralyzed. It was not known how many were being held or their nationality.

One person was killed and 19 were injuredsome by bullets —when police clashed with 7,000 striking workers in La Paz protesting the banishment to Paraguay of Juan Lechin Oquendo, leader of the miners and a former vice-president. A government spokesman said eight of the workers were police.

After the bloody rioting and general strike at La Paz, the junta declared the state of seige and ordered a general mobilization of all males 18 to 30. The move was evidently designed to put the men under military law.

The junta also declared all labor union posts vacant and said they would be filled by union elections to be held within 40 days.

Miners were reported to have taken over the mines at Catavi Siglo Veinte, Huanuni and Colquiri in the eastern Cordillera region southeast of La Paz.

Tin miners at Mina Viloloco, 200 miles south of the capital, seized the mine's administrative and technical employees and held them hostage.

It was at the Catavi Siglo Veinte mine 18 months ago that

Inquests Attacked In House

TORONTO (CP) — Inquests should be removed from the hands of the attorney-general's department and put under the control of a coroner as free as possible from "political control," Vernon Singer (I—Downsview) told the legislature Monday.

He recommended that the coroner, like the provincial auditor, should be an appointee of the provincial legislature itself.

"He would be independent and as removed as he could be from the day-to-day political interference that would otherwise be attached to him if he were under the attorney-general's department."

Mr. Singer said this would make the coroner a sort of "ombudsman for death," and would relieve any public concern about suspicious circumstances surrounding deaths in the province.

DENIES INTERFERENCE

Attorney - General Arthur Wishart denied there is any political interference with coroners by his department.

In a debate over an inquest held into the death of a Guelph Reformatory prisoner afflicted with a rare heart disease Mr. Wishart said evidence that the prisoner had been put in solitary confinement and complained of sickness a few days before his death was not brought out at the inquest because it was irrelevant.

The prisoner, Ronald Rankin Cross, died Aug. 20, 1964, after doing sick and shovel work on an outdoor work party. Mr. Wishart said the reformatory physician had prescribed a light heavy work for Cross because of his heart ailment, but the prisoner insisted on working outside.

He was given the lightest job

New U.S. Bid To Bring Peace Seems Stalled

From Reuters - AP

SANTO DOMINGO (CP) — A new U.S. effort to promote a coalition government in the Dominican Republic appeared stalled today.

Diplomatic sources said that a U.S. suggestion for a coalition headed by Antonio Guzman, a former minister of agriculture under former president Juan Bosch, received an initial rejection Monday by the civilian-military junta headed by Brig.-Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras, labelled the "national reconstruction" government.

The sources said that the high-level mission sent here by President Johnson had won a favorable reception for the coalition idea from the "constitutionalist" regime headed by Col. Francisco Caamano.

The mission is led by McGeorge Bundy, President Johnson's special assistant for national security. It also includes Thomas Mann, undersecretary of state for economic affairs, Cyrus Vance, deputy secretary of defence, and Jack Hood Vaughn, assistant secretary of state for inter - American affairs.

Asked about the reports of a U.S. effort to arrange a coalition, Imbert said the Bundy mission had not approached him or other members of his government on the subject. He added: "No government can impose a solution. It must be made by the Dominicans themselves."

RUMORS CIRCULATE

Imbert said he doubted whether the U.S. would involve itself in imposing a settlement on the Dominican Republic. When asked if the coalition idea had come from any of the U.S. source, he stated there were many "rumors" circulating in the country.

Caamano's reaction when asked about the coalition Monday night was that this was a question which could not be answered because "it does not exist."

Both Imbert and Caamano denied they had met with President Johnson's mission, but informed sources said there had been contact between the mission and both the "reconstruction" and "constitutional" regimes.

Meanwhile, the two sides made conflicting claims about the heavy fighting that continued in the northwestern section of Santo Domingo.

Caamano said 375 junta troops died in the first two days of the battle that broke out Saturday after a two-week cease-fire in the revolt.

Imbert, however, said there had been few casualties on his side and that his military forces had taken 600 prisoners since the battle began.

A Western diplomatic source said that Caamano personally ordered Guzman the presidency of the "constitutional government" two days ago. He said Guzman was believed to be in Washington.

The rebels originally sought the return of Bosch and of the constitution which was junked when the military overthrew him.

Caamano said he had no information about reports that

12,000 Dead In Cyclone

From Reuters-AP

KARACHI (CP)—Some 12,000 persons were feared dead today in the East Pakistan cyclone which struck a week ago.—

An estimated 7,000,000 inhabitants of the devastated area were homeless and damage is estimated at $200,000,000.

The governor of East Pakistan, Abdul Monem Khan, told reporters Monday night that the cyclone had taken 5,531 lives.

But the Pakistan Press Association reported from Dacca today it was feared that at least 12,000 had died as 160-mile-an-hour winds and tidal waves battered eight regions in the southern part of East Pakistan.

Radio Pakistan said that from 90 to 100 per cent of the flimsy bamboo houses in the disaster area had been destroyed.

FEAR EPIDEMICS

The agency said there was a shortage of drinking water in the inundated areas, where the sea, whipped up by cyclonic winds, engulfed thousands of acres of crops.

There is fear that epidemics of cholera and smallpox will sweep villages where the water is contaminated.

A representative of the League of Red Cross Societies is visiting the disaster area to assess the damage and report to the International Red Cross on relief needs.

The storm was described by residents of the area as the worst in many years.

It was the third such disaster in five years to devastate the low - lying deltas of the Ganges Delta, on the Bay of Bengal. In May, 1963, an estimated 12,000 persons died in storm and tidal wave. About 20,000 died in 1960-61 monsoon storms, and 3,000 died in 1942 cyclone and tidal waves.

NOWHERE TO GO

The cyclone pushes the population explosion pushes the poverty-stricken masses into low-lying marsh areas in the huge deltas.

Vast portions of the coast are flat, and there are few natural hillocks and tree lines to break the force of gales.

As the seasonal cyclones oar north across the Bay of Bengal, huge waves—sometimes 12 or 15 feet high—are hurled across the low areas, smashing everything in their path.

But with no place else to go the survivors always go back when the waves recede.

The cyclone smashed in off the Bay of Bengal on the night of May 11. The tidal bore it roared across the delta's flatlands and rice paddies, flattening bamboo huts and ripping uncounted boats in the mouth of the Ganges).

The tidal wave engulfed coastal islands and wiped out entire communities.

The severity of the storm was not known in Dacca, East Pakistan's capital, until the weekend. Then reports began filtering in from the isolated areas that communicate with the outside world by footpaths and boats.

Queen Arrives At Bonn For Eleven-day Visit To Germany

BONN (Reuters) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth arrived here today by air from London for an 11-day state visit—the first state visit by a ruling British monarch in more than 50 years.

A 21-gun salute thundered out as the Queen and Prince Philip stepped from the plane into a cloudy spring day.

Present at the airport to welcome the royal couple were a host of West German dignitaries headed by President Heinrich Luebke and federal chancellor Professor Ludwig Erhard.

The Queen shook hands with them as well as with members of the diplomatic corps. A German band then played the British national anthem.

The Queen and Philip, accompanied by Foreign Minister Michael Stewart, will spend 11 days in West Germany, returning to Britain in the royal yacht Britannia from Hamburg May 28.

The Queen was wearing an afternoon dress and coat in gold-colored silk shantung with a feathered hat, and Prince Philip the uniform of a marshal of the RAF.

The Queen then entered a Mercedes provided by the West German government for the drive down the autobahn to "Buckingham Palace on the Rhine"—the Petersberg Hotel, perched on a hilltop 1,000 feet above the Rhine which will be the royal home during a two-day stay in Bonn.

Crowds waving small Union Jacks lined the drive out of the airport.

The political implications of the visit were seen by many as stretching beyond the two countries, now NATO allies after fighting each other in the 1914-18 and 1939-45 wars.

It was expected the Queen's trip could give new impetus to British and West German efforts to strengthen the Atlantic military alliance and European economic co-operation despite the negativism of France under President de Gaulle.

Erhard, writing in his London embassy's magazine, said the Queen's visit was the "ultimate reconciliation" and "an event of tremendous importance for the future of our two countries."

Father and Son Banquet By Y's Men Success

Last Saturday evening, the Family Y held its annual "Father and Son Banquet." The banquet was sponsored by the Y's Men's Club.

Due to the present lack of sufficient facilities at the new "Y" for such a large number of people, the banquet was held at Moira Secondary School.

The program began with the singing of "O Canada". This was followed by grace commendably given by Robbie Locke.

The dinner was served by the Y's Men and more efficiently by younger men conscripted from the ranks of the "Y" Youth Members.

Suit coats were removed and sleeves rolled up as the group went into action under the capable direction of Y's Men Thompson.

Following the dinner a "Toast to the Fathers" was presented by David Nellen. The response was given by Alf Hughes who said the sons give special meaning to the lives of their fathers.

Instead of an after-dinner stunt Y's Don Lockyer, with Gary Ward at the piano, led those assembled in a relaxing sing-song.

GUESTS WELCOMED

The president of the Y's Men's Club, Jim Barton, welcomed the fathers and sons to the first banquet since the completion of the new Y. Next, Mr. Barton introduced the head table guests. They were: His Worship, Mayor Jack Ellis and his wife; Mr. Jim Diamantides, General Secretary of the Y; Mr. Hugh Watson, President of the Board of Directors and his son Michael; Mrs. Jean Smoke, Member of the Board of Directors and Chairman of the Physical Education Committee; Mr. A. G. Austin, guest speaker; Miss Mildred Grey, Girls' and Women's Secretary; Mr. Graham Geldart, Boys' and Men's Program Secretary; Mr. Ron Chapman, swim, skin and scuba, instructor; Mr. Pat Welr, instructor of speed swimming; Mr. Richard Gardner, Leaders' Corps Instructor and his father, Mr. Gerald Sherry.

Mr. Hugh Watson gave greetings from the Board of Directors. Mr. Watson felt that the first year in the history of the new Family 'Y' building had been most successful and gratifying. He particularly noted the sharp upward trend of enrollment in all levels of membership.

Mr. Watson asked that parents try to instill a greater love for God and his holiday within the minds of their children. During what Mr. Watson termed as "five-event periods," much needless damage has disgraced our beautiful new building.

Mr. Watson stressed that the "Y" was ours, yours and mine.

PRAYER BEFORE EATING

In giving his greetings from the city, Mayor Ellis pointed out interesting features about the YMCA. "It is not really a YMCA for it is not solely for the men," said the mayor. "Nor," he added, "have I ever known the 'Y' to turn away a person for any religious belief."

Turning to the gathering of fathers and sons, Mayor Ellis said, "It is with a tremendous amount of pleasure and pride that I bring formal greetings to you this evening."

Past president of the Y's Men's Club, Bill Carey Sherman, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. A. G. Austin. Mr. Austin is Belleville, Ontario, and has won much acclaim in the field of nature photography.

Mr. Austin presented his wonderful slides Mr. Austin remarked, "some people are too busy chasing the almighty dollar to appreciate the work of God around us.

For the next few minutes everyone gathered in that hall developed more fully this appreciation. Mayor Ellis' well-fascinating and most entertaining.

In thanking the guest speaker, Rick McClean said, "The slides have shown us that there is a God above who has created all things."

A highlight of the awards came when Bill Juby, president of the Leaders' Group presented the "Doug Mann Memorial Trophy" to Mike Alfore, the winner of the "Marathon Swim" competition.

In his general secretary's remarks Di Diamantides asked the public to support the United Appeal and the Y's third raising campaign. "I know the people of Belleville have good hearts," said Mr. Diamantides.

The general secretary added that an expansion program is being planned for 1967.

A thanks to the Y's Men's Club was given by Brian Glover for a most successful evening.

President Jim Barton gave recognition to the Leaders' Corps, a group which has been most active during the past year.

Rail Crews Watch For Forest Fires

MONTREAL — All Canadian National Railways section and track maintenance crews across Canada have been put on special alert to spot trackside and forest fires.

At this time of year, with the dry season at hand in many parts of Canada, the fire-spotting switches by CN track and engine crews have been intensified. The special alert will continue to the end of the dry season.

The railway also has a program directed toward fire prevention. All diesel locomotives are equipped with spark arresters which cover the exhaust manifolds of the diesels and snuff out sparks.

Temple Lodges Of District Hold Reunion

On Saturday, Temple Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 609, was host for the annual Temple Lodges Reunion. Lodges attended from Ottawa, Gatineau, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Kitchener and London.

After registration at the Masonic Temple, on Foster Ave., the visiting lodges were served lunch which was supplied by the Ameliasburg and Mountain View United Church Women. Music was supplied by Mr. Alan Gordon.

During the afternoon the visiting ladies were taken on a tour of the Ontario School for the Deaf. The tour was arranged and conducted by Mrs. Morley Davidson and Wor. Bro. A. J. Clare. Following the tour the ladies were served refreshments at the Sun Valley Motor Hotel.

While the ladies were on the tour the visiting brethren attended lodge and heard a most interesting and informative talk by Bro. Ron Post.

The committee and their ladies reassembled at the Masonic Temple at 7.00 p.m., where they enjoyed a sumptuous banquet prepared and served by the Ameliasburg United Church Women. Wor. Bro. W. Cowan was the toastmaster for the evening.

Mr. Arthur Duncan, Public Relations, Bata Shoe Company, was guest speaker and in his usual capable manner delighted the guests with his humorous and interesting talk.

Other highlights of the program were the selections by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid, and the accordion solos by Master Barry Vanneveren.

The Worshipful Master of Temple Lodge, No. 649, Oshawa, extended a cordial invitation to attend the reunion, which is to be held in Oshawa in 1966.

Four Retiring Teachers Honored by Federation, Get Gifts From Board

The Belleville Public School Teachers' Association held their annual banquet last night at the Masonic Temple. Members and guests joined together to honor four retiring teachers, who have long associations with the Belleville Public School Board.

The four teachers honored were: Mrs. Wanda Sine, Miss Mary Grant, Dalton Public School and Mrs. Beatrice Forbes, Mrs. Grace Anderson, president of the Association, presided over the meeting.

M. M. Hackett, principal of Queen Elizabeth School, addressed the retiring teachers. In his remarks he noted that Mrs. Sine had come to Belleville in 1950 and had become the first Supervisor of Primary Education in this city in 1954. Through various courses, Mrs. Sine had gained wide experience in the teaching profession.

Miss Cook, after attending Toronto Teachers' College and acquiring a Kindergarten Primary Certificate, came to Belleville in 1924. She was one of Belleville' s t a f f in 1937 Through summer courses, she the first two teachers to commence a kindergarten program in Belleville in 1943-44.

Miss Young attended Peterborough Teachers' College and worked extramurally to attain her first class certificate. She enrolled in university courses and Department of Education courses to improve her standing. She has been on staff with the Belleville staff for 24 years.

After attending Peterborough Teacher's College and teaching in Prince Edward County, Mrs. Forbes joined the attained special certificates in Guidance and Junior Education.

Miss Hazel Thompson and Mrs. Dorothy Blakely, on behalf of the Association, presented a Manly Macdonald painting to each of the retiring teachers.

Dr. J. Russell Scott, chairman of the Belleville Public School Board, extended greetings from the Board. To the honored guests he presented a gratuity from the Board as a token of the Board's appreciation for their long service.

Mrs. G. Stratton supplied the entertainment after dinner.

Tree Removal Program Laid Out by Engineer

The city of Belleville will follow its customary tree removal program this year by way of combatting the spread of Dutch elm disease.

It is doing so for two reasons: 1. the newly - developed chemical said to effectively control Dutch elm disease is not available, and 2. the material is so toxic that it can be handled only by. experts.

Some weeks ago city council showed interest in the new chemical and directed investigations be made regarding its availability and use.

The report was that the chemical is still being developed and probably will be available only for designated areas where there are universities.

Today city engineer Wilbur Purcell said that the works department this year would carry only its regular tree removal program concentrating on Dundas Street, both east and west, and on Herchimer Ave. The tree removal job will be carried for tender.

Two years ago the worst of the badly infected elms were marched out Dundas and as the disease gradually develops it is expected that diseased trees should now be removed.

Site of Former Armouries Acquired From Government For Price of One Dollar

TRENTON — Trenton council voted last night to sign an agreement with Crown Assets Disposal Corporation by which the town would acquire 1.67 acres of land at the corner of Sidney Street and Dominion St., the site of the former armouries. Cost to the town would be $1.

Council also voted to "expropriate if necessary" land on Marmora Street, owned by R. J. Whitley and land on Front Street, owned by Mrs. Agnes Sigmund, while leaving the door open for further negotiations for the buying of the land at the asking price.

The land is necessary to form part of the approaches to the new bridge across the Trent.

The land which council voted to sell the town had taken an option on other property along the north side from the town s house the bridge. He said the Trenton Real Estate Board had been largely instrumental in getting the options.

"The board has done a marvelous job," he said.

A request from W. William that he be permitted to re-purchase from the town a house now located at 73 Dominion St. (bought by the town to provide land for access to the new bridge) and to move it to 53 Dominion St., will be turned over to the Property Committee, Government and the Trenton Planning Board to see if this is the most economical way for the town to dispose of the house which would have to be removed from the land in any event.

Council approved of a plan which will be put into effect today. Construction will not commence until July as land acquisitions and negotiations will take until that time to complete.

Eventually all of North Front Street will be widened overhead via way bridge to 401 highway will be rebuilt and widened, but only developed by the new overhead bridge to Craig Street is scheduled for rebuilding this year.

Council has now passed railway tracks on Pinnacle Street and repaving of this artery also is scheduled for this summer, but a start on this project is still at least six weeks away.

City engineer Wilbur Purcell said today that a start on the sewer reconstruction was expected in about six weeks time.

Re-zone Bylaw Defeated at First Reading

TRENTON — Because 28 persons living in the vicinity of Dufferin Ave. and McGill Street presented a petition to council last night, objecting to the re - zoning of a piece of land at the juncture of these two streets to permit Lyle Hartman to erect a handi - stand, council defeated a by - law which would have permitted the re - zoning at first reading.

Councilor Edward Todd, who had originally proposed the by - law which would have changed the zoning from residential to commercial, withdrew his support after the petition had been read out by clerk - comptroller O. W. Lacy. All other councillors, except Ross Butt voted against the by law.

Councillor Butt said he had voted for the by - law because many more people were using businesses in a residential zone, and have not been prosecuted. However, Eric Alderney, town engineer and zoning administrator, told the councillors he had just yesterday placed a list of violators in the hands of town police. Roderick Campbell, Mr. Campbell said he would start immediately to lay charges against "all of them."

"It's time," said Councilor Butt, "we've pussy - footed around this issue for years."

Will Establish Parking Authority

TRENTON — Trenton council voted last night to establish a Parking Authority — a common board which will have control over the maintenance, operation and management of all municipal parking. The authority will have the power to acquire land for off-street parking, but if it cannot finance the purchase of such land out of the $1 a day revenue from parking meters, (as well as cope with other expenses in connection with parking) council will issue debentures for this, or take the needed money out of general revenue, and will have the "last say" about the location of such parking lots. Council's finding will be guided by the terms of the urban renewal plan, which has not yet come into effect.

The men for the authority will be appointed at the June 7 council meeting. Councillors have been asked to bring the names of two men to serve on the authority to this meeting.

The men thus appointed will serve one - two - year staggered terms. The authority may be dissolved by council if it proposed at the day deems this necessary.

Councillor Paul Tripp, who proposed the formation of the authority last month, read out a four page statement of the need for and the benefits to be derived forming such a body at last night's meeting. All members of council were in agreement on the creation of the body.

Council Figures Way to Collect 'Wagon' Taxes

TRENTON — A well known area trucker, Harold Bassett of Rr. 4, Trenton, was seriously injured when his half-ton truck went out of control on Highway Two, near the Trent Valley Sand and Gravel property around 9.30 p.m.- Saturday night. The truck flipped over when it hit a ditch.

Mr. Bassett, 48, was pinned in the vehicle. He was removed to Trenton Memorial Hospital where surgeons removed an eye.

Mr. Bassett also suffered a fractured right arm and severe face lacerations.

The accident was investigated by Constable K. E. A. Jackson of the OPP detachment at Brighton. Cause of the accident is not known at this time.

Hasty Pees Spend Weekend On Camp Petawawa Ranges

Forty-seven men and eleven officers of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment spent the weekend at Camp Petawawa late last Friday night, by bus and car, for a weekend of field firing as guests of the second Battalion of the Canadian Guards.

A dull, active weekend began at nine o'clock Saturday morning when the Hasty Pees, and three other militia units went out to the Battle Run range to watch the Guards stage a demonstration of the regular's precise new, 106mm recoiless rifle. The men were given an indoctrination in the weapon, followed by an actual fire demonstration. Everyone watched as the .50 calibre shrapnel round was fired and a second later the great roaring range 80 feet away from the back-blast indicated the kill- or round was in flight, travelling about 1000 feet a second. The accurate weapon is capable of penetrating the heaviest known armour.

The Hasty Pees own qualified group 1 anti-tank gunners were given the opportunity of firing the '106' on their own, under the watchful eye of the regular force crew.

After the fire demonstration, the men were taken to the mortar range with the Glengarry Highlanders of Cornwall, where they fired the 81mm mortar, from the land held position. Lt. Col. K. D. H. Willcocks offered $5.00 to the Hasty Pee who could hit the target and mountain crests later Cpl. G. Hogan of Belleville, turned out to be the only member of the Regiment to collect.

On the .30 calibre machine gun range, next to the mortar range, the Glengarry H. put out the invitation for ten Hasty Pees' to join them for some machine gun firing, was gladly accepted. The .30 calibre machinegun is a very easily operated and accurate weapon.

The afternoon was spent on the mechanical target range, a three hundred yard long, fast foot target used when the men are at Kingston. With the mechanical target a bit on any place on the silhouette causes the target to drop back out of sight until a range officer flips the switch to re - erect them. Each time the men fire the men were given the "full treatment" of firing from the fire trench, the standing and kneeling position and sitting positions. This proved to be quite different from the standard fire position taught and as one of the regular force instructors told a young militiaman, "you'll get the combination."

PRACTICE CEREMONY

Sunday began with the Hasty Pees putting in a half hour of practice drill in preparation for the ceremony of the colors at the end of May.

The men were then taken to the grenade range where they threw two hand grenades each.

It is only recently that militiamen have been allowed to throw hand grenades.

Dinner at 1.30 pm were only scheduled to watch Guardsmen fire the automatic FN (C2) rifle now in use by all of the regular Canadian forces. But as it turned out all men and officers were allowed to fire a two magazines each.

It was a tired but well pleased group of Hasty Pees who boarded buses for the return trip to Belleville. They had worked hard and had a full, active and exciting weekend.

Flying Club Members Enjoy Spring Banquet

Members of the Belleville Flying Club enjoyed their Spring banquet at the Son Valley dining room on Friday evening. Doctor Ev. Dixon introduced David Beatty who proposed a toast to the success of the Club. After a delicious dinner, Gerry Pratt gave a report on the plans for the new lounge, and said construction would be started in the near future.

Margaret Grant reported for the Social Committee and announced that the Snack Bar at the Airport was operating very successfully and thanked those from the Snack Bar would be used toward furnishing the kitchen in the new lounge. Mrs. Grant mentioned that the play grounds at the Airport had been completely fenced in and swings, slide and a sand box had been installed for the children. Winners of the free plane rides were won by Myke Fraser and Fred Bastien.

Films were shown on "Power in Flight" and there was a special reel of progress pictures, taken of the Belleville Airport was shown by Mr. Grant.

After the showing of the films, members of the Belleville Flying Club were invited to the main lounge at the Son Valley where dancing was enjoyed for the balance of the evening.

It was decided that the official "open house" would be held in June, the date to be decided at the next committee meeting.

U.S. officials were trying to persuade the Imbert junta to resign.

The Associated Press said the coalition government plan was reported to have been offered by Mr. McGregor Bundy, the U.S. presidential assistant, and three other officials who formed a special White House mission that flew to the Dominican Republic Sunday.

The AP said the junta had rejected the plan "offered by Washington" and poised the threat of an all-out drive against the rebels.

As the junta sent tanks and fresh troops with mortars and artillery against rebel holdouts in n o r t h e r n Santo Domingo, junta "Foreign Minister" Ramfis Victoa warned that all resistance would be suppressed less the insurgents drop their "absurd and unacceptable pretensions."

General Antonio Imbert Barreras, head of the rival civilian-military junta — "the government of national reconstruction"—which has been fighting the insurgents, rejected the proposal, claiming it would lead to a Communist takeover.

Imbert i t e d Guzman a "Bosch puppet." He said he reminded the U.S. mission that a former U.S. Am ass a d o r to the Dominican Republic from failing under Communist domination. But U.S. spokesmen have begun retreating f r o m Washington's original contention t h a t Communists were dominating the rebel movement.

The leader of the peacemaking team sent to Santo Domingo by the Organization of American States returned to Washington Monday night and said his group had made no progress.

RCAF Women Open Season

TRENTON — Ladies' opening day at the RCAF golf course last week saw 31 members out to play a two-ball foursome on the links.

First low net winners were: Audrey Brown and Olga Phillips; second low net, Betty Cunningham and Beverley Hughes; third low net, Dorothy Bellamy and Lee Nelson; fourth low net, Elaine Crane and Kay Dobbin.

Winner of the blind bogey and prize was Doreen Waldnick. Most honest golfers were Laura Miller and Louise Durling.

Ladies' days will be held every Tuesday from now on and the next "big" event is the ladies' invitation match on June 8 with golfers from Trenton, Belleville, Picton, Kingston and other Quinte points expected.

BOATS USE CANAL

For the three days since navigation's opening on the Trent, three boats have been locked through Lock No. 1. Not a record, but a good average, and four more boats than the opening weekend last year.

Start Work On North Front St. in July

July first will be the first possible starting date for reconstruction of that portion of North Front Street to be widened this year.

Tenders for the street rebuilding will be called today. Construction will not commence until July as land acquisitions and negotiations will take until that time to complete.

Eventually all of North Front Street will be overhead via way bridge to 401 highway will be rebuilt and widened, but only developed by the new overhead bridge to Craig Street is scheduled for rebuilding this year.

Wise Counsel

Dr. Jack Davis, parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson, spoke the other day at a Regina meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada. His subject was this nation's water resources, and their proper use.

He said some things which, at first glance, appear puzzling and at closer inspection very wise.

"We must know what the United States intends to do with our surplus water once it begins to flow along and across the international boundary," he said.

Why?

At first sight this resembles nothing so much as U.S. insistence that foreign aid funds be used in certain ways, a policy which has earned it considerable criticism. Why cannot we be wiser, just decide whether we can afford to supply water to the U.S. and then, if we agree to do so, let them use it as they see fit?

Failing to ascertain how the U.S. would use the water "would be to abandon a position of strength we now have to strike a bargain," said Dr. Davis.

This sounds, at the best, extremely selfish and, at the worst, deplorably greedy. If we can spare the water without harming ourselves, why should we use it to squeeze the last concession out of a neighbor who has, in innumerable ways, been generous and open-handed with us over the years?

The answer, perhaps, is provided by a warning.

How could that be?

Well, if we gave our water freely, without any conditions as to the use to which it could be put, it might result in the establishment of communities and enterprises which would be bound to grow—and to need more water. "We have the tap in our hand. It is ours to turn on. But it will be hard to turn off," Dr. Davis had said earlier. He might have added that, once the tap is turned at all, it may become difficult to avoid turning it further, to prevent a trickle from becoming a flood. Once great economic enterprises are at stake, not even the most fair-minded neighbor can be trusted to deal fairly with a smaller country. Force of circumstances might virtually compel the U.S. to take action which it would not even attempt to justify in principle. Necessity might drive it.

So Dr. Davis is right—we ought to know to what purpose our surplus water will be put before we permit any of it to pass out of our control.

It is comforting to discover that in a welter of trends and developments which appear to "just happen," there is somebody looking at the future with a cool and wary eye.

Compulsory Inspections

Hon. Irwin Haskett, Ontario's Minister of Transport, has decided that voluntary automobile inspection is not a good enough safeguard against accidents being caused by vehicles in a poor state of repair.

Therefore, this year the safety checks will be compulsory.

No reasonable person will quarrel with this decision. It involves no invasion of privacy. Nobody has any right to conceal the fact that the car he is driving is mechanically defective.

We do wonder, though, whether it is proposed to continue to publicly announce the location at which inspection units will be working. We can understand the announcement of the first places at which inspections will be held near Perth and Cooksville.. But if similar publicity is given to inspection locations when the units move each week, the purpose of compulsory examinations will be at least partly defeated. Those who are driving defective cars, and know they are doing so, will simply avoid using the highways on which inspection teams are located.

Quite a few motorists who would not have submitted their cars for inspection voluntarily may have their cars declared under the changed system, but the long lines of cars which were seen in Belleville during voluntary checks last year were clear testimony to the fact that most motorists want to make certain their cars are safe. It is the few who deliberately seek to avoid inspection which the department apparently wants to catch by the compulsory feature—and announcing the locations for inspection units certainly tends to make this more difficult.

Ottawa Offbeat

Igor Gouzenko, The Hunted, Still Sweats Out His Life

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — So there is yet another Soviet spy conspiracy broken here in the Capital.

That's five since 1945. Five in 20 years.

One every four years — or just about as often, and regular, as a Federal General Election.

Is it surprising you?

Shouldn't.

For cold, clear warning was given by the Royal Commission on Espionage, headed 20 years ago by now Chief Justice Robert Taschereau and former Mr. Justice Roy Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, that this was only the beginning.

There would be more, perhaps many more such conspiracies, counselled the Royal Commissioners, for only one of several "parallel and distinct" Soviet spy organizations in Canada had been broken, and who-knows-how-many-more remained in active service.

This reporter not so long ago had the great newspaper luck to sit in on an interview that Rene Marchand, Chief Foreign Correspondent of the London Daily Express, had with Igor Gouzenko, who, 20 years ago, gave Canadians and the RCMP Security and Intelligence detectorate their first eye-witness account of life in the Red espionage underworld.

It took a week of careful negotiating to arrange through a series of intermediaries.

LIVES IN FEAR

And when the answer, finally, was Yes, Gouzenko will see you," the instructions were to fly to Toronto at night, register at a certain hotel, next morning wait in the room there until one minute after 10 a.m. when the phone would ring and the time and place of the rendezvous set.

When, at the appointed minute, the phone rang, it was with further instructions:

Go at once to the side entrance of the hotel, walk around to the front and board the first cab in a line of standing taxis.

Then there was a fast 27-minute ride to a private home in Metro Toronto's West-end Etobicoke section where an interlocutor checked hands, credentials and other things, and satisfied, put in a call to Gouzenko that everything was in order.

Twenty minutes later in he walked. But from where?

And why all this secrecy, these precautions?

Because, he shrugged, Soviet agents remain active in Canada and even after 20 years he still lived in daily fear of his life.

But wasn't he guarded, even now by the RCMP?

Yes, he was, and well. There was a watch on his home, but the RCMP didn't follow him all the ways, and it was in these infrequent moments of freedom from their surveillance — such as this moment at this interview — that he came and went in fear of death.

He was questioned on his assertion that Soviet agents had remained active in the Capital all down the 20 years since his evidence as a fugitive Russian diplomatic clerk had started the first fantastic plot involving 15 trusted Canadian Federal Civil Servants, an MP and a respected British scientist.

FEAR IN THE NIGHT

"You would be safe," he said read the Royal Commission report again."

Then there it was, in cold type, as the Chief Justice had written it:

"Several parallel underground espionage systems or networks exist in Canada under the direction of the Soviet Embassy but independent and distinct from the Red Army Intelligence organization (which the RCMP with Gouzenko's help had just broken) and have their own agencies and agents.

"Igor Gouzenko told us the Soviet was trying to found a Fifth Column here and what has transpired is only a small part of all that really exists."

It was, the Chief Justice warned the nation then, "a dangerous situation."

And seemingly, nothing much, really, has changed, with RCMP anti-espionage agents breaking four more spy conspiracies since that time . . . and how many others still to come?

One final point:

What is it like to live under police guard for 20 years and still go in fear of your life?

"I worry only at nights," he will tell you. "Did I say worry? Sweat is more the word for it.

"So alright, I trust the RCMP is watching the house, tonight like every night, and you know that you and yours are reasonably free from sudden harm — and yet, at the slightest sound, you start awake, wide awake and staring into the dark.

"Down the hall a board creaks. Or there is just the faintest rattle at the window. And sitting there, tense, heart pounding, I defy you not to break into a cold sweat.

"Oh, it's foolish, you think? But remember, I know these people, and you don't."

To Your Good Health

Exercise in Moderation Is Aid to Physical Fitness

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am in my 60's and am reasonably well. Do you favor calisthenics for people of my age? For 10 minutes a day? Half an hour?

Is it walking a better exercise? How far? A mile? Or two or three? Including some hills? — W.R.

Let's answer it this way: I favor daily exercise for everybody of any age — within their limitations. Even a person who is bedridden needs exercise in some extent. Maybe in some cases it will be no more than wiggling or moving the toes, or turning over in bed, or a massage or physical therapy. Even being turned from side to side, if the patient can't do it for himself, is important.

If you want to understand what exercise does for us (and why it was one of the cornerstone of health) I urge you to read Chapter Two of my book "Stay Well Every Hour of Your Life." (It is still available at $5.95, and I trust that you'll find the other 14 chapters of benefit and pleasant to read. I hope so, anyway.)

Exercise, in whatever amount does a great deal more than tone up the muscles. It is important in maintaining blood circulation. It has a marked and useful effect on the efficiency of our breathing. It aids digestion. And so on.

As to the amount or the kind, I refuse to try to specify sight unseen. Ten minutes of calisthenics could be too much for a person with a bad heart. An hour would not be excessive for a young person of the same age who has become accustomed to the routine.

If everyone (except those who have some medical condition prohibiting it) got into the habit of doing 5 or 10 minutes of calisthenics every day, and of walking a mile, we would be a healthier nation.

But exercise shouldn't be a chore or drudgery. Once you begin to feel the invigorating result, it should become a pleasure. Even the most prosaic sitting up exercises, or bending or stretching, can be fun.

The amount you do, as you, and your basic health. If you huff and puff, feel shortness of breath, or have dizzy spells, develop chest pains from brief exercise, you are overdoing it. (And you needless need a checkup by your doctor.)

I doubt that people of 60 need a half hour of calisthenics; if they enjoy that much, or more, okay. The amount you enjoy is a very good gauge of how much is proper for you.

The person who has had but little exercise shouldn't go on a sudden athletic binge, or try to crowd a week's calisthenics into a single Saturday. If you haven't been exercising much, then work into it gradually. That is true for young athletes when they start training. It is just as true for anyone else. And exercise regularly for best results.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you take too many Vitamin B 12 shots, say every two weeks or once a month? Is B 12 for the nerves as well as the blood? — Mr. X.

If the body gets more B12 than is necessary, it gets rid of the surplus quite readily. The interval you mention would not be excessive.

B 12 is of value in certain types of neuritis, but it is not a sedative to combat nervousness. It's most important use probably is in counteracting pernicious anemia.

Strictly Personal

Gulf Exists Between the Generations

By SYDney J. HARRIS

I was riding on a train through Iowa the day after Easter, when the realization suddenly struck me that I had become, perhaps not an old fogey, but surely a middle-aged fogey. This does time creep up upon us imjsicably.

The train was filled with college boys returning from vacation. They crushed out and down the aisles, pretending to be tipsy on the bottle of beer each had drunk in the club car with forged ID cards. They were pretty obnoxious but really obnoxious; looking for fun, but not for trouble.

The rest of the adult passengers were annoyed with them, including myself. I sat in my roomette, in a dark suit with a waistcoat, wearing my reading glasses and trying to concentrate on a new book I had brought along. As they peered in, I saw not them, but my own reflection in their eyes — a middle - aged fogey.

This happens before one is aware of it. Not so many years ago, it seems, my sympathies would have been with them. Down with the fogies, death to the fumspolers! Everyone over 30 might as well be dead anyway, for what is life after that age but a gradual sloping toward the grave? Living is for the young, the sinuous, the waistcoat-less, the sport-shirted, the chino-slacked, the loafer-shod, the easy laughers over a bottle of green beer bought with a faked ID card.

And there I sat, feeling a little like Eliot's Prufrock, so neatly-tonsured, buttoned - up, bespectacled, mouth thinly set, frown lines over the eyes, book spread decorously on my lap, ticket in the proper pocket; and in the other, shoes polished, hair neatly parted. Squaresville.

The cold not recognize me, for I am gradually sloping toward the grave, and they are still rising to the crest; but was I not to blame for failing to recognize and remember myself in them? For being irritated at the noise, rather than gratified at their high spirits? For finding them callow and inconsiderate, rather than recalling the days I rollicked through the same aisles with the sole purpose of disturbing the men in dark suits and glistening shoes.

The division between the, nations, or the sexes, or the races, is not so broad and unbridgeable as the division between the generations. Here, integration of any real sort is all but impossible: for the young do not really believe in age, and the older among us do not really empathize with youth. They can not project, and we cannot reject. Cannot or will not, it all comes to the same thing.

And so the tableau continues to repeat itself — the "silly college kids" and the "fogey." But they are not as silly as they appear, and we are not as fogeyish as we seem to be. But we are all locked within our roles, trapped by our environment, the marionettes of time.

Cherry Trees And Red Tape

Watertown Times

Red tape, with its ensnaring qualities, seems always to be with us, sooner or later, we encounter it and are usually frustrated by it. We sympathize with others who become involved in it. Sometimes, however, the octopus-like tentacles that red tape puts out become downright indicrous.

Government red tape is probably the worst kind to run into, frighteningly involved, easily Grade A variety, in Washington today, an ominous amount of red tape is unrolling all the way from Japanese government officials to the White House and it is definitely not the red carpet variety.

The Japanese government offered to give 3,820 cherry trees to Washington. Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall is credited with arranging and accepting the offer. Then the tape began to tangle. Department of Agriculture has a firm rule about importing fruit trees and says "No" to the offer. The State department worries about possible diplomatic repercussions. Then there is Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's promise of beautification of the nation's Capital.

Two solutions are offered. One is to accept some trees, and put them through the required two or three year process of fumigation and testing in quarantine, estimated to cost $100 per tree. The other suggestion is to accept, as a gift in the name of the Japanese government, cherry trees grown in this country.

No comment from the Japanese Embassy. Our State Department has issued the usual "thank you very much and we will work out the details" statement.

Compulsory Inspections

Hon. Irwin Haskett, Ontario's Minister of Transport, has decided that voluntary automobile inspection is not a good enough safeguard against accidents being caused by vehicles in a poor state of repair.

Therefore, this year the safety checks will be compulsory.

No reasonable person will quarrel with this decision. It involves no invasion of privacy. Nobody has any right to conceal the fact that the car he is driving is mechanically defective.

We do wonder, though, whether it is proposed to continue to publicly announce the location at which inspection units will be working. We can understand the announcement of the first places at which inspections will be held near Perth and Cooksville.. But if similar publicity is given to inspection locations when the units move each week, the purpose of compulsory examinations will be at least partly defeated. Those who are driving defective cars, and know they are doing so, will simply avoid using the highways on which inspection teams are located.

Quite a few motorists who would not have submitted their cars for inspection voluntarily may have their cars declared under the changed system, but the long lines of cars which were seen in Belleville during voluntary checks last year were clear testimony to the fact that most motorists want to make certain their cars are safe. It is the few who deliberately seek to avoid inspection which the department apparently wants to catch by the compulsory feature—and announcing the locations for inspection units certainly tends to make this more difficult.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

May 18th, 1945

In the "talked of" stage for the past 18 years when the project was first broached before city council, the proposed Riverside Drive became a reality at a special meeting of property owners held in the city hall, Tuesday evening, when an immediate start on the project was voted.

It was voted that immediate steps be taken to acquire rights to the property needed, to purchase needed property and effect an entrance at the Bridge and Front Street entrances and to proceed with the construction of a passable roadway. It was also voted to establish a building line at a specified distance from Front Street.

By attendance at the meeting, considerably greater interest in the project was evinced by local property owners than had been at the previous meetings. Plans brought up to date by City Engineer according to instructions brought forward at the previous meeting were shown and explained by Regional Planning Chairman.

May 18th, 1935

Mr. Eric W. Cross, who was born in Madoc, where his father and since graduation in law has resided in Simcoe where he holds the office of Magistrate for Norfolk County, has been appointed by the Hepburn government to the position of chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board in succession to the late William Cross, Leicester, of Madoc.

Mrs. W. N. Ponton, Provincial commissioner of the Girl Guides Mrs. Leo B Riggs, district commissioner, Mrs. H. W. Ackernzan, deputy commissioner and Mrs. G. E. Deroche, motored to Toronto to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Council of Girl Guides.

40 YEARS AGO

May 18th, 1925

A barn and garage on Foster Avenue, owned by Albert E. Huff, was destroyed by fire yesterday.

Mr. Alex. McLeod, superintendent of government fish hatcheries, was in town yesterday.

Mr. William Wills, county road foreman, is making a great improvement on the county high way between Wallbridge Village and Maynooth. Some bad curves on this road have been removed.

The Victorian Order of Nurses tag day was a great success; the sum of $280 was collected.

Mr. R. H. Ketchenon went to Lindsay today on business.

50 YEARS AGO

May 18th, 1915

Fire broke out this morning in Johnstone's dancing academy on the upper floor of the Metropolitan Block, corner of Front and Campbell Streets and considerable damage resulted before the flames were extinguished.

The city council has made a grant of $400 to the regimental funds of the 39th Battalion, C.E.F., to help buy the need and comforts of the rank and file.

The 39th Regiment which is stationed here is divided into two lots; part at barracks on Pinnacle Street, south of Dundas Street, and 500 on Zwick's Island.

The officers of the 39th Battalion now have their horses and they present a fine appearance on parade.

Lieut.-Col. Philip H. Hambly of this city received a cable-gram from his daughter, Miss Mary H. Hambly, nurse, announcing her safe arrival in England.

Two solutions are offered. One is to accept some trees, and put them through the required two or three year process of fumigation and testing in quarantine, estimated to cost $100 per tree. The other suggestion is to accept, as a gift in the name of the Japanese government, cherry trees grown in this country.

No comment from the Japanese Embassy. Our State Department has issued the usual "thank you very much and we will work out the details" statement.

HONORED AT QUEEN'S CONVOCATION — Major-General R. H. Keefler (left), president of Northern Electric Company Limited, was honored Saturday at a Queen's University convocation. Major-General Keefler received an honorary LL.D. degree for his contribution to industry and science, notably through the "imaginative and massive" research program of Northern Electric. He is shown by the research wing of the Queen's physics building with Dean James H. Brown (centre) of the faculty of applied science and Col. R. D. Harkness, chairman of Queen's board of trustees.

Deaf Children Exhibit Charm and Rhythm in Performing at Rotary

Like many students at the Ontario School for the Deaf in Belleville, Donna Bamford and Sharon Duffin enjoy dancing to the music of the Beatles and other popular groups.

And even when the music stops, the girls — and the boys — may go on twisting or stomping as the case may be. This is because the school teaches them a rhythm program; they are taught for instance to be sensitive to vibrations from a piano when they place their hands on the instrument.

Guests at yesterday's Rotary luncheon in the Hotel Quinte, the girls' faces lighted up when asked by Joe Demeza, superintendent of the School for the Deaf, if they enjoyed dancing and the Beatles.

"As the result of this training the girls have rhythm "in their heads," as one Rotarian put it. It becomes instinctive.

Mr. Demeza explained that the rhythm program had an other important function. It was related to the students' speech training, making for improvement in this sphere. Following his talk on the school's training program, Mr. Demeza held a discussion with the girls which resulted them to show their skills at lip reading.

Highly intelligent despite the handicap of total deafness, the girls responded to Mr. Demeza's questions with their own speaking voices, though because of the difficulty they have in such enunciation among from deafness in the first place, they ordinarily employ lip reading when talking among themselves.

NEAR GRADUATION

Miss Burford of Toronto, and Miss Duffin of Pallston, Ont., have attended the school since they were "little tots," Both 16, they have received business training and will take up office work after graduating this year.

Mr. Demeza said that 200 pupils from all over were considered uneducable. "We have come a long way since then, and although it is still regarded as a serious handicap a great deal can be done in the education sphere for deaf persons."

He said deaf children covered the same range of intelligence found among students in public and high schools; however, they were severely handicapped by their deafness in the acquisition of verbal knowledges. Miss Burford and Miss Duffin came to the school with no knowledge of words, or first years of school behind them having no such handicap. A controlled program of study was followed to help them and other students bridge the gap.

was thanked by Ed Burnham.

Rotary president Stan Reston, who presided, said the Easter Seals campaign had realized a record $5,714.

APPROVES GRANT

FALSE TEETH That Looses Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at the wrong time. Don't live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate breath" odor. Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

REST CENTRE

Ba Long also was said to be a concentration point for north Vietnamese infiltrators and a rest centre for guerrillas. The base is surrounded by a network of foxholes, trenches and tunnels.

Two battalions of the elite South Vietnamese airborne brigade were believed to be taking part in the attack on the Ba Long base.

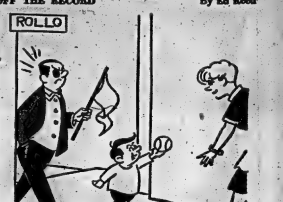
miners held four Americans hostage and later released them unharmed.

Reports from Catavi said miners there called for a general strike and the withholding of tin intended for export.

Trade unionists gathered outside the labor confederation headquarters and shouted anti-government slogans.



A presidency spokesman said no one had been arrested but several arrest orders were out. ONE YEAR AGO

Police used tear gas to break up a demonstration outside the U.S. Embassy. A police jeep was thrown into a river and some of the demonstrators started barricading themselves near San Andreas University.

The demonstrators shouted "death to the military boot" and "long live the worker-peasant government."

Successful Living

Wife Sees Her Snoring Threaten Marital Bliss

DEAR DORIS — I am a woman, but you would never know it from the snoring I do when I am asleep. My husband is threatening to leave not only my bed but my room, and after 14 years of a very happy marriage, I am afraid that that would be the first step in the wrong direction.

DORIS CLARK

My husband cannot wear ear plugs due to his work, as he is liable to be phoned during the late hours of night but even if he could, I cannot plug all the family's ears. I have tried dieting, eating a clove of garlic before retiring, etc., etc., but nothing works, in fact the clove of garlic idea made matters even worse.

I refuse to go on vacation or visiting and in fact I discourage anyone coming here as my husband says I snore so loudly that he can hear me downstairs when he is sitting watching TV and I am asleep upstairs.—DESPERATE.

DEAR DESPERATE — Says my medical consultant: Nasal polyps are a fairly frequent cause of snoring, but many will snore with quite normal equipment. Lying on one's back is snore-producing.

As one gets older the tendency increases. You should see your doctor, to rule out an organic cause. Then, he says, lie on your side with your chin not down on your chest — and pray for patience on your husband's side!

To this the social worker side of me would add: There's something good to be said for separate rooms. Think seriously about this, out of consideration for your husband. He'll love you all the more if you take the initiative in this, and do it with a sense of adventure!

DEAR DORIS — I'm looking for a respectable girl friend and perhaps to be my wife later. Where do I find such a thing?

Don't give me any foolish replies. Don't refer me to churches, night clubs or dances. Don't keep me waiting too long in suspicion. — THIRTY-SEVEN.

DEAR THIRTY-SEVEN — I have my own suspicion about your rating as a marriage partner. In any case, if you stay home and don't go anywhere, you won't find anyone.

And if you persist in issuing arbitrary instructions to all and sundry, even the loneliest of bachelor girls won't take a chance on you. Have you any love in your heart, to give?

Confidential to "ANOTHER ONE" — Sorry, but I have no proper name or address for "Blushing Bob." He must have been too bashful and blushing to identify himself. If he would like to write in again, doing so, I would be glad to forward your helpful note.

Confidential to BRENDA — If you can't talk to your workworn mother when she does get home, tell your story on paper, as you did to me.

Make a list of the jobs you do and the time they take. Sisters of 11 and six need to carry their share, and would eventually enjoy this if they could see they were needed and counted on. By all means boil over to your guidance teacher.

DEAR DORIS — Would you please inform me as to what would be most appropriate in giving a nun teacher a gift?

I crochet very much. Would you know of any gifts to give in this needlecraft? — DOTTIE.

DEAR DOTTIE — Your nun teacher doubtless lives in residence with the holy order to which she belongs. This means she has none of the sometimes hand worked possessions which go with running one's own home, such as towels or pillowslips. She doesn't even supply her own clothing.

But I have it on good authority that many a Sister has a sweet tooth! Also she is far more likely to use a dainty handkerchief than a paper hand tissue and would prize a crochet-edged linen one. Other ideas? A pen, a pencil, stationery, books, change purse, wallet, key case.

Best idea of all: Visit your Catholic book store or gift shop and get the suggestions of the saleslady there.

Amodeo's Super Save on North Front Street opens tomorrow. One of its many features is the overhanging eaves which allow outside displays to be protected from the elements.

New Store Is Big, Bright With Supermarket Luxuries

A big, bright store, equipped with the latest in supermarket luxuries, Amodeo's Super Save at 242 North Front Street will be open tomorrow and every other day, except Sundays, from 9 a.m. til 10 p.m.

A reception stand at the front of the store performs the function of greeting customers to the friendly atmosphere of Amodeos. Customers can get a free cup of coffee any time at the reception stand. The stand also serves as a bottle return, where cash is exchanged for bottles, and a phone order service. Amodeo's will deliver free any order over $7.00.

The four check-out counters ensure speedy, efficient service for the customer and serve to eliminate those long, tiring lineups.

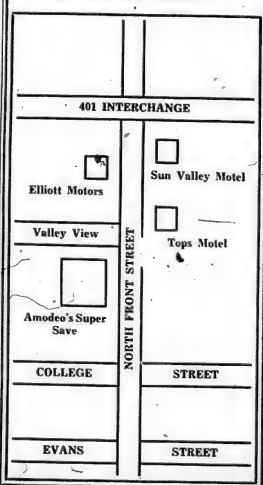
The produce department features a 24-foot double-decked, self-serve refrigerated display case. The full-contoured front provides the ultimate in shopping ease and the case itself has two thermostats to insure that all products will be kept at their proper temperature.

An 18-foot four-decked refrigerated display case houses the dairy products in the store. This powerful display of four tiers of refrigerated products affords a great saving of space, thus allowing a greater variety of goods to be placed on display. The body-contoured design of the case allows a shopper's-eye view of all levels.

Amodeo's Super Save boasts 36 continuous feet of deep-cube frozen foods and ice cream for the customer. The breakfront design and thin-line front rail of the case allows the shopper to select the products on display with ease.

Amodeo's have always been famous for their high quality meats, and in recognizing this, they have provided 40 feet of meat display. For shopper convenience, 48 feet of the meat display is self-service, and for those who prefer the advice of a competent butcher, there is always one available behind the modern service meat case.

Another extra of the supermarket is the bakery section, a well-lit area of 20 feet providing fresh-daily products for the consumer.



The receiving methods at Amodeo's are also the most modern available. All receiving is done in the rear of the building on an elevated loading dock and transferred to a full basement where it is carefully priced. Then it is brought up to the main floor by conveyor belt in small lots so that the filling of shelves will not interfere with the customer's shopping convenience.

Super Save is one of Ontario's fastest growing market groups, serviced by National Grocers Company Limited. Starting in 1954, Super Save now have 28 big markets in 22 towns and cities in the province. They sell for less through modern merchandising and streamlined store operation in bright, modern markets.

INDEPENDENTLY OWNED

Super Save Markets are independently owned by a member of the community, and Belleville's new Super Save is no exception. Mike Amodeo has been a resident of Belleville for over 20 years. He is married and has five children and started in the food business in Belleville over 10 years ago with his store at 109 North Front Street. That store proved so successful, that he opened a second store at 20 Bridge Street. With the opening of his Super Save market, Mike has realized a life-long ambition of owning a large, modern supermarket.

Meet Johnny Bower!

The popular Johnny, quiet-spoken and likeable, does most of his talking with a pair of goalie pads and a stick to match.

JOHNNY BOWER

And he has been at it for a long, long while. According to the NHL record book, Bower was born on November 8, 1924. Some of his buddies kid the veteran, insisting that he has been playing goal at least that long.

It may seem so to opposing forwards at times but the records show he turned pro with Cleveland and Providence in the season of 1945-46. That was in the American Hockey League, some distance from his birthplace in Prince Albert, Sask.

Johnny starred in the American League until he got his first shot at the "big time," with the New York Rangers in the 1953-54 season. He played all 70 games, compiling a 2.60 average, plus five shutouts, but found himself back in the minors the next season.

Performing with Vancouver, of the Western Hockey League, Bower won the leading goalie's award with a 2.71 average and seven shutouts and still had time to play five games with the parent Rangers.

He spent the next two winters in Providence, back in the AHL, getting in two games with the Rangers. Then it was back to his first pro love, Cleveland, for the 1957-58 season, again to star with a 2.19 average and eight shutouts.

It was the next year that he got the break that so many hockey experts figured should have come earlier. He was purchased by the Toronto Maple Leafs — and has never looked back.

In his first six seasons with the Leafs, Bower chalked up averages of 2.74, 2.73, 2.50 (good enough for the Vezina Trophy in 1960-61), 2.58, 2.62 and 2.12.

As is well known, Bower shared the Leaf duties with another seasoned veteran, Terry Sawchuk, this season, and it was Bower's great clutch shutout, in Detroit, on the final night of the schedule which brought the Vezina Trophy back to Toronto.

Bower blanked the red-hot Red Wings 4-0 that night, overcoming a two-goal deficit in the Vezina race. Sawchuk and Bower gave up 172 goals over the season, Detroit's all-star and rookie of the year winner, Roger Crozier, finishing second with 173 against. Chicago's team of Glen Hall and Denis DeJordy was a close third with 176 against.

While Bower and Sawchuk agreed earlier to split any award money, the NHL says that only Sawchuk's name will go on the Vezina Trophy. Terry played 36 games to Bower's 34. Johnny was the Leafs' bright spot against Montreal in the semi-finals, starring throughout.

Despite his advanced years, as far as pro athletes go, don't be surprised to see Johnny right back in the middle of NHL action for a year or so yet!

TRAVELLED IN VAIN

ASTON, England (CP)—Birmingham cab - driver John Twamley had no idea when he picked up a fare that he would still be carrying him around three days and 1,300 miles later. His passenger was a Pakistani who travelled all over the north of England looking for a relative for whom a job was waiting. By the time the man had been found, the job was gone.

HIGH-FASHION MADE AT HOME — This is a home - sewn culotte by Luis Estevez, one of many spring-into-summer costumes available from high fashion houses for home sewers. This item is a blazing pink silk strewn with brilliant lime dots.

Top Couturiers Give Some Hints on Plans To Make Spring Clothes

By MARGARET NESS

Planning to make some clothes for a spring trip? Some of the top couturiers are ready to give you a hand.

Oleg Cassini, Luis Estevez, Hannah Troy, Bud Kilpatrick of California and Edith Head of Hollywood are a few of the designers who have created separate coat and dress costumes available in patterns. The prominent designer fashions include an overcoat from a chemise dress to a jumpsuit.

Oleg Cassini, who always manages to combine femininity with a certain boyish charm, has created a Prince's jacket for a spring suit in pale biscuit tweed, bonded to a tricot backing. The bowed blouse is in matching white piqué.

Singer sewing experts give this jacket-like suit bonded jersey. It's easy to sew if you use synthetic thread, a medium stitch (12 stitches to the inch) and balanced tension on both spool and bobbin threads. There's no special finish as fabric edges will not ravel.

For daytime Bud Kilpatrick designed a costume of yoke-styled white linen coat over an easy - skirted black - and-white silk printed dress. For extra interest, add a head kerchief of the same print.

Here's Singer advice on fitting a lining in a loose coat. Turn the coat inside out and hang it on a dress form—or get your best friend—and then fit the lining on the coat.

HOW TO HANDLE CHIFFON

Chiffon continues its popularity right into summer. Many home sewers avoid this, to them, difficult fabric but you can handle chiffon or any sheer fabric with maximum result by cutting and sewing the lining and the chiffon as though they were a single fabric. Place the chiffon over the lining and baste down the centre and around the edges near the seam lines. Darts are stitched before the sections are seamed together. Then you sew the two as one.

In the pattern collection Hannah Troy's split-level chiffon dress has a casual look with airy sleeves and a floating scarf-collar. She chose a broken plaiding streaked with vivid pink and lime green across white.

A two-piece dress by Mr. Mort provides pattern followers with the difficulty of the new side-swept closing. This dress is double-breasted over a panelled front skirt. The fabric is a shell-knit jacquard blend. The success in making this new swept side closing is to be sure that the grain of the facing pieces matches that of the section to be faced.

If you like ruffles, Luis Estevez is the designer for you. His patterned black crepe dress has lace ruffings at the neckline, down and back and around an apron-panel front. Ruffles again are a spring fashion that is carrying over into summer.

Culottes are a popular at-home costume and Estevez is introducing them in the new back-dipping hemline. It gives a most interesting look to the culotte pants. He also loves vivid colors, probably due to his Spanish heritage. So he chose a blazing pink silk strewn with brilliant lime dots.

His clipped effect is tricky for the average sewer, Singer warns, because of the need for deep facing. Make certain that the facing pieces are cut on the same grain as the culotte leg.

And here's a last piece of advice for those who will be using the increasingly popular stretch fabrics. Remember that you may not need quite as much ease allowance as when making the same style in a firm fabric. Use a size-14 sewing-machine needle and a 12-to-15 stitch length with tension regulated to produce an evenly-balanced stitch. Seams on stretch direction require special handling. As you stitch, stretch the fabric by holding it behind and in front of the presser foot.

Statistics from the United States—and these will hold true to a great extent in Canada—prove that the home seamstress is more than holding her own. Sixty-six per cent of homes have sewing machines. More than 40,000,000 women and girls sew regularly. Forty-four per cent of them are under 30 years, 31 per cent are career women. Their income is above average.

Their reason for sewing? Surveys indicate it is because they actually like to sew.

Bemersyde Chapter Holds Annual Tea

CAMPBELLFORD — Bemersyde Chapter I.O.D.E. held its annual tea on Saturday at the home of Mrs. F. G. De Carroll.

The attendance was not as large as has been other years. Receiving the guests with Mrs. De Carroll was Regent of the Chapter Mrs. W. A. Kingston.

A fine display of home cooking was the centre of sales and was in charge of Mrs. D. Carswell and Mrs. J. Connor.

Many varieties of candy were for sale under the supervision of Mrs. D. Watters and Mrs. William Peeling.

The dining room was attractively decorated and some of the members who poured were Mrs. A. D. Bennett, Mrs. W. H. Johnston, Mrs. F. T. Rutherford and Provincial convenor Mrs. J. O. Benor.

Included among the guests was Provincial standard bearer, Mrs. S. McBride of Peterborough.

Winnner of the draw was Mrs. A. J. Bond.

FANS FOLLOW TROUPE

MONTREAL (CP) — In England, fans of the D'Oyly Carte opera company, which presents Gilbert and Sullivan comic operas in the traditional Victorian style, follow the troupe from town to town, said Jennifer Toye, one of the principal sopranos, here for a short tour with the company.

A REMINDER

Pictures may be submitted by your photographer up to three days after the wedding. We cannot promise publication of weddings sent in later.

St. Andrew's Children's Groups Entertain Parents

Parents and friends of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Explorers and Children-of-the-Church were guests recently at a combined meeting of these groups.

The program included a puppet show entitled, "Shepherds of the Hills", produced by the Children-of-the-Church and Blue and Gold Star presentations by the Explorers.

Explorers receiving first Blue Stars were Stephen Doidge, Lyn Bateman, George Sheffield, Lynn Williamson and Sharon Wright; second Blue Stars, to Sharon Coon, George Sheffield and Glen Sine; first and second Gold Stars earned by senior Explorers, Heather Doidge and Ann Fraser who will be graduating to C.G.I.T. in September.

Mrs. D. K. Taylor was present, on behalf of the Kingston Presbyterial, to receive and dedicate gifts of money contributed by both children' groups for mission work.

The final meeting before the summer vacation will be held this week for Explorers and Children-of-the-Church and will take the form of an outdoor supper at Zwick's Island.

W. I. Executive Plans for Convention

On May 11, Mrs. S. R. Beatty of Madoc, president of the Trent Valley Area Women's Institutes was in charge of the annual executive meeting held with two sessions in the Belmont Restaurant Board Room, Belleville.

The Trent Valley area covers the combined seven Institute districts which are: Hastings West, East and North; Prince Edward, Northumberland East and West, and Peterborough. All 12 members of the following executive were present and included: president, Mrs. S. R. Beatty of Madoc; past president, Mrs. John Reid of Trenton; 1st vice-president, Mrs. H. Shearer, Lakefield; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. T. M. Greene of Colborne; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Arnold Barber, Prince Edward; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Percy Ray of Hallway; board direction of subdivision 5, Mrs. Grant McLaren, Shannonville; board director, subdivision 6, Mrs. W. A. Goodfellow, Codrington; public relations representative, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Stirling R.R. 3.

The convention committee members were; Mrs. H. Digweed of Warsaw; Mrs. Allen Linton of Cobourg, and Mrs. E. Underhill of Campbellford.

The 39th area convention will be held Thursday and Friday, November 25th and 26th in Club Canara, Belleville, and the theme will be much the same as last year. The theme will be "Working Together," and the district presidents will answer the roll call on that subject. Each district will provide an item of entertainment and three districts will arrange for conversenship.

The area Tweedsmuir history book was displayed by the secretary, Mrs. Ray and the cover was painted by Mrs. Arnold Sidney South Women's Institute.

CONVENTION PLANS

The convention plans were arranged and it was decided that on the first afternoon the election of officers will be held and there will be a special address by Mrs. L. B. Trivers, Thessalon, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario. That same evening Mrs. Trivers will give the highlights of her trip to Ireland as she is the Ontario delegate to the A.C.W.W. triennial conference.

On Friday Miss Helen McKercher of Toronto, director of Home Economics Service will give a concise message pertaining to that department. That afternoon the three home economists in the area will give an outline of their work. A special item will be given by Mrs. W. A. Goodfellow who plans to provide her own trip to Ireland and will attend most of the session as an observer. It is entitled 'Memories of Ireland'. The two day convention is well planned and should be of interest to all.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, public relations officer stressed that P.R.O. is not a convenership but each officer of the department should have a few minutes at every meeting to give up-to-date information. This officer should also keep two hand-book rules before the members. Three of the important ones are found, first on page 13 that membership fee of $1. must be paid by December 31 of each year. Another states clearly the terms of life membership for 25 consecutive years as an Institute member and that full particulars are listed re the transfer of membership from one branch to another.

Pennies for Friendship are greatly needed in order to keep the work of A.C.W.W. at its usual level; also to operate the Lady Aberdeen Scholarship fund. This group has attracted women of varying interests and ages and all given their loyal service. Mrs. Elizabeth Binsey has stressed that Pennies for Friendship is one way of providing the headquarters fund with funds to carry on their understanding of the needs of country women all over the world, bringing width of vision to their A.C.W.W. work.

SOUVENIR COPIES

Mrs. MacMullen announced that she would have for sale at the convention special souvenir copies of the August issue of the Countrywomen Magazine which will give a vivid picture of the triennial convention at Dublin, Ireland. All profits will go to the A.C.W.W. penny fund.

Last year penny jars were displayed in the convention hall and $10. was given voluntarily. This money was forwarded to A.C.W.W. and they were grateful for the donation.

Mrs. Zarie Denyes and Mrs. Noble Brown of Belleville will again act as billeting committee for the 30th annual convention in November.

U.C.W. Meeting

SALEM U.C.W.

SALEM — The May meeting of Salem U.C.W. was held in the church hall on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Orval Jackson as hostess.

Mrs. Stanley Thompson opened the meeting. Mrs. Albert Twiddy, acting as secretary, read the minutes, and Mrs. G. Sine gave the treasurer's report. It was decided that study books will be purchased and a committee was appointed to arrange for a wedding. A quilt was completed for Mrs. J. B. Hagerman. An invitation from Springbrook was accepted.

Mrs. Marney Johnston presented the program, taking as her theme, "Family-Life." A passage of Scripture was read by Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. S. Keller. Mrs. Johnston gave a commentary, based on family life, Mrs. Kebow led in prayer and Mrs. Stewart Brady and Mrs. Orval Jackson gave readings. Mrs. Vine Hagerman presented an instrumental selection. Mrs. Frank McGee most capably presented a chapter of the study book, entitled "Salvation." Mrs. Mel Wickens extended a vote of thanks to all who helped with the program, and the meeting closed.

Couple Observes 25th Anniversary

READ — Mr. and Mrs. Vincent McDermott recently celebrated their 25th anniversary. They hosted their 25th anniversary. They were married at Sacred Heart Church, Marmora by Rev. H. Farrell; their attendants being Mrs. Myrtle McCormick and Leonard McDermott. Their marriage was blessed with eight children.

The family held a Mass offered for their parents in St. Charles Borromeo church, Read. Miss M. Fealey of Toronto sang two solos.

The relatives later gathered at the house afterwards to honor the couple. The biggest surprise of the event was that of the coming of Mrs. McDermotts' sister, Mrs. Henry Nelson and family from Winnipeg.

A wedding dinner was held at the Sun Valley Motel for 35 guests when the family presented their parents with a kitchen chrome suite.

On May 3rd the community held a party in Read Hall in honor Mr. and Mrs. McDermott. Music was supplied by Nolan's for dancing and lunch was served at midnight. The couple was presented with a davenport and armed rocker. They also received many pieces of silverware and a purse of money.

ECONOMICAL YEAST ROLLS

The bake shops sell professional butter-layered Fan Tans, but you can make them at half the price.

When I see my guests breaking open Fan Tans, hot and fresh from the oven, little shivers of satisfaction run through me. They butter them, then they take their bite and mumble "Uhm-m".

Make Fan Tans and you'll rate "Uhms" too.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

FAN TANS (layered yeast rolls — makes 18):

¾ cup milk, scalded, ¼ cup cold water, 1 package granular yeast, 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ cup lukewarm water, 2¼ teaspoons salt, 1/3 cup sugar, 1/3 cup soft shortening, 3¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour, about ½ cup melted butter.

Add the ¼ cup cold water to the scalded milk to cool it down quickly.

Into large mixing bowl put the ½ cup lukewarm water and sugar and sprinkle yeast over. Give it one stir and let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, sift and measure flour.

When yeast liquid has soaked 10 minutes add the lukewarm milk and water mixture along with the salt, sugar and shortening. Mix to break up shortening, then beat in 2 cups sifted flour until mixture is blended. Then stir in remaining flour as well as you can. (Kneading is not necessary at this stage.) Scrape dough down from sides of bowl, cover and let rise about 2 hours at room temperature.

Flour your kneading board with an additional ½ cup flour. Turn dough out on it and knead 50 times. Cut dough into three even pieces. With rolling pin roll one piece out to a rectangle 9 x 13", with corners as square as you can manage. Brush generously with melted butter. Cut into 7 lengthwise strips and stack these strips on top of each other to form a 7-layer pile. With a sharp knife cut into 6 pieces and place, cut side up, in buttered muffin tins.

Repeat this rolling, buttering, layering and cutting with remaining 2 pieces of dough.

Brush tops of rolls generously with melted butter, spread the layers apart a little with fingertips if they tend to cling together. (However, they blossom out a bit on rising and more in oven.) Let rise until they fill the muffin tins and are about ¼" above rims.

Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 12 to 15 minutes, switching pans in oven at halftime. Serve hot.

Guild Holds Spring Tea

SHANNONVILLE — A most delightful and successful event took place recently at the Orange Hall, Shannonville, when the ladies of the Holy Trinity Anglican Guild held a "Spring Fling" tea and bazaar.

Mrs. E. P. Smith, wife of the minister and Mrs. A. McKenzie, president, warmly greeted the guests and Mrs. T. Whittle was in charge of the tickets.

The tea room was decorated in spring colors, yellow, mauve and pink and at either end of the tea table was a gleaming tea service. The guests' tables carried out the theme of the tea with a centrepiece of flowers.

Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Fitzgerald honorary members and Mrs. Kilburn poured tea.

The kitchen conveners were Mrs. G. Sager, Gloria Whittle and Mrs. F. Peters.

The various tales tables showed a most attractive display of goods with each laden with an array of items and these included the needlework table with Mrs. R. Henderson and Mrs. A. Long in charge. Bake table convened by Mrs. M. Bradshaw assisted by Sandra Todd and Brenda Bruce. A fish pond convened by Joy Whittle, Mrs. L. Brant in charge of the book and sales table. Mrs. J. Kent convened the millinery table and there was a table of doll clothes with Mrs. Corby in charge.

A draw for a door prize later in the afternoon was won by Mrs. Fitzgerald.

The ladies of the Guild appreciated the presence of Rev. J. A. Dunlop and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bates and all the ladies from the other churches.

The day ended with a social evening of dancing to the McAvoy Orchestra.

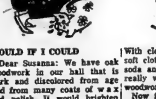
ST. COLUMBA WOMEN

The May meeting of the Presbyterian Women of St. Columba opened with a devotion by Mary McLaughlin, with Gwen Brain as pianist.

Marna Dewlin introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Homewood of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Homewood told of the work of her husband and herself during their years in India. She spoke of the school which they conducted, where classes began at dawn and finished about noon in order to escape the intense afternoon heat. She also described the clothes popular in India and demonstrated the proper way to wear a sari. Her talk touched on many aspects of life in India headed education.

Mary McLaughlin reported the recent rummage sale a complete success and thanked all who had helped.

Dorothy Kidd reported on plans for the Strawberry Fair for which beach bags will be made by some of the ladies at the next meeting.



Vivian Butterfil suggested taking orders for making Christmas cakes. She told of having written to Mary Moore, who responded with great encouragement and several recipes. All present were in favor and a committee was formed to convene this project.

Gwen Brain reported for the V.O.N. and told of plans for the annual V.O.N. tea to be held this year at Holloway Street United Church. Several ladies volunteered to help at this event.

A social half hour was held midway in the evening with hostesses Vivian Butterfil and Mildred Pollard serving refreshments.

WOULD IF I COULD

Dear Susanna: We have oak woodwork in our hall that is dark and discolored from age and from many coats of wax and polish. It would brighten our home to paint this wood out but the matter of preparation before the paint is applied has us worried.

Would it be essential to remove all the old build-up of polish? — "Mr. and Mrs."

If you don't, you'll have to let the chips fall where they may! The cleaner the surface to begin with, the better chance you will have of the paint staying smoothly on the wood instead of chipping off and revealing unsightly little dark spots. Here is a method we have used that is hard to beat:

Pull on your rubber gloves and wring out a soft cloth in hot water. Sprinkle the cloth liberally with baking soda. Allow the soda to become moist and rub the cloth lightly over the woodwork leaving as much soda on the surface as possible. Allow it to dry for half an hour. With clear warm water and a soft cloth, wash off the baking soda and wax together. This really works wonders on oak woodwork.

Now for the piece de resistance! For those of us who adore restoring old discarded or antique furniture, I'm sure you will be just as thrilled as I am with a formula for a most reasonable and effective, combination polish and cleaner for this purpose. One of our generous readers submitted it with the comment that it is ridiculously simple to make and gorgeous to apply. I couldn't agree with her more.

You may have the recipe immediately if you wish, but I do have a suggestion. If I were to receive a wee hint or two from you in exchange, I would think that you are so very, very sporting! — SUSANNA

(If you have any hints for running a successful household or any problems — write to Susanna, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope when requesting pamphlets.)

Winter Damage Will Lighten Peach Crop

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The 1965 peach crop in some southwestern Ontario areas will be considerably lighter than last year because of extensive winter damage, a survey indicates Monday.

Roy Hills of the provincial department of agriculture in Simcoe said it will take several weeks to assess the damage in Norfolk County, but if early indications are borne out the crop might not supply local markets.

J. J. Johnson of the federal agriculture department in Parkhill, said the crop in Lambton, Middlesex, Elgin and Huron counties are carrying an average amount of blossom although is me bud mortality is evident.

Crops in Norfolk and Brant counties and in the western end of the Niagara Peninsula also have been damaged, another official said.

J. M. Sandham of the peach marketing board in Vineland, said however that most of the Niagara Peninsula which produces the biggest share of the Ontario crop escaped damage as did Essex County, also a major producer. Areas on the peninsula hardest hit were between Grimsby and Hamilton.

Business Must Meet Challenge Of Change

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Business, big and small, has a responsibility to its employees and to society in general to help meet the challenges the world is facing because of technological changes, the annual meeting of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce was told Monday.

F. K. Richan, director of industrial relations for Philips Electronics Industries Ltd. of Toronto, told the 200 delegates that if business doesn't meet that challenge, government or the unions will.

His remarks to a panel discussion on the role of education in business shortly after some delegates had unanimously defeated a proposal that would have had the chamber press for a limitation on the number of workers a company employed before it would have had to meet them in collective bargaining.

A resolution was presented asking delegates to approve a change in the Ontario Labor Relations Act so no organization with fewer than 15 workers would be eligible for the right to bargain collectively.

It said the act now provides for the unionization of labor groups on a basis one worker—as well as the carving out of small groups of trade - union employees from larger representational bodies.

SAID UNREASONABLE

The resolution, presented by the chamber's employer - employee relations committee, said it is "unreasonable and inefficient" to require companies to deal with labor units of fewer than 15 workers. The proposal ran into immediate opposition from the floor, with the major attacks coming from the Lakehead, Brantford and the Toronto Board of Trade.

The Lakehead delegation said the resolution would, if adopted, result in discrimination against company with fewer than 15 workers.

Those with more than 15 would have to operate "under the burden of union costs" while smaller firms would not be required to bargain collectively.

Brantford said subcontractors would be free most of jobs limited to union work only.

The Toronto board criticized the suggestion as being contrary to the worker's right to bargain, as provided by the law.

ITS A RIGHT

"Surely a right is a right," said A. C. Chrysler, the board's legal counsel. "You can't say you have it only in a big group, while denying it to a small group."

Canada Deeply Troubled Over Military Intervention In the Dominican Republic

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government, without saying so publicly, is deeply troubled about the United States' military intervention in the Dominican Republic.

One highly qualified source says the intervention is cause of concern, but what it signifies in terms of over-all U.S. policy might be cause for even more concern.

In other words, the government is asking: Is President Johnson adopting a hard-line foreign policy in which he will take unilateral and peremptory decisions against the Communists without consulting his allies?

Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin have declined to state precisely whether Canada approves or disapproves of American intervention in the Dominican Republic.

But Mr. Pearson has said the the government has no evidence of a planned Communist takeover in the Caribbean country—the avowed premise of Mr. Johnson for intervention. The prime minister has said only that there are some Communists, including some with the Castro type, among the rebels.

Asked to define Canadian policy on the Dominican Republic, Mr. Pearson said May 5: "We hope that peace, security and stability will soon be returned to that country under a government of its own choosing."

Informants say the government was having a hard enough time combatting criticism of its support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam when the Dominican episode erupted.

Although there is no parallel between the two situations, the government is worried that support for an American policy of intervention in Viet Nam will leave the impression with the Canadian public that it automatically supports U.S. policy in the Dominican Republic.

At the same time, the government doesn't feel it should publicly criticize an ally on which Canada depends for its defence.

The government has said that U.S. forces are in Viet Nam at the request of the government of that country and that the air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam are a response to Communist subversion in the south.

No such similarities exist in the Dominican Republic and Mr. Pearson has said that the situation there is not analogous to the one in Cuba in 1962 when the Soviet Union installed missiles.

Sources say the government would regard as a disaster any overt U.S. action which would tend to undo the advances made by the partial nuclear test ban treaty and the corrosion of the Iron Curtain.

In the long run, the reaction of the Communist bloc to the American intervention in the Dominican Republic will be far more critical than the intervention itself.

Russians Unsuccessful In Past Years in Recruiting Canadians for Spy Work

OTTAWA (CP)—The Russian embassy here has been singularly unsuccessful in recent years in recruiting Canadians as spies.

But it keeps trying. Maybe it hopes for a return of the good old espionage days of the Second World War when it set up a fruitful spy apparatus in Canada under Col. Nikolai Zabotin.

In the latest case, the RCMP's counter - intelligence branch used the Canadian the Russians thought was working for them to penetrate the Soviet system and to catch another person who may have been delivering the real goods.

This last person appears to be the only one since 1946 against whom the government has considered laying espionage charges—and he is reported near death from natural causes.

It has been suggested here that charges were never laid in the six previous post-war cases because the Russians never obtained any classified information.

APPEAR INEPT

The intelligence source said Soviet officials at least those in Canada—don't seem to have any grasp of the rudiments of espionage.

He said the usual recruiting method is to get a Canadian close to the embassy for a film showing. This is followed by an invitation to a Russian official's home or apartment. And almost right away, there are crude, personal questions about the Canadian's mortgage, payments on his car, family life and the like.

The RCMP is not nearly so concerned about such bumbledehoodle as it is about the "long plant." This may be a Soviet spy or Canadian recruited as a spy who goes underground for many years and who may never be called on to attempt to get information for, say, 20 years.

Such agents are difficult, if not impossible, to find. One such was Gordon Arnold Lonsdale, who assumed that name of a Canadian who had disappeared in Finland in 1932, obtained a Canadian passport in 1954 and was eventually caught in 1961 in England spying for Moscow.

In the Soviet embassy official G. F. Popov was expelled from Canada for trying to obtain information about new aircraft. The person he approached told the RCMP.

POLE BOOSTED

In 1958, Stanislas Michno, a member of the Soviet embassy, was booted out of Canada for trying to make intelligence contacts.

In 1959, an unnamed Soviet military attache was ordered out of Canada for the same reason. The same thing happened to an unnamed Czech embassy official in 1960.

In 1961, Lt.-Col. A. F. Logunov cultivated a Canadian civil servant for 18 months only to be trapped by the RCMP when receiving fake documents he thought contained secret data.

In 1964, a similar embarrassment overcame Vasily Tarasov, a reporter for Izvestia. He was caught in a police plant by a civil servant.

In the latest case, disclosed May 8, A. E. Bytchkov and V. A. Polushkin were expelled after paying two Canadians thousands of dollars over a considerable period of time. One of these Canadians acted as a decoy for the Russians.

Lawyer Claims Client in Case Is Insane

TORONTO (CP)—A 24-year-old man accused of capital murder in a bank holdup slaying last summer is insane, his lawyer told an Ontario Supreme Court jury Monday.

Defence Counsel John O'Driscoll said the accused, Matthew Smith, was not guilty of the crime by reason of insanity and the lawyer produced a series of psychiatrists and other doctors to testify to the man's mental disorder.

Smith is accused of killing bank customer Jack Blanc in an exchange of gunfire outside a suburban branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce last May 24. The robbery netted $25,361.

Smith was arrested about six months later on a downtown street. Evidence presented last week alleged that spent shell casings found at the holdup scene were fired from a rifle and an automatic pistol found in Smith's home.

SAY ADMITS ROBBERY

Police witnesses have testified that Smith admitted the robbery and slaying, quoting him as saying it was done to finance in the overthrow of the government.

Dr. Harry C. Hutchison, a psychologist, described Smith Monday as suffering from a serious mental disorder under which he regards himself as an "instrument of social justice."

Smith hoped eventually to cause a civil war, Dr. Hutchison said, and saw himself as head of the military or the police after the revolution.

Dr. Ronald Stokes, a psychiatrist, said he diagnosed Smith as a schizophrenic four years ago and now finds his condition "is becoming progressively worse." He extremely unlikely that Smith will ever be well enough in return to society, he said.

He described Smith as extremely dangerous, partly because of his above-average intelligence which makes him capable of cunning.

Eileen Charity Griffiths, 21, who lived with Smith and said he was the father his child in June, testified under protection of the Canada Evidence Act that Smith told her about the robbery and gave her money which she invested in an apartment building. She said Smith posed as an accessory to murder.

Smith's trial is continuing.

Parliament At a Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

MONDAY, May 17, 1965

The Commons gave final approval to amendments to the National Housing Act and committee-stage approval to a Senate retirement bill.

The NHA amendments raise ceilings for several categories of loans under Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.

The bill to retire senators at age 75 got seconds reading after an NDP motion to shelve it was voted down 112 to 15.

Study at the clause - by - clause stage was approved after the proposed $8,000 annual pension for retiring senators was made contributory.

The government introduced a resolution to establish a joint Commons - Senate committee to study the prison system.

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) said Canada's penitentiaries service is among the most backward in the world.

R. G. L. Fairweather (PC—Royal) said the committee should clearly complain that the government plans to build more "outmoded fortresses."

Worst Winter Wheat Kill On Record

CHATHAM (CP) — Ontario farmers this year have experienced one of the worst winter wheat kills on record—an estimated 28.4 per cent of the 1965 crop, a survey indicated Monday.

Officials of the Ontario Wheat Producers' Marketing Board said the Ontario agriculture department survey showed Kent and Essex counties were hardest hit.

About 46 per cent of the Essex crop was winter-killed and flooded out while Kent wheat producers lost an estimated 37 per cent.

Further east, Renfrew lost 63 per cent and Northumberland 56 per cent.

Officials said a 14,480,000 bushel crop now is forecast on the basis of the survey results. Although 492,000 acres of winter wheat were planted last fall, only 362,000 acres will be harvested.

By comparison, 480,000 acres were planted in the fall of 1963 and 455,000 acres remained to be harvested in 1964, with a winter loss of 5.2 per cent.

Nearly six per cent of farmers reported that all wheat sown in the fall of 1964 was winter killed. Thirty-one per cent, or 79,000 of the wheat acreage, is to be seeded with other crops.

Crop losses in other counties: Lambton, 19 per cent; Norfolk, 11 per cent; Huron, 11 per cent; Essex, 34 per cent; Waterloo, 27 per cent; York, 22 per cent.

No Further Information On Recent Spy Activities Acting P. M. Tells House

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided it will make public no further information on recent espionage activities which resulted in two Russian embassy officials being sent out of the country, Acting Prime Minister Martin said Monday.

His statement in the Commons brought the charge from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that "it looks like another case of covering up."

Mr. Martin, replying to a debate by Mr. Diefenbaker for the names of two Canadians connected with the case, said the government's decision was taken so as not to disclose the nature of Canadian security measures and how much is known about spy activities.

In security matters involving foreign agents it is difficult to make information public without disclosing arrangements to protect the security and safety of Canada, he said.

Some aspects were still under investigation and he appealed to the Commons to follow past practice of permitting the government to decide how much information can safely be revealed.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked whether in view of espionage activities involving two persons "and possibly others" the government plans to press charges against "wrong-doers" and reveal their names.

Should they enjoy the protection of anonymity having reportedly received thousands of dollars, he asked.

He also asked whether the government plans to name a royal commission on espionage and wrong-doing, some of it left over from 1946 when a "second spy ring" apparently went uninvestigated.

He did not clarify this reference to a second spy ring. It was in 1946 that a number of persons were charged as a result of disclosures of espionage activities made by former Russian embassy cipher clerk Igor Gouzenko.

Later, Mr. Diefenbaker said outside the Commons that his recollection of the report of the 1946 royal commission into the Gouzenko case mentioned a second spy ring and recommended that there be further investigation.

"There never was any further investigation," he said.

He said that in the present case the government had indicated one of those involved had been carrying on his activities by compromising women employees and planned to do so after he was confronted "under direction."

"It is a most inexcusable procedure," he said.

After what had happened in the cases of former union boss Hal Banks, fugitive narcotics suspect Lucien Rivard and other cases, the government's refusal to provide further information or have a royal commission investigate raised the question of "another cover-up."

Johnson Opens New Phase With Viet Nam and China

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Johnson, while leaving himself room to manoeuvre, has opened a new phase in his search for negotiation with North Viet Nam and China.

The terms of the new approach have been left vague enough to permit changes geared to the reaction of the other side.

But the message is clear enough for Hanoi and Peking to understand.

The approach, as outlined by U.S. actions and words, is this:

1. The U.S. will continue to resist a complete takeover of South Viet Nam by the Viet Cong rebels. But it considers no complete victory is in sight for either side — and thus would welcome a compromise settlement.

2. It concedes that the Viet Cong have some legitimate aspirations and is willing to do business with their main backers, the North Vietnamese regime in Hanoi. But it wants to cut China out of the picture as much as possible on the ground that Peking is trying to prevent a settlement and is cynically expanding its sphere of influence through the sacrifices of the Viet Cong.

3. Washington is prepared, after striking a deal over South Viet Nam, to launch what Johnson calls a "massive co-operative development effort for all Southeast Asia."

HALT AIR STRIKE

Apparently to show its good faith, the U.S. halted its air attacks on North Viet Nam at the same time Johnson outlined the new stance last Thursday.

American officials have described the halt as "operational" but other than five days without attacks the indications are that it is precisely the kind of pause selected by Prime Minister Pearson in Philadelphia April 20.

At U.S. government source disclosed Friday that Washington had earlier offered to stop the attacks if Hanoi would make some equivalent peace gesture, but had got no response.

REJECT CARROT

In public, Hanoi has rejected the new American approach as tricksy designed to cause a rift between North Viet Nam and China and as a "stick-and-carrot" tactic.

The rejection is not surprising. Any other reaction would have put Hanoi in the position of reaching eagerly for the carrot after the stick was withdrawn.

Political Leaders Scouring Countryside to Get Votes

OTTAWA (CP) — Don't let anybody tell you it's the beauties of the springtime Canadian countryside that are attracting the political leaders away from the appeal in such large numbers these days.

Their peregrinations, noticeably stepped up in the 1954 and 1958 campaigns, are likely to continue at a rapid pace, are a feature of the 1965 manoeuvres in cases of a federal election as well as to accept a variety of honors or address political and non-political audiences.

For Prime Minister Pearson, official duties are heavier than for the other political leaders so he has to squeeze his grass roots visiting into a tighter schedule.

Nevertheless his May engagements have taken or will take him twice to Montreal, and once each to Regina, Kingston, Sudbury, Ottawa and one of his Algoma East and neighboring Algoma West constituencies.

POUNDS TRAIL

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker has been criss-crossing the country with special emphasis on British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec. Even Mrs. Doug-las participates. She spoke last week to a women's group in Sudbury.

Social Credit Leader Thompson's itinerary has taken him several times to his Red Deer, Alta., constituency as well as to Toronto, Lindsay, Peterborough and Pembroke in Ontario and Calgary, Winnipeg and Montreal.

Credit Leader Caouette was sidelined by illness for a while but has managed several Quebec province visits and his right-hand man, Gilles Gregoire (Lepointe), has been touring the province widely in search of election candidates.

The prime minister's purely political activities included a $50-a-plate dinner in Montreal early this month attended by 1,200 federal Liberals from Quebec province.

Four of his public engagements involved receiving honorary degrees from Canadian universities—at Regina from the University of Saskatchewan Monday, at Sudbury from Laurentain University Friday, at Kingston from Queen's University Saturday and at Mogtreal from McGill University a week from Friday.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker spoke twice in Halifax and visited Digby, Annapolis, Cornwallis and Kentville, N.S., between April 22 and 24. He spoke and gave a press conference in Montreal April 28-29.

He flew north to the Conservative - held Northwest Territories riding May 6 for the Frobisher Bay winter carnival and spoke at a $10-a-plate dinner May 13 attended by almost 700 Conservatives from Sudbury and Nickel Belt ridings.

He was able to squeeze some fishing into this trip, landing a 42-inch great northern pike.

Bell's Record Of Earnings Under Review

OTTAWA (CP)—A Bell Telephone Co. of Canada executive said Monday that Bell's record earnings in 1964 were "still well below what the company considers to be a minimum earnings requirement."

Arnold J. Groleau, vice-president for finance, told the board of transport commissioners that the big Ontario - Quebec telephone utility has not been keeping pace with other large companies in terms of growth in profits and market prices.

Unless its performance improved, Bell would have increasing difficulty attracting the new investment needed to meet its heavy capital requirements in the next five years.

Mr. Groleau, winding up 10 days of testimony before the board by Bell witnesses, said the company should be allowed an annual profit equal to seven per cent of total capital invested. This would amount to $.5 per cent on equity capital of incomes, pegged at $2.71 a share, equal to 6.3 per cent on total capital or 7.3 per cent on the shareholders' equity.

Support for Ethnic Groups Asked by Ukranian Brief

WINNIPEG (CP) — Governments and public agencies should give moral and financial support to all ethnic groups, says the national headquarters of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee.

The committee, which claims to speak for most of the 475,000 Ukrainian Canadians, makes the proposal in a brief to be presented today to the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

It describes Canada as a multicultural country with equal rights for all citizens and says public agencies should take this into account in dealings with various ethnic groups.

The committee says the question of independence for Quebec should be submitted to a plebiscite in that province if Quebec voters decided to stay in Confederation, they should be given maximum autonomy compatible with the principle of "one democratic state." If they voted for independence, agreement should be reached with Canada to protect the rights of cultural minorities on both sides, the brief adds.

ASK CBC POST

It recommends the following measures to help the Ukrainian community preserve its heritage:

—Teaching Ukrainian and the languages of other ethnic groups as options with credits at the primary, secondary university and adult levels and broadening such courses to include the literature, history and culture of the particular ethnic group.

—Appointment of qualified Ukrainian Canadians to senior civil service positions and to such cultural agencies as the CBC, National Film Board and Canada Council.

Canada Council grants and scholarships to Ukrainian schools, cultural institutions and teachers. Settler on a federal department of culture.

—Consideration of creating ethnic television and radio networks in Western Canada to broadcast in languages other than English. Special programs on various ethnic groups on existing CBC and private stations.

—Formation of a voluntary "inter-ethnic body" to inform and advise governments of the public about the contributions and problems of ethnic groups other than British and French.

Similar briefs were being submitted by the local branch of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee and the women's section of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee.

Ryan of Le Devoir
From Quebec - - - The Firm Voice Of Tough-minded Moderation

By CY FOX

MONTREAL (CP) — It's barely three years since a fitmed-jawed Quebecer first entered full-time journalism and set himself the role of ideological middleman between French- and English - speaking Canadians.

Today, 48 - year - old Claude Ryan is publisher and acting editor-in-chief of the French-language daily, Le Devoir, delivering his message in editorials and from speaker's platforms across the country.

Preaching a type of tough-minded moderation, he directs his fire at any violation of what he calls the spirit of dualism—"that real thing without which Canada would have no more reason to live."

And so he criticizes the denial on legal grounds of French-language religious instruction to French-speaking schoolchildren in Saskatchewan.

But he also tells Quebecers who think exclusively in terms of their own province to look at their problems "from the standpoint of the whole country, that is, starting from a Canadian hypothesis."

Fluently bilingual although his ancestors on his father's side began intermarrying with French-speaking elements soon after their arrival from Ireland in the 1840s, Claude Ryan is as likely to turn up addressing an organization like the Jewish B'nai B'rith as the Roman Catholic St. Jean Baptiste Society.

But his main platform is Le Devoir, a newspaper whose name means "duty." It was founded 35 years ago by Henri Bourassa, described by Mr. Ryan as a nationalist, but a Canadian nationalist, and has long been a sounding-board for Quebec opinion.

"Le Devoir, is more or less the principal voice of French Canada," says Mr. Ryan, adding that this doesn't necessarily make him a French-Canadian nationalist. "I like to think of myself as a Canadian."

A graduate of the French language College Sainte Croix in Montreal and the University of Montreal's school of industrial relations, Mr. Ryan joined Action Catholique, spending much of his time in youth work, after leaving school.

He was general secretary of the organization when, in 1953, he became president of Institut

IDEOLOGICAL MIDDLEMAN — Claude Ryan, 48, is publisher and editor-in-chief of Le Devoir, a Montreal French-language daily newspaper. He often finds himself an ideological middleman between French- and English-speaking Canadians. (CP Photo)

Canadian d'Education des Adultes, an adult - education group serving French-speaking Canadians across the country.

He joined Le Devoir in June, 1962, and soon was looking after the paper's administrative and business affairs with the resignation of Gerard Filion as publisher.

Mr. Filion left in 1963 to take over as president of General Investment Corp., an agency set up with public and private funds to promote Quebec's economic development.

10-YEAR APPOINTMENT

On May 3, 1964, Mr. Ryan was given a 10-year appointment as "directeur," the French equivalent of publisher. He has also been acting as editor-in-chief in the absence of Andre Laurendeau, currently occupied as co-chairman of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

A man of athletic vigor, Mr. Ryan has brown hair flecked with grey, a prominent nose and pencil-thin lips. His features seem a bit drawn these days, possibly as a result of his strenuous routine — his Le Devoir duties keep him going 12 to 15 hours a day and often on week-ends.

The paper's purpose, as he sees it, is to "strengthen the position of French - Canadians and to serve Christian values in modern life." But while some of the general shareholders are priests, Le Devoir is directed and largely owned by laymen.

A morning paper, it has a circulition of about 35,000 after a steady climb during the last decade and its directors is determined to keep it climbing.

"We must, above all, be a good newspaper," he says. "This is the condition of our remaining a free organ of opinion."

In the 1950s, Le Devoir proved a game fighter, taking on, among other opponents, the Union Nationale government of Maurice Duplessis.

TAKES MODERATE LINE

Now the paper's tone has changed. Some of its traditionally demonstrative readers protest, contending that it has lost its radical edge. But Mr. Ryan has an explanation:

"It was the men and governments of the 1950s that were critisized because they were despotic and corrupt at the provincial level, and arrogant at the federal level.

"Now these governments are made up of respectable men who do their very best. But some basic issues have arisen with a measure of acuteness that no one would have suspected earlier."

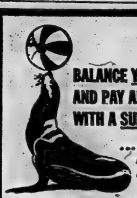
So, rather than personalities, Le Devoir now was concerned with these fundamental problems—the survival of Confederation, church-state relations, social and economic reforms, education. And it had chosen to adopt a moderate position.

Claude Ryan says he has never been a Quebec nationalist and supports no particular party.

But loping to lunch through quaint streets surrounding Le Devoir's offices in east-central Montreal, he displays the style that a politician would admire.

With hat at a rakish angle and sporting a stylish topcoat, he greets neighboring shopkeepers and pumps the hands of acquaintances.

CUTS DOWN WRITING



Mr. Ryan, who won a 1964 National Newspaper Award for editorial writing, often spends several days in research and consultation on his twice-weekly editorials, though the actual writing of the articles, which run to 1,500 words, takes him about an hour and a single draft does the trick.

Last year he produced a total of 260 editorials, editorial-page notes and special articles. In keeping with the practice of some French-language papers, his editorials are signed.

With the addition of Gerard Pelletier, former editor-in-chief of Montreal La Presse, to the morning paper's editorial-writing staff, Mr. Ryan feels he can reduce his own output this year to about 200 contributions, leaving more time for business and administration.

There may also be more time for Mrs. Ryan, the former Madeleine Guay of St. Isidore, Que., whom he met while both were working for Catholic Action, and the young Ryans.

Their fourth child arrived this year and Mr. Ryan says with a chuckle: "It's good I live within 10 minutes of the office. This way, I can report here and get home fast, in case of unexpected developments."

French Teachers' College Wanted in Manitoba

SAN CARLOS, Calif. (AP)— An electronics firm is helping climb shut the lid on the hot box, one of the oldest enemies of the railway industry.

Leskirt Electric Co. has developed and tested a transmission system it says can economically bring hot box detection signals to a central control office from hundreds of miles away.

The hot box, an overheated wheel axle and bearing (journal) of a railway car, can derail a freight train. It often has. For years, many delays and wrecks on railways could be traced to hot boxes.

The entire weight of a freight car rests on its journal boxes and rolls on a film of oil between axles and journal bearings. For the first 100 years of railroading, wads of cotton waste in the journal boxes carried oil to the axle. "Waste grab" was a major cause of hot boxes. The waste got disarranged, failed to oil the axle, and friction of dry metals led to dangerous overheating.

CAN CAUSE FIRES

Undetected and continuing friction can burn off journals and even set cars afire.

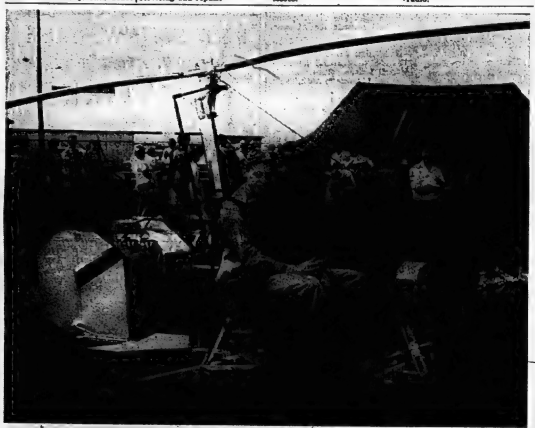
In the past, if an inspector spotted a hot box soon enough, usually by smoke or smell, the car could be switched to a siding, to be picked up later after servicing and repair.

Roller bearings have virtually eliminated hot box troubles on passenger cars. They cost too much, however, to have replaced friction bearings on older freight rolling stock. Most new cars are equipped with roller bearings—but only two years ago 1,500,000 friction bearing freight cars remained in service in the United States.

New and more efficient journal lubricating pads have replaced most of the old cotton waste wadding. And research in journal bearing lubrication continues to reduce the number of hot boxes.

In 1961, the latest year for which figures are available, the estimated annual cost to U.S. railways for damage due to hot boxes was $110,350,000.

RESULTS IN LOSSES



Industry estimates for 421 hot box derailments in 1963 amounted to $100,000,000 in losses.

Modern heat detection equipment has been brought into the fight—trackside scanners that measure infra - red radiation from passing car journals.

An electronic computer compares the heat of passing journals. In one system, a hot box automatically lights a signal five miles ahead to warn the engineer. A graph recorder at a siding indicates which car has the hot box and which of the car's eight journal boxes it is.

Leskirt Electric's detection system works on all transmission facilities including long distance microwave radio communications systems which most major railways already have, a company spokesman explained.

The new system enables one control room dispatcher to monitor many sensors located along hundreds of miles of track, advising train crews through the microwave system and mobile radio.

Red Shield Canvass Opens In County

PICTON (Staff) — The Salvation Army's Red Shield appeal got off to a flying start Monday night when members of all of the town's service clubs and some women's organizations turned out to aid with the canvass. The groups were allotted areas of the town to cover and most of the teams were in early with reports of a good reception from most Picton residents. The theme of this year's campaign is 'a century of service to God and man.' This year marks the first century of operation. The appeal throughout Prince Edward County was under the co-chairmanship of Picton merchants, Jesse Mason and Jack LeHeup, both Kiwanians. The work of the Salvation Army has long been recognized for the great work it has done in the County of Prince Edward helping the needy.

Douglas Rye, left, receives Wood Badge certificate from Scout District Commissioner Wm. Gassira at "Scouts' Own" service held in Regent Theatre, Picton, Sunday. The church service was conducted by the Boy Scout Commission staff. Wood badge is high Scouting degree.

Judging from the results of the canvassers in Monday night's "blitz" the campaign was a success. The drive will continue in the village of Bloomfield Tuesday.

Horse Show Will Run for Two Days

PICTON (Staff) — Final arrangements are being made this week for the Prince Edward Horse Show. Members of the Picton Kiwanis Club and the Agricultural Society will open their show with a special program, Friday night, June 4th, for the children. Previously the show has run only one day, this year the events have been extended over a two-day period. The show will be held again this year in the county agricultural and recreation centre. Many new novelty events will be featured including barrel racing, pole bending and a potato race. One of the new highlights is a $100 hackney pony stake sponsored by Lake Ontario Cement Co. Classes have been arranged for jumpers and hunters, pairs and carriage teams. Tandems and child's fancy dress turnouts, saddle horses and ponies will also be included.

This year's master of ceremonies will again be Lloyd Cowie and the music will be supplied by the Odd Fellows Band. Chairman of the show is Chris Lockyer.

CLEANING OUT THE DESK

I say goodbye to an old friend at the end of the week. It enjoyed with me triumphs and sorrows, joy and at times touches of sadness. It has stayed with me through wars, elections, murder trials, sports events, weddings, police work, and a dozen other reportorial assignments.

This weekend I exchange an old faithful buddy, slightly worn, yellowed in spots, freckled with cigaret burn, creaking slightly in its joints but ripe in its old age for a brand new shiny 1965 model desk complete with swivel chair and the trimmings.

"Clean out your desks and leave 'em there. We're moving Saturday," read the memo from the editor's handsit.

"Never throw away your notes until you're sure of the facts," my first editor told me. And so it was I found the old girl's innards crammed with yellowing slips of paper dating back nearly three decades.

Some were bills (all paid, I hope). The first one said paid, "$13.40, one suit, Tip Top Tailors, Newt Wilbur." A market report said "eggs, 25 cents per dozen. Maple syrup $1.00 per gallon." Here's a 1936 board bill, "$3.00 per week."

The Hon. Earl Rowe sat at the old girl writing a speech for the 1936 bye-election.

There's a yellowed reminder of the night at that election in Madoc. A band member sat alone on a verandah at 2.00 a.m. blowing the gizzard out of his trumpet. "He told police that it - Liberal has been blowing his horn all winter. Now it's my turn."

- Another night a politician blasted a reporter for turning in a "misquoted" story. "That's the guy," yelled a fired-up supporter in the crammed Foxboro hall. "Get him in the brown suit." I got out safely with a police escort."

Faded reminders recall the softball triumphs of the Percivals and the hockey glory of Ed Thomas' 1936 intermediates; the great RCAF Flyers team of 1937; travelling with Ed Schreiber and the city intermediate football squad in Lindsay where I missed the bus for home, and the softball antics of those days at Coleman Flats where a "lady" from Point Anne punched my nose.

The twin murders at Harold and the subsequent hanging of the convicted man who murmured softly "so long boys" as he passed the prsn on his way to the scaffold.

Chauffering the office "Rolls-Royce", a lumbering Flying Cloud chariot that could do fifty with police car in pursuit, to the various county fairs, helping Judge cheese and gossiping with the ubiquitous Tommy Mason with whom I enjoyed a post-fair nip from a carafe secreted in the upright piano on the dais.

Mitch Hepburn speaking from the pop-deck of a manure spreader in a county field and the Tory wag yelling "Go ahead Mitch, you've the biggest load it ever carried." The same Mitch casting at a ball in Queensboro telling supporters "who put the electricity in the back office," even as the caretaker pumped up the Coleman lamps.

Civic elections. I've seen mayors by the dozen and aldermen by the bushel come and go. Likewise reporters and editors. One brutally frank social "Neil" once wrote about a city-sponsored variety show. "The only thing good about this is it raised money for something." Another scribe reaching the office for his debut opened his remarks with "Who's the short-term loan shark of the outfit."

Milestones along the route. The thrills of the Harmsworth races and Bobby Hayward; the memo from the boss: "Get packed you're going to New York to do the world series." And the greatest thrill of all was another memo in 1959. "We're sending you to Czechoslovakia."

The great moments of victory when the McFarlands won all national senior "A" honors, including the Allan Cup. Then the greatest of all when the Red Kesign of Canada was raised aloft in Prague honoring the 1949 world champions.

In the happier days of hockey there was Bill Cook and his famous junior "B" squads; the city league with CNR Diesels, Northern Electric, Trenton Flyers which attracted no less than 2,400 fans nightly; the great senior "B" battles with Kingston, Whitby and the Peterborough clubs.

Then the famous "switch to senior A" which resulted in two world titles for Belleville and Whitby and the league's subsequent "emasculation" by pro interests and the formation of the ill-fated Eastern Professional League.

Other notes bring reminders of the colorful war days, the formation, departure and return of the famous Hasty Pees; the many fine men who served and died for their country; the christening of the corvette HMCS "Belleville"; the militia operations and other events.

From the reportorial sidelines I watched at least ten county wardens come and go and met many of the fine men who made up the Hastings County council. Unforgettable are the Shannonville "World Fair" and the "greasy pig"; the Moiraerk Fair and its color; the Mary Bell poison case; and the many fine men of the police and fire departments as well as sports organizations who were part and parcel of the everyday work-in the good old days.

Chicago White Sox continued their torrid play by clobbering Kansas City Athletics 13-2 Monday night for their eighth consecutive victory. The New York Yankees, on the other hand, continued along their floundering way, dropping a 9-2 decision to Baltimore Orioles.

New York's Whitey Ford lasted only four innings against the Orioles en route to his fourth straight defeat.

Gary Peters' victory against the Athletics brought his record to 4-2 and 3.00.

In the only other American League game Monday night, Los Angeles edged Minnesota 5-4 in 10 innings.

Peters scattered eight hits in handing the Athletics their last loss after two triumphs under their new manager, Haywood Sullivan.

Floyd Robinson, Pete Ward and Ken Berry led the White Sox 16-hit attack, each slamming a home run. Robinson and Berry also singled in a run apiece in the six-run seventh inning as Bill Skowron also knocked in a pair with a single. Milt Pappas limited the Yankees to five hits, one of them Joe Pepitone's two run single in the first inning.

RAPS FOUR HITS

Bob Johnson rapped four Baltimore hits, driving in two runs, while John Orsino and Jack Brandt each collected three hits. Orsino batted in three runs, his two-run single in the fifth knocking Ford out of the game.

The Angels edged Minnesota in the 10th inning when Albie Pearson led off with a double against Johnny Klippstein, advanced to third on a sacrifice and scooted home as Rob Rodgers lofted a single to centre field off Mel Nelson.

Los Angeles had taken a 4-3 lead in the eighth on Vic Power's two - run single, but pinch hitter Don Mincher of the Twins started the ninth with a home run off Bob Lee.

Minor Softball Results

The Belleville Minor Softball Association opened its 1965 season with games in the Tyke division's East and West sections last night.

On the East Hill, IGA Redsox whipped the Kinsmen Hawks 27-4. Bryan topped the Leafs 17-8 and Canadiens downed the Bruins 29-13.

On the West Hill, Bears clawed the Rangers 30-9, while Wings defeated the Kinsmen Bobcats 24-11.

The Pewee division opens tonight and the Squirt league commences on Wednesday.

FLIES OVER TRAFFIC

SARRATT, England (CP) — Rowland Absolom, a 49-year-old businessman, could no longer stand the strain of driving 40 miles across London from his Hertfordshire home to his office in Kent. It took three hours each way. Mr. Absolom traded in his car for a helicopter and now, although he has to fly round the outskirts of the city, his trip takes half an hour.

Softball Under Way Tonight!

Senior softball makes its seasonal debut in Belleville on two fronts this evening.

The eight-team Commercial League swings into action with the new BCAF team clashing with the defending champion Lightning Construction at Prince Charles School, at 6.30.

Meanwhile, softball returns to the Fairgrounds after a two-year absence with the city's first Belleville and District League game.

That game, scheduled for 8.00 p.m., is a battle of champions, pitting the OASA Intermediate "B" champions from Stirtsfield against the defending league title-holders, Ellis Juniors.

Elsewhere, Trudeau Motors, Belleville's senior entry in the seven-team loop, travels to Stirling for the opening game there. That tilt starts at 8.15.

Trudeau's first home game is Thursday night, at the Fairgrounds, against the Frenchmen. They have drawn, etc., planned as part of their opening night, at 8.00 o'clock.

And next Monday, the May 24 holiday, sees Ellis Juniors with a big night here against Trenton Commercial Printers. That game, also at the Fairgrounds, will start at 7.15, to be followed, by a $700 fireworks display.

Last night's scheduled opener, Trenton Commercial Printers vs Tweed Lombards, at Madoc, was postponed by the bad weather.

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays of San Francisco Giants has hit .667 in his last seven games and Willie Horton of Detroit Tigers batted .600 in his last eight—both good enough reasons why pitchers who hope to face them must be getting the shakes.

Mays' performance parallels his sensational start of last season when he had a .393 average and 14 homers in his first 21 games. His figure Monday after 21 games were .408 and 13 home runs.

On the strength of a 16-for-24 showing in last week's games, the Giants' star soared from ninth place on a gain of 64 points from .344 to take over the National League batting lead. He also is the pace-setter in homers and trails only Chicago's Ernie Banks in the combatted-in competition, 26 to 24.

Horton, the American League batting leader at .408, had a .280 average last Monday. However, he was 11 for his 39 tries since then, including six home runs. The Tigers' young outfielder leads the AL with nine home runs.

Gordon Coleman, Cincinnati Reds' first baseman, climbed two notches to second in the National League batting race. He has 18 points to his .368 with six in 13 hits at Bat.

TIE FOR THIRD

Vic Power of Minnesota Braves rushed up to deadlock Philadelphia's Richie Allen for third place. Terry picked up 20 points with nine safeties in 21 trips while the Phillies' stirry third baseman had five points with 11 hits in 21 at bats. Each is hitting .368. The figures include Sunday's games.

Vic Davalillo, Cleveland Indians' outfielder, moved into the runner-up position in the American League. He boosted his batting average 17 points to .353 with 21 hits in 13 tries, a .611 pace.

Leon Wagner, another Cleveland outfielder, advanced to No. 3 despite a 28 point drop to .32. Bill Skowron and Danny Cater of the first-place Chicago White Sox, are tied for fourth at .324.

Bob Gibson of St. Louis Cardinals is the National League pitching leader with a 7-0 mark while John Buzhardt of Chicago, Hank Aguirre of Detroit and Camilo Pascual of Minnesota Twins top the AL with a 4-0 records.

Before you say you can't afford big power, price a Johnson 33

Johnson's new 33 is a big outboard with a not-so-big price tag.

It's the ideal motor for family skiing, fishing and just cruising. The 33 gets more fun out of a gallon of regular gas than anything in its league and has a 50:1 gas-oil ratio that cuts oil costs in half.

There's nothing low priced about the way the 33 is built. It has all the quietness and never-say-die dependability Sea-Horses are famous for. Nothing is about to break, bend, leak or fall off, when the fun starts. If it ever does Johnson's long two year warranty fixes it free.

Available with either manual or electric starting, the 33 is the ideal way to get started in boating.

If the 33's not quite your size, see Johnson's 18 hp. model, the most powerful of the portables. It combines good power with easy portability.

See these top Sea-Horse values now at your Johnson dealers.

15 models in ten hp. sizes: 90, 75, 60, 40, 33, 18, 9½, 6, 5, 3.

3 Stern Drive models: 90, 120, 150 hp.

'Bo' Trumps Cards With Five-Hitter

Koufax Whiffs 13

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bo Belinsky, the Philadelphia Phillies' pool - playing southpaw pitcher, topped St. Louis Cardinals 9-1 Monday night with a full-route five - hitter and a couple of vital eight-inning assistants from second baseman Tony Lor.

The little Cuban homered off Philadelphia nemesis Curt Simmons in the top of the eighth, giving Belinsky a 2-0 margin. Then with one St. Louis run in and Bo on the ropes in the bottom of the inning, Taylor's perfect relay throw cut down the tying run at the plate.

Sandy Koufax, working one longer and harder than Belinsky for his fifth 1965 victory, singled to start a four-run rally in the 11th inning that carried Los Angeles Dodgers past Houston Astros in the only other National League game.

"I'll start going now," Belinsky (1-3), said after completing his first start in six tries. "Sure, I've had trouble in the late innings but you have to be a little lucky when you get past the seventh."

COME ALIVE

Bo was working on a two-hit shutout when the Cardinals came alive with one out in the eighth. Pinch hitter Phil Gagliano singled, took second on a passed ball and scored on Lou Brock's single. Curt Flood followed with a double to right field corner. Johnny Callison fired to Taylor, whose strike to catcher Gus Triandos nipped the speedy Brock at home.

Dick Stuart knocked in the first Philadelphia run with a first-inning double as the visitors snapped St. Louis' four-game winning string and beat ex-Phillie Simmons for only the third time in 10 decisions since he began his comeback with the Cardinals five years ago.

Koufax, who allowed three hits and struck out 13 through the first 10 innings of a 1-1 duel with Houston's Bob Bruce, conceded relief help from Bob Miller in the 11th after scoring the tie-breaking run in the top of the inning.

GET GOALIE

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Rangers have obtained Ed Giacomin, a highly - regarded goalkeeper, in a five - player trade with Providence of the American Hockey League, the National Hockey League team announced Monday. In exchange for Giacomin, 25, Providence receives goalie Marcel Paille, defenceman Aldo Guidolin, forward Don McGregor plus another player to be named later.

Undecided About Next Season

Bathgate One Of Leafs' Question Marks

NEW YORK (AP) —Andy Bathgate, Toronto Maple Leafs' high-scoring right winger, is a man at the crossroads.

A year ago Bathgate was riding the crest of the Maple Leafs' third straight Stanley Cup conquest. A late season trade had sent Andy from New York to Toronto and he played an important role in the Leafs' triumph.

Now Andy is one of a number of Maple Leaf veterans who must be termed question marks following Toronto's disappointing fourth - place finish in the National Hockey League regular season race and early elimination in playoff competition.

Bathgate was sidelined for six weeks by a broken left thumb and finished the season with 18 goals and 29 assists for 45 points, his lowest output since he became an NHL regular 10 years ago.

Andy, here for an appearance at the world's fair, flexed his left hand.

WILL TRY IT OUT

"I've stayed off the golf course so far but I think I'll try it out next week," he said.

Bathgate is one of Canada's outstanding golfers and was a pro two years ago at a Toronto club. He hopes laying off the links has strengthened the thumb. If it still gives him trouble though, there is a possibility that Andy, 33, might consider retirement.

"I really haven't decided anything about next season. I'll have to see what happens at the summer draft meetings in June. There are a lot of things to consider."

Just as Bathgate must do some considering, so must the Maple Leafs. They can protect only 18 players plus two goalies at the June meetings and that includes younger prospects. Manager - coach Punch Imlach will have to do some fancy roster manoeuvring to make the limits.

"I haven't talked to Punch yet," said Bathgate. "He's been on the road and so have I."

HAPPY SPEAKS!

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler of the Continental Football League predicted Monday the league will be competing on equal terms with the National and American Leagues in "four or five years." He said the continental teams will not be farm teams for either the NFL or AFL.

The Trots

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) Four drivers walked away uninjured Monday night from a tangled mess of broken harness and wrecked sulkies soon after the start of the fifth race at Mohawk Raceway.

Cedar Ships, with Ron Feagan driving, broke stride and fell at the start of the race. Davie Bine, driven by Everitt Norris of Maberly, Ont., piled into the fallen horse, with Norris ending up under the horse.

Next to join the pile was Mr. G. Dillon, driven by Anthony MacRae of Leamington, Ont., followed by Leehavy Song driven by Malcolm Hope of Prince Albert, Ont.

The four remaining racers skirted the accident and Lookout Haw Lea, owned by Lu Churchill of Bar River, Ont., won the mile test and returned $47.30 for the win.

The Tracks

Coming from off the pace with a rush on the last turn, River Party gained the lead at the head of the stretch and held off Des Erables to return $10.70, $5.30 and $2.80.

The win stop River Party was the second of three for jockey John LeBlanc of Rogersville, N.B., currently the meeting's leading rider.

River Party and Des Erables paid $54.90 at the quinella wicket. Doll Odell and BF's Johnny combined for a daily double payoff of $39.90.

Biggest Gate In History

Green Gaels Win Opener

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oshawa Green Gaels, defending Minto Cup champions, weren't awed by their new $2,250,000 surroundings Monday night.

In fact, the speedy Gaels showed their appreciation of the 3,000 cheering spectators—more than twice the number that made up their biggest gate last season—as they walloped the visiting St. Catharines club 20-6 in the opening game of the Ontario Lacrosse Association Junior A series.

In the other opening game of the season, Mimico Mounties edged Long Branch 13-12.

The Green Gaels, who have won the Minto Cup emblematic of Canadian Junior lacrosse supremacy for the last two years, were playing their first game in the new Oshawa Arena, which holds 5,000.

Their biggest gate last season had been 1,400.

SPARE ATTACK

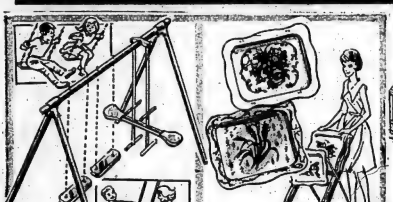
Oshawa captain John Davis with three goals and six assists, and teammate Gaylord Powless with three goals and five assists, sparked the high-scoring Oshawa attack.

Brian Thompson, Jim Higgs and Neil Armstrong also came through with three goals each, while Ross Jones and Ken Thompson added two each. Ken Howard, Don Stinson, Charlie Marlow, Phil Clayton and Fred Greenwood added the others.

Bill Young with three, and Dave Landry, Jolge Bergsma and Bob Allen with singles were on the St. Catharines scorers.

Yesterday's Stars

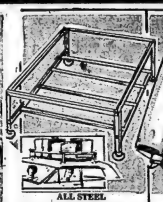
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS



Pitching — Bo Belinsky of Philadelphia Phillies, pitched a five-hitter for his first National League victory in his team's 9-1 triumph over St. Louis Cardinals.

Batting—Bob Johnson of Baltimore Orioles collected three singles and a double, drove in two runs and scored two as the Orioles bombed New York Yankees 9-2.

INJURY DIAGNOSED



LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The veterinarian who treated Lucky Debonair said Monday the colt may be out of racing until late summer or early fall. Dr. Alex Hartzill made the prediction after returning from Baltimore, where he had been looking after the Kentucky Derby winner for trainer Frank Catrone. Lucky Debonair suffered a shin splint during Saturday's Preakness.

Rousing Reception

15,000 Welcome Flyers

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—About 15,000 persons gave Niagara Falls Flyers a rousing homecoming Monday night when they arrived with the Memorial Cup after the Canadian Junior hockey final in Edmonton.

More than 3,000 persons jammed Niagara Falls Memorial Arena, home of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A club, for a civic reception after a victory parade along a 10-mile route.

City council postponed its regular weekly session to extend official greetings to the Flyers and joined in a half-mile-long motorcade of 50 convertibles led by bands and police escort.

More than 1,000 are expected to attend a testimonial banquet Friday at which civic and private awards will be made to the team. The Flyers defeated Edmonton Oil Kings four games to one in the final series.

Student Has Mile In 3:58.3

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Olympian Jim Ryun of Wichita east high school attributes his amazing 3:58.3 mile—first sub-four-minute mile ever run in the high school competition — to his extra work in the sprints.

"In any race a mile or less it's a matter of speed," said the 18 - year - old Ryun. "I didn't start bringing my mile times down until I started working harder on the sprints.

Ryun is looking forward to four big West Coast meets, starting with the Modesto, Calif., relays May 28.

But he won't speculate on his chances against great veteran millers such as Ryrol Burleson, Jim Grelle, Tom O'Hara and Peter Snell of New Zealand, the world record holder at 3:54.1.

WASHUP PRESSED

Ryun's 3:58.3 at the Kansas City meet last Saturday is a tremendous accomplishment because he did it with no one pressing him in the last half mile. His coach, J. D. Edmiston, timed the last quarter in 55.7 seconds. The crowd of 7,000 rooted him on all the way.

A high percentage of the sub-four-minute races on the books have come in bunches, under terrific competition.

Eight of the nine best mile times in the United States last year came in one race—the Compton relays. Ryun was eighth in that race in 3:59.

Ryun's time is better than the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet record of 3:58.4 by Burleson and compares with the American record of 3:53.5 by Jim Beatty, and the collegiate mark of 3:56.9 by O'Hara.

He claims that it would not be unusual for him to phone at least 80 people on a day to keep minor sport in the public eye. (CP Photo)

Crackers Shade Mud Hens

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ed Sadowski has been replaced as Atlanta Crackers' catcher but he served notice Monday night he's still around.

The Crackers beat Toledo Mud Hens 3-2 in an International League baseball game that had a touch of irony as Sadowski slugged in his replacement, Bob Toth, with a pinch hit, 10th - inning Texas Leaguer to right field.

Baron replaced Sadowski as the first - string catcher early in the season because he was hitting .

In Monday's only other game, Jacksonville Suns whipped Columbus Jets 7-4. The Syracuse-Buffalo game was called because of cold weather in the border city.

Amateur Boxing Results

TORONTO (CP)—Al Hughey of Niagara Falls, N.Y., a finalist in the New York State Golden Gloves championships, won a decision over Bobby Steward Gary of Toronto in five rounds at an international amateur boxing match. They battled in the 125-pound class.

In a 136-pound match, Toronto's Johnny Thomas scored a knockdown in the third round and went on to decision Win Cook of Niagara Falls.

Two other visitors from Niagara Falls, N.Y., lost to Canadians. Morris Metcalfi of Toronto decisioned Paul Hayes in three rounds and Bernice Gushue of Ottawa scored a second-round technical knockout over Jim Reid.

Heavyweight Jim Howard from Niagara Falls won a three-round decision over Tony Kappo of Brantford.

Arbour Tops In Defence

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (CP)—Al Arbour of Rochester Americans was named the American Hockey League's Outstanding Defenceman for the 1964-65 season today.

The 32-year-old veteran received 84 possible 45 points in a poll of writers and broadcasters to capture the Eddie Powers Memorial Trophy.

Arbour, who helped Rochester win league and playoff titles last season, already had received a $300 bonus for being named to the AHL's first all-star team.

The Shore award is named in honor of the former defenceman and present owner of the AHL's Springfield club.

Larry Hillman Arbour's Rochester teammate, was second in the voting with eight points.

WILL NOT MAKE TRIP

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method
by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

CHECK YOUR LEFT-HAND GRIP

One of the most important points that all golfers should observe is that their grip with the left hand offord firm control of the club throughout the swing. This hand is most susceptible to loosening during the swing-especially at the top of the backswing-and such loosening arcuses any hope for straight powerful shots.

A good way to check the firmness of your left-hand grip is to first place the club alongside this hand as I am doing in No. 1. Then close the hand (No. 2). Finally, raise the club to eye level and open your last three fingers (No. 3).

If your club was properly positioned originally, against the fleshy pad below your little finger, it will not itself operate that pad and in the crooked forefinger when you open the fingers. If you cannot support the club in this manner, for any cause, I suggest you go back to No. 1 and re-check the proper relationship between hand and club.

Wins Title Without A Fight

CALGARY (CP)—Heinz Limpert of Kitcheer is the first man ever to win an amateur boxing medal although unopposed in his eight class. This was discovered Monday night by Bob Lucas of Calgary, secretary of the Alberta branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

Lucas said Al Decaire of Montreal, boxing chairman of the national AAU, decided Saturday night to award the medal and the Canadian title to Limpert, who won the 1964 heavyweight championship at Vancouver.

Limpert was unopposed this year but journeyed from Kitchener in case an opponent was located at the last minute.

Sid Chapman of Calgary won the 163-pound title without lifting a glove when Siegfried Fisher of Toronto, 1964 champion, failed to make the weight for the scheduled final match Saturday.

Chapman also was not tested before qualifying for the Alberta team. He was unopposed in the provincial competition, and drew a bye into the national final before Fisher was disqualified.

Streisand Becomes Show World Empress

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve years ago Barbra Streisand was a beatnik kid who made 50 cents an hour as a baby sitter. Today her income is nearer: $1,000,000 a year.

The onetime Flatbush gamin, star of the Broadway musical, Funny Girl, has become a show world empress.

Instead of a walkup flat, she dwells in a Central Park duplex that has nine glittering chandeliers. Once she dressed like a 1925 mannequin in a lower East Side thrift shop. Now few society women could match her wardrobe.

But as her 23rd birthday nears, Barbra finds herself still basically unchanged where she feels it counts most—inside.

"No one thing has made life very different for me," she said. "In a way I'm disappointed that it hasn't."

She still misses the kooky days when her ugly duckling dreams of turning into a stage swan seemed a pitiful jest except to her own desperately self-conscious self.

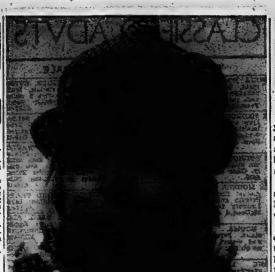
What is surprising to one person is joy to another," she said in her paisley-curtained theatre dressing room from which hangs a 10th glittering crystal chandelier, the symbol of her stardom.

UNHAPPY TEEN-AGER

"I went through a lot of adolescent pain. I was critical to me, but I never had to scrub floors or do anything like that.

"I was so gawky no one would hire me as a model. So I worked as a cashier in a Chinese restaurant for $1 an hour and all the chow mein I could eat. I loved that.

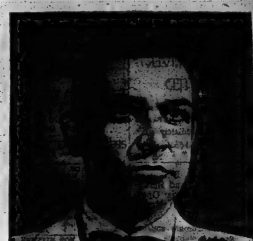
"I also licked envelopes for a printing firm for $45.17 a week—and saved $15 of it. I always was saving. The main thing I didn't want to be was a typist. I let my fingernails grow long so I couldn't type."



In addition to her stage earnings, royalties from phonograph albums and other sources of income, Barbra has a contract with CBS television guaranteeing her $3,000,000 over the next 10 years.

"I'm funny about the details, but it gives me creative control over my programs. That's the main thing. I don't have to get sponsor approval.

"Any amount of money over $50,000 confuses me. I feel you can live as well on $50,000 a year as on a million. You can ride in only one limousine at a time.



"I allot myself only $25 a week, and I never spend it all. I like to pay in cash. It gives me a great feeling.

"When I pay by cheque, I feel like I'm getting it for nothing—because it's just paper."

WINS REGULAR PART — In her first film role, Anne Campbell plays the part of a cute blond from Newfoundland who tries to enter show business, and this is exactly what she is. A five-foot-two beauty from Corner Brook, 21-year-old Miss Campbell plays the female lead in Roses in December, a Canadian-produced film to be released in the CBC TV series Moment of Truth.

AT THE BELLE — Wednesday — 007 — Sean Connery . . . he plays James Bond, British agent 007, in "Goldfinger". Ian Fleming's latest spy thriller, also starring Honor Blackman and Gert Frobe. The comedy adventure opens Tomorrow, Wednesday, for an extended engagement, at the Belle Theatre in Belleville. Showings at 2.30 - 6.10 - 8.10 - 10.10.

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — Does it have to be that way? Susan Hayward seems shocked at what Michael Connors tells her in this scene from "Where Love Has Gone," the new Joseph E. Levine production for Paramount which opens Wednesday at the Belleville Drive-In Theatre. This tension-filled drama, based on the Harold Robbins best-selling novel, tells the explosive story of a teen-age girl who murders her mother's lover. Along with Miss Hayward and Connors, the cast includes Bette Davis and Joey Heatherton. 2nd feature is the gay comedy hit in color, "Tamahine" and features Nancy Kwan and John Fraser.

Movie Column

Granny and Clan Busy 'Roundin' Up the Loot

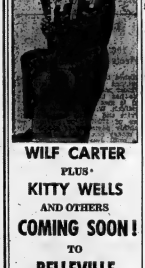
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—'Tis the season for television stars to go out and round up the loot, and the Beverly Hillbillies" are doing it.

Irene Ryan is playing Las Vegas and Donna Douglas is co-starring in a movie with Elvis Presley during the between-season hiatus of series filming. Max Baer has a more pressing engagement with the U.S. Army, but he may be relieved of reserve duty in time to pick up some cash with personal appearances.

Buddy Ebsen, the big daddy of the Hillbillies, is playing it cool. He will make a record album with his fellow players, another on his own, and he'll play in Paint Your Wagon for two weeks at the Valley Music Theatre. Most of the rest of his time before the July start of shooting for next season will be spent amid his flotilla of boats on Baldwin Bay, 30 miles south, where he maintains his home.

Buddy is a bit of a philosopher about career matters, and with reason. While he enjoys the heights now, he also has known the lows.

"Yep, for seven years I didn't work — seven years," he remarked.



This, he explained, came after he had spent three years in the army, a year in Show Boat on Broadway and two years touring with Goodnight, Ladies. Then the bough got it. Nothing he tried seemed to work.

Had he saved his money? He shook his head. His army service and a costly divorce had wiped out his pre-war earnings. How did he survive?

"Friends," he explained. "That was my only source of support, friends. Otherwise I would have been forced to go into another line of work, as many people advised me to. One of the most important people in this town, whose name I won't mention, told me to get out of show business.

"Later I wrote him a letter thanking him for what he did. He made me so mad that I grew more than ever determined not to quit."

In 1953, his break came when he was cast in some Rex Allen westerns at Republic. More films followed, then a big shot as Davy Crockett's sidekick and a role in the Northwest Passage series. All this led up to his starring in the immensely popular (except with the critics) Beverly Hillbillies.

Fledgling Actress

"No Glamor in Making Movies"

By DAN BJARNASON

TORONTO (CP)—Ann Campbell is a cute blonde who moved to Toronto from Newfoundland five years ago with high hopes of becoming film actress.

In her first film role she was cast as a cute blonde from Newfoundland who had moved to Toronto—something of an oddity since in the perverse world of show business such a part is just as likely to go to an Alberta brunette wearing a blonde wig.

Since then, Ann has been given a starring role in a CBC television serial and has made a few discoveries about her chosen profession.

"The most surprising thing I found out about acting is that it's darn hard work," says the five-foot-two beauty from Corner Brook.

"Making movies isn't glamorous at all. I never dreamed it would be so hectic. Acting takes a lot of confidence, willpower and a thick skin."

Now, 21, Ann moved to Toronto to finish high school, then got a job as a receptionist with Reader's Digest. At work she met Mrs. Girahan Gordon.

"Through her I met her husband who was planning a full-length film."

FALL RELEASE PLANNED

The movie, Roses in December, was produced on a razor-thin budget of about $60,000 with the assistance of some of Gordon's friends.

"Roses" is about a Newfoundland girl who has an affair with an ex-RAF flier in Toronto. Ann was offered the role and grabbed it. The film will be released in Canada, the United States and possibly Europe this fall, she says.

Now acting takes up all Ann's time. She appears regularly as a "16-year-old symphomaniac" in the CBC TV series Moment of Truth.

"I really enjoy television work," she says. "The hours are terrible and a lot of work is done at night but I love it."

The series has been purchased by NBC in the U.S. and that has started Ann thinking of appearing in American television plays, after the CBC series ends.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Campbell of Corner Brook, take their daughter's success pretty much in stride, Ann says, as do her five sisters and two brothers.

"But they're thrilled when they see me on television and think of me appearing on movie screens."

Theatre Feature Times

AT THE BELLE — Shirley MacLaine, Peter Ustinov, Richard Crenna in "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home". 2.27 - 7.27 - 9.25.

AT THE PARK — In Technicolor, "Twilight, Today and Tomorrow", Sophia Loren, Marcello Mastroianni, 1.35 - 5.35.

Inquests

on the outside work party—loosening up the dirt in a landfill area with pick and shovel, Mr. Wishart said.

WENT PROPERLY

Mr. Wishart said reports of Ontario's supervising coroner and a provincial police inspector had satisfied him that the inquest was conducted properly. The reports were made after investigations began when the New Democrats brought the matter up in the legislature.

Cross was in solitary confinement for a period of five or six days before his death but there was no evidence that this had any bearing on his death, Mr. Wishart said.

Mr. Wishart's investigation showed that a reformatory guard, Patrick Lindsay, took Cross from his detention cell to the reformatory hospital when the prisoner complained of severe stomach pains six days before his death.

Mr. Lindsay was not called as a witness at the inquest.

The investigation also showed that Mr. Lindsay had been in touch with Donald C. MacDonald, the NDP leader, before the inquest date.

GUARD DISMISSED

Mr. Wishart said Mr. Lindsay had been dismissed as a Guelph guard and was just a civilian gruntled ex-employee seeking to embarrass officials of the department of reform institutions.

The fullest investigation had shown that nothing relevant was omitted from testimony at the inquest into the Cross death, he said.

The NDP member for Toronto Riverdale, James Renwick, said the reformatory superintendent, Charles Sanderson, should be closely questioned on discrepancies between his evidence at the trial and information contained in a statement read to the legislature by Attorney-General Grossman, minister of reform institutions.

The transcript showed Mr. Sanderson had testified he interviewed Cross when the prisoner was admitted to custody April 2, 1964. Mr. Sanderson testified he had not seen the prisoner again.

PUT IN SOLITARY

But Mr. Grossman's statement said Cross was ordered before the superintendent on Aug. 20 and 21 for breaking reformatory rules. He was put in solitary confinement.

NDP Leader Donald MacDonald charged Mr. Sanderson deliberately perjured himself. He said it would have been impossible for Mr. Sanderson not to recall the Aug 10 and 11 interviews with Cross.

Mr. MacDonald also charged that the investigation into the death was a whitewash. He said the supervising coroner's office had been doing a cover-up job for years.

Mr. Grossman said he may have been in error when he told the legislature that Cross was brought before the superintendent Aug. 10-11. He said he will check to find out whether his statement, prepared for him by his staff, could have been wrong.

The minister of reform institutions said it is outrageous for Mr. MacDonald to charge that Mr. Sanderson would deliberately perjure himself. "He wouldn't do that," Mr. Grossman said. "It's not that kind of gentleman."

The New Democrats also charged that Mr. Sanderson had deliberately not testified at the inquest about Cross's period in the detention cell, and that Mr. Sanderson had determined what reformatory witnesses should appear at the hearing.

DEFEAT MOVE

A New Democratic attempt to eliminate the $330,000 in the attorney - general's estimates destined for the Emergency Measures Organization was defeated 37 to 24. The Liberals supported the New Democrats.

In debate on the estimates, Mr. Wishart said it would be impossible to evacuate an area the size of Metropolitan Toronto.

But he said the province and the Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto were only taking their directions from the federal government, which formulated the policy for the Emergency Measures Organization.

SERVICES HELPED

HALIFAX (CP) — Modern weapons and equipment purchased during the last two years, together with tri-service integration, are helping to fit Canada's armed forces towards peak operation, Lt.-Gen. Geoffrey Walsh said Monday. The vice - chief of the defence staff said the armed forces have acquired carriers, more potent ammunition, Swedish and American anti - tank weapons, French anti - tank guided missiles, and better means of transporting men and supplies.

Prompt Action Taken on Water Pollution

TORONTO (CP) — Four hundred company heads were sent a strong warning Monday to take prompt action to reduce water pollution or face possible fines or imprisonment.

The Ontario Water Resources Commission sent a directive to companies that discharge industrial waste into surface waters, requesting the cleanup campaign and drawing attention to legislation providing for a fine of up to $1,000 or a year's imprisonment, or both.

The commission, responsible for elimination of water pollution, sent the letter to steel companies, canneries, dairies, chemical and oil refineries, textile mills and other companies.

WANTS NO DELAY

Commission Chairman J. A. Campbell said that whenever practical solutions are available for water impairment "it is expected treatment will be provided without delay."

The commission said it realizes the magnitude of the programs that will be needed in some cases and offered to discuss financing such programs on a scheduled basis.

Three months ago, the commission issued a similar warning to pulp and paper companies. A spokesman said the notice sent Monday would ensure that company heads "know we have the power to do something."

The penalty comes into effect when persons are convicted of polluting or permitting the pollution of water.

Last week, Premier Robarts asked the federal government to place the problem of water pollution on the agenda of a federal-provincial conference to be held in Ottawa at the end of the month.

Provincial

son promised a re-examination.

In his speech, Mr. Pearson said "the federal Parliament is now a major source of provincial revenue and I expect often of provincial criticism as well — some of it, perhaps, deserved, most of it undeserved."

GIVES MORE AID

The federal government, Mr. Pearson said, has given more assistance—financial and otherwise—to the provinces than any previous government in Canadian history. Saskatchewan in the last fiscal year got $105,000,000 of a total federal contribution of $2,131,000,000.

"But naturally the provinces, including Saskatchewan, are faced with their ever-increasing responsibility and their growing requirements. I would like more at times."

At the moment, he said, it would not be sensible to make fundamental taxation changes on various industries until the report of the royal commission on taxation. It is due in September.

"Meanwhile, patience, understanding and consideration has to be shown," Mr. Pearson said.

NEVER SATISPIED

. . . sometimes I think my provincial friends will never admit to being satisfied unless the federal government meets every provincial request, however difficult or even impossible.

"They feel, I have no doubt, that no provincial request is anything but reasonable. They may even feel that there is no harm in trying."

There is no discrimination of federal aid policy between provinces, the Liberal leader added. The provinces have a choice in these matters.

"Anything Quebec does, for example, Saskatchewan is equally free to do."

At the same banquet, Mr. Thatcher said if Saskatchewan Liberals are to persuade other westerners to join the party the federal government must show constraint beyond all doubts its sympathy with western aspirations.

It's not realized, he said, that the West is conducting a quiet revolution of its own involving new industry which is transforming its way of life.

The meeting with Mr. Pearson, he said, was "a little, honest argument" between friends.

Earlier Monday, Mr. Pearson received an honorary doctor of civil laws degree from the Regina campus of the University of Saskatchewan. He returns to Ottawa today by plane.

SAVES PREMATURE BABIES — Dr. Paul Swyer, nurse Pat Gemmell and Dr. Henry Levison watch a baby in an electronic bassinet, a device designed to keep ailing premature babies alive. The baby's head is enclosed in an oxygen tent and the remainder of his body in a heated chamber where pump-regulated air pressure performs an invisible form of artificial respiration. (CP Photo)

Sick Kids' Miracle Machine Treats 1,500 Cases Annually

TORONTO (CP)—High in the north wing of the Hospital for Sick Children a baby no bigger than his father's hand lay mewling in his electronic bassinet, his lullaby the amplified beat of his own heart.

The boy's head was enclosed in a miniature oxygen tent, his body from the neck down in a heated, transparent chamber where pump-regulated air pressure performed an invisible form of artificial respiration.

A tube to a vein was his feeding bottle. A catheter in the navel permitted periodic checks on the chemical balance of his blood. Electrodes picked up the heartbeat and passed it to a mechanical sentry that amplified the pulse and recorded it visibly on a radar-like screen as a zig-zagging yellow blip.

Suddenly, the blip faltered and the machine began to buzz an alarm. A nurse filling out charts at a desk six feet away stepped to the baby's side, thrust a hand through an elastic-covered porthole and massaged the infant's tiny foot.

The baby returned to normal but as two doctors arrived in response to the alarm buzzer to make sure there was no serious relapse.

FALLS ASLEEP

"He falls asleep and forgets to breathe every once in a while," said Dr. Paul Swyer, the man in charge of the big Toronto hospital's clinic for newborn babies. "We have to wake him up when he does that."

"We don't know why, exactly. It may be that in these premature infants the part of the brain that regulates the involuntary muscles in the lungs isn't fully developed.

"If we can keep him going for a while in this—it's a Negative Pressure Ventilator and there are only nine of them in existence — he might be all right.

"Every 24 hours of survival for these babies is a big advance," said Dr. Swyer. "Sixty per cent of the deaths occur in the first 24 hours after birth. 90 per cent in the first week.

"If we can keep them alive for a week their chances of survival are pretty good."

These babies are premature infants suffering from Respiratory Disease Syndrome an ailment with an appropriately vague name because doctors aren't sure why and how it develops. A malfunction of the lungs, the affliction is known also as hyaline membrane disease. It killed Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, son of the late United States president.

ONE OF HUNDREDS

The baby boy Dr. Swyer was discussing was one of about 1,500 cases treated annually in the seventh-floor neonatal unit of Sick Kids, which includes an intensive-care "rescue ward" with round-the-clock individual nursing for dangerously ill cases.

Dr. Swyer said it was miraculous that the boy in the Negative Pressure Ventilator was alive, although in many respects his case was typical.

He had been rushed after birth with his twin sister the five miles from Toronto East General Hospital to Sick Kids by ambulance.

The girl twin died, reversing an unexplained pattern in which twice as many boys as girls die of RDS.

The boy, a fragile two pounds 13 ounces, was holding on until the sixth day, when he suddenly appeared to be succumbing.

"We had quite a drama here," Dr. Swyer recalled the next day. "He was hemorrhaging from the nose and mouth and we had to resuscitate him twice."

HAZARDS HIGH

The hazards are high in the newborn clinic—it accounts for almost half the mortality rate in the 800-bed hospital—but research, improved techniques and new treatment tools hold out new hopes.

Dr. Swyer is about to embark on a new line of research—one of many under way in his unit—in an effort to discover how oxygen and carbon dioxide are transferred between blood and air throughout the lungs of diseased and healthy infants.

Developing techniques include intensive care - a constant electronic and human watch on ailing babies—and Dr. Swyer foresees the use of specially-equipped ambulances to collect RDS babies swiftly and more safely from general hospital maternity wards.

New tools include the experimental Negative Pressure Ventilator, a gigantic x-ray machine that all but talks, and an incubator in which the baby's own skin temperature acts as a thermostat to control heat.

But some of the tools and techniques just can't be improved.

Amid the array of space-age medical equipment in Sick Children's neonatal clinic, each regular ward has a comfortable wooden rocking chair where the nurse on duty can give recuperating babies some old-fashioned rock-a-bye treatment.

Older

The New Democratic Party, pledged to the abolition of the Senate because it is not elective, opposed the bill on second reading in a voice vote.

FORCE VOTE

Minutes before the 83 New Democrats present forced a roll-call vote on their amendment to shelve the measure for six months but lost 112 to 15.

The two Quebec independents, Leon Balcer and Rene Paul sided with the NDP but the amendment was opposed by 19 Liberals, 45 Conservatives, five Creditistes and four Social Credit MPs. Later, the House completed clause - by - clause study of the bill.

Bowing to pressure from the New Democrats, Mr. McIlraith brought in last - minute amendments requiring all senators to contribute $720 annually to their pension fund, including those over 75 and retire voluntarily.

As with the Commons pension plan, the senators' contributions are set at six per cent of their annual indemnities. Since 1933 senators have received $18,000 in indemnities and $3,000 in a flat expense, allowance.

MUST DECLARE

Incumbent senators must declare within one year of the passage of the legislation which option they choose.

Those over 75 can stay on the job, or retire on the full $8,000 pension and pay the government $720 each year.

Those under 75 can choose between the flat $8,000 pension or join the new Senate pension plan, which will provide benefits ranging up to $8,000 on a sliding scale. Contributors would get after 20 years and eight months or at the age of 75, whichever comes first.

PATRICIA NEAL PREDICTS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—British actress Patricia Neal, looking amazingly well after three strokes, said Monday: "I'll be back to work in a year." The 39 - year - old Academy Award winner left Los Angeles to continue her recovery at her home near London after walking unaided, and talking composedly, at a press conference.

Dirty Trick to Inflict Child on All Callers

DEAR ANN LANDERS — A close friend has a four-year-old child. I've developed a terrible dislike for the child and I'm sure others have, too. Whenever the telephone rings the child answers it. She often asks "Who is this?" And "What do you want Mommy for?" Whenever this friend telephones me she says, "Somebody here wants to talk to you." Then she puts the youngster on.

ANN LANDERS

Is it fair for a mother to inflict her child on anyone who happens to ring up? Is it wise to give a four-year-old the impression that everyone and anyone wants to listen to her babble?

I would like to see this letter and your reply in print because others who have this problem must be as baffled as I am. — RESENTFUL.

DEAR RESENTFUL — A four-year-old should not be permitted to answer the phone, and a mother who inflicts her four-year-old on friends does them a dirty trick.

The solution: Tell her how you feel.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I was born and raised in a small town in Ohio. Last fall I completed a secretarial course. My parents agreed to let me come to Cleveland and share an apartment with my cousin who is 24. I am 20. My folks have a high opinion of my cousin, and so did I, until yesterday.

Last night I left choir practice early because I had a headache. I walked right in on my cousin and a fellow I had never seen before. Both my cousin and the fellow were very embarrassed — and they had a right to be. I left in a daze and walked the streets for an hour. When I returned my cousin said she was sorry.

I can't continue to live with her knowing what I do. Should I tell my folks? They won't understand why I am moving out unless I explain. — TENDERFOOT.

DEAR TENDER — Tell your cousin that since she created the unfortunate incident it's up to her to find another place to live. Then look for a room-mate whose standards match yours.

Don't tell your parents what happened. In years to come you'll be glad you kept your mouth shut — and your cousin will be eternally grateful.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My Pop was in an accident and lost several teeth on one side. He got a couple of bridges put in about two weeks ago.

The trouble started then. Pop refuses to eat what Mom cooks for him. All he wants to do is drink one bottle of beer after the other. Mom says if he doesn't eat some solid food he will die of malnutrition. Pop says beer is plenty nourishing, because of the malt and the hops and the grain and that he can live on it just fine.

Mom says if he plans to live on beer he had better start looking for another place to live because he is not going to live here. About ten in the evening Pop gets pretty noisy. By 11:00 he is sound asleep on the couch. Pop says he is tired from working so hard. Mom says he is passed out. What about this? — SHOOK COOKIE.

DEAR SHOOK — Pop needs to go back to the dentist and get those bridges fit. He is not eating because his teeth aren't right.

Your Pop will be an alcoholic for sure if he stays on that beer diet and you can tell him I said so.

* * *

Confidential to HOW DO I HELP? — You can't help people who won't help themselves. One day she may realize that dignity is one of the few things that cannot be preserved in alcohol.

Manitoba University Supports School French Outside Quebec

WINNIPEG (CP) — Provincial support for French-language education and the preservation of Manitoba's "ethnic mosaic" is recommended by the senate of the University of Manitoba.

In a brief being submitted today at a public hearing of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism, the university proposes several measures to extend the recognition of French outside Quebec.

"We recognize the paramount claims of the French and English languages as the historically dominant and officially recognized languages of Canada," the brief says.

At the same time the university urges appointment of a cultural arts council in Manitoba with provincial government support and representation from all ethnic groups. The council would assist the study of all languages and cultures in the province.

To protect the French culture in Manitoba, the university recommends these steps:

—Instruction in French in public schools or separate classrooms wherever there are enough French-Canadian pupils.

—Grants and allowances to bilingual teachers and French-language summer schools for teachers.

—Exchanges of teachers and students with Quebec financed by federal and provincial scholarships.

WANTS CULTURE GUARDED

Similar briefs are being presented today by Prof. W. L. Morton, prominent Winnipeg historian, and the Association of Canadian University Professors of French.

Prof. Morton calls for constitutional amendments to guarantee the rights of minorities to separate schools, instruction in French or English and the teaching of any other language as a curriculum subject.

He says cultural rights should be inserted in the Canadian Bill of Rights and the enlarged bill embedded in the constitution so that it would be binding on the federal and provincial governments.

The University of Manitoba historian also recommends the creation of a federal ministry of culture, a bilingual federal district in Ottawa-Hull and an advisory council of cultural nationalities with representatives from various ethnic groups.

The French professors say teaching of French should begin as early as possible in elementary school, not as a concession but as a personal enrichment.

French - speaking university students should be permitted to write their assignments and exams in their own language, they add.

Their brief calls for an interprovincial education organization to standardize exams, implement new teaching techniques and co-ordinate student and teacher exchange programs.

The professors add that bilingualism is desirable for high-ranking federal and provincial civil servants and all university professors.

SEEK DRAMA GRANTS

Le Cercle Molière, a local French drama society, recommends the construction of cultural centres for French-speaking towns outside Quebec. It asks for scholarships enabling amateur actors to attend drama schools.

The Citizenship Council of Manitoba says the teaching of any second language should begin in Grade 1, with a third language being introduced in Grade 7. The council says each school district should select the second and third languages in line with local ethnic and cultural representation.

The Royal Commonwealth Society, Manitoba branch, the Canada Ethnic Press Federation and the Canada Club introduced to make similar proposals in their briefs. They add that the provincial school system and the federal capital should reflect the fact that English and French are Canada's official languages.

If the federal and provincial governments failed to agree on substantial amendments to the constitution, the changes should be submitted to the people in a federal election or referendum, they add.

The executive of the Icelandic Canadian Club says heavy unemployment and inequality of opportunity in Quebec are the roots of French-Canadians' frustrations. "Only when the economic basis for these frustrations is removed will national unity be restored."

Roland Couture, manager of French-language radio station CKSB St. Boniface, reviews the station's 30 - year history and calls for an extension of the CBC's French television and radio network to the West coast.

His brief says French-language broadcasting has greatly helped the French-Canadians of Manitoba to preserve their culture.

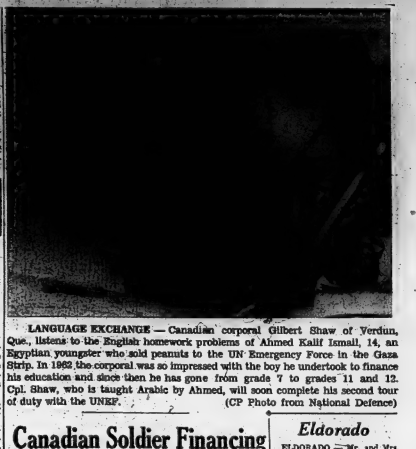
Organizations Plan Events For Centennial



MARMORA — Representatives from organizations in the village were present for the centennial organizational meeting held in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

After showing of a film, "Birth of a Nation" election of officers took place as follows:

Chairman, Rev. Maurice McLeod; vice-chairman, Mrs. Greenville Meiklejohn; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Glen Wentworth; publicity, Mr. John Godden; museum, Miss Grace Warren; building projects, Mr. Bill Monk; youth convenor, Mr. Harry Jenkins; local projects, Mr. Alex Fraser, and community events, Mr. Percy Gray.

Reeve William Shannon noted that Marmora has been chosen as the location for one of the Centennial Trailer Caravans which will be travelling across the country. Mrs. Meiklejohn showed the symbol which is to be used on all publicity in connection with the centennial project. This will represent the eleven provinces. Several suggestions were made for raising money for centennial purposes. It was recommended that a film be taken showing the history of everything done leading up to the centennial, to be shown along with the old film on hand.

At the next meeting on May 31st in the town hall, further concrete plans will be made and all organizations invited.

LANGUAGE EXCHANGE — Canadian corporal Gilbert Shaw of Verdun, Que., listens to the English homework problems of Ahmed Kalif Ismail, 14, an Egyptian youngster who sold peanuts to the UN Emergency Force in the Gaza Strip. In 1962 the corporal was so impressed with the boy he undertook to finance his education and since then he has gone from grade 7 to grades 11 and 12. Cpl. Canadian Soldier Financing Egyptian Boy's Schooling

PORT SAID, Egypt (CP)—A 14-year-old Egyptian boy who once sold peanuts to help support his widowed mother and two sisters now is receiving an education, thanks to a Canadian soldier serving with the UN Emergency Force.

Known as Peanuts to troops here, Ahmed Kalif Ismail was selling peanuts to UN soldiers when he caught the eye of Cpl. Gilbert Shaw of Verdun, Que., during his first tour of duty with the UN force in 1962.

Cpl. Shaw, a pay corps clerk, was so impressed with the boy's good manners and willingness to work that he arranged for Ahmed to work part time as an office boy in the army depot at Port Said.

He then enrolled the boy in Grade 7 of an afternoon school and Ahmed passed with a 75-per-cent average. The boy breezed through Grades 8 and 9 averaging 85 per cent. Cpl. Shaw continued to finance his studies on returning to Canada.

The corporal now is back in Port Said on his second tour of duty but is due to return again to Canada soon. He has arranged with a banking firm in Port Said to continue payments to Ahmed so he can complete Grades 11 and 12.

Cpl. Shaw is married and has two children of his own attending school in Montreal.

Ahmed says he would like to visit Canada some day but right now his studies come first. He wants to be a doctor so he can help people as the corporal helped him, he says.

Jack Murray, teacher, got a Scotia Plan Loan -$1800-in 35 minutes

Jack Murray had what he thought was the world's biggest pile of unpaid medical bills. Mr. Murray needed financial help in a hurry.

Jack talked his problem over with his brother and he suggested that Jack investigate the advantages of a Scotia Plan Loan. Jack dropped in on his noon hour to a Scotiabranch close to his school.

He talked his money problems over with one of the helpful Scotiabank people. After a few simple questions about his job, income, and how much money he needed Jack Murray started to see his medical bill problem melting away.

35 minutes later Jack Murray had all the money he so desperately needed. Of course, this actual customer was not named Jack Murray—and not all Scotia Plan Loans take 35 minutes—the time varies with the circumstances. But there are more and more people with all kinds of names and jobs coming to The Bank of Nova Scotia to have their money problems solved—quickly. Why don't you?

How much money do you need? We strongly suggest that a Scotia Plan Loan is one of the best—most practical ways for you to consolidate your debts. With a Scotia Plan Loan the cost is low. Your loan is life-insured at no extra cost. You get the other advantage of dealing with the interested Scotiabank people. So talk over your money problem—whatever it is—debt consolidation—a new car—with the people at your nearest Scotiabranch. They're ready and waiting to help you.

Victory Scented By Dominican Junta

United Nations Ceasefire Plea Is Turned Down

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The Dominican Junta, scenting victory in the civil war, Tuesday night turned down a United Nations appeal for a ceasefire. The rebels said they were willing.

Jose Antonio Mayobre of Venezuela, UN Secretary - General U Thant's special Dominican envoy, told a press conference that Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, the junta chief, "indicated he thought he was winning and therefore could not talk of a ceasefire."

Mayobre said Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, the rebel leader, had expressed willingness to accept a truce.

Imbert's forces were pressing a tank-led offensive to smash rebel pockets north of the U.S.-controlled east - west corridor across Santo Domingo.

Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, the armed forces secretary, claimed the drive was progressing steadily. But there were signs the junta forces were running into stiff resistance on the southern flank of the eastward push.

6 PRISONERS SHOT

U.S. troops Tuesday intervened in a fierce house-to-house battle between forces of the rival Dominican leaders in an effort to direct fire away from American positions in the international corridor to the south of the battle area.

A Reuters news agency dispatch said 50 insurgent men reported seeing soldiers of the Imbert' government shoot four prisoners belonging to the insurgent forces.

One correspondent reported that 1,100 insurgents were killed in Santo Domingo Tuesday in an attack on the presidential palace.

The newspaper men said the number of wounded could not be ascertained and described the Caamano forces as "stunned."

There was no source for the report, which identified the insurgent and Communist wounded was any figure given for casualties among the Imbert forces.

REBELS HOLD POSITIONS

Col. Ramon Montes Arache, chief of the rebel armed forces, said the rebel troops were maintaining their positions in the area. But he conceded that about 25 of his men had been killed in the battle with Imbert troops that had been raging for four days.

He estimated more than 200 civilians were killed in the action.

U.S. troops intervened after a number of stray shots landed in the security zone set up by American forces.

A Dominican Red Cross spokesman said the wounded troops were evacuated from the battle zone.

A spokesman for Imbert's said 2,500 troops were battling

Resumed Raids Hit Barracks In North Viet Nam

By/EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — Forty U.S. Navy planes destroyed three military barracks today and inflicted heavy damage on other installations in the second consecutive day of air strikes against North Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The spokesman said the aircraft from the carrier Coral Sea struck at two target areas 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

The raid was the second in 24 hours after a six-day suspension of air strikes against the north. Speculation was that the United States may broaden its air attacks on North Viet Nam.

The barracks were destroyed at Hoan Lac. It was not known whether they were occupied.

A military radio station, a power house and communications and administration buildings were reported destroyed at nearby Chanh Hoa.

PLANES RETURN SAFELY

The spokesman said 30 Sky hawks, Skyraiders and Sky Warriors, supported by 10 F-4 and F-8 Crusaders, rounded the targets for 45 minutes with missiles, rockets and 30 tons of bombs.

Pilots reported light ground fire and no enemy aircraft were sighted. All the planes returned to the carrier, the spokesman said.

Since the three - month - long air strikes so far have not resulted in bringing the war in Vietnamese to the conference table, there was speculation that the raiders may seek more important targets, possibly in the industrialized Hanoi - Haiphong region.

So far the bombings have been directed against military barracks, ammunition and fuel depots, air fields, bridges and roads and railway traffic. The northernmost point hit was a bridge at Dong Phuong, 65 miles south of Hanoi, April 3.

The air strikes against the north were resumed Tuesday after the six-day suspension which the United States was reported to have sent out feelers to North Viet Nam for peace talks. Hanoi evidently rejected them in the disappointment of Washington.

A North Vietnamese foreign ministry statement broadcast a few hours after Tuesday's raid called the suspension an effort to camouflage U.S. intensification of the war and to deceive world opinion.

PATTON GAP BETWEEN?

Senior western officials in London said the United States made its peace approach to Hanoi through a third country. The country was not identified, but there was speculation that the British commonwealth nation was the go-between.

The officials reported the United States suggested the air attacks would be halted indefinitely if Hanoi made some comparable gesture. Presumably Washington would have to believe that Hanoi, if it did, if the Communists stopped the flow of

Sicilian Mobster Shot Down

TRAPANI, Sicily (CP-AP)— Four bullets struck down Buster Onofrio (Nono) Minaudo in his native village of Castonaci, ending the life of the 65-year-old alleged Mafia lieutenant 13 months after he was deported from Canada.

"Somehow I felt he would go that way," said his Canadian-born wife in Windsor, Ont., when told of her husband's violent death Tuesday.

"But I had hoped God would just call him—that he would just pass away."

Mrs. Minaudo, a native of Windsor, where she works as a cashier in a restaurant, married Minaudo in 1936. She was the widow of another mobster James Renna, known to Detroit police as "Jimmy the Wop."

"There will be another terrible blast in the newspapers," she said. "I have two grown sons and two beautiful grandchildren. I don't want them to get hurt."

Police said Minaudo was struck by four bullets. They said they were investigating as to whether his death was in vengeance for Sicilian murder and armed robbery convictions dating to 1917 and 1923. He was found dead by his brother Vincent.

These convictions had lapsed by the time he was deported to Sicily from Canada March 11, 1964.

The police said they found no clues to the killing, which they said might be linked with the crimes Minaudo had been accused of in the past.

Fateful Debate Coming

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson was scheduled to open a fateful debate in the Commons today on government proposals for radical changes in rules of procedure.

The Opposition is expected to object strongly to a "guillotine" rule that would empower any cabinet minister to set an arbitrary time limit for debate on a particular government bill.

Opposition is also expected to develop against proposals to limit the daily question period to 30 minutes and to limit money debates to 36 days in each session.

Reports are current that Mr. Pearson intends to call a snap election if the new rules should run into a filibuster. The proposals were introduced May 12 and have come under close scrutiny ever since in Opposition ranks.

The decks were cleared for the rules debate with the final approval Tuesday of a measure to retire future senators at age 75. Incumbent senators over the age limit—numbering 36 out of 95—will have the option of staying on at $15,000 a year or retiring on an annual pension of $8,000 minus an annual contribution of $720.

The measure received third reading on a voice vote, with

Bonn Rocked With Cheers For Queen and Her Consort

BONN (Reuters) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth lifted half a century of hostility and mistrust today when the citizens of Bonn stopped work and thronged the streets to greet her on the second day of her state visit to West Germany.

A police spokesman said the crowds were "considerably" greater than those that turned out to cheer the late president Kennedy on his visit to Bonn in 1963 and exceeded those that welcomed French President de Gaulle the year before.

People in the crowd seemed to sense that the Queen's visit was more than a public spectacle but also an historic occasion which would finally heal the scars of two world wars.

The crowd was restrained as the 39-year-old monarch placed a wreath on a memorial to the dead of both world wars and the victims of Nazi persecution. But as she drove through the packed streets to the rathaus (town hall) and to the Beethoven statue where she placed a bouquet of pink roses, the queen was greeted by a storm of clapping and cheers.

Shouts of "Elizabeth" and "Vivat la Queen" mingled with the cheers. The cries replaced the traditional "heil" which West German etiquette experts have frowned on as recalling the Nazi period.

At one stage the crowds burst through the barriers, bringing the royal car to a halt. Later, as the Queen arrived at Bonn University, they charged across immaculate flower beds to cheer her.

Police estimated at least 100,000 persons took part during the streets to welcome the Queen on the second day of her 11-day visit.

Comparing the British ruler's visit with those of Kennedy and de Gaulle, a police spokesman said:

The queen, dressed in green, was accompanied by Prince Philip at the wreath - placing ceremony at the memorial.

The couple stood with bowed heads for a few moments before the Queen stepped forward and placed the wreath.

Two armed steel - helmeted Bundeswehr soldiers stood at attention on either side of the memorial, a bronze plaque four feet by seven inscribed "in memory of the victims of the wars and tyranny."

As the Queen placed the wreath a lone trumpeter played softly the traditional German soldier's air "Ich Hat' Einen Kameraden (I Had a Comrade).

A Bundeswehr guard of honor was drawn up on the lawns before the war memorial as the Queen and Prince Philip arrived after a drive through crowded streets from their hilltop residence on the Petersberg, across the Rhine River from Bonn.

After the ceremony, the queen drove through packed streets to the 180-century town hall in the market place.

The narrow streets of this small capital city rocked to cheers as the Queen drove past in a luxurious open Mercedes, looking obviously delighted by the warmth of her reception.

At town hall the Queen was greeted by her host, President Heinrich Luebke, and Wilhelm Daniels, lord mayor of Bonn.

She mounted the ornate outside staircase to look out across a sea of faces and waving flags as a police band played God Save the Queen and the German national anthem.

Most West German newspapers agreed that the Queen had made a "radiant" start to her state visit, the first by a British monarch in 54 years.

"Radiant" and "friendly" were the words most used in warm praise for the Queen although several papers noted a certain "reserve" and "aloofness" on her arrival Tuesday. The mass-circulation Bild Zeitung urged: "Your Majesty, please smile more."

Many papers stressed the political significance of the visit. The Queen today wore a pale sea green boucle wool coat over a crepe dress of the same color, with a matching hat. The duke wore a lounge suit.

The British monarch was feted by West Germany's elite Tuesday night at the greatest gala reception ever accorded a foreign visitor.

Sweeping Changes Proposed

TORONTO (CP)—A series of sweeping amendments to the Municipal Act aimed at solving a number of problems in Ontario — from hot rodders on plaza parking lots to the lack of county power to licence nursing homes—were proposed in the legislature Tuesday.

The amendments — 40-odd — were proposed for first reading by Municipal Affairs Minister Wilfred Spooner.

The amendments will permit municipalities to levy special charges against developers of high - rise apartment buildings, and councils will be able to pass bylaws prohibiting racing or speeding in shopping-centre plazas and private parking lots.

Other amendments affect store closing hours, expropriation of industrial land, establishment of boards of control, breaking of tie votes in elections and joint projects by municipalities.

Mr. Spooner also said that his special assistant, Lorne Cumming, is rewriting the entire Municipal Act. Mr. Cumming retired last year as deputy minister.

Meanwhile, the amendments will change the present act to permit a township to dissolve its police villages and set up

Core Value Negligible Bd. Told

TORONTO (CP) — George MacMillan, president of Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd., told a royal commission Tuesday that two days before Windfall shares went wild on the stock exchange last July a visual examination of the core did not indicate commercial values of copper or zinc.

He said, however, that a visual inspection did not eliminate the possibility of copper and zinc values being present. The only true test, he said, would be to assay the core.

Mr. Macmillan was the last witness to testify before the commission. Tuesday, May 25, lawyers will submit briefs and it will then be Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly's chore to prepare the report he hopes to have finished by the end of July.

The commission was appointed by the Ontario government to investigate the rise of Windfall shares to a high of $80 and their collapse to $8 cents during July last year.

RUMORS STARTED RISE

Mr. Macmillan said he first saw the core, taken from Windfall's property in the Timmins area, July 4. Two days later Windfall shares rose more than tripled in price to $2.15 from 58 cents on rumors that the core contained commercial copper and zinc values.

Mr. Macmillan said there was no free gold or native silver visible in the core, "but that doesn't mean it wasn't there."

He repeated that the only true test of the core's contents would be an assay.

Commission counsel Patrick Hartt asked: "Then why didn't you have it assayed at that time?"

Mr. Hartt said: "Many geologists have testified they can tell what is in a core with a visual examination. What can you tell from a visual examination of core?"

Mr. Macmillan, who has been in the mining business for more than 35 years, said: "I am not smart enough to look at the core on a new hole . . . and tell what is in it."

TWO SAMPLES ASSAYED

Mr. Macmillan's wife Viola, in her evidence, said she took two samples of core to be assayed July 6.

Tuesday Mr. Hartt said: "The two samples of core taken by your wife to be assayed were from a non-mineralized section of the core. Why would you have this assayed?"

"It's just routine . . . I just wanted to see what was in

Brainy U.S. General Gets Job So Secret He Cannot Define It

WASHINGTON (AP) — One Gen. George C. Marshall—has been named to a new job. But he cannot divulge what he will be doing.

Lt. - Gen. Marshall Sylvester Carter, 55, has been selected by President Johnson to be director of the National Security Agency, succeeding air force Lt.-Gen. Gordon A. Blake, who is retiring.

The agency is located on more than 1,000 acres at Ft. Meade, Md., 20 miles from Washington.

It is reported to have more than 10,000 employees. They are said to be under orders to decline to tell anybody even where they work.

Generally, though, the agency might be described as a global intelligence operation, with the accent on electronics. It listens in on other governments' coded messages as they fly around the world, then tries to de - code them. The listening-in is done by sophisticated super - secret devices in various parts of the world.

For the last three years, Carter has been deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Canada Starts Move to Bring China Into Talks on Arms

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Canada has started a move to have the 114-nation UN disarmament commission take a first step toward getting Communist China into disarmament negotiations, Canadian sources said Tuesday night.

They said Canada had given a paper outlining the idea to some non - aligned delegations that it hoped would take the lead in producing a resolution for the commission to adopt.

The resolution would:

1. Note proposals for a world disarmament conference.

2. Suggest that the 18-nation Geneva disarmament committee carefully consider these proposals and other measures for bringing "all militarily-significant nations" into disarmament negotiations.

3. Ask the committee to work on a treaty to prevent spread of nuclear weapons, a ban on underground nuclear tests and U.S. proposals for a bonfire of old bombers and a freeze on nuclear strategic vehicles.

The sources described the Canadian draft as "some notes about things we thought might go into a resolution and that we have reason to believe might be acceptable to our Western allies." They stressed it was not a Canadian proposal as such.

They also said Canada would favor a world disarmament conference only if the Geneva negotiations first produced some agreeme-

Teacher resignations and new staff appointments took up much of the time at the May meeting of the Belleville Public School Board held Monday evening.

Resignations from one principal—H. Robert Moorcroft who is leaving to accept a position as supervising principal in Darlington township — and six teachers, were accepted, while 32 teachers' college graduates and three experienced teachers were appointed.

Another eight teachers were given re-instatements or confirmation of appointments.

Experienced teacher appointees included Miss Sharon Hall, Peterborough, D. G. Hellwell, Bowmanville, and Miss Gloria Sedler, Newtonton.

Teachers' College appointees were: Ottawa: Miss Carol Ann Amos, Miss Elizabeth Parmenter, Miss Merna Preslar, Miss Janet Sivago; Peterborough: Miss Shannon Adams, Miss Eleanor Boyd, Miss Joyce Cotten, Miss Elizabeth Craddock, Miss Jane Graham, Miss Beth Hodgson, Miss Jean MacKillicam, Miss Margaret Onderdonk, Miss Ann Rowe, Miss Sharon Jenson, Miss Sandra Samain, Miss Joan Sherry, Miss Linda Smith, Miss Carol Thompson; Toronto: Miss Marlene Fenton, Miss Helen Ganas, Miss Patricia Lovell, Miss Beverley Pulver.

Reinstatements and confirmations: Mrs. Lynne Allen, Mrs. Lorraine Macklem, Mrs. Ann Crabb, Mrs. Barbara Cooke, Mrs. Grace Forester, Mrs. Lynch McDonald, Mrs. Helen Lockwood, Judith Sabine.

Resignations were received from Principal Moorcroft, Mrs. Gloria Greenaway, Miss Diana Hickling, Mrs. Barbara Moorcroft, Mrs. Barbara Mathews, Miss Leona Mellow and Mrs. Sharon Mulk. Also resigning was Miss Linda Lockhart, secretary to the superintendent of public schools since July 1964.

ATTENDED DINNER

Prior to Monday night's meeting, board members attended the annual dinner for teachers and trustees held at the Masonic Temple honoring four retiring members of the teaching staff.

In addition to consideration of teacher resignations and new appointments, fuel tenders for the 1965-66 season were awarded. Murphy Oil Co. Ltd. were awarded the contract at 13.45 cents per gallon; Moira Schuster will provide stoker coal at $12.17 per ton, and Harry Smith Fuels will supply Rice anthracite coal at $18.60 per ton.

The supply of a replacement boiler for the Hillcrest School was awarded to Son Ltd., the lowest price, at $1,623.00.

Instruction was given to call for prices on changes and extension of fencing at the King Edward and School Queen Alexandra and Sir Mackenzie Bowell Schools.

Sites, Special Sites and Building Committee reported all final approvals had been secured for the proposed addition to the Park Dale School. Prompt attention of Belleville City Council and full co-operation of city officials made possible the signing of the contract with Hugh Murray Ltd. on May 11th following passages of the by-law by council on May 10th. The low priced bid proposed by council provided for a total amount of $198,000, of which $189,213 was for the Murray contract.

Jersey Calf Club Holds Second Meet

The second meeting of the Belleville 4-H Jersey Calf Club was held Thursday evening at the farm of John Bergwald, R.R. 2, Belleville.

Lyall Maclachlan discussed with the group herd health, care of calves and various diseases common to cattle.

The members were then given a class of mature jersey cows to milk and judge. Several members gave placings and reasons for the class, after which they were officially placed by Ron Hamilton.

Call Tenders For By-pass At Madoc

Tenders for the construction of the Madoc by - pass on No. 7 highway are being advertised today with a closing date of June 1 for the awarding of the contract.

Charles T. Robins, MLA for Hastings East has been advised by highways minister Hon. Charles S. McNaughton that the tender call will be for grading, drainage and structures, and will also include the Deer Creek bridges and Madoc Creek structures.

The by - pass will commence 1.9 miles west of Madoc and run westerly for 2.9 miles passing north of the village.

County Library Subject of Discussion

A meeting of the Hastings County Library Advisory Committee was held May 12 at the Stirling Library. The meeting was called to discuss plans for obtaining support in the coming for the formation of a county library. Various schemes were mentioned to the public. A further meeting to finalize plans will be held late in June.

Present at the meeting were: Mrs. G. W. Bailey, Mrs. C. Potts and Mrs. D. Patterson from Stirling; Mrs. William Elwood and Mrs. Frank Foster from Tweed; Mrs. C. Bennett from Frankford; Mr. Ken Bird (secretary) and Mr. M. Workman (chairman) from Belleville.

Crests Awarded Winners Of Three Competitions

Achievement crests were awarded to YMCA members for winning various events in three different competitions at the annual Crest Night banquet, sponsored by the Y's Men's Club.

A Hi-Lo gym competition was held during March, a swim competition was conducted in April and a gymnastic competition was held early in May. A great many of the YMCA members participated and the names of the winners are listed below. After the awards were distributed even the near winners were urged to keep on trying. It was pointed out to the boys that life is competitive and that a person does not win all the time and neither does he always lose. But he must always strive for the best and the highest.

The Hi-Lo competition consists of five events: chin-ups, push ups, standing broad jump, high jump and basketball throw. Points are awarded to achieve a high standard score in at least four events and a total of 500 points in order to win a National YMCA Hi-Lo crest.

The 1963 winners for the Belleville YMCA are:

Members who were unable to be at the banquet are asked to see Gordon at the Y to receive their awards of achievement. This marks the end of another YMCA fall and winter program year.

Gerry Mulligan Wins 'Award Of Excellence'

Gerard A. "Gerry" Mulligan, former Oshawa and Toronto sports editor (1951-55), will receive an international "Award of Excellence" at the annual conference of the American Association of Industrial Editors in Buffalo, N.Y., this week.

He is now director of press and employee relations of Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company, with headquarters in Allentown, Pa., and is editor of the company's monthly publication, the "PP and L Reporter."

The award, from annual competition among employee publications of leading industries in Canada and the United-States, honors Mulligan's achievement in helping job in promoting a better understanding of the role of industry in the development of finance in a free enterprise economy." It is the second award won by Mr. Mulligan since joining the Pennsylvania company three years ago — his 1963 report of the annual meeting of PP and L shareowners was judged best of 300 annual publications by investor-owned utilities, and received an "Oscar of Industry" award from the New York Financial Writers Association.

Gerry Mulligan will accept the AAIE award from Kenneth Kramer, executive editor of "Business Week" magazine, at a dinner in the Buffalo Statler Hilton Hotel on Friday, May 7. Mulligan, who joins the Oshawa, Mr. Mulligan has worked as an editor with Brockville and Ottawa newspapers, Canadian Press, Philadelphia Inquirer; the Iron Age, international metalworking magazine. He and Mrs. Mulligan, the former Thersa Collins of St. Catharines, reside with their four children (Michael, 10; Patrick, 9; Mark, 7, and Mary 6) at 1644 Millard Ave., Allentown, Pa.

Editors note:—He is the son of Mrs. Helen Mulligan, Welland, Ont., and the late Joseph Mulligan who were former residents of this city.

IN MEMORIAM

TROTTER — In loving memory of dear daughter Mary, who died May 19, 1962.

Sweet memories, treasure of joys,
Loving, giving, the whole of the time.
A cheerful smile, a heart of gold,
To the poorest, the rich, the world could hold.
Happy memories, fond and true,
From us who thought the world of you.
—Never forgotten by his loved ones.

REID — In loving memory of our wonderful husband and father, who passed away May 19, 1962.
I look around, I look around,
I look around in vain,
Why we have to see them vanish
Without farewell she but unseen,
With only memory left for me to gaze upon.
Just the sad God has spared us.
One of the best mothers the world ever knew.
—Always remembered by daughter, Mary, Maurice, Merle and families.

REID — In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away May 19, 1962.
Oh what a heart was hers to close
Her own dear kind fate to see.
To four blessed sons, a loveliness voice.
That meant so much to me.
No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have such an ache.
Of the grief that is borne in silence,
For the one I loved so well.
—Lovingly remembered by husband and family.

STOLIKER — In loving memory of our dear father, Peter Stoliker, who passed away May 19, 1962.
He is gone, but not forgotten,
In our thoughts he lives still,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Memory brings him back to us.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Tears will fall, but memories will remain.
That will be know the sorrow,
That lies within a heart crossed.
—Sadly missed by daughter Mary Ann, son-in-law Archie and grandchildren.

REID — In loving memory of a dear mother Sarah Annie Reid, who passed away May 19, 1962.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweet and fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That I do not think of you.
—Always remembered by son Harry.

AYKINS — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Douglas E. Aikins, who passed away May 19, 1962.
We do not need a special day,
To keep you in our mind,
For the days we do not think of you,
Are hard to find.
If all the world were ours to give,
And all the gold that's known,
To see your face once smiling at us,
We would.
—Ever remembered by wife, daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren.

MOSSMAN — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Fred (Ivy) Mossman, who passed away May 19, 1962.
Two bright eyes, a tender smile,
Loving heart that loved us all,
Deep trust in God that's all right,
Deep faith to make sense about it,
No thought of self, but of the other,
I know in God, well done, dear mother.
Our mother her will still keep alive,
And never hide away.
—Sadly missed by daughter, son-in-law Dene, Wesley, grandchildren David, Gary, Linda, great grandchildren Randall, Rodney.

REID — In memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Sarah Annie Reid, who passed away May 19, 1962.
Till memory fades and life departs,
I'll keep you always dear,
Within my lonely heart to rest,
Your picture shall remain forever.
—Sadly missed by daughter Mary.

Local Care of Mentally Ill in Psychiatric Wards Of Hospital Is Advocated

"The Community and Mental Health" was the topic of an address delivered yesterday to the Belleville Kiwanis Club by Mrs. Janette Thompson, Adoption Supervisor, Children's Aid, and President of the Canadian Mental Health Association, Belleville Branch.

Mrs. Thompson noted the trend is away from large impersonal Ontario Hospitals towards local care in psychiatric wards in local hospitals.

"Mental illness, in its various forms, disables more people than all other diseases combined — including cancer, heart disease, tuberculosis, and every other crippling and killing disease."

Mrs. Thompson pointed out that about 70,000 sick people are living today in Canada's mental hospitals, and added, "If no further progress is made in the prevention of mental illness, at least one out of every 10 babies born this year is destined to spend some part of his life in a mental hospital."

"Surveys conducted by a leading University," she said, "show that in any community on this continent, more than 35 per cent of the population has suffered definite mental illness (at least temporary disability)."

The speaker told the Kiwanians that one statistician calculates that the cost of running Canada's mental hospitals for one year, paying welfare charges for the families of the mentally ill, plus the indirect costs of loss of earning, breakdowns, suicides, crimes, accidents, etc., if eliminated would: wipe out personal income taxes for every Canadian earning up to $5,000 annually; or present all newlyweds with a $10,000 down payment on a new home; or put a deep-freeze unit in every home in Canada; or provide university scholarships to train 50,000 doctors, nurses, dentists, teachers and engineers, at no cost to the individual.

DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND

"Because mental illness has always been with us, and because it is difficult to understand," said Mrs. Thompson, "we have allowed it to creep along in an insidious way and we have come to accept it as one of the inevitabilities of life.

"Mental illness is not dramatic — unlike cancer and heart disease it is not a common cause of death. It is the all-pervading quiet disaster of our time. It startles and frightens us only when it appears in its most serious and dramatic forms, among those close to us, or when it comes to us ourselves."

Mr. Thompson said that much of the problem is that until recently we have tended to hide mental illness, or ignore it and pretend it just wasn't so. If the problem became too serious, the patient would be sent off to the Ontario Hospital — "Away from the community, and to some extent out of sight and out of mind."

"Whether we like it or not," she continued, "the day is rapidly approaching when we no longer treat mental illness as something to be ashamed of and the responsibility for our mentally ill neighbors is being brought back where it belongs — to the patient's own community."

The speaker noted that several hospitals have recently built psychiatric units and enlarged more hospitals, including Belleville General, are planning to in the future.

"Hospitalization however is only one phase in the total treatment of a mentally ill person. A patient who suffers a mental breakdown may require hospital treatment during the acute stage of his illness, but he should be required to remain in hospital the rest of his life — until sometime as a state he completely cured — that is absolutely in touch with reality."

"How many of us can claim that we are 100 per cent sane 100 per cent of the time?

NEEDS SUPPORT

"We will be seeing more and more patients returned to the community — having passed through the acute stage of their illness. If a patient leaves the hospital with no help from anyone, he stands a 50-50 chance of being back within a year.

"He needs support, guidance and special services to help him on his way back to the community and to give him the best chance of recovering from his illness. Like most other people about to be released, he needs a lifeline — this lifeline is aftercare."

The speaker explained that "aftercare" deals with four main factors in a patient's life — medical treatment, adjustment, housing and vocational rehabilitation. All of these areas are necessary for the successful adjustment of the mental patient to the community.

"Most psychiatric authorities are convinced that the best way to avoid mental illness is through a chain of continuous care. Such care must start with community facilities for early diagnosis and treatment of mental illness, it may involve intensive treatment in a mental hospital, or preferably in a psychiatric unit of a general hospital, and should always end with community aftercare services.

"Although aftercare programs vary, they have three things in common: one, they are effective — they keep people from returning to hospital and help them function in the community; two, they are economical — aftercare costs much less than hospitalization; and three, they are humane — because they help people who desperately need help."

The speaker concluded that "Community aftercare is an investment in people. It offers us hope for combatting the problem of mental illness more effectively. We cannot — we must not — do without it."

In other business at the meeting, it was announced that next Wednesday, May 26, will be the Kiwanis' annual peanut day. The Kiwanis are hopeful that the citizens of Belleville will once again offer their full support of the drive. The peanuts, for sale the one day only, will be sold by Kiwanians going from door-to-door during the evening.

Fish and Game Hear About Project Raids

The recent ravages of the Belleville Pi h and Game Club believed committed by dogs was described to the monthly meeting last night by Director George Woodhouse.

He said the predators resulted in the loss of valuable pheasants, partridge and dover.

Mr. Woodhouse told the meeting that he had contacted the OPP and Lands and Forests, and was within his rights to take action if proper proof was forthcoming.

Game director presented a plaque to Doug Waite for his invaluable assistance in helping to raise pheasants on the club's sanctuary project and his service to "Operation Greenhead."

Highlight of the meeting was an archery show staged by Floyd Armstrong of the Belleville Archery Club.

Several young ladies showed their skill in a demonstration that drew a fine ovation from members.

The display of sports equipment was provided by the Canadian Tire Corporation.

President Bill Phillips was in the chair and announced the winner of the May 1st Pickerel Derby. He presented the top award to Leslie Bonisteel, 276 Coleman Street whose catch weighed five pounds, eleven ounces.

Three films, "Fins, Feathers and Fur," "One Day's Catch" and "Safe Boating Practice" were shown.

The proudest member present was Grant Stickle, 332 Charles Street who went home with the main prize of the evening, a complete spin-cast outfit.

Honor Kingston Anglican Dean

KINGSTON (CP) — The 98th session of the synod of the Anglican diocese of Ontario set a precedent Tuesday when it voted unanimously to recommend the title of dean emeritus for Dean A. T. Brierly Howard of Kingston.

Rt. Rev. K. C. Evans, bishop of Ontario, endorsed the synod's recommendation making Dean Browne a lifetime holder of the title. It is the first time an Anglican priest in the diocese has been so honored.

Dean Browne retired last April after 40 years of service to the church, 20 of them Kingston.

The 71 - year - old clergyman has also served in Niagara Falls and Toronto.

WILL VISIT OTTAWA

OTTAWA (CP)—Adlai Stevenson, United States ambassador to the United Nations, will visit Ottawa May 29, External Affairs Minister Martin told the Commons Monday. Mr. Stevenson will be in Toronto May 28 to receive an honorary degree from the University of Toronto.

Plans Laid to Install New Curling Rink Floor At Annual Meet of Club

Amalgamation with the Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club, installation of a cement floor in the curling rink were the chief topics of discussion at the annual meeting of the Quinte Curling Club held in the clubhouse Wednesday evening. Gil Wamboldt, president of the club, presided.

After the nominating committee had submitted their report on the slate of officers for the ensuing year was given, a vote was held and Fred Maund, "Goldie" Livingston, Dan Cowley, William Riley, Ken Pinder, Jack Olsveson, Bill Gault, Fred Deacon and Dawson Boyd were elected and at a future meeting these directors will choose their president. Bob Saunders and Harry Fuke were again elected auditors.

Reports were given by Ron Benn, Dan Cowley, Bill Gault, Ken Pinder, Bill Meagher, Fred Maund and "Goldie" Livingston on various aspects of the club and all showed a healthy condition. The treasurer, Jack Diamond, gave a splendid report showing the club in sound financial condition. Bill Gault reporting on the building, stated some repairs were needed for the roof, which will be done this summer, while Dan Cowley stated that the canteen had had a good season. The curling reports were excellent and everyone was pleased with the fine position of the club. The president in giving his statement to the members thanked the members of his board for their co-operation and assistance during the year.

WILL SECURE ESTIMATES

It was approved by the meeting that estimates be immediately secured to instal a cement floor in the curling rink. This is a new method of installation were proposed but it is expected a soil expert will be consulted before any set plan is accepted. Part of the expense will be borne by the Fair Board who will have the right to use the facilities of the rink during fair time. The Fair Board and the Curling Club have always worked closely together and a good arrangement will be made.

A discussion, heated at times, took place over the amalgamation of the Golf Club with the Curling Club with the hope of building a new six-sheet rink and clubhouse at the Golf Club but no decision was made on the proposition. Hugh McMurray, "Pat" Houston, members of a committee to investigate reported to the meeting on finances and Cobourg and many of their points were thoroughly discussed and it was the opinion of the meeting that the question should be delayed for the time being and until such a time as more data is available. The air was considerably cleared by the discussion and the members were better able to assess the advantages or disadvantages of the move.

At the conclusion of the meeting that lasted until nearly the midnight hour, the members enjoyed a social hour as guests of the directorate.

New Program On CBC's 'Let's Listen'

A new elementary school reading program now under development for beginners will be aired by CBC television next week over the program "Let's Listen".

The program will be seen May 26th at 3.30 p.m. and will be of special interest to teachers and home and school club members.

In September 1964 a Grade 1 demonstration class on the teaching of reading was initiated under joint auspices of the Ontario Curriculum Institute and the Lakeshore Board of Education, the purpose being to develop a beginning reading program based on a language experience approach.

The CBC over its "Let's Listen" program will portray this demonstration class in action.

U Thant Will Have Talks With Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations will have two hours of private talks here Saturday with Prime Minister Pearson before the two men travel to Kingston, to receive honorary degrees from Queen's University.

Informed sources said Tuesday Mr. Thant will fly here from New York Saturday morning for talks and lunch at 24 Sussex Street, the prime minister's official residence.

The pair then will fly together to Kingston in a government aircraft for the afternoon convocation.

Sources said the session at Mr. Pearson's residence will be "highly informal" with no more than six or seven persons in attendance.

External Affairs Minister Martin and possibly Defence Minister Hellyer will be among those on hand.

Discussions will cover current world trouble spots, topped by Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, and the present financial crisis facing the UN over its peace - keeping operations.

Two Cars Damaged

TRENTON — A two - car collision on Highway 33, approximately 100 yards north of the CNR overhead bridge, around 12.10 a.m. today, resulted in damages of $300 to a car driven by Frances Patrick of Frankford and $1,000 to a car driven by Harold Barnes of of London, Ont. Neither driver was injured.

OPP officers from the Brighton detachment investigated the accident.

Set Warehouse Fire Loss at About $25,000

TRENTON — Fire Chief Cecil Ellis today set losses in Sunday's Elgin Street warehouse fire at between $22,000 and $25,000. This includes garden equipment, paint and other hardware supplies stored by Bailey's Hardware; grocery supplies stored by Evans' Groceteria and the extensive damage to the Salvation Army Citadel, next door to the warehouse.

While the cause of the fire may never be known, according to the chief, the fire had burned some time before it was discovered and reported.

Various Appeals Are Doing Well

TRENTON — James Campbell, the 1965 chairman for the Canadian Cancer Society campaign, announced evening that $0 per cent of the $6,000 objective has been reached, with the downtown business area of Trenton yet to be canvassed.

Meanwhile, E.M. Parker Jr., chairman for the Trenton Salvation Army Red Shield campaign, reports $3,700 of the 1965 $5,000 objective collected, with many outlying areas still to be accounted for.

Trenton hospital Rose Day tags-gers collected more than $500 and Trenton Sea Cadets $536 in recent tag days. Special- mention went to Sea Cadets, Robert Morrison, Wesley Cadmore, Gordon Leland and Eugene Pelletier for a job well done.

Ballet School Exams Staged

"RENTON — Last week Miss Margaret Saul of National Ballet School conducted annual examinations in Trenton for the first time.

Thirteen students from Eastern Ontario Theatre School Ballet Branch, passed Grade One examinations; one student Beverley Bain, passed Grade Two. Mrs. Rhoda Bain is local instructor.

Seek to Feed Northern Dogs

TRENTON — Thomas Hogan, the general manager of the Ontario Humane Society at Trenton, has made an appeal locally for contributions of "kitchen", a plan designed to help northern sled dogs from suffering the pangs of starvation next winter.

Last year, the society shipped nine tons of meal in 50-pound waterproof packages to Eskimo elements in the north. This year, it is hoped ten tons will be sent to build up a backlog of nourishment for the dogs, said Mr. Hogan, "Arctichow" and sent Mr. Hughes in Toronto.

In Memoriam

The cross that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy bears is one that few women in history have been called upon to bear. The awesome tragedy that deprived this young woman of her husband, and the world of one of the most remarkable men of our time, still strikes a chord in the hearts of men. The evil that was done on that sombre day in Texas 18 months ago still haunts conscience and memory.

The event itself has passed into history. And last week, at Runnymede, by the banks of the River Thames in England, where in 1215 the barons forced King John to sign the Magna Carta, history was made again. There Queen Elizabeth dedicated a corner of her realm to the United States, in memory of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

A simple stone memorial marks the spot. On it are the words that Kennedy spoke the day of his inauguration in 1961. "Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe in order to assure the survival and success of liberty."

To this historic place, in the year of 1965, came the late president's wife, her two children Caroline ?, and John ?; U.S. Senators Robert and Edward Kennedy, brothers of the slain president; Mrs. Peter Lawford and Mrs. Stephen Smith, his sisters, and their British hosts, to dedicate themselves anew to the memory of one who was so supremely alive and was taken from us.

Ketchup Talk

It takes all kinds to make a world.

The oftener this is impressed on us, and the more readily we accept it, the more likely we are to find that life goes smoothly.

Little things point the way. For instance the other day Ann Landers was talking about ketchup; (she called it catsup; do people who spell it "catsup" pronounce it that way?).

Well, anyway, this woman said her husband doused ketchup on everything and emphasized her complaint with: "Have you ever heard of ketchup on fried eggs?" Now it happens that there is only one thing on which we ever put ketchup, and then only once in a blue moon, for a change. That one thing is—you guessed it —fried eggs. What is wrong with ketchup on fried eggs?

For that matter, we suppose, what is wrong with ketchup on everything, providing one likes the taste of ketchup so well that one is willing to forfeit all other tastes? Some people are. We know a wholesale grocer in the city who says his ketchup sales in the back country are his bread and butter—and some of these country dwellers actually combine the two. Why is it that country folk should be such big ketchup fans? Their fare is hearty, fresh meats and vegetables with a livelier taste than is sometimes found in the frozen foods which their city cousins may eat? Is the taste for ketchup inherited and does it date back to the days of salt pork and vegetables hauled from the sand in the root cellar?

No matter. Let those who like ketchup that much enjoy it in great gobs. No, we are not working for Heinz.

There are, however, two ways of regarding the ketchup lovers of this world, all the people who like things we do not, or who dislike the things we enjoy. They are different and one ought to accept the fact, but acceptance can be of two kinds—passive or active. We can either note the difference and shrug it off, or we can recognize it and enjoy the fact that there are people who have different tastes from our own and who, for that very reason, are interesting.

Blends With Surroundings

Saturday, May 9, the Belleville Junior Chamber of Commerce staged a safe-driving roadeo.

A few days before the event, to advertise it, the Jaycees hauled an old wreck of a car to the vacant lot on the south side of Bridge Street East, between Front and Pinnacle Streets.

The old car was still there at noon yesterday, ten days after the roadeo.

There is really no reason why it should be moved. Its appearance is quite in keeping with the remainder of the lot, on the beautification of which the Jaycees appear to have spent considerable money, some time and virtually no imagination.

So Little in Space

Ottawa Journal

"The trouble with space," the London Economist commented in a recent issue, "is that there is so much of it and so little in it."

Seventeen men and one woman have now gone into space. But what have they to tell beyond that the colors are indescribably beautiful and something of the sense of exhilaration which weightlessness apparently brings?

The Economist says:

"Nearly 20 years of space exploration, 20 years of forays into interplanetary dust and nothingness have produced results almost wholly negative—to seraphs singing, no green cheese on the moon, no canals on Mars, no atmosphere on Venus."

The only major contribution to science made by all the space probes has been the identification of the band of radiation—the Van Allen Belt—that girdles the earth. Even that had been predicted mathematically.

• • •

It is wise in the afterglow of the excitement of the Gemini success and Lieut.-Col. Leonov's walk and Alan Shepard's take such sober assessment of programs which have consumed billions of dollars and risked the lives of brave men.

Could it we have been so diverted by the marvellous technology of getting into (and out of) space that we have lost sight of the fact that precious little has been found?

Has the gadgetry become an end in itself?

The moon from those remarkable TV pictures looked disappointingly like the dreary pock-marked place we have always thought it to be.

Earth-bound men engaged in sturdy astronomy studies have said there would be virtually nothing out in the void which holds the dead moon and planets.

Is it time someone recognized that they were right.

• • •

Yet though the vaults of the heavens seem empty, neither the Americans nor the Russians nor anyone else can stop their striving to push still farther out into the unknown — not because they are Russians and Americans, but because they are men.

The Economist conjures this vivid comparison:

"... hundreds of millions of years ago, the fishes in the sea must have told the first sprat that flopped on to land he was crazy, there was nothing for him, and he would surely be much better off in the water. Can anyone be utterly sure about seeing Lieut. Colonel Leonov's little swim, that evolution has come to an end, that we are now quite perfect, that there is not, millions of generations hence, another stage—wings, harps and all?"

The relentless quest built into man drives him on. It cannot be denied. But from time to time the balance sheet of space should be struck. At the moment the deficit is large and it requires an act of faith to believe that man really belongs in the void and that space has much besides danger and sins.

Would Restrict Marriages

Vancouver Sun

It was startling to say the least to hear a leading welfare officer in BC suggest the state should refuse marriage licences to people who seem bad bets for parenthood.

The proposal by Gordon Wright, executive director of the Family and Children's Service in Victoria, is that marriage applicants be "screened" before issuance of a licence to exclude the divorced and mothers of illegimate children. The purpose would be to combat the rise in divorces and desertions and cut off the increasing flow of illegitimate children into the hands of the state.

Mr. Wright of course has good reason to be concerned at the extent of the family breakdown. More than 3,000 illegitimate children were born in British Columbia in the year ended last March 31, an increase of 183 per cent. More than 2,000 children were taken under government care, 511 more than the previous year, bringing the total number who are charges of the government to 7,000.

There can be no diminishing the human tragedy these statistics involve. But Mr. Wright's corective — even if put forward mostly for argument, as he now explains — is unsupportable on any ground.

The nature of his job surely has taught him that human nature being what it is, mere legislation, official sanction will neither prevent the cohabitation of men and women nor childbirth. Canada's stupidly cruel divorce laws which condemn hundreds of thousands to live in common law marriage prove that to most people's satisfaction.

And even if the ends could be proven worth the means, the investigative apparatus needed to attempt to screen marriage's good bets from bad bets would, of necessity, be a tyrannical monster which no democratic society would tolerate for one minute.

No, there are more tolerable ways to tackle the problem of the broken home than the arbitrary linking of marriage eligibility with the ability to care for children.

One might begin by extending in the fullest fashion to every strata of our society an education in the responsibilities of parenthood and in the mechanics of birth control. There has been recent signs the provincial government was beginning to recognize this need.

This would seem to be Mr. Wright's proper field.

Ouch!

Brandon Sun

We were reading with interest and some apprehension a story concerning opposition in Quebec to the proposed constitutional amendment formula when the following sentence caught our eye: "The problem was expected to be a thorny one, but the government apparently did not feel it would dawdle into the hot potato it has." We've heard of thorny dilemmas and hot potatoes before, but whoever heard of a thorny hot potato? All the more reason to drop it, it would seem.

Electric Shock Treatment Can Ease Mental Trouble

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: The doctor has just told us that our father (age 50) should have a series of shock treatments. Dad has always had a tendency to be nervous and in recent years the condition has gotten worse.

Today a family friend told me that these are only for insane people. I'm upset quite a bit. Is this opinion correct? — B.S.

Some friend! I hope I don't have any such around to cheer me up when I am troubled.

Actually what the friend said doesn't have any real meaning. You'd find this out if you asked the person to give a precise definition of what is meant by "insane people."

Insane is a legal term, and it means whatever a jury decides it to mean. Was a defendant so upset that it excuses him from whatever act he committed? That's all it means — and you've read cases where a whole "temporary insanity" and so on to see what I mean.

So — and I've said this before — let's just stop using the word insane.

Let's use emotional or mental illness instead. Let's keep in mind that there are all degrees of this condition, from very mild to very severe.

When somebody needlessly loses his temper, it's as a emotional problem. It's also an emotional problem when someone has such a hard time getting along in society that he has to go to a mental hospital. But there is no exact line of demarcation.

What your friend should have told you is that shock treatment is used for a variety of emotional conditions. Schizophrenia (a difficult problem) is one. Severe depression is another, and in that case, results often are astonishingly successful. And there are still other forms of emotional disorders for which shock treatment is used.

Obviously your father's nervous (emotional) difficulty is rather severe or else such treatment would not have been suggested. But I most seriously urge you to forget completely about your friend's ignorant remark. Think of his treatments as being intended to give him a chance to get a new outlook on life, to shake himself loose from whatever fears or worries may be upsetting him.

That is the purpose of such treatment. While we do not know exactly how they work, we know from experience that they break the pattern or habit of fears, anxiety or other paralyzing emotions which cause so much trouble for so many people.

Whether they are done with a controlled electric current, which is the usual way, or with such chemicals as metrazol or massive doses of insulin, they are a very effective method of altering emotional disturbances which have become too strongly established.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 27 and must have a tonsillectomy. Just how serious is this for an adult? — S. S.

You'll be uncomfortable for a few days, but the operation is not uncommon for adults. There are times when it is necessary.

Dear Dr. Molner: My hair has become thin at the temples though not enough to warrant a "topper." Recently I have heard that a new and relatively simple operation permits transplanting hair follicles from one part of the head to another. Can you give me some details and the approximative cost? — M. T.

Frankly, I don't know a great deal about it myself yet, except that it has been done. Only a few (about 20) transplants can take place at a time. That means that any substantial amount of hair-planting is bound to be extensive. My advice is not to get too excited about transplantation until more is known about it.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

May 10th, 1945

At a largely attended and representative meeting of the retail Merchants' Division of the Chamber of Commerce held last night it was unanimously and emphatically decided to oppose any effort to install parking meters along Belleville's principal business thoroughfares.

Ald. J. J. Trudeau intimated that he had been giving much thought to this proposition and come to the conclusion that the installation of the meter system was not in the interest of Belleville. Peterborough was a great rival of ours for retail business and if shoppers who were now coming here were irritated, large numbers of them would certainly go to the other city.

The City of Toronto, which had blocked repeated attempts to get installations into that city, had looked into the proposition from every angle and had rejected it decisively.

30 YEARS AGO

May 10th, 1935

The recommendation of the Board of Health to the city council that all milk and cream sold in this city be pasteurized which was presented along with a petition on the same lines from the Belleville Milk Producers' Association, was referred back to the committee for further consideration. Dr. G. S. Cronk, medical officer of health, along with members of the Board of Health, augmented by producers and dairymen, met the council and discussed the matter. However, the council decided that further information was desired and referred the matter back for that purpose. Ald. Thompson was the only member to express opposition to this move, stating that sufficient information was at hand to deal with the question.

The Belleville Fair has been placed in class "B" by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. This means that the prize list will be increased to $6,000 this year and extensive additions will have to be made to the prize list.

40 YEARS AGO

May 10th, 1945

Mr. R. R. J. Dewar of Deseronto has been appointed Registrar of Deeds for Hastings County.

Miss H. Hudson has returned to her home here after spending the winter in the south of France.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McArthur have left to spend some time in Detroit.

Mrs. Thomas Mairs and her daughter, Ila, of Utica, N.Y., are visiting the former's mother Mrs. Aselaine, Moira Street E.

Miss Elizabeth Corbett and Mrs. M. Green will sail for Montreal on June 18 to spend some time in England.

Lieut.-Col. W. Ponton will preside at a meeting of the Ontario Bar Association in Toronto this week.

50 YEARS AGO

May 10th, 1915

Mr. R. J. Graham will address the Young People's Guild of John Street Presbyterian Church this evening.

Victoria Park should be much better lighted and the authorities should arrange to have this improvement made at an early date.

J. E. Walmsley and Company, wholesale and retail grocers, are erecting a brick storage warehouse at the rear of their premises on Front Street east near the post office.

The Rev. Charles G. Smith, pastor of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, spent yesterday in Peterborough.

Mr. Herbert Wrightmeyer spent yesterday in Madoc.

Mr. Edgar Vermilyea of Vermilyea's Shoe Store, was in Madoc this week on business.

Idealists

Brockville Recorder

There are more idealists among the youth of this country, more young people ready to sacrifice for high causes, than critics recognize. We expect the "Company of Young Canadians" that the Pearson Government has proposed will find enthusiastic volunteers for domestic and foreign service.

Strictly Personal

English as It Should Be Spoken

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

An enormous amount of mail has been received about my two recent columns on pronunciation: hundreds of readers all over the country have responded with some of their own pet annoyances, some of which follow:

—"Harass" should sound like my name, and should not rhyme with "grass."

—"Rout" and "route" are different words, and should be pronounced differently: "route" should rhyme with "foot" and not with "out."

— It's curious that the same people who say "perfection" for "protection" also say "propitious" for "propitious."

— There is no "two" in "toward," there is no "oak" in "occasion," and there is no "hole" in "holocaust."

— There is no "I" sound in "palm," "calm," or "salmon."

— There is no "eye" in "ideology," there is no "er" at the beginning of "cooperate," and there is no "awmt" at the end of "restaurant."

— "Err" is not pronounced like "error," even though it is a form of the same word; it should not sound like "air," but rhyme with "fur."

— "Lamentable" is stressed on the first syllable, not on the second; "applicable" is stressed on the first syllable, not on the second: and "indefatigable" should be stressed on the third syllable, not the fourth.

— There are only three syllables in "Riviera," not four; only three syllables in "diamond" ("rreily,").

— There is no "sear" in "sincerity," there is no "sick" in "psychiatry," and there is no "pree" in "prejudice."

— It's also curious that the same people who stress "altimeter" on the first syllable, instead of the second, turn right around and stress "kilometer" on the second syllable instead of the first. (A sound rule here for "meter" words is that those designating "instruments for measuring" take the stress on second syllable, while those designating "units of measurement" take the stress on the first syllable.)

— "Miniature" has four syllables, not three; "mischievous" has three syllables and four (an extra "i" gets slipped in there quite often); and "fluorescent" has four syllables, not three.

— The "fully" words should not be pronounced like "flea" words: "awfully" is not "awfulla" "wonderflea" for "awfully," "beautifully," and "wonderfully."

(Incidentally, some readers were puzzled by my previous statement that "the antonym of "weakness is not 'strenth.'" Proof-readers on some newspapers automatically restored the "g" in "strength" which I had left out to indicate that a many persons pronounce it that way.)

Anne Boleyn, second wife of Henry VIII of England, was beheaded 429 years ago today—in 1536. She produced Elizabeth I, who was to male heir, and her three years of marriage were not happy. Anne's unwillingness to become Henry's mistress had led to his break with papal annulment of his marriage with Catherine, and so contributed in part to the establishment of the Church of England. The day after Anne's execution Henry married Jane Seymour.

80th. BIRTHDAY

On Saturday evening, Mrs. Charles Dunham of Wellman's was given a family birthday party at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Byron Seeley and Mr. Seeley, on the occasion of her 80th birthday.

Thirty members of the family were in attendance and all enjoyed a birthday luncheon and cake ceremony.

The guests included the nine members of Mrs. Dunham's family: her five daughters, Mrs. Charles Bailey (Leata), Carmel; Mrs. Gordon Perrott (Hazel), Bird's Creek; Mrs. J. Waldemar Forrest, Port Hope; Mrs. Ira Allinson (Dorothy), Peterborough, and Mrs. Byron Seeley of Rawdon. Wellman's, and her four sons, Clarence Dunham and Jack Dunham of Wellman's, Earl Dunham, Mount Pleasant-Rawdon, and Reg Dunham of Tweed.

A house which cost $9,000 to build in 1939 now would cost over $18,000 to duplicate.

FOR HOMEOWNERS

The fastest growing policy in the property and casualty field is the homeowners' policy. Under this policy, called a "package" policy, your home and its contents are insured against fire, lightning, windstorm and other hazards.

In addition, you have insurance against burglary and theft, and comprehensive personal liability coverage as well. And, under this policy, the premium cost is 20 to 25 per cent less than what it would be if the various coverages were purchased separately.

Moreover, this policy has a "replacement cost" feature. If your home should be damaged by an insured peril such as fire, windstorm, lightning or the like, the company will pay you the cost of repairing the damage.

Fixing up? Check up Insurance

Are you planning any extensive improvements to your home?

To protect the increased value of the improved home against financial loss, call and check on the possibility of saving on insurance costs through a "package" policy. Many homeowners planning improvements should get in touch with their local insurance agent or broker when before the construction has begun, points out the Insurance Information Institute.

Suppose you are making an addition to your house, building an enclosed all-weather porch or adding upstairs rooms.

If you take your plans to your insurance agent or broker he will be glad to have them checked by a fire safety engineer from your insurance company, or at the fire insurance rating bureau in your area.

If the plans show that a fire hazard might be created due to inadequate exits, windows that are too small, or poorly placed wiring, the company's engineer or the rating bureau's engineer can indicate what changes should be made.

Your insurance agent or broker, in addition to making suggestions about design, can advise you about materials.

INSURE FULL VALUE

For instance, by spending a few dollars more for a non-combustible roof, you may obtain, in some states, savings in insurance premiums which in a few years will more than offset the extra materials cost.

If you are planning a brand new second home in the mountains or at the seashore, a check on your plans with your insurance man can also help.

Most architects today build fire safety into a home by following closely the suggestions in a reliable building code, such as the National Building Code, and the National Electrical Code.

The next step, of course, is to check your fire insurance after improvements are made to be sure your home is insured to value.

In any case, it pays to check up on home insurance at least every three years, to guard against under insurance.

For instance, experts say that the replacement cost of a brick house built in 1939 is today nearly three and one-third per cent times its original cost.

Old Communist Ho Chi Minh Marks Birthday

TOKYO (AP) — Communist congratulations poured into Hanoi for the 70th birthday today of Ho Chi Minh, who stood in a borrowed dress suit to plead at Versailles for aid in the First World War for Vietnamese independence and now is president of the Communist half of his country.

The straggly - bearded old revolutionary was acclaimed for his support of the war against the United States and the pro-American government of South Viet Nam.

One telegram of congratulation from Chinese Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung, President Liu Shao - chi, Premier Chou En-lai and Marshal Chu Teh called Ho "an outstanding veteran fighter of the international Communist movement."

It again promised support for North Viet Nam's "stirring and just struggle against U.S. imperialism for national unity."

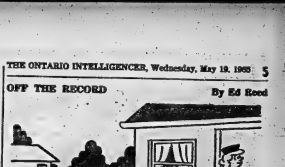
Hanoi radio carried a long account by American leftist writer Anna Louise Strong, now in North Viet Nam, of three recent conversations with Ho.

GOOD HEALTH

Apparently in sound health, he recalled his life 50 years ago as a pastry cook and waiter in the French merchant marine, when he travelled to many countries preaching Vietnamese independence.

Ho, a Communist since 1920, said he became a convert after reading Lenin's speech on national and colonial questions.

Kosygin's Plan To Visit Britain Is Shelved



LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet Premier Kosygin has shelved plans for an early visit to Britain and may not come here at all this year, informed sources said here today.

This also would rule out a return visit to Moscow this year by British Prime Minister Wilson, the sources said.

Diplomatic observers said the Soviet leader was reluctant to come to London in the face of Britain's wholehearted support of the United States policies in Viet Nam.

Rabbi Hopes Catholics Give Word of Reconciliation to Jews

NEW YORK (CP) — Rabbi Arthur Gilbert of New York told a Roman Catholic audience Tuesday night he hopes the Catholic church will soon speak a word of reconciliation to the Jews.

Addressing the world congress of The Catholic Press here, he said Jews everywhere "will be sorely distressed" if there is no such word, because of doubts still surrounding the ultimate wording of the vatican council's declaration on the Jews.

The council has declared the Jews, collectively, not guilty of the slaying of Christ.

Rabbi Gilbert, a consultant to the U.S. National Conference of Christians and Jews, said that Jews are not asking for, nor will they accept, Catholic "forgiveness" for having rejected the church's teaching of the divinity of Christ.

"It is enough for me to assert that in our view, we believe we have been faithful to God's law. Indeed, he has been our saviour and protector through a long and brutal history. We have suffered, yes, but not because we are 'accursed' or 'rejected of God' nor as punishment for the sin of 'deicide' (killing God). But rather, because of man's sinfulness and his failure to do the will of a loving God."

He said there is no doubt in his mind that the overwhelming majority of the world's Catholic bishops repudiate anti-semitism in all its forms.

Catholics and Jews had already begun to communicate and "to work together for justice and peace."

"Yet I must confess that there are some Jews who are wary of too intimate an involvement with Catholics. Some Jews remain uncertain to what degree the Catholic's co-operative and friendly demeanor masks an intent to convert us. . ."

Move Mercer Reformatory To Brampton

TORONTO (CP)—Mercer reformatory for women will be moved to Brampton with the completion of a $1,500,000 correctional complex there, probably by the end of 1967, Allan Grossman, reform institutions minister, said Tuesday night.

Brampton already has Ingleside reformatory for women and a reformatory for young adult male first-offenders.

"The decision to build a new building to replace the long-criticized Toronto reformatory was announced in the legislature.

Brampton is 25 miles northwest of Toronto.

RESUME CAPITAL PUNISHMENT DEBATE — The number of executions in Canada tapered off following public reaction to Wilbert Coffin's hanging. Progressive Conservative and Liberal cabinets have commuted the majority of death sentences since then and there have been no executions since 1962. Graph shows the number of death sentences passed and the portion of them eventually carried out. The number of death sentences passed tapered off with the designation of capital and non- capital murder in 1960. Only capital murder carries a death sentence. Parliament is expected to decide this summer whether to retain the death penalty. If retention is favored, there will be debate on whether to abolish the noose in favor of the electric chair or gas chamber.

British Colonial Rulers Brought Tea-time to India

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI (AP) — British colonial rulers brought to India constitutional law, science and Western medicine. They also brought "tea time."

And tea time, after all, might be where they made their mark.

For the Indians haven't merely accepted this old British institution, they have set out, with a fervor that sometimes frightens, to develop it into an art form.

Indians don't go so far as to say tea—it comes as many as six times daily — makes the world go around. But no sane Indian would dream of starting his day without it.

And he'll go to much trouble to get it—or serve it, for that matter, if that's his job.

"Morning tea bearers," in white uniforms and colorful turbans, perform fantastic feats of acrobatics to deliver tea trays to sleeping compartments on trains in India.

The "bearers" jump from the dining car during a short pre-dawn halt and run from sleeper to sleeper to awaken passengers with a steaming cup and a biscuit or perhaps a bit of fruit.

DARJEEK WITH BENALS

Tea also is drunk with breakfast, which follows morning tea, and again at mid - morning. Then, tea often is had with lunch as a sort of warm-up for the most important tea time of all—afternoon tea.

This is a big-scale affair that among upper classes calls for tables on wide expanses of green lawn, white linen, a silver serving set and mounds of cucumber sandwiches, fruit and biscuits.

Small-talk and light banter are considered good form for afternoon tea conversation and it's proper to "slurp" rather than sip.

Among the impoverished, a battered tin cup of tea heated over a smoldering fire of twigs and dried cow dung is just the thing to make a man feel like a prince.

Along India's coast, the navy breaks out tea in mid-afternoon and sailors can be seen squatting on the decks of ships with heavy tea mugs and biscuits.

The army is just as dedicated to afternoon tea and it's said jokingly that anyone attacking India should strike at tea time because they'll have smooth going until tea is over.

Tea also comes at dinner and sometimes in the evening.

Split on Issue

Language and Religious Factors Will Loom Large When Free Vote Taken

A vote on abolition of the death penalty in Canada is due in the Commons this summer. Members of Parliament appear to be split on the issue and some are sounding out their constituents before deciding which side to support. This story, first of three on the subject, deals with political maneuvering in advance of the debate.

By RONAL LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP) — Language and religious factors will loom large when the Commons votes this summer on a proposal to abolish the death penalty in Canada.

Since party lines will be dropped in favor of a "free vote," many MPs will be influenced significantly by their own language and religious affiliations as well as those of their constituents.

Judging from straw polls, interviews and records of past debates, a few patterns are emerging.

—French - speaking MPs mostly favor retention of capital punishment. Most abolitionists seem to have the edge among their English-speaking colleagues.

—Protestants are more likely to support abolition than Roman Catholics, except for adherents of fundamentalist churches who believe strongly in the death penalty.

—MPs from cities dominate the abolitionist camp while those representing rural areas lean toward retention.

About 60 MPs out of the 265 have not committed themselves so far and are busy sounding out their constituents and studying published material on the issue.

WAIT FOR CUE

With so many conflicting factors in play, the outcome is highly unpredictable. Adding to the suspense are public opinion polls indicating that abolitionists and retentionists are found in roughly the same numbers among Canadians generally. The abolitionists have gained ground during recent years.

Many wavering Liberal and Conservative backbenchers are anxious to see what attitude Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker take when the debate opens.

The government hopes to stage the debate early in July.

It will publish an "information pamphlet" about a month beforehand, providing historical and statistical data on capital punishment in Canada and abroad in the hope that facts will prevail over emotion and prejudice in the debate.

"Since the matter touches the heart and reaches into the depth of the conscience of each and every Canadian," Justice Minister Favreau told the Commons April 9, "it is important that such a vote be completely enlightened."

But bitterness and harsh words have crept into preliminary skirmishes on the issue in the House and outside.

STALEMATE POSSIBLE

The debate could easily develop into a repetition of last year's flag hassle a drawn-out mid-summer argument, frayed tempers, stalemate and formation of a special committee to look for a compromise. Another unknown quantity is the attitude of the Senate, which has not debated the issue in recent years.

Several compromises already have been proposed by various factions.

Mr. Favreau told a group of Montreal university students Feb. 22 that the death penalty "may have" to be kept for those convicted of murdering policemen, prison personnel or two or more victims.

The minister said he personally favors abolition, but stressed that his view was subject to change and did not commit the government in any way.

The Canadian Society for Abolition of the Death Penalty, founded last year by representatives of many religious and parties, said March 6 it would accept life - long imprisonment for killers and execution of anyone convicted of treason in wartime.

MAY FIND NEW METHOD

The society hopes these qualifications will win over some undecided MPs. The group also proposed that compensation payments be made by the government to survivors of murder victims.

A conference of penitentiary employees urged April 14 that capital punishment be retained at least for murders of peace officers and prison personnel.

Many MPs who support the death penalty have suggested that the "archaic, inhumane" gallows be replaced by the gas chamber or the electric chair in future executions. This was recommended by a Commons-Senate special committee in 1956.

Robert Temple, Liberal MP for Hastings South and an abolitionist, proposed in the Commons April 12 that convicted murderers be kept in jail for the rest of their days.

"If someone is sentenced to life imprisonment because of a capital crime, it should mean exactly that," he said amid applause.

Until last fall the national parole board was authorized to release a convicted murderer any time after he had served 10 years in penitentiary. Under new regulations, such paroles must be approved by the cabinet as well as the board.

Tweed

TWEED — Local banking facilities will be provided in Northbrook starting Monday morning when the Bank of Montreal "trailer bank" will be opened for business.

Mr. Harry McLean, manager of Tweed branch will direct operation of the new Northbrook Bank of Montreal.

A specially designed 40-foot trailer will serve as the bank office. It will be towed into the parking lot opposite the Northbrook Hotel. When it has been maneuvered into place, the wheels will be removed and the axels will be set into concrete blocks.

The unique bank is equipped with a counter and safekeeping facilities. It has been used at a number of other places, where premises suitable for banking purposes were not immediately available and where there was an urgent need for banking facilities.

The Northbrook Bank of Montreal will be open on Monday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and will be able to provide a wide range of banking services.

BILL INTRODUCED

OTTAWA (CP)—A bill that would place on the ballot slip the political affiliation or interest of candidates in federal elections was introduced in the Commons Monday. The Commons gave the bill first reading. It now joins a long list of private members' bills awaiting debate.

Girl With Soft Wavy Hair Flags Traffic Crews in B. C.

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nick Kay is the most popular flagman in British Columbia.

Reason is, she comes with silk-soft wavy hair and bright blue eyes.

Friends in the city know her as Karen Kay, 18, graduate of West Vancouver high school. $200-a-month junior clerk at Burrard Dry Dock, daughter of the superintendent of City Construction Co.

But she has fled this environment already this spring for her beloved north, where she can't wait for the smell of dust and the fatigue of 12-hour days flagging "my traffic" past the paving crews.

Karen is the darling of truck drivers and tourists wherever City Construction happens to have a paving or roadbuilding contract on the go. She has seen more of British Columbia since she was 10 than most of the province's citizens do in a lifetime.

It's only her second year as a fulltime flag-girl, but she had part-time work in 1963 and before that she was just the freckled kid in jeans who hitchhiked with her machinery from Grey Creek to Terrace, and Vancouver Island to Caribou.

Ben Kay has always taken his wife and daughter with him on construction jobs and Karen senses his responsibilities so closely she could almost step into his shoes.

She drove a pickup truck before she touched the wheel of a car. There's a good chance she could operate a bulldozer or a rock crusher in a pinch, although to admit expertness with either would be to admit breach of union contracts.

This summer Karen will accompany the 45-man crew to jobs at Tintagel, Ilik and Sheena Crossing. Holding her line of traffic while the pilot car brings a string from the other end, she will have her picture taken hundreds of times and talk to loggers, farmers, ranchers and tourists from most provinces and U.S. states.

She will offer advice on places to see and stay, and make up to $400 a month towards her trip next January to England, where she would like to dispense more travel tips on B.C. from a receptionist's desk at British Columbia House in London.

Kiren thinks more city girls should travel, enjoy the open air, try an old-fashioned two-step at a country dance, and forget bouffant hairdos for a summer. She has determined that a girl who deserves respect will get it from the men she encounters, even on the rough edge of B.C.'s frontier.

"I'd rather be out getting all dirty—as long as I can get home and clean up—than be in an office with a bunch of women," she says.

"Sometimes I don't care whether I'm paid or not—I'm in my glory when the old crusher's chugging away and everything's going right."

LOSE APPEAL

KINGSTON (CP)—The Kingston Children's Aid Society lost an appeal Monday to regain custody of a six-month-old infant. Mr. Justice Haines of Ontario Supreme Court ruled in favor of the child's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Mortensen of Kingston, who took legal steps to prevent the society from taking back the child. The Mortensens have had the child since November, 1964. The child will remain in the parents' custody pending an adoption hearing July 6.

The Bisley Cadet "Hundred Roll" competition, went to C/Lt. F. B. Edwards and the student council and staff award to C/Capt. L. Hagerman and C/Lt. William Adams.

The principal's award for the best bandsman was awarded to Cdt./Sgt. Murray Bloch and presented by the principal, Miss Lamoine West.

Lt. Col. G. Jones in his remarks congratulated the band, officers and cadets for a splendid parade and display. He congratulated also the instructors on a first class effort. The aim of cadet training was to develop true leaders and to be given responsibility for the future of Canada depends upon the few trained men.

The principal's remarks welcomed the public and township pupils, she also congratulated the cadets and reminded them it was time now to concentrate on the coming examinations. The guests were invited back to the high school for a reception.

The program concluded by the parade marching through the town and back for refreshments at the school.

MAKES PILGRIMAGE

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) At the age of 82, Mrs. Marie Lavigne is making the first flight of her life, to visit the grave of her son Robert, who was killed in Holland at the age of [illegible] a private with the Fusiliers [illegible] Montreal. Mrs. Lavigne's son, Lucien, 37, will escort his mother on the trip.

SHE REALLY STOPS TRAFFIC — Karen Kay of Vancouver keeps her eyes on the traffic as a construction crew paves a highway or builds a road. Karen, daughter of the superintendent of City Construction Co., is a full-time flag-waver, and is happiest when flagging "her traffic" past the paving crews. The 18-year-old junior clerk says she is in her glory when the rock crusher is chugging away and everything is going right. (CP Photo)

Low-slung Cars Said Changing Road Standards

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Are Canadian highway design standards proper for today's long, low-slung automobiles?

Do the improvements made in the last 20 years in automobile performance characteristics compensate for any loss of visibility over hill-tops?

These, and other questions of highway design and road-building material qualities, are given top priority in a review of road research needs prepared by the Canadian Good Roads Association.

The association's has published a pamphlet listing 44 problems which should be tackled, dividing them into three categories of priority.

In the top-priority class is the need for fresh research on the question of sight lines for motorists approaching the crest of a hill.

CARS DIFFERENT

Present standards are based on the characteristics of automobiles of the 1940s. Sight lines are based on measurements taken 4½ feet above the road surface, assumed to be the height of an average motorist's eyes as he sat at the wheel of his car.

But the average car on the road today is lower. The good roads association wonders to what extent this affects sight lines, and how greater speed and braking power enter the picture.

Another top-priority item is finding means to counter the deterioration of bridge decks and super-structures caused by deicing salts. The solution may be with better bridge design, improved bridge - building materials, or use of some other method of cutting ice on bridges.

504 People Drowned in Ontario in '64; Artificial Respiration Could Save Many

Every year, twelve hundred persons die by drowning in Canada. There were 504 deaths attributed to drowning in Ontario, alone during 1963 (the latest statistics available). The total included every age group, but children under 19 years of age accounted for more than one-third of the drowning deaths with the loss of 173 lives. Two-thirds of these youngsters died when their small boats submerged; one hundred and thirty-eight of them drowned because of swimming or paddling accidents and a further fourteen drowned in home accidents.

St. John Ambulance believes that many of these lives could have been saved, if someone had been able to apply artificial respiration immediately after the accident occurred.

The importance of speed, is illustrated by the following figures: 1 minute after breathing stops, 98 out of 100 could be saved; after 2 minutes, 92; after 3 minutes, 78; after 4 minutes, 50; after 5 minutes, 25; after 7 minutes, 8; after 12 minutes, 1.

The odds of chance weighs heavily in favor of the person able to administer artificial respiration immediately and it is too late to learn artificial respiration when the accident happens.

FREE COURSES

St. John Ambulance offers free courses of two-hour duration in artificial respiration throughout the summer. The Save-A-Life program has been awarded with saving many lives.

Here is a typical case from St. John Ambulance files: A seven year old boy fell from the end of a wharf into 20 feet of water. A woman saw him and shouted for help and a man dove in and, on his second attempt, rescued the boy who had been under water for five minutes. Five minutes of artificial respiration and the boy started to breathe normally again.

The simple steps of artificial respiration have been learned and applied by children; several have been able to save the lives of their playmates, after attending these courses.

St. John Ambulance teaches two methods of artificial respiration—the mouth-to-mouth method is demonstrated, often with the use of a Resusci-Anne doll. This life-size dummy is specially constructed so that its "lungs" expand when air is blown into the mouth, then contract normally.

The Sylvester method is also taught. Here, the victim lies on his back and the rescuer sits astride his thighs and the arms and presses on the chest.

750,000 TRAINED

It is hoped that across Canada, 175,000 people will take advantage of these free courses. Since the Save-A-Life program began, eleven years ago, nearly 750,000 people have been trained. This figure believed the examination will receive a Save-A-Life badge, so that they will be readily identifiable on the beaches.

Artificial respiration is equally effective in cases of asphyxiation caused by polio, poisons, noxious gases or electrical shock.

The classes are given free of charge throughout the summer months at centres throughout the province. The exact times and places may be obtained from local St. John Ambulance centres. If a group of ten (perhaps the morning coffee clutch of mothers) wish to have a course, a St. John volunteer will come to their place of meeting to give instruction.

Longer Drinking Hours Approved By Chambers

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario chamber of commerce rejected a proposal Tuesday that it ask the provincial government to train teachers so public school children can be taught to handle major foreign languages conversationally.

The 200 delegates at the 53rd annual meeting of the chamber turned back the suggestion, presented by the Stratford chamber, after the organization's directors said there still is an inadequate supply of qualified teachers in Ontario for oral French.

In other business, the chamber approved a London resolution calling for longer drinking hours Saturday nights and for the opening of licensed dining rooms and dining lounges on Sundays.

In another resolution aimed at the tourist industry, the chamber went on record as strongly opposing any move, provincially or municipally, to institute a tax on hotel or other rooms.

The delegates also renewed their call for all possible steps to assure a continuing supply of clean water, and added that the government should finance a study of the problem of weed and algae growth in many waterways.

They defeated a director-proposed recommendation that the chamber's, standing call for compulsory inspection of motor vehicles be deleted, with several delegates saying inspections can be an important safety factor.

Lee Dougan of Sarnia was elected president. Next year's sessions is to be held in North Bay.

Only Token Opposition to Bill Expected

OTTAWA (CP) — Only token opposition is expected in the Senate to the government's bill providing for a retirement age of 75 for senators, which got first reading in the upper chamber Tuesday.

A few senators are expected to oppose various provisions of the bill which gives an $8,000 annual pension to retiring members but most are believed to be in favor of the legislation.

There was little reaction to the introduction of the bill in the Senate. A few senators lightly cried "aha," and at least one, Senator A. K. Hugessen, thumped his desk in applause. But there was no discussion.

First debate of the measure will take place Tuesday afternoon when second reading will be moved by Senator J. J. Connolly, government leader in the Senate.

About 35 members of the 102-seat upper house were present when the bill got first reading.

While the Commons was passing the retirement legislation Tuesday night, the Senate spent a busy evening dealing with a lengthy order paper. It passed two bills, referred two more committees for further study, and continued the debate on the speech from the throne.

Bills passed were an act to amend the Excise Tax Act and an act amending acts respecting the superannuation of civil servants, the armed forces and the RCMP.

Referred to committees were bills to incorporate the Principal Life Insurance Co. of Canada, which is to have its offices in Edmonton, and a bill to amend the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. act to provide for two vice-presidents.

BUILDS OWN PLANE

HAVELOCK, N.B. (CP)—Ronald Hicks of Havelock started to build his own two-seater aircraft two years ago, in a loft over a sawmill. It recently took its first two flights from a nearby field, and Mr. Hicks said the aircraft was better than the factory - built models he has flown in the past.

Paper Accuses Attache of 'Hooliganism'

MOSCOW (CP - Reuters) — The government newspaper Izvestia accused a Canadian military attache in Moscow Tuesday night of drunken "hooliganism" and creating a fracas in a Russian restaurant.

Describing Col. Curtis Greenleaf as "the machine - gunner from Ottawa," Izvestia accused the 56-year-old Montreal native of swearing, uttering anti-Soviet propaganda and making as if to attack a Russian who had asked him to be quiet.

Izvestia said that after drinking for about half an hour with three American service attaches, Greenleaf pressed the trigger of an imaginary machine-gun and shouted: "I hate you, we'll shoot the lot of you, annihilate you."

He also "showed a brilliant knowledge of the dictionary of swearwords," Izvestia said. Clearly the colonel had had a special training in the subject."

In Ottawa, officials regarded the article as a reprisal for the expulsion of two Soviet diplomats from Canada for alleged espionage activities. Izvestia's story appeared 10 days after their expulsion.

The article says the incident occurred in Tsimbot, southern Russia, where Greenleaf was on a trip with three American military attaches.

The Canadian spokesman in Moscow confirmed Tuesday night that Russian - speaking Greenleaf was in Tsambe in mid-April, but he called the Izvestia article as "unjustified attack."

The Ottawa officials said Greenleaf has been in Moscow since 1963 and his replacement had already been named.

Izvestia says the three American officers served during the alleged incident, but doesn't accuse them of misbehaving.

Greenleaf served on the international truce supervisory commission in Viet Nam in 1961 and was the Military Cross for northwest Europe during the Second World War. He commanded the Lord Strathcona's Horse from 1956 to 1958.

RECORD AWARD

NEW YORK (AP) — A state Supreme Court jury Tuesday gave a $1,172,000 verdict, including interest, to the family of Arnold S. Kirkeby, a California financier killed in an American Airlines crash March 1, 1962. It was believed the largest death award in state court history.

Income Tax Explained

A column designed for the working taxpayer who is not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax office.

By C. A. MILLER
Retired Supervising Assessor, Income Tax Department

COMMON-LAW WIVES

There is no provision in the Income Tax Act whereby exemption may be claimed for a common-law wife. Many taxpayers are of the opinion that if they maintain a household, even if there are no children, an exemption of $2000 may be claimed. This is entirely in error.

However, if the taxpayer has children of his OWN and keeps up a household with a common-law wife, then this person will qualify as a full time housekeeper. In this case the taxpayer can take $1000 exemption on a child and the fact, he has a full time housekeeper (Common-Law_Wife) he may claim that same child again for the regular child's exemption. He must show the housekeeper's name, in the space provided for this purpose. If the common-law wife is employed outside the home, then she does not qualify as a full time house-keeper and the extra exemption claimed for the child cannot be claimed.

I receive quite a few letters about where the taxpayer is keeping a common-law wife and her child, asking if he can claim the $1000 on the child. He cannot do it. The answer is a definite no. He does not have the full custody and control of such child. The common-law wife could leave him at any time and take the child with her. A child for income tax purposes is deemed to be the child of the taxpayer that whom he has full custody and control.

The point to remember in these cases is there is no allowance for a common-law wife. She will qualify as a housekeeper if the taxpayer has children of his own in the home. This also applies if the child is his by the common-law wife.

For a personal reply, enclose a self - addressed, five cent stamped envelope, plus 25 cents for each question.

Question 1: I have lived common-law with a woman for 18 years. I had one son by my legal wife, who is now 17 and working away from home. He left home on July 15, 1964. Can I still claim the $2250 exemption I had last year.

ANSWER: It all depends on your son's income. If his income for 1964 was in excess of $950, your exemption will be that of a single person, $1000.

Question 2: I am living common-law with a man who supports me and my two children. He has been told he can not claim any of us for income tax exemption purposes. I am employed and have no income. Is this information correct?

ANSWER: Yes. The children are in your custody and control, not his.

Jewish Women Want Birth Control Measures Made Legal

By LINDA CRAWFORD

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Council of Jewish Women will ask the government to amend the Criminal Code of Canada to make birth - control measures legal.

The council also reaffirmed its opposition to racial discrimination and religious intolerance during the Tuesday sessions of its 13th biennial convention.

Other resolutions passed by the council include asking the federal government to expand its program of education in drug addiction and to provide specialized centres for the treatment of drug addicts.

A complete revision of the Immigration Act to eliminate arbitrary discrimination and rejection of citizenship applications on medical grounds, such as epilepsy, was suggested.

The council will also urge the government to set up a court of unbiased persons to hear appeals from individuals whose application has been turned down, or who have been ordered deported. Appeals now go before the same board as the original application, and may be quashed by the minister of immigration.

The federal department of labor will be asked to continue efforts to remove prejudice against older workers and to educate the public and employers in order to eliminate arbitrary age limits in employment policies.

A brief urging the government to legislate against hate literature, forwarded by the Canadian Jewish Congress to the House of Commons standing committee on external affairs in April, was endorsed by the council.

More than 100 women from 14 Canadian cities are attending the convention. It ends today.

AVONDALE NEIGHBORS' AID

Mrs. Margaret Twiddy, of Wright Avenue, opened her home for the May meeting of the Neighbors' Aid, with 20 members and two visitors present.

The feature of the meeting was a demonstration of "Artex Paints," by Mrs. Karlsbeek.

She showed where the paints may be used to renovate household linens children's clothing, where otherwise embroidery would be used, and requires much longer time to do. This new method is most colorful and quickly done.

The regular meeting followed, with the president, Mrs. Dorothy Macleod in charge. The devotional was given by Edna Davenport and Dorothy Mackelcan. Two appropriate readings were given.

The various reports were given and interesting items from these and the minutes were discussed.

Donations will be made to the Retarded Children's School, and to the Salvation Army.

The draw for the afghan has been concluded and tentative plans were discussed for a progressive euchre on.

The June meeting will be held at Wynn Reed's home, with a potluck dinner. Each one is expected to contribute one article to make up a travelling basket. This will travel among the members during the summer and it is hoped that a goodly sum will be realized from this project.

Tea and cookies were served by the hostess, assisted by Ethel Day, Marion Anger and Lela Wannamaker.

Church Groups

(ST. MARGARET'S W. A.)

The regular monthly meeting of St. Margaret's Women's Auxiliary was held recently in the Church Hall, with 15 members present.

The president, Miss Jessie Dobson, opened the meeting. The devotional from the Living Message was given.

Two of the members, Mrs. R. Hughes, and Mrs. G. Bell, delegates to the Annual Meeting in Kingston, May 4, and 5, brought the group up-to-date on W. A. work, throughout the Diocese.

The educational secretary, Mrs. Hughes, taking the W. A. study book, "This Is My Calling" gave an interesting talk on the ideas and opinions of the layman, and what part religion plays in his work. A discussion period followed.

This group meets on the second and Monday of every month at eight o'clock in the Church Hall.

The June meeting will be a potluck supper.

Susanna's Family Fare

CARE TO COMPETE?

Dear Susanna: Two summers ago my parents persuaded me to devote about a month of my holidays to taking a typing course at a business college. It wasn't easy, because you attended classes each morning and then spent several hours every day on assignments . . . however, it was interesting and there was that certain sense of accomplishment.

This year, because my mom and dad were bright enough and cared enough — to encourage me to develop a special skill I have been able to land a great office job for the summer. I have only just turned 16, and from older students for summer work in this town is really keen.

I get plenty of practice in the winter because I type up most of my notes — the teachers appreciate these neat easy-to-read pages — and I would also recommend a similar course to any students who are ambitious to earn some money in the holidays. You're bound to be a whiz by the time you've had a summer with that extra something going for you. — Bill Birley.

Thank you for a super letter, and who can name me one person who doesn't need that extra something going for them.

Here, by the way, is rather a good hint for all junior stenographers:

Some time, when you wish to do a very gentle job of rubbing out a typing error, or find yourself absolutely desperate because there isn't a rubber to be had anywhere, a piece of blackboard chalk is a pretty fair substitute.

You'll need a tissue handy to fluff away the residue of powder from the paper and your fingers, but I'm sure you will be pleased with the experiment. — SUSANNA.

Elect New Squadronette Commander

Mrs. F. Yealland assumed the duties of Squadronette Commander at a meeting held recently at her home 33 Crustview Avenue.

Commander Yealland welcomed the members present. She also expressed regret at the absence of two valued members, Mrs. J. L. Smith and Mrs. J. James, both confined to the hospital. Best wishes were extended for their speedy recovery.

The main item of business for the meeting was a report on a special project undertaken this year. As lady associates of Canadian Power Squadrons, the Squadronettes have long been aware of need for a course in safe boating designed for young people not yet eligible for the adult courses. The fact that there is as yet no age limit at which a child may handle a boat, coupled with the increase in the numbers of small boats on waterways made this need for such a course more pressing every year.

Immediate Past Commander Dorthy McCulloch, a Registered Nurse, were well qualified to design this course now known as Junior Canadians—make sure—make shore.

ROOM AVAILABLE

Through the kind co-operation of Mr. L. A. Kells, Superintendent and Chief Inspector of Belleville Public Schools, a classroom was made available at Prince Charles School. Mrs. Reid and Mrs. McCulloch planned an eight-week course, one afternoon per week. Instructions included all phases of safe boating practices, together with outdoor demonstrations of a small boat, motor and all necessary equipment.

The response to this program was such that the course has been extended to two afternoons a week. Mrs. Reid will teach on Wednesday, Mrs. McCulloch on Thursday. Both classes are now filled to capacity.

DISCUSSION PERIOD

In an effort to reach as many young people as possible it was decided to show a short safe boating film followed by a ten-minute discussion period for the schools where time could be made available.

A number of schools have already taken advantage of this offer. The film is not intended as a substitute for the training course but merely as a reminder to boys and girls to exercise care and caution around boats and water during the coming summer. The Squadronettes hope to have more instructors and facilities available for those wishing to take the course in the future.

Commander Yealland thanked Mrs. Reid and Mrs. McCulloch for their effort in initiating this program. It is felt by all concerned that such a worthwhile project will succeed in its aims—to help prevent boating accidents on Canada's lakes and rivers.

WOMEN WORK MORE

MONTREAL (CP) — There were 2,500 active volunteers registered with the Montreal Volunteer Bureau last year, reported Mrs. A. K. Crowther at the annual meeting. They gave 60,260 hours of service, an increase of 4,204 hours over 1963.

O.E.S. Chapter Enjoys Speech Demonstration

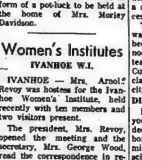
"Business Girls'" Belleville Chapter No. 55 O.E.S. held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Mae Storrin. Business portion of the meeting was kept at a minimum. A raffle for a lovely hand embroidered runner ,donated by the hostess, was won by Mrs. Gayle Fayette.

A most informative and enjoyable demonstration on "Good Telephone Speech." was conducted by Mrs. Steve Bakay, assistant chief operator Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, Belleville — which also proved to be humorous with the girls taking part, certainly making everyone present more speech conscious!

Mrs. Pearl Johnston thanked Mrs. Bakay on behalf of the club. Refreshments were served, bringing another successful meeting to a close.

Next meeting will be held in form of a pot-luck to be held at the home of Mrs. Morley Davidson.

Women's Institutes



IVANHOE W.I.

IVANHOE — Mrs. Arnold Revoy was hostess for the Ivanhoe Women's Institute, held recently with ten members and two visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Revoy, opened the meeting and the secretary, Mrs. Gertrude Wood, read the correspondence in regard to the senior training school and short courses. These proposals will be discussed at the June meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. John McInroy.

The Hastings North district annual will be held at Hazard's United Church on May 25.

Mrs. Will French convened the program. Mrs. George Wood gave a report of the Guelph conference, and Mother's Day readings. Lunch was served to close the meeting.

A.N.A.F. Ladies' Aux. Delegates To Attend Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the A.N. & A.F. Ladies' Auxiliary, No. 49, was held in the Memorial Club, Dundas St., Monday evening, with Comrade President E. Buckley presiding. There was a good turn-out of members.

Delegates to Lakeview for the Provincial Command meeting will be President E. Buckley, Comrades E. Lundberg, M. Galbraith and A. Simms Jr.

A letter was read from the Auxiliary's foster child, Chan Shu Lan in Hong Kong. The ladies enjoy these letters as they always contain such interesting bits of information, such as how the money has been spent, how well he is doing in school. He would like to come to Canada, and in his way tries to tell what his country is like.

The Auxiliary is working at a cook book, which will contain favorite recipes from each member in the district. This is expected to be compiled by the middle of July.

Comrade J. Nicholson is in Belleville General Hospital yet, and Comrade Ted Husband, Otis, is hospitalized in Trenton Memorial Hospital.

The Auxiliary plans a party some time after the June meeting for members and their husbands. Plans will be completed at the next meeting.

The meeting was adjourned and lunch and social hour enjoyed.

Women at Synod for First Time

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)— Women were officially allowed to share in the Anglican Church's administrative body for the first time Tuesday when 24 women attended the 90th session of the synod of the Diocese of Ontario as lay delegates.

Another precedent was set at the opening session by the presence of representatives of the Roman Catholic and United churches.

Rt. Rev. Kenneth C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario, extended a special welcome to the women when he delivered his charge to the synod.

He said that a year ago the synod made certain amendments which would have permitted parishes to send women as their delegates to the synod sessions.

He urged the women delegates to "participate fully in the work of the synod and of its boards and committees."

A REMINDER

Wedding forms for write-ups are available at The Ontario Intelligencer and should be completed and returned BEFORE the ceremony, so a report can be published immediately after the wedding.

Pictures may be submitted by your photographer up to three days after the wedding. We cannot promise publication of weddings sent in later.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mrs. C. R. Thompson of St. Ola is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital following eye surgery.

The Milltown Birthday Club met at the home of Daisy Kirk with prizes going to Beverly Kilpatrick, Lillian Bennett, Olive Vance, and Leona Hinchey. Next party at Josie Embury's.

U.C.W. Meeting

MOUNT PLEASANT - RAWDON U.C.W.

RAWDON — On Wednesday evening May 12, the regular meeting of Mount Pleasant - Rawdon United Church Women was held at the church hall with 18 members and two pre-school children in attendance.

Mrs. Harry McAdam, president, was in charge of the business and Mrs. Garth Joslin was pianist. Mrs. Ross Jeffs acted as secretary.

Mrs. Gordon Linn, supply secretary, and her assistants will pack the bale of new and used clothing the last week of May. Mrs. Linn distributed a leaflet based on overseas relief and inter-church aid. It was specially requested that nylons be sent to Korea.

An invitation to attend Hoard's U.C.W. tea was accepted.

Plans were made to entertain other groups at the June meeting.

VARIED PROGRAM

The program was in charge of Mrs. Clarence Scott and Mrs. Margaret Linn. The devotional was centred on "Yellow for Cowardice." The various phases of the theme were taken on by Mrs. Oscar Merrick, Mrs. David Potts, Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Ronald Knight, Mrs. Ira David and the two conveners. The hymns centred around "seed-time."

A Mother's Day message was given by Mrs. Herbert Smith. Mrs. James Hoard contributed a solo with Mrs. Kenneth Weaver as accompanist. Mrs. Milford Weightman gave a meditation.

A Bible quiz prepared by Mrs. Marjorie Potts was given by Mrs. M. McMullen.

Light refreshments were served by Mrs. Herbert Smith and Mrs. Norman McConnell and a social half hour enjoyed.

Chapel Fund Set Aside by Manor W. A.

On Monday of this week the Women's Auxiliary of the Hastings Manor met in the library of the Manor, for their monthly meeting and birthday party.

There was an excellent attendance with a number of visitors present. The president, Mrs. A. Daniels, welcomed everyone and especially those who had been absent of late, due to illness.

A few spring-like thoughts were given in a verse or two pertaining to Canadian apple orchards and the "king of fruits," Canadian apples.

The business was conducted with all committees reports given, including the treasurer's report which showed a substantial balance. Mrs. A. Coatsclinger gave a splendid report on the "visiting" at the Manor during the past month.

There has been a special "chapel fund" set aside which will be added to periodically. The purpose of this fund is to assist in the furnishing of a chapel at the Manor sometime in the future.

It was unanimously decided to purchase two bathroom chairs for use at the Manor.

Each one present received a rose in a tiny rose-bowl sent to each resident when a patient in the General Hospital. Mrs. A. Kingston volunteered to take charge of the orders for these gifts.

The monthly bingo for the residents will be held on May 29th and as many members as possible are asked to be present to assist.

At the conclusion of the business the ladies met with the residents having birthdays in May. After a social chat with the guests of honor, the ladies formed in a large circle around them and sang the "birthday song." Mr. Julien Belore, who was 96 on May 5th, cold-est guest present, cut the beautiful birthday cake and pictures were taken both of he and also his daughter Mrs. M. Boyd. A tasty lunch was enjoyed with Mrs. F. Davidson and Miss E. Latham presiding at the attractive tea-table.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Most toddlers go through a stage of saying "no" to everything they mean it or not.

Ways to cut down a determined one's "no's"...

- Have you ever thought your toddler may be learning to be negative from you? Count your "no's" from you? Your "no's" will be more effective, less likely to be insisted, if used only when necessary.
- "No's" are best ignored when the reason behind them are not serious.
- When you must restrict, displacy, diversion and direction work more wonders than threats.

Accentuate goodness to cut down negatives at mealtimes. How? Offer foods with colours and flavours that sing. Like Gerber Junior Foods, prepared and seasoned with an eye to enjoyment. Then you might try a selling job, by telling junior how good the food is. A taste or two, accompanied with an "um-mm" from you, is most convincing.

If you curb frowns at dawdling and encourage smiles when your toddler does eat well, you're on your way to establishing good eating habits.

Gerber offers wonderful variety ... over 100 Junior Foods, cooked with special care to preserve the natural nutritive values ... the ultimate in home-appeal.

Safety measures ... Of course, all of us know the basic safety precautions for into-everything toddlers. (THINK) But they may slip your mind: (1) A forgotten table-lighter, (2) A cleaning compound not returned to an out-of-reach haven, (3) A medicine bottle left on a reachable sink.

Ungracious Attitudes Makes Losers of Winners

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Of all the silly squabbles in your column the one about the wife who undressed in the closet takes the cake. So far as I could tell the woman didn't say she slept in the closet, did she? All she did was undress there. It was unfair of you to suggest that she was off her rocker.

ANN LANDERS

Do you feel, Ann Landers, that is is a wife's duty to put on a nightly striptease for her husband? Do you honestly believe a man would not think about sex unless he was treated to some visual stimulation? This is ridiculous. Any male who is that dead sexually would not bat an eye at the sight of a woman disrobing.

A man who is interested in romance will let a woman know. If he is tired and not interested he deserves to be left alone. To deliberately arouse a husband who has fallen into bed exhausted after a hard day's work is inconsiderate — and it could cause him to feel inadequate.

Speaking for myself, I wouldn't dream of undressing in the closet. I go into the bathroom. — FROM GEORGIA.

DEAR GEORGIA — If you haven't tried it, Honey, don't knock it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I'm a girl who probably should have been a boy. I am large and muscular, but not fat. The problem is that I am much better at sports than any of the fellows I go with and it is embarrassing. I think it is also hurting me socially.

I can cream any fellow I know on the tennis court. I love to play tennis but not too many fellows will play against me. I started to play golf with my dad when I was seven. I won a local tournament last year and the person I beat used to be a special boy friend. He doesn't call me any more.

I once believed that excelling in sports would make me more popular but it is doing just the opposite. The unco-ordinated girls who don't know a putter from a mashie do just fine sitting on the sidelines.

Do you have any advice for me? — A WINNER WHO MAY BE LOSING.

DEAR LOSING WINNER — No fellow likes to have his brains bested out — especially by a girl.

Maybe it's not your ability but your attitude that sours the boys. It's easy to be a gracious loser but it's hard to be a gracious winner. Could this be your problem?

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I have never been sure of myself socially, and my husband is even more insecure, so please tell me if you think we are sensitive.

We visited in the home of new friends recently and spent a pleasant few hours. When we said goodnight the host slammed the door behind us so fast it actually hurt my hat. My husband and I both got the impression they couldn't wait to get rid of us.

When our guests leave we always walk them to their car, or if the weather is bad we stand in the doorway until they drive off. Are we overly hospitable or are our friends less than hospitable? — NEED TO KNOW.

DEAR NEED TO KNOW — It is unspeakably rude to slam the door on departing guests. The custom of walking guests to their car suggests that their company is desired up to the very last moment.

Try shortening your next visit by an hour and see if you get a warmer farewell.

C.A. FAMILY NIGHT

FRANKFORD — Rev. Fred Spring was chairman on Friday evening at the C.A. Family Night. Mrs. K. Wright led in prayer and choruses were sung.

Mrs. Scratch one of the guests told the boys and girls a Chinese story of Tom and Lily Wong in Hong Kong on their rooftop school. She also sang a solo.

Testimonies were given and Rev. Clare Scratch, veteran missionary from Hong Kong, China was guest speaker and told of the Lord's work on the field and that many missionaries are just 25 miles from the communist border.

The service closed with a time of prayer.

A BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

"Is it a world to hide virtue in?" — from Shakespeare's Twelfth Night.

The display of arts and crafts by the pupils of Moira Secondary School gave the beholder an uplift and joy as well as an insight of the various mediums with which talent works.

The fact that artistic ability often chooses its own medium brings to mind Henry Doulton who converted his father's pottery into one of the great art potteries of the world. He was knighted in 1887 for his services to the ceramic art, and King Edward VII conferred the favor and right to use the word "Royal."

World famous for the production of fine bone china and earthenware dinnerware, Royal Doulton is celebrating its sesquicentennial by way of exhibiting some of its foremost art specialties (for which it is recognized as pre-eminent in this field) throughout Canada, And Belleville is so honored this week.

Many of the exhibition pieces are priceless and not for sale as Marriage of Arts and Industry which won the highest award in the ceramic section at the 1958 Brussels Exhibition.

"Princes Badoura" from the renowned Arabian Nights (valued at $1,675.00) and figures and character jugs of Williamsburg may be seen, not to mention those "extra pieces" of the sultan's ill-fated dinner service.

This service you may have heard, came into being, about 1907, when the Royal Doulton firm in London, received a mysterious special order for a co- ball - blue dinner service of 3,- 000 pieces, including vases, all to be heavily gold encrusted. A labor task for Royal Doulton craftsmen!

We are further informed by letter:

"When the exquisite cobalt and gold set was completed, the identity of the buyer was revealed as Abdul-Hamid, Sultan of Turkey. The valuable china was carefully crated, insured and shipped to the Sultan's royal Turkish palace.

Its Constantinople arrival coincided with a revolution. Abdul-Hamid had been taken prisoner and exiled to Salonica.

The cargo ship's officers were housed the Sultan's china and notified London. A deposed and destitute Sultan could not pay the bill so it was decided to return the china to England. The underwriters insisted it be repacked by a skilled Royal Doulton man.

A packer named Tom Clarke made the necessary journey to Turkey to perform the job. But the demons were still at work. On the last lap of the return voyage, the ship caught fire in the Bay of Biscay and went to the bottom with the cobalt dinner service of the ill-fated Sultan.

Abdul-Hamid died in prison nine years later. Did he ever think of that fate's timely the arrival of his long-awaited china with his dethronement? Had he received it for himself . . . or for a harem favorite? It wasn't a wife's service. The Sultan could not marry. There was, however, an ever-fluctuating impedial Haren of foreign women, Islamic law forbade the takine of Turkish women into the harem. (Did some European beauty, enpairing of being queen, desire china fit for a queen, and persuade the Sultan to order it for her? Was it possible that the "demons of cobalt" dogged both the Sultan and his dinner set?

When the set was originally executed, extra pieces were made as a safeguard against damage in transit. Superstition about cobalt (by German miners who believe it to be a mischievous and harmful metal) pales beside the exquisite beauty of these Royal Doulton master-pieces. Cobalt holds no fears here. Most Canadians love royal blues . . . they figure the Sultan was just an unlucky guy!"

These fabulous Royal Doulton pieces may be seen in Stroud's Gift Shop from May 19th to May 29th.

Belleville it seems is one of the lucky cities.

Lodges Attend Church Service

RAWDON — On Sunday afternoon the Madoc District No. 48, Odd Fellows and Rebekahs attended divine service in Springbrook United Church with a large attendance.

Memorial flowers were placed in memory of the deceased brothers and sisters at the front of the church.

The Havelock Pipe Band furnished music for the brethren who convened at the hall and paraded to the church, where they were met by the Rebekah members. Noble Grand William Pack of Springbrook I.O.O.F., and Robert Cosbey were the standard bearers. D.D.G.M. Malcolm Mason of Springbrook and J.P.N.C. Gladys Sine of Laurel Rebekah Lodge, No. 211, Stirling, acted as marshals. Representatives were in attendance from all six lodges in the district, Tweed, Shannonbarg, Madoc, Campbellford, Stirling and Springbrook.

Mr. Gordon Appa, student minister of Springbrook circuit presided and he gave a special message on the theme "Speaking the Truth in Love." The choir rendered two selections and the organist, Mrs. John McKeown rendered special music. District Deputy Grand Master Malcolm Mason read the Bible lesson and District Deputy Grand Secretary Clayton Burkitt read the New Testament lesson.

The district service is held at Springbrook every six years.

Women's Institutes

The June meeting of Quinte Women's Institute was held in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday afternoon with 26 members and five visitors present.

The president, Mrs. C. Wood, opened the meeting in the usual manner. Plans were arranged for a Blossom Tea to be held in May in the Memorial Hall.

The convener for home economics, Mrs. Ford Keene and Mrs. Don Leeming, co-convener, took charge of the meeting. The motto "A dail gift give love to those in need, the cold and hungry, clothes and feed," was given by Mrs. Archie Grantrix which stressed the need of giving to those in need, giving is one way, but giving lovingly is another way. Call on the old, let them do the talking, telling of old friends and interests. Give collectively, gifts to charities, Salvation Army, who can place these gifts where best needed.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Don McKinnon, B.Hsc., Home Economics Director of Poultry Producers Institute of Canada, gave an interesting talk on poultry and poultry products. She also showed techniques on decorating cakes.

Display of short course "More About Finishes," consisting of 12 finished dresses, was commented on by leaders, Mrs. Clifford Reid and Mrs. John Parrott.

Mrs. C. Wood, Mrs. R. Atkins, Mrs. J. Parrott and Mrs. D. Atkins were appointed delegates to attend the district annual.

A tasty lunch was served and social half hour enjoyed.

WOMEN EXCLUDED

Female inheritors of noble titles are excluded from the British House of Lords, where only specially-created life peeresses may sit.

Kinette Club Lists Officers

TWEED — The regular monthly meeting of Tweed Kinette Club was held at Hotel Tweedsmuir on Monday evening. After the dinner the meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Marlene Spencer.

The final report was given on the play which was presented in April and showed a nice profit. The spring rummage sale will be held on May 28th and 29th with Mrs. Mary Bascomb as convener. It was decided to hold the publishing of the cook book until the fall. An invitation was extended by Mrs. Myrtle Quinn to hold the annual pot-luck supper at her cottage in June.

Mrs. Daisy Rosevear gave her report on Teen Club activities and asked the annual banquet would be held May 31st.

Mrs. Pauline Hughes gave her report on the blind and said they were hoping to visit everyone again before summer.

The annual meeting was held in Stirling May 19th and five Kinette members, Mrs. Shirley Smith, Mrs. Pauline Hughes, Mrs. Muriel Ward, Mrs. Helen Hunter and Mrs. Phyllis Thurston attended.

NEW OFFICERS

The election of officers for the 1965-66 season took place and are as follows: past president, Mrs. Marlene Spencer; president, Mrs. Shirley Smith; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Doris Paquette; secretary, Mrs. Marion Little; treasurer, Mrs. Carole Bleeker; telephone, Mrs. Pauline Hughes; social, Mrs. Phyllis Thurston. The installation will take place at the first meeting in September.

The draw prizes were won by Mrs. Allen Thompson and Mrs. Doris Paquette.

After the meeting a white elephant sale was held with Mrs. Daisy Rosevear acting as auctioneer.

Explorers Group Enjoys Mother, Daughter Banquet

WELLINGTON — On Friday evening the United Church Explorers held the annual mother and daughter banquet in the Wellington United Church Sunday school hall.

The leaders, Mrs. K. Hobbard, Mrs. D. Jandrew and Mrs. Holmes, greeted the mothers. There were 30 present to sit down to a delicious potluck supper.

Chief Explorer Janie DeVries welcomed the mothers. Rev. Trivett said grace. Miss Sharon Ellis gave a toast to the mothers. This was responded to by Mrs. Bryan Cronk. Mrs. Leon Channel gave a toast to the Explorers with Beverly Cronk responding. All enjoyed the bounteous supper.

After supper the Star Ceremony took place when each explorer received stars earned during the year.

Elevyn — Explorers received gold stars and graduation certificates; four received blue stars and 13 received red stars.

A program was presented by Miss Janie DeVries. Several group songs were sung by the girls, followed by two hymns with the mother joining the girls. A puppet show, "Tom Boy of Campo Bello," was put on by several of the girls. A Brazilian skit concluded the program.

Each mother received a lovely gift, which had been made by her daughter.

This is the last meeting of the Explorers group until fall.

GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

BAYSIDE BROWNIES

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Bayside Brownies and Tweenies convened at Quinte View School on Wednesday afternoon for the final meeting for this term. Tweenies Patti Ackerman, Colleen Armishaw, Ann Barton, Linda Loft, Wendy Plowman, Debra Gray and Linda Cooney were enrolled as new Brownies by leader Jean Millar. She presented them with Brownie pins and emblems. Their new leader will be June Pehr.

Brownies Cindy Haw, Ann Cavey and Karla Latchford were trained by leader Della Dafoe and were presented with the Golden Bar by leader Jean Millar.

Brownies under leader Tawny Owl, Marion Ackerman demonstrated how to knit, how to semaphore, how to skip and one member sang a selection. Leader Jean Millar called them to the Toadstool one at a time and each was asked to renew her promise when she became a Brownie and presented each with a Golden Hand.

Brownies honored were Debbie Harding, Pauline Yost, Glennis Batton, Cheryl Barr, Christine Jones. The Pack gave them a Grand Howl.

The Pack gave the mothers who were guests, the Grand Howl and the meeting closed with the Brownie Taps.

The Brownie bike under leader Jean Millar will be held on Wednesday, May 26th after school.

The Guide and Brownie mother and daughter banquet will be held on Tuesday, June 1st at Aiken's Hall and catered by Aiken's U.C.W.

B. and P. Women Install Officers

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club held their monthly meeting in the Belmont Rooms recently.

A new member, Mrs. Dorothy Mastin, was inducted into the club.

President Marie Huff Huffman gave the highlights of her visit to Sault Ste. Marie to the Business and Professional Women's Regional Conference. It was reported that the coffee party held last week at the home of Mrs. G. K. Graham on the Trent Road was a success.

Four members put on a delightful Irish skit for a refreshing change to lighten up the business.

Installation of officers was on the agenda and these members were installed in a solemn candlelighting ceremony:

President, Marie Huffman; first vice-president, Ruth McMullen; second vice-president, Charlotte Lockyer; recording secretary, Verona Meadus; corresponding secretary, Jeane Stephenson and treasurer, Dorothy Ellis.

Committee chairmen are as follows:

U.C.W. Meeting

MARSH HILL U.C.W.

MARSH HILL — The May meeting of Marsh Hill United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Ross with 12 ladies and four children present.

Mrs. Harry Coulter gave the worship service on the theme, "What is Man?"

Mrs. Alex Tanner, secretary of Christian stewardship and reciting was in charge of the program. Mrs. Tanner read "The Stewardship of Life," stating that stewardship was the giving of time as well as money. Stewardship takes into account every phase of living.

Mrs. Charles Ross read an appropriate article. Mrs. Tanner asked questions on the subject, "Christian Stewardship of Time," with answers given by the members.

The members reported sending 22 cards and one letter, making seven hospital visits and five home calls.

A letter was read from Mrs. Harry Pierson of Wellington, Presbyterial secretary for supply and welfare.

An invitation to attend Carlton U.C.W. meeting Wednesday, June 2, when Mrs. J. Williams will be guest speaker was read and accepted and the meeting adjourned.

Macaroni and to Spare! Causes Temper to Flare

DEAR DORIS — What would you do about a daughter-in-law who, when she visits me with her family brings me a few boxes of macaroni all wrapped up? She never says anything; just sets it down on the table. I have spoken to my son about this as we do not care for macaroni, and he said, "Just put it on the shelf for some future time."

DORIS CLARE

I have a cupboard full of it! Every time I visit them she serves wonderful meals of ready served chicken and other dishes and when she visits me I cook up a real nice dinner too, as I have everything in my freezer.

My daughter-in-law doesn't care for macaroni either and she knows I don't care for macaroni, but it still comes in every time. Please let me know what I should do. — BAFFLED.

* * *

DEAR BAFFLED — What a perfect example of a Gosh Present! Doubtless she has forgotten that it is not your favorite supper dish.

Make a pact with a local charity or hostel to string along with the gag and take all excess macaroni off your hands. It's not worth having hard feelings about.

* * *

DEAR DORIS — We have many copies of "Everyday," our Little Presbyterian booklet for use in daily devotions. We hate to discard them, and if anyone could make use of them we'd be glad to send them along.

We find them a wonderful help in many ways. — SCOTTY.

DEAR SCOTTY — A minister we know on a small island in the West Indies welcomes inspirational reading matter, and hasn't much money for it.

Mark your parcel "Printed matter. Used books. No value." No declaration will be needed. Address it to: Mr. John Gray, Presbyterian Church, George Town, Grand Cayman Island, B.W.I.

He and his flock will bless you for it.

DEAR DORIS — "Worried" wrote in about being a virgin and her boy friend dropped her because of it! Put your chin up, girl, cause I'm 19 and still pure and proud of it!

I didn't think I'd ever get a steady guy. Always the same routine, a couple of dates and the same arguments over and over. Then I said: "When you decide to settle down and start looking for a good' girl, look me up." It works. I am now engaged to the nicest guy in the world. And he is a doll too!

In the end the good girls always get the nice guys. Be patient and wait, believe me it's well worth it! — WORRIED NO MORE.

DEAR WORRIED — That's for sure.

24 Teachers Take Busman's Holiday to Help African Counterparts in Work

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP) — Twenty-four Canadian teachers will take a busman's holiday in Africa this summer, giving up six weeks of their vacation to help African teachers improve their qualifications.

Through the Canadian Teachers' Federation summer service program, Project Africa, they will go to schools in Uganda, Kenya and probably also Tanzania at the end of July, following a week of orientation at the federation's national office here.

Once in Africa they will work for six weeks with their African counterparts, who frequently have low qualifications by Canadian standards. Some have been teaching for more than 25 years with an educational equivalent of Grade 6.

The Africans are so eager to learn that the task can be frustrating, say Canadians who have taken part in the project on previous years.

"We just haven't time to teach them all they want to know," says one.

Many of the Canadian teachers will work much longer hours than they do in their regular teaching jobs, but without pay. They receive only their transportation and living expenses.

Nevertheless, competition is keen among Canadians for the summer teaching posts, and when the teachers come back they all say the experience was exciting and enriching.

VISITORS ALSO LEARN

Eleanor J. Owens, a Grade 8 teacher at Queen Elizabeth public school in Ottawa, taught last year at Uganda Technical College in Kampala.

She says she learned just as much as her students did, or more.

"It was a privilege to work with the African teachers, to learn their needs, and to see their eager desire to better their qualifications."

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell of Ottawa, a husband-and-wife teaching team, went to Lilongwe, Malawi, last summer. They will go to Africa again this year.

Now teaching Grade 8 in Ottawa, Mrs. Campbell says she was amazed at the interest in Africa shown by her Canadian pupils.

In this respect, she says, the project works two ways. The Africans learn about Canada from their Canadian instructors who in turn come back home with a rich background of knowledge of African customs to pass on to their own students.

Mrs. Campbell still gets letters every week from some of her African students. "The problem is to keep up with the mail. I write to them, and then they write back by return post."

NUMBERS GROW FAST

Project Africa was launched by the teachers' federation in 1962 with help from the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession and financial assistance from an American project of a similar nature — Operation Crossroads Africa.

Since then, 36 Canadian teachers have worked in the project in Nigeria, Malawi (formerly Nyasaland), Uganda, Kenya and Liberia. The number taking part annually has soared from two in 1962 to 24 in 1965.

The teaching project is under the supervision of Dr. Gerald Neaon of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Teachers' Federation. Gladys Rutherford, a teacher for 30 years in Regina before joining the federation office, handles most of the administrative details.

She says it costs approximately $1,500 to send each teacher to Africa. The cost is borne by the provincial teachers' organizations, while the national office plans each summer's project.

Despite the cost, every province except Newfoundland has sent at least one teacher.

Mrs. Rutherford says the federation hopes to send teachers to the same country for three or four years in a row. In this way a continuity of teaching methods will be maintained.

"Perhaps in a few years these countries will have their own teaching programs so well developed that they will be able to carry on alone. The success of Project Africa will come when it is no longer needed."

GAVE LIFE FOR RIGHTS

Emily Davidson, a British suffragette, gave her life for the cause of political equality by throwing herself under the hooves of Derby runners in 1913.

GRADUATION RECEPTION MENU

In our family we have one of the sweetest little graduates this year, who is the mother of four. Barbara is my nephew's wife, and after her third year in honors English they had little Lynn, so she had to postpone her fourth year for seven years for three other little treasures came along. At last she had a breather and a dependable baby sitter and went back to university and is ready to graduate and I'm going to be in the front row at the graduation exercises as my determined, modest, brilliant niece-in-law receives her degree.

We are receiving many requests for graduation reception menus . . . all kinds of young people are graduating all over the country, so I made some cookies curly called Dipsons Rolls and some Fried Chicken Quarters which ought to get them off to a flying start.

DIPLOMA ROLLS (cookies — like butterfingers but with oatmeal and a coconut variation):

1 cup butter, ¼ cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups quick-cooking rolled oats, ½ cup cocoanut (optional).

Cream well together in beater bowl the butter, sugar, yolks and vanilla. Remove beaters and stir in flour, salt and oats until perfectly blended. I divided dough in half at this stage and to one-half added the ½ cup cocoanut. Between pakes shape into rolls 2¼" x ¾" and place 1½" apart on ungreased cookie sheet. If desired, cocoanut half may be shaped between palms into balls, placed on ungreased cookie sheet and flattened slightly with moistened fork tines. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10-or 17 minutes.

WEDNESDAY (Guests)

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Spiced Tomato Consomme; Baked Stuffed Tenderloin; Creamed Mexican Corn; Brussels Sprouts; Individual Bowl Salads with Pineapple Mayonnaise; Mystery Cake (see Monday); Tea.

NOTE:

Be careful that you do not bump the cookie sheet as you slide it into the oven, for the cookies, sheet being ungreased, will skid into one another.

To make "ribbons" to "tie" diplomas make Icing: One cup icing sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 3 teaspoons milk, 6 drops food coloring of your choice. Beat together. Fill cookie decorator tube ¾ full, using "writing" tip, and start at far side of centre of cookie rolls. Draw line of icing to opposite side then make bow and loops and of ribbon on each.

FRIED CHICKEN QUARTERS (serves 12):

Buy three 3-lb. frying chickens and ask your butcher to cut them into quarters so you will have 12. Dry them well. Into a large brown paper bag measure ¾ cup cornmeal and ¾ cup pancake mix, 1 tablespoon salt, ½ teaspoon garlic powder, ½ teaspoon pepper. Dip chicken parts in an egg wash made by beating together 2 eggs and 3 tablespoons water. Drop a little, then shake them, one at a time, in the coating mixture in bag. Have ready large frying pans with hot butter or shortening to nearly ¼" depth. Brown chicken quarters until golden brown on all sides. Stand back while you add 2 tablespoons hot water to each pan at arm's length. Reduce heat to as low as possible, uncover and cook 40 minutes longer, turning once or until tender. Uncover during last 10 minutes to make crust crispy. Best served hot, but good cold too.

Mother's Helper

BABY will enjoy his bath in the big tub if he doesn't slide around and feel insecure. Spread a small terry hand-towel in the water before you're ready to put the baby in. It won't stay completely flat, of course, but it does serve as an excellent non-skid base.

NEW ALPHABET — The Initial Teaching Alphabet, a 44-letter alphabet designed by Sir James Pitman, will soon be used by the Protestant School Board of Montreal. After two years children change to the regular alphabet. The ITA eliminates irregular spelling with each letter representing one sound and each sound in a word always spelled the same way. For example, the "o" sound in toe, sew and no is represented by "oe." —(CP PHOTO) arms and recruits to the Viet Cong in the south.

Thirty U.S. Navy fighter - bombers Tuesday hit a petroleum storage area and military barracks at Phu Qui, 125 miles south of Hanoi. A U.S. military spokesman said the pilots reported "extremely heavy damage."

The planes dropped 25 tons of bombs on the target and blasted it with "Bullpup" missiles. They also attacked the barracks area with rockets. And reported it was 80 per cent destroyed.

The New York Times reported today that U.S. ground troops in South Viet Nam may utilize an "ink blot" strategy of establishing strategic strongholds along the coast and then enlarging their perimeters by aggressive patrolling until they meet.

See see MEN

The paper's military affairs writer, Hanson W. Baldwin, said such a process might require an estimated total of about 500,000 Americans and years of fighting.

There now are about 46,000 U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

them," Mr. MacMillan said.

He also told the commission that at his request Dr. J. W. Ambrose drove from Kingston to Toronto July 6 to examine the core, but that Dr. Ambrose did not express an opinion on the core despite the fact he was Windfall's consulting geologist.

Mr. Justice Kelly asked: "What did Dr. Ambrose tell you about the core?"

Mr. Macmillan said: "He told me we were in the ore zone."

"Was there any doubt you were in the zone in your own mind?" asked the commissioner.

"No," replied the grey-haired president of Windfall.

KNEW ALREADY

Mr. Kelly said: "You had the company's consulting geologist drive 100 miles to tell you something you already knew?"

Mr. Macmillan said: "Yes."

Mr. Justice Kelly said: "I find it rather an extravagant use of company funds to have that kind of consulting geologist."

Mr. MacMillan said he played no part in the trading of Windfall shares last July from which the MacMillans and their associated companies made a profit of more than $1,400,000. It was all done by his wife, he testified.

Chancellor Not Elected A Delegate

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The 106th synod of the Anglican Diocese of Huron took an embarrassing turn Tuesday. Its chancellor was not elected a delegate to a general synod in Vancouver in August.

The problem was primarily a matter of wording. The ballot, containing about 600 names from which to choose 10 delegates, had after each name a spotted line on which to place an X.

The exception, right at the top of the ballot, was the name of Chancellor J. D. Harrison, a London lawyer. The words filled the entire space, with no room for the X, and he was not chosen a delegate.

One elected delegate volunteered to step down in favor of Mr. Harrison.

It was finally agreed that the ballots will be reissued today with space left for an X to be written in.

A motion calling for the Synod to go on record as approving a religious education program in the province's elementary schools was overwhelmingly endorsed by delegates.

EDUCATION NEEDED

Rt. Rev. W. A. Townshend, a Bishop in London, Ont., said Canadian society was producing a "generation of pagans" and religious education was needed to bring children into the Church.

But the Anglican Sunday school curriculum was found lacking by Ven. Archdeacon Alford Abraham of Sarnia, who said it required teachers to be "pedagogical experts and children miniature Einsteins."

Mr. Abraham was opposing the new curriculum developed by the General Board of Religious Education for Canada and presented to the synod here.

R. J. Berryman, who seconded the curriculum report by the diocesan religious education department said the new curriculum was the most significant development in teaching in 20 years.

Philosophy professor H. J. Johnson, of the University of Western Ontario warned the Synod that the Church should move cautiously in the field of sex education.

Discussions of sex morality can easily degenerate into critically stimulating chats, Prof. Johnson said.

CHURCHES VANISH

The number of Protestant churches in Peking has shrunk from 65 in 1958 to four in 1965.

Sen. Roebuck Will Not Retire If Bill Passes

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Arthur Roebuck, at 87 still one of the Senate's most active members, said Tuesday he definitely will not retire under the proposed legislation to provide for Senate retirements at age 75.

The slim, grey-haired Toronto Liberal also said in an interview that most of his close associates in the upper chamber will also pass up the opportunity to retire on an $8,000 annual pension.

A government bill setting a compulsory retirement age of 75 for future Senate appointees was given approval in principle in the Commons Monday.

The bill also gives present senators who are over 75 the choice of continuing in their $15,000-a-year posts or taking the retirement pension. They originally were appointed for life.

There are some senators, however, who are in failing health and would be glad of the opportunity to relinquish their seats.

Senator Roebuck, a former attorney - general of Ontario, said the $7,000 difference between the Senate salary and the pension has little to do with the decision some senators have made to continue in their appointments.

He said it costs him about that much money to keep up a separate residence in Ottawa.

"It's certainly not the money in my case or that of my friends who have made the same decision. We think we are doing a job here and we want to continue doing it."

The bill would allow present senators 75 or over a year from the third passage of the bill to decide whether to retire or stay on.

School Board Will Consider Request Made

GEORGETOWN, Ont. (CP)— A two-day sit-in that closed Holy Cross separate school Monday ended after parents of 103 French - speaking students were assured the school board would consider their request for a bilingual kindergarten.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gelinas, president and secretary of the group of French-speaking parents who had stopped sending their children to school two days ago, called off the sit-in.

Earlier in the day, about 25 children were escorted from the sit - in because parents thought the youngsters might be injured if police attempted to end the demonstration.

The sit-in continued by six parents and six university students.

Mrs. Gelinas called off after the Gelineaults spent the afternoon with school board trustee N. G. Hallett and was told the board would meet immediately and make a proposal on the kindergarten.

The sit-in was organized by the Student Non - Violent Coordinating Committee, which set up an office here Tuesday but dispersed when the sit-in ended.

Parents of the French-speaking students have kept the students away from classes since May 10.

There are more than 130 police villages in Ontario.

Most of the proposed changes are aimed at encouraging municipalities to think in terms of regional government. There is a relaxation of paternalism by the department in many of the amendments.

Power would be given counties to licence lodging houses, defined to include nursing homes. It would apply only to sanitary, fire and similar regulations. The welfare and municipal aspects of nursing homes are the responsibility of welfare authorities.

Other major proposed changes include:

—Municipalities or counties may carry out joint projects or pass laws jointly. This would permit regional control of air pollution, for instance.

—Special charges may be levelled by municipalities against high-rise buildings to help pay for the extra-large sewage and waterworks needed to serve such buildings.

—Boards of control may be established in towns and cities of 45,000 or more. A city currently must have 50,000 and other municipalities must have 100,000.

—Municipal clerks will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of ties or recounts.

—Municipal councils will be restricted from resigning en masse.

—If a store carries two or more classes of trade, whichever class contributes 75 per cent or more of the total sales will "type" the store for the purpose of zoning bylaws.

—Individual municipalities will be allowed to build airfields. Two or more communities must unite under the present legislation or form a district to establish an airport.

Mr. Spooner also proposes to do away with a section of the act stating that he must personally approve municipal projects for expropriation of land for industrial development.

A municipal councillors will take on the responsibility of assembling industrial land and selling it to developers.

In a separate announcement Tuesday, Mr. Spooner said the government has increased provincial assessors as of Jan. 3, 1966. The measure is an attempt to improve the standards of qualification of municipal assessors, he said.

In other legislative business, Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree, deputy house leader, gave notice that debate on the Toronto medical-care bill would be the first government bill announced it would call for second reading of the bill early next week.

The six - day debate ended shortly after a Conservative bid to have the bill referred to committee after the next election was defeated 117 to 75.

LIKED DEFERRAL

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker introduced an amendment saying the legislation should not become law until the official results of the next election are published.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if the 36 senators over 75 decide to retire, the government will be strong for Mr. Pearson to pack the Senate with Liberal followers on the eve of the next election.

"Never before in history did a government similar to this one with such an unusual pork barrel—36 appointments," he said.

In other business Tuesday, debate began on second reading of the Agricultural Bank Act revision announced May 6.

Finance Minister Gordon indicated he was not impressed by what from his stand that provincial governments and Crown corporations should be barred from investing in chartered banks.

Such proposal has been criticized often by the British Columbia and Quebec governments.

Mr. Gordon said the government would consider "sympathetically" a recommendation by the banking committee that government pension funds be permitted to make modest investments in bank shares, "possibly on a non-voting basis."

Blood Donor Report Given At Meeting

DESERONTO — The May meeting of the Red Cross Society was held at the home of Mrs. K. Crabbe. Mrs. G. Walker, President opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. D. Dawson, Chairman, reported on the recent Blood Donor Clinic held in Napanee. 28 donors from the town were present. Assisting were Nurses, Mrs. Edmund Dowling, Mrs. D. C. McVicker, typing was done by Mrs. M. A. Ryan. Mrs. G. Hearns, serving orange juice and coffee were Mrs. G. Walker, Mrs. H. Transue, Mrs. L. Gardanier, Mrs. G. Stuart, Mrs. M. Rendell, Mrs. G. Cole. Mrs. D. Dawson was in charge of registration.

The Senior Citizens report showed five persons were visited in Hastings Manor, three in Kingston General Hospital. 37 Easter cards and 31 birthday, sympathy, get well and anniversary cards sent.

Two pair of crutches and a new wheel chair are to be purchased for the loan cupboard.

Coffee and cigarettes were supplied to Brenon at a recent fire in town. This was done by Mrs. Wm. Schell and Mrs. H. Simpson.

Miss Ruth Lloyd reported knitting and wipes turned in for Newmarket.

Mrs. Crabbe served lunch and Mrs. H. Transue invited the Branch to be hone for the June meeting.

School Guards Being Trained By Policeman

DESERONTO — The Deseronto School Board met last night and was learned that five boys from grade eight are being trained by Duc Coleman, Jane Field, police officer, at crossings when the policeman himself cannot be present. The boys will be provided with badges and hats to identify them as patrol officers.

Due to the fact that no Home and School Association exists this year, the school board will provide $100 to help finance a bus trip to Ottawa, and a graduation banquet for the grade eight students. The rest of the money needed will be earned by the students, who are holding a euchre party May 26 in the school. Donations have been received from the Fire Department and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion to help make these two events possible.

A letter of resignation was received from Mrs. Ada Boyce who has taught school here for the past 15 years.

Trustee McVicker has asked the board to pay tuition for her daughter who attends Moira Secondary School in Belleville, due to the fact that the lake German which is not offered at

Council Being Prodded To Name Health Officer

DESERONTO — Once more Deseronto Council has been asked by the Department of Health, if they have a medical officer of health and it was learned that to date one has not been obtained. Mayor Lott stated he will contact the department of Municipal Affairs to see if it would be possible to hire the town's doctor, Dr. Mc Vicker while he is an acting councillor.

A hassel developed between council and Public Utilities Commission when a letter was received from the P.U.C. The letter stated the Council didn't know what they were doing, and that Mr. Howard must have been asleep at the combined meeting or he wouldn't ask why the pipe line hadn't been started. The letter further stated that the P.U.C. couldn't do anything until the town put out debentures and raised the money for this purpose. The letter was signed Public Utilities Commission per E. Lock and F. Topping.

This all began a few months ago when council passed a motion to have a 10-inch water main installed in the west end of town to the Ideal Venders plant, a copy of which was sent to the P.U.C. for further action of estimates, etc.

Councillor Howard who is determined to get water in volume in the west end, stated, "we started this problem four years ago and haven't got off the ground yet, how long do we have to wait, the PUC accuses us of not doing anything to raise the money, how do we go about raising the money when we have to have an engineers estimate or any other solution to the problem?"

POOR PRESSURE CLAIM

"The water at present is supplied to the west end by a four-inch main. The pressure at the Ideal Vendors plant is very poor. Councillor Howard said we have a valuable industry here and they need protection, if there was a fire up there what could we do about it?"

The mayor who sits on all PUC meetings said there was no letter like this sent from a Commission meeting, the letter was drafted apart from a meeting and the mayor had seen it before he was to sign it, which he did not, and as far as he was concerned it was a private letter, not a PUC letter.

A letter of resignation was received from Library Board member Mrs. M. Jackson.

The council approved the donation of $100 to Policeman J. C. Fields for the purpose of buying equipment for a ball club for boys between the ages of six to 16. Mr. Field is forming this baseball club and the council appreciates his efforts.

Property committee said they had not taken any further action on the proposed sidewalk to Dawson's Marina as it would have to be on private property.

Mr. James McVicker, local postmaster, stated to council that over 1,000 craft docked at Dawson's Marina last year and each craft would have at least two people aboard. This is a great potential for local business. A letter is being sent to the CNR asking permission to put a cinder path to their property to cross to the Marina.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. G. Knight and George Jr. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Topping for the weekend.

Mrs. Lily McAfee who has been a patient in Kingston General Hospital, has returned to her home.

Mrs. C. M. Luffman visited her niece Mrs. J. Ivory in Toronto.

Miss Lynette Thompson is a patient in Kingston General Hospital.

Napanee. The board is to investigate whether they would be bound in do so for one option only.

A request was received from the janitor for $25 for extra work done during April. This was turned down as it was felt this work fell in the class of regular duties.

Chairman Armitage informed the board a meeting was held Tuesday night between the Education Committee of Lennox and Addington County Council and the Chairman of the Deseronto school board D. Armitage, Vice-chairman W. Schell and Mayor G. Lott to discuss the future and needs of the students of Deseronto to the Napanee High School District.

COURTSHIP FIZZLES

A U.S. attempt to woo away the Junta's military support failed Tuesday when the Dominican armed forces refused to abandon Imbert.

The United States hoped to force the junta out to set the stage for formation of a coalition government acceptable to both the rebels and the military forces opposing them. Rejecting what he called official U.S. pressure, Rivera Caminero said the military would only accept a new government of "national harmony" composed of the junta and "all democratic parties in the country."

The rebels have refused to participate in any government with the junta.

Associated Press writer Lewis Gulick reported from Washington that the U.S. administration's main aim is to get a middle-road civilian regime set up which could wield enough authority to stop the fighting.

Gulick said if this succeeds, the United States is expected to pull out much of its 23,000-man force.

EXCLUDE REDS

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker told the OAS council in Washington Tuesday night "there is reason to believe" that aids men are available to serve in a new Dominican government which would exclude Communists and other extremist elements.

President Johnson declared May 2 that the Dominican revolution, which erupted April 24, had been "taken over and rechaped and placed into the hands of a band of Communist conspirators."

Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said Monday "there is no confusion that Col. Caamano today is dominated by Communists" and that sensitive aries are said to have received in writing a commitment from both sides opposing Red control of any Dominican government.

At UN headquarters in New York, Security Council was scheduled to hear today from Ruben Brache, representative of the rebels, and Guarou Velasquez, representing the junta.

Rotarians Given Talk On Cyprus

PICTON (STAFF) — Major John Pryde told Rotarians about conditions and experiences in the troubled island of Cyprus on Tuesday noon. He is senior major 1st Battalion Canadian Guards, and he was introduced by Major Robinson. The latter told of the many duties and responsibilities of the speaker's important role.

The address at the Royal Hotel luncheon was exceedingly interesting as Major Pryde told of the difficulties of establishing and maintaining a democratic administration in an island where about 80 per cent of the population of 570 thousand are Greeks, and about 20 per cent Turks. These difficulties have intensified since the end of the British rule in 1953.

Following a period of fruitless arbitration, an occupation force has been maintained in Cyprus since March of last year, the Major said. He indicated from maps the sectors of Cyprus for which peace keeping responsibility is assigned to the United Nations from Contingents from Canada, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Ireland and the United Kingdom.

The speaker said that members of the Guard's Battalion had carried out duties most creditably. The greatest handicap was boredom, related to inactive role in which the need to control occasional outbursts of firing by Turks or Greeks was the most important item. He referred to the climate as ideal in winter, — but hot and arid in summer.

A cordial vote of thanks was moved by Reg. Johnson, and president Russell Perkin presented a cheese.

A. A. Benvie New President For Retarded

PICTON (Staff) — Nearly 50 people attended the second meeting of the Ontario Association for the Mentally Retarded in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Picton on Tuesday night to install the officers and executives of the Prince Edward Co. branch. Guest speaker for the evening was Peter Gomery of the Ontario Association who organized the meeting and spoke of the work that has to be done in forming the new branch.

The newly-elected officers for the year are President, Mr. A. A. Benvie; Vice President, Rev. E. Russell; Corresponding and recording secretary, Mrs. Orval May; treasurer, Mr. Del Cook. The elected executive are Mr. C. P. Reid, Dr. F. W. Murphy, Mrs. John Stobbope, Mrs. George Cooper.

Members elected to name the branch "The Prince Edward Association for the Mentally Retarded. Meeting dates were set for the third Tuesday of the month except through the months of July and August. Meetings will be held at 8 p.m. the next meeting being on June 15. Rev. R. Russell, volunteered the use of the Presbyterian church hall for the use of the Association. Membership was invited, the fee is $1.50 for single and $2.00 for a family.

The Rural Scene

PICTON (Staff) — A total of 301 boars were approved for premium under the Boar Premium Policy during the month of April.

This number included 138 Yorkshire, 67 Landrace, and 16 Lacombe. Premium on boars available from the Livestock Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture ranges from $20 to $35 depending on the R.O.P. qualifications of the sire and dam. In addition a premium of $15 is available from the Prince Edward Hog Producers Association. This will be paid to the first ten county hog producers with the purchase an improved boar and make application to the secretary, Mr. Ross Pierson, R. R. 1 Wellington.

SUPPLEMENTAL FEEDING

Cows on early spring pasture will usually increase their milk flow, but often lose body weight because they can't consume sufficient dry matter from the succulent young grass. To counteract this problem, Professor Donald Grieve, Department of Animal Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, suggests that some hay be supplied in the field, yard or stable. A high-energy grain ration such as corn may also be desirable, but little supplemental protein is necessary since protein requirements at this time are not critical. Cows receiving silage as part of their winter ration, however, will not have such an adjustment to make since they have already been eating a succulent feed.

WATERING LAWNS

Already a number of people are busy watering their lawns. Like any other task there is generally a right and a wrong way of going about it. It is important to make the best possible use of the water that is available.

Here are some tips on how to water your lawn. Insufficient watering can do more harm than good, as when you water your lawn be sure to give it a good soaking. Water has to penetrate several inches to be effective. Light applications of water just make the grass roots grow nearer the surface where they are easy game for the hot mid-day sun. What's more, shallow roots are more thirsty under such conditions.

To know when the lawn is soaked, place several pans in the area to be watered. When they contain 1 to 1¼ inches of water, you have applied enough.

Water absorption on slopes and terraces is slower than on flat areas, so try to use a finer spray on these areas.

When should you water? Early morning or evening is best since evaporation is slower than at mid-day. However, if you have to water at mid-day; the chances are this will not harm the freshly-watered lawn unless the soil is poorly drained and compacted.

Young People Of Pentecostal Church to Meet

PICTON (Staff) — Several hundred young people will be converging on Picton next week for the huge Youth Convention, sponsored by the United Pentecostal Church. Around 1,000 are expected from out of town from as far west as Leamington, Hamilton and Toronto and east to Pembroke.

This is the third year the Convention has been held and it has grown so large that part of the services will be held in the County Centre at the Fair grounds.

An outstanding speaker has been secured in Tom Freeman Tenney from Louisiana and St. Louis, Missouri, who is in demand all over the U.S.A. and beyond. He will be heard at all services.

Mr. Tenney is International President of the Pentecostal Conquerors, the young people's department of the United Pentecostal Church.

Lively, inspirational musicians, quartettes, duets and solos and instrumental music also feature the services.

Marines Find No Magic Way To Fight Reds

By PETER ARNETT

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. marines have found no magic formula to beat the Viet Cong.

Pickings have been lean since they moved out on combat patrols from the Da Da Nang and Hoa base camps in mid-April. And they have discovered many frustrations: The searing heat, the tangled jungle and a disappearing enemy.

The marines have found it will take hard slogging and perseverance to get a military victory.

The marines appear to be developing a grudging respect for the black pajama-clad guerrillas who have been stubbornly sitting inside the perimeter the marines have been given to defend around the Da Nang air base.

These guerrillas—most of them equipped with old-fashioned French weapons, have inflicted about 70 marine casualties. Almost every marine patrol that moves out of base camp makes contact and fire-fights ensue.

The marines have brought back 18 Viet Cong bodies from patrols, not as trophies but for intelligence purposes, they said.

TERRAIN ROUGH

The marine defence perimeter around Da Nang extends about 15 miles deep. It includes two rivers, several high hills, numerous villages and acres of tangled jungle.

Some marine companies have a tendency to bunch up while returning from long, wearying patrols, making ideal targets for Viet Cong snipers.

The marines have found that it is not easy to fight by the book in South Viet Nam.

One marine officer said: "We know we are targets when we're moving over the same trails. But where else can we go? Often, there is only one way to go."

"Our biggest problem is the heat," a marine doctor said. "We just can't move too quickly or too far in this heat. We have to slow down."

One marine company of 400 men had 10-per-cent heat casualties one day. To prevent this happening, the marines have longer and more frequent rest periods.

International Rings Said Responsible for Debts Up to $3,000,000 in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A keen-eyed government auditor named Lucien Mercier is quietly studying more than 500 bankruptcies which have left debts ranging from $40,000 to $3,000,000 in Quebec during the last five years.

Meanwhile flamboyant Montreal prosecutor Gerard Laganiere, 48, says court action has been started during the last seven months in 35 failures and so far 18 to 20 cases have resulted in guilty pleas or convictions.

Authorities say five or six big international rings have operated in Quebec along with individuals who have been using legal loopholes for up to 20 years in the white-collar rackets.

They add that at least one ring has fled to South America. The others have gone elsewhere and several men wanted by police in connection with fraudulent bankruptcies are reported to have disappeared.

The bankruptcies investigation reflects the anxiety of Revenue Minister Eric Kierans to recoup the $2,000,000 in tax Quebec has been losing annually to bankruptcy bandits.

"We haven't any bankruptcy rings here any more," Mr. Lazanière said in an interview. "It's getting too hot for them. They've moved out."

GIVEN SPECIAL POWERS

In Quebec's determined crackdown, 39 to 35 police and other government agencies in Canada and the United States are helping to gather evidence.

An order-in-council last fall gave Mr. Mercier power to call witnesses, to demand documents and to question not only shady characters but outwardly respectable figures such as lawyers, trustees and businessmen.

A few months ago, a combined Canadian and American law enforcement team recouped $109,000, 47 per cent of which was taken in Quebec by an outfit called Gulf Intercontinental.

Attorney-General Claude Wagner was a crown prosecutor when he initiated this case in 1962. The Quebec Securities Commission followed up last by offering Gulf Intercontinental's assets.

The money was obtained from 380 low-income families by a promise of 8%-per-cent interest on invested cash by four Americans who set up shop 2½ years ago.

Centred in Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton but extending to nine provinces, the group transferred the money through New York to interlocking companies in Miami, Fla., and other U.S. cities.

Of the four men involved, one has been given a 25-year sentence in Texas and another faces a murder charge.

Extradition proceedings against two of the men have been started by Canadian authorities.

RESORT TO ARSON

Two years of hard work sometimes 20,000 cheques must be studied in a single case) resulted in the break for small investors, and Mr. Wagner says criminal action may be the next step.

"This is one example of the effectiveness of our drive," the attorney-general said. "Most of those who got their money back had invested $200, $300 or $1,000, the small people."

Authorities say one ring alone may operate 60 companies in construction, jewelry, electrical appliances, furniture or other businesses. Arson often adds to the rake-off.

Quebec began building its files on professional bankrupts two years ago during a crackdown on arson for insurance, Mr. Lazaniere said.

Deathbed testimony from several men in small fry who got $200 to $500 for setting fires that netted thousands in insurance helped police nab the brains of this racket.

The dying men had been critically burned when sparks from automatic furnaces caused explosions as they sprinkled gasoline about cellars.

About 48 big arson cases went to court, and there have been more than 40 convictions so far.

The case of Armand Becotte, 50, illustrates the tie-in between bankruptcy and arson. Until the law caught up he was a respected businessman living comfortably in the Montreal suburb of St. Vincent de Paul, near the penitentiary. He had no record.

But in January he was sent to prison for 21 months and fined $3,000 on seven counts of bankruptcy involving $300,000 and two counts of arson. The crown is appealing for a stiffer sentence.

Mr. Lazaniere says co-operation from government agencies in Ottawa, Toronto, Washington, New York and Florida, and also from such groups as the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, has helped crack the racket.

A Montreal bank that had already lost $500,000 in bad debts $55,000 in legal costs to help the Crown obtain a conviction.

The racketeers use several approaches. One is to move in on shaky companies with promises of financial backing, try various means, including blackmail, they take over.

Using the good name of the company, plus false bank statements or doctored credit ratings, they buy supplies on credit.

CREDITORS CAUGHT

The newly - purchased goods are quickly resold to other racketeers and often are difficult to trace. Sometimes company buildings are insured and the goods are removed, then set on fire to increase the harvest.

Then creditors are forced to go into bankruptcy themselves.

But the government has the resources, and it is using them.

Police fraud squads, who were almost as helpless as the creditors against the complex big business bandits, now are hitting them mercilessly with the aid of men like Mr. Lazanière and Mr. Mercier. Both have legal experience in government and business.

"We've got the arson and the bankruptcy racketeers," says Mr. Lazaniere happily. "Next we're going after the loan sharks."

The Mercier inquiry probably will result in tightening of the federal Bankruptcy Act and Winding Up acts. Quebec legislation already is being more smartly enforced.

And authorities feel enforcement rather than amendment is the most effective means of wiping out a racket Mr. Wagner has said "causes more grief than gambling or prostitution ever did."

The Commons gave third reading to a bill setting retirement at 75 for senators, defeating a Conservative bid to shelve it.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's move to delay the bill's implementation until after the next election was defeated 117 to 75.

Mr. Diefenbaker said possible retirement of the 36 senators 75 or over would leave Prime Minister Pearson "an unusual pork barrel."

Transport Minister Pickersgill said the Diefenbaker government got two Senate appointments under the wire" the day it was defeated in 1963.

Study was started at the second-reading stage of the bill covering the Bank Act.

Finance Minister Gordon indicated the government may allow provincial pension funds to invest in bank shares

The revised act forbids ownership of bank shares by provincial governments or their agents.

Queen's Trip to Germany Seen With Mixed Feelings

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Queen's trip to West Germany appears to have aroused greater joy in the republic than in Britain where the royal tour still is being viewed with mixed feelings.

Wars and the toll of dead are not easy to forget, nor is it likely that an 11-day state visit will wipe away all at once the half-century of suspicion and distrust between Britons and Germans.

Yet there also is an element of reconciliation on both sides that for different reasons the two countries need each other, that their future is interwoven and that their problems require a conscious acceptance of peace and an exploration of genuine friendship for postwar generations.

Many Britons still tend to dwell on the past, giving only grudging recognition to the fact that West Berlin through the sturdiest economic power on the Continent and its future is brimming with opportunity and that it may eventually be the doorway for Britain into the European Common Market.

Two years ago it was France, not West Germany, which took the initiative to slam the door in Britain's face, a continental thrust. In its search for Western acceptance West Germany appeared in early postwar years eager to link up with France, virtually accepting with some humility the special position of France in asserting continental leadership.

Now there seems to be more readiness by West Germany to look around, to reassess its own position in world affairs and be more critical of the French attitude.

West Germany makes clear it would look with sympathy on any new British attitude to join the European Economic Community and it emphasizes that in seeking markets for one of its major export products, automobiles, it finds the outer fringe of Europe, the seven-country European Free Trade Association led by Britain more receptive than the Common Market itself.

Along with its accumulated wealth, West Germany seeks stature, and the feverish preparations preceding the Queen's visit is an indication of how greatly the Germans value the more ready British acceptance of German friendship that likely will follow a successful royal tour.

Britain needs West German economic strength. A crippling foreign trade deficit has forced Britain to seek increased financial aid from those whose coffers are well loaded.

Prime Minister Wilson has talked of European bridge-building; of seeking ways of breaking the deadlock between not through direct frontal entry but through side doors. He seeks more West German influence contracts and more West German financial recognition of the burden of maintaining the British army on the Rhine.

The Queen's visit may turn out be a major structure in this bridge - building and one more readily acceptable to the Germans than a direct political initiative by elected political forces.

Rescue Two Men From Raft After Drifting 1,400 Miles

MANILA (AP)—A 63-year-old American and his son, given up for lost after their raft drifted more than 1,400 miles from home after 32 days at sea.

Frank H. Cushing, a former aviation stuntman, and Frank Jr., 20, were sighted by a police patrol boat Monday off Camiguin Island, north of the central Philippine island of Luzon.

The Cushings were on a 20-foot raft made of oil drums, using an improvised sail made of a blanket and parachute cloth

The two men, who live on Guam, told their rescuers they were searching reefs around Guam for rare fish. They anchored on the night of April 15. While they slept, strong currents pulled the raft out to sea.

They woke to find themselves lost.

The U.S. Navy made a search but couldn't find them.

The Cushings drifted to the Philippines over one of the world's most deserted stretches of ocean.

SEEKS MORE BUSINESS

MONTREAL (CP)—Hotel facilities built for the 1967 World's Fair here will allow the city to accommodate conventions of 10,000 delegates, said the director of the city's tourist bureau. Up to now the maximum has been 5,000, so much convention business has been lost to Toronto, he said.

Die Seems Cast for Long Hot Summer of War in Viet Nam Observers Say

WASHINGTON (CP)—The die seems cast for a long hot summer of war in Viet Nam.

Barring a decisive advantage either way in the fighting to come, the result could be a stalemate bloody enough to lead to the peace table.

That applies if the scope of the war is not enlarged by the intervention of China or Russia in a direct way, observers here say. This presupposes continuing caution all round.

The last immediate prospect of peace talks is deemed to have gone out the window with the resumption, after a six-day lull, of United States air strikes against North Viet Nam. The Communists refused to nibble at the American bomb-cessation bait—there had not been much real hope here that they would.

Nothing now appears to stand in the way of the military buildups proceeding on both sides. As the Viet Nam rainy season draws closer, military action is increasing.

The Communist Viet Cong has been committing its re-grouped forces. The Americans have been digging in with a supply and transport system adequate to quickly expanding fighting forces now estimated at 45,000 men, or almost double the total at the end of 1964.

President Johnson said Tuesday the $700,000,000 recently voted by Congress for Viet Nam fighting will handle "short-term" needs and that the American military has a blank cheque for what it wants.

Defence Secretary McNamara said some of the spending will go for more helicopters, fighter aircraft, ammunition and other battle gear.

There is speculation that the air strikes against the north now may be aimed at non-military targets. Authorities in the field have been reported as conceding privately that few worthwhile targets remain in the shape of railways, bridges, roads, ferries, army buildings or radar stations.

But it is doubted that the U.S. will strike much farther north for fear of making it impossible for China to stay out of the conflict. Some key North Vietnamese industrial areas lie far to the north. The steel plant at Thai Nguye, for example, is northwest of Hanoi, the capital.

United States battle units have been taking the offensive against the Viet Cong around the American bases. This is distinct from the so - called search - and - destroy which the American special forces began participating in the war in aid of South Vietnamese troops.

These forces still bear the brunt of military action.

It is speculated now that American combat units may get involved directly and independently of the South Viet Nam command.

Motor Vehicle Strangulation Discussed

WINDSOR (CP) — The need for breathing space in city governments and urban traffic sparked the comments of delegates Tuesday at an annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities here.

William Allen, Metropolitan Toronto chairman, and geography professor G. Flerov of the University of Western Ontario both supported the idea of spending city governments.

Halifax Mayor Charles Vaughan made an appeal to the federal and provincial governments to help end motor vehicle strangulation in big cities.

"Our greatest difficulty rests in a cultural leg in bringing our inherited form of local government into line with our new low density concepts, to the scale of the new urban dimension."

Mr. Allen was a little more reserved in his opinion on regional planning.

COST JUSTIFIED

He said unification of municipal services will not decrease costs but will result in improved services justified any increase that may occur.

But he said the cost of moving urban traffic should be shared by the federal and provincial authorities.

In other business Mayor George Johnson of Duluth, Minn., said annexation and the resulting loss of unified government are the answer to strengthening municipal government and administration.

In an interview, Mr. Johnson said the best form of municipal government seems to lie in a strong mayoral system.

S. A. Cudmore, chairman of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, said the union is considering protesting a section of the Ontario Labor Relation Act to the International Labor Organization in Geneva.

The section allows a municipality, through passage of a special bylaw, to declare that the Labor Relations Act does not apply to its employees.

Diplomat's Son Fed up With Communism

BERLIN (AP)—A Polish diplomat's son, who said he is fed up with the "miserable life under communism," walked from East Berlin through the Wall Monday and early in May and defected to the U.S. officials reported Tuesday.

A high - ranking member of the Polish military mission here defected Sunday.

Marek Radomski, 19, made his way to West Berlin on May 5, using a diplomatic passport to pass through the East German border controls at the dividing East and West Berlin.

He is the son of the economic counsellor at the Polish embassy in East Berlin. He rejected all attempts by Polish officials to persuade him to change his mind and return.

Immediately after his defection became known, unfounded rumors circulated that Radomski was the son by a former marriage of Wladislaw Tykocinski, chief of the Polish military mission in West Berlin who asked the United States for political asylum Sunday.

The authorities in West Berlin said it could not be discounted that Tykocinski, who has described himself as a "socialist but not a Communist," was under severe pressure by the Polish foreign office because of his failure to engineer the youth's return.

U.S. officials said Radomski is in the care of American authorities in West Germany. He was reported to have been granted political asylum in West Germany.

B-B Commission Told Mother Tongue Should Be Given More Recognition

WINNIPEG (CP)—The royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism was told Tuesday a child can get a painful and lasting jolt by starting school where the teaching is not in his mother tongue.

The situation was described by spokesmen for both French and Ukrainian groups in Manitoba, where the only legal language of instruction in public schools is English.

Mary Dyma of Winnipeg, who appeared before the commission for questioning on a brief by the women's council of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee, told it a boy rushing home and crying out:

"Mother, why weren't you born in Canada? Now I'm a foreigner."

The group said in its brief it thinks "the mother tongue should be given unequivocal recognition in public schools, Ukrainian schools and in the higher institutions of learning, and be a fully accredited subject."

Joseph Desrosiers, who described himself as a native of Saskatchewan, 25 miles southeast of here, described a similar effect at his school, where there is a majority of French - speaking students.

He said most concern over French - speaking students in English - speaking schools was with elementary students. Many spoke French at home, and although they did not know much English, they should have to start learning it at school.

He was speaking in connection with a brief by l'Association des Instituteurs de Langue Française du Manitoba, which calls for, among other things, a French teachers' college and a French textbook and examinations by French-speaking students.

The 1961 census, classifying people under their mother tongues, put Ukrainians second to English in Manitoba with 85,173. Germans are next followed by French with 80,280.

Earlier Tuesday, a spokesman for the Winnipeg headquarters of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee said people of all origins should work in equal partnership in the development of Canada.

Vice-President John H. Syrnick said in introducing a brief the wording in part of the terms of reference of the commission was distasteful to many ethnic groups.

The commission was not to blame, he said, but the reference to "equal partnership between the two founding races" implied a "sort of race superiority."

It seemed to relegate "the other ethnic groups to a second-class citizenship," he said.

Pearson Hopes Uranium Sale Will Be Made

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Tuesday he hopes the sale of uranium by Canada to France over the possible sale of uranium to that country will be brought to a successful conclusion.

And "to the best of my recollection," he added, he has said nothing last weekend to indicate the deal was falling through.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker asked whether the deal—for a reported $700,000,000 worth of uranium—is in danger of collapsing in view of Mr. Pearson's weekend statements in Elliot Lake, Ont., a uranium-producing centre in the prime minister's Algoma East riding. The Opposition leader said doubts have arisen as a result of the statements.

In Elliot Lake, when Mr. Pearson was asked what would happen if the deal fell through, he read this statement:

"Given the long-term requirements for uranium, and the probable price structure in years to come, the Canadian government would have to consider what steps it would take to maintain the uranium industry if the level of sales which could be achieved through the negotiations of contracts at the present time, was not, in itself, entirely capable of maintaining a viable industry."

He re-read the statement in the Commons Tuesday.

Mr. Pearson also reiterated that he hopes the directors of the Company of Young Canadians will consider Elliot Lake as a training ground for the young people participating in the government-sponsored foreign and domestic help program.

Explains Why He Waved — Extradition

NEW YORK (CP) — Wayne Lonergan, 47, testified Tuesday that he agreed to waive extradition following his arrest in Toronto because he was told he was merely wanted in New York to help with the investigation of the slaying of his heiress wife and that he would soon be released.

He told a hearing before New York Supreme Court Justice Charles Marks that he had not been told of the circumstances of the death of his estranged wife and was willing to come to New York to attend his wife's funeral and see their 18-month-old son.

The hearing resulted from a motion for a new trial by Lonergan's lawyer, Frances Kahn, who said Lonergan was coerced into making a statement confessing to the 1943 slaying. She said she is basing her case on two recent U.S. Supreme Court rulings that confessions must be voluntary before they can be admitted as evidence.

Lonergan wound up his testimony Tuesday by saying that he had been told to say he was a United States citizen while being brought to Canada at dawn but he actually was a Toronto-born Canadian — and still is.

Judge Marks adjourned the hearing—to determine whether Lonergan's confession was voluntary — until Thursday when Miss Kahn will call at least one more witness, Harvey Kelly, who was a morgue attendant at the time of Mrs. Lonergan's slaying in her fashionable Manhattan apartment.

Lonergan testified that he was married to Gertrude Lonergan in 1941 and separated in 1962. He said he had been told to say he was a United States citizen while being brought to Canada at dawn but he actually was a Toronto-born Canadian — and still is.

British Columbia's Newest Faculty

Stress Youth, Brilliance In Staffing University

By DENNIS ORCHARD

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Rudi Mesring came to Canada from Switzerland when he was 13 and with a quick mastery of English raced through secondary school in three years.

He topped the 1,100-member freshman class at the University of British Columbia and picked up $12,000 in scholarships on his way to the PhD he won at 28.

Season him with a few years of college teaching, intense research and the authorship of more than two dozen scientific publications, and you have the 31-year-old head of the physics department at new Simon Fraser University.

Youth, brilliance in research and an interest in the academic life will be the faculty rule when Simon Fraser opens its doors to 2,000 students here in September.

It is striking out with aplomb, based on carefully reasoned innovations in instruction and administration, and on its ability to attract exceptional men. For 120 initial faculty positions Simon Fraser received more than 3,000 applications.

"This is the most exciting thing that has happened in Canadian education in two generations," says one department head.

"No one has ever started in this way.

EXPERT PLANNER HIRED

"Normally, for one reason or another, new universities have to make do with mediocre staff to start with. Before you know it these men are deans and department heads and it takes you 25 years to attract any competent ones."

Directing academic planning is linguistics specialist Ronald J. Baker, 35, who helped to prepare and write the Macdonald report on higher education.

The provincial government drew plans for Simon Fraser out of the needs forecast by the report, and Prof. Baker was hired away from the University of B.C., where he had been an associate professor of English.

He says setting up a new university is "the chance of a lifetime—some people would say the chance of a thousand years."

"We started with some fairly firm ideas and we've found new ideas in education, but the mixture of them is our own mix."

Simon Fraser, for instance, will abandon the September-May school year in favor of a tri-semester operation. This will keep classrooms in use continuously and allow students to take 16, 32 or 48 weeks of instruction a year. Faculty members will lecture for two semesters and get a third for research.

The average general arts course will involve five subjects per semester for eight semesters. Then a student may complete his BA in less than three years if he takes no break.

DEPART FROM TRADITION

The university's job is to complement the 15,500-student University of B.C., and relieve UBC's burden of numbers. Simon Fraser will open with only three high-enrolment faculties—arts, science and education—and make them close neighbors in a single academic quadrangle centring the 1,200-acre site that overlooks Vancouver from Burnaby Mountain.

The university will ignore the tradition of making English and another language compulsory first-year courses. But it intends to teach the spoken word to those specializing in languages and these students will be drilled with native speakers and the newest forms of electronic aids. Simon Fraser will accept athletic scholarships.

A. R. MacKinnon, 37-year-old dean of education, will make perhaps the most significant departure from standard Canadian practices.

Drawing from experience with the Harvard internship system as a visiting professor there, he will take his education students fresh from their required courses in arts and place them immediately as four-man teams in high schools, each team working under a top, experienced teacher.

These raw students will spend eight weeks teaching, planning classes and evaluating performances before returning to the campus for a reading period.

"After the initial eight weeks of teaching, if they haven't the physical, mental and emotional resources, then they can go back to arts and science," says Dean MacKinnon.

Later stages will see two-man teams assigned to vacancies in the B.C. school system. The results are promising." Technology Minister Frank Cousins told Parliament, "but not yet ready for commercial application.

The alumni brief adds that St. Boniface should be allowed to withdraw from the English-only Winnipeg metropolitan council.

Provincial grants and scholarships for the college de St. Boniface and student exchanges with Quebec supported by the federal government are requested.

French Teachers' College Wanted in Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — Three French - language organizations complain in briefs to the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism that "unjust" laws and policies threaten to wipe out Manitoba's French-speaking community of 90,000.

The briefs were to be discussed today at the commission's public hearing here.

L'Association d'Education des Canadiens-francais du Manitoba repeats its demands for French-language elementary and secondary schools and a French teachers college.

The group praises Premier Duff Roblin for his "sympathetic attitude and courtesy" toward French - Canadians, but adds that French culture could be snuffed out in Manitoba if the premier's attitude is not carried over to education laws and policies.

The brief says there has been a slight improvement in recent years in the teaching of French in public schools. It advocates official recognition of French in all provinces.

A new federal court composed of equal numbers of English- and French-speaking judges is advocated to settle disputes in the fields of bilingualism and biculturalism.

Other recommendations urge the creation of French-speaking army units, extension of the CBC French networks from coast to coast, federal grants to associations representing cultural minorities, federal university scholarships and the posting of bilingual senior federal employees in bilingual areas.

CRITICIZES PRESS

The association accuses English - language newspapers of printing only unfavorable articles from Quebec. It calls for a federal press service that would distribute articles about both language groups to promote better understanding.

L'Association des Instituteurs de langue francaise du Manitoba, grouping 575 French-speaking teachers, calls for a French teachers college and use of French textbooks and examinations by French-speaking students.

It also recommends the establishment of a federal department of culture and a French-speaking education committee in the Manitoba education department.

"Confederation is really nothing but a bad joke if people persist in trying to confine the French language and culture to Quebec," the teachers add.

L'Association des anciens eleves du college de St. Boniface, representing 1,500 alumni, says 20 to 30 per cent of the college's graduates are moving to Quebec because their culture is stifled in Manitoba. Another trend was accelerating assimilation of those French - Canadians who stayed in the West.

Halloway

HALLOWAY — At the Sunday morning service, the minister of Halloway United Church, the Rev. Robert O. Reid, performed the sacrament of baptism for two children, Jeffrey Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Robson, and Donald Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Wellman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMullen were guests at the recent McMaster - Devolin wedding at Hazard's United Church.

Stephen Hough attended the weekend Hi C conference at Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Emerson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Emerson, Belleville, and attended the baptism of their granddaughter, Kerri Lynn Emerson at College Hill United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McMullen and Steven, of Belleville, and Miss Jean McMullen of Scarborough spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMullen.

A DEDICATED LOT — Students at the National Ballet School in Toronto are dedicated to the grind of becoming ballet dancers. Garry Seminiuk (left), 14, of Kamloops, B.C., says simply "I just want to be a dancer. As good as I can." Heather Farquharson (right), 10, of Calgary, shares Garry's opinion that it is best to associate full-time with people who share an interest in ballet. Each year, several students go directly into professional company. (CP Photo)

It's a 'Rigorous World For Ballet Beginners

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP) — A ballet dancer's training must start young and it must be rigorous.

That's what 88 boys and girls from across Canada are discovering at the National Ballet School in Toronto. They range in age from 10 through their teens.

For the 43 of them who are residential students, the experience is new in a number of ways.

They live, about four to a room, in two converted houses in mid - town Toronto. All of their days, which are long, centre on ballet training and related subjects, but they also cover the Grade 5 to Grade 10 courses set by the Ontario department of education. Their classroom days are longer than the working days of many adults and in the evening they do the same homework as other school children.

Even some of their extra-curricular activity is geared to giving the embryo ballet dancers as rich a background as possible. Volunteers from the Junior League of Toronto, who also supervise homework sessions, take students to art galleries, museums, libraries, events like the Royal Winter Fair and places like the airport.

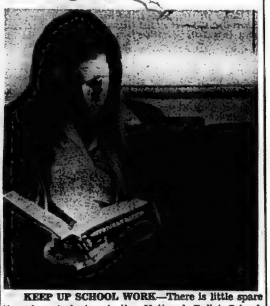
WANTS TO DANCE

Mrs. K. G. R. Gwynne-Timothy, chairman of the league project, describes the excursions as educational entertainment.

All the students audition for their places in the school, but the amount of ballet training they have had varies. In many cases, training or not, they have never seen a live ballet before they come to Toronto.

How sure are they that this is what they want? How do they react to the concentrated, specialized regime?

A 14-year-old from Kamloops, B.C., Garry Seminiuk, says simply:



"I just want to be a dancer. As good as I can." In his first year, Garry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Metro Seminiuk, and a former B.C. diving champion in his age group.

Dianne Buxton, a blonde 14-year - old from Fredericton, knows she wants to teach ballet. Daughter of Major and Mrs. David Buxton, Dianne has lived in several parts of Canada. She says she thinks she might like to teach in an area where there is little ballet training available, but she would like to teach people who want to be dancers. In her second year at the school, Dianne is convinced enough of her ambition to have spent a summer session there last year.

SHARE SAME INTEREST

Both Dianne and Garry are in classes from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or later every week-day and several hours on Saturday. Neither had seen ballet before they came to the school and both say their parents are interested strictly as spectators.

Garry says he found the schedule tiring at first.

KEEP UP SCHOOL WORK.—There is little spare time for students at the National Ballet School. Living and dancing in two converted houses in mid-town Toronto, they are in class from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and do normal school studies at night. Dianne Buston, 14, of Fredericton, curls up with a school book in a quiet moment. (CP Photo)

"At the beginning I found it kind of hard." But you get used to it."

He and small, dark - haired Heather Farquharson, 10, had the same answer to what they liked best about the school. Heather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Farquharson of Calgary, said:

"When I was at home I used to think about my ballet class and tell my friends. But they weren't really interested."

Garry said: "Lots of my friends didn't understand ballet, but we share the interest here. We are like our own little community."

The adults who run the school, which was started six years ago, say they are pleased at the way the students adapt to its life.

MUST START YOUNG

Director Betty Oliphant says: "I don't think there are any problems in adjusting at all because they are doing something they love.

"Whether to send a child here is a big thing for parents to have to decide. You either do it young enough or you have thrown away the chance of being a top dancer."

The students make few, if any, professional appearances during their time at the school, except occasionally to augment the National Ballet corps on a large stage. But each year has seen several of them go directly into the company.

Others have become ballet teachers, or gone on to study other areas in the field—one graduate is an apprentice in the wardrobe department, learning to make ballet costumes. Some have gone to other ballet schools for more training, while some have left the field, often to go to college.

The school is incorporated as a non-profit organization. Its money comes from fees, many of them paid by scholarship donors. It comes from individual donors and groups such as the Junior League which gave the school about $19,000 to help refurbish and furnish one of its residences. In 1964 the Canada Council gave the school a grant of $10,000 for use for living salaries and audition tours.

Mrs. E. G. Sterndale-Bennett, assistant to the director, says that every year there are more applications than can be accepted.

Although the Alemite Field resembles a choice "back-fifty" that has been face-lifted for next year's crop of agricultural produce, don't let the nice newly plowed soil mislead you.

It is part of the plans of the Recreation and Parks Department to completely renovate the field that has long been a playing locale in the sports history of the city.

Some years ago the Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corporation in a generous gesture turned over the field to the city for a period of fifty years at a dollar a year rental.

The main proviso of the covenant was that the field be used as a sports location for use by city organizations. Any varying from this would result in a return of the property.

The field when finished, and it is expected to be ready for play July first, will be one of the best of its kind in this part of Ontario.

Highlights of the plans that should bring the appreciation of city sports organizations are the field will be completely fenced-in and lighted. Tenders for this work have been called.

To date the field has been plowed and disced, levels taken and all top soil scraped and stock-piled. There will be a parking area, new back stop, and the entire field will be seeded in the fall.

Bleachers along McDonald Avenue and Pine Street will be installed. The distance from the home plate to centre field is 250 feet.

The Recreation Department with the co-operation of the Belleville Public School Board will instal additional backstops in Sir Winston Churchill, Queen Elizabeth and Prince Charles playgrounds with new ones ordered for South Foster Avenue, East End of Belleville and King George School.

It is stated that existing backstops will undergo full repairs and all ball diamonds brought up to excellent condition.

On other city sports fronts the Recreation Commission with the District High School Board will install new fencing at each end of the tennis court of St. Andrew's Church.

At Parkdale Park additional new playground equipment will be installed for the growing number of youngsters in the area with the possibility of a wading pool.

As was noted the Fair Grounds track has been resurfaced with rock dust. New culverts have been installed. The ball rail has been completely replaced and the guard rail around the track repaired. Extensive repairs have been made to the grandstand, a new backstop installed which can be taken down in minutes.

Frasier Park in front of the International Hardwar Company, Coleman Street, will be completely renovated with a definite parking area and wooden barricades for the present picnic area.

Limited work has been done on Zwick's Island, pending the report of the City Centennial Committee.

On the other side of the sports picture Recreation director "Red" Ryan tells us that athletic equipment has been received from Merv Mackenzie of the Department of Labor for the organization of a city track and field team on the junior level. Assistant recreation director Vern Carter has been named chairman of the district on a national basis with the Amateur Athletic Union.

Mr. Carter will coach a city team which has been entered in the speed swimming meet scheduled for Peterborough in August. He will also officiate at the international track and field meet slated for Varsity Stadium on June 10th.

Western Horse Body Holds Show Sunday

The Quinte Western Horse Association will hold its annual field day at Trenton's Bain Memorial Park this coming holiday weekend.

Over 100 horses will be competing in the big event, beginning at 12.30 Sunday afternoon.

Bain Memorial Park is located between Trenton and the RCAF Station, on Highway No. 2. Silver collection will be taken at the gate.

There will be a trophy for the horse compiling the most points during the various events, plus ribbons for the first, second, third and fourth finishers in each class.

The full program of events will include: trail horse, western equitation (senior), western equitation (junior), western pleasure (elimination), open pony pleasure, English pleasure, potato race, English equitation, pony express race, reining class, parade class, (open), egg contest, flag race, barrel race, saddle up race, pole bending pick up race.

Some of the horses competing were raised and trained in the states of Texas, Kentucky and Oklahoma.

Should the show be rained out, it will be held on the following Sunday.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Gildings, owned by Sol Wagman of Toronto, won his first race in 11 starts, capturing the featured seventh race at Greenwood Raceway Tuesday.

Making his first start in Ontario after spending the winter and early spring in handicap and allowance races in Maryland, Dr. Giddings covered the mile in 1.39¾, two seconds off the track record.

He lateved $3, $2.60, and $2.80 in bringing his lifetime earnings to $113,335 and established himself as the favorite in Monday's $10,000 added Sweetbrier Stakes here.

The big horse is a rarity in racing. He's sound as a dollar despite 87 starts during his lifetime, but has only finished first 12 times, including Tuesday's affair.

The quinella of Peacock Pike and Famous Road in the fifth returned $59, while Broken Needle and El Aref combined for a daily double payoff of $119.30.

Fireman Fisher Helps Sox Up Ladder

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Fisher is saving everything these days except Hoyt Wilhelm's job.

Fisher, who quickly became one of the American League's best relief pitchers, appeared in another game Tuesday night and helped Chicago White Sox extend their winning streak to nine with a 5-4 triumph over Kansas City Athletics.

The right-hander is one of the major reasons why the White Sox have saved 4½ games in front of the rest of the league with only one-fifth of the season completed.

He has relieved in 11 games, winning two and receiving credit for saving 10. During Chicago's current streak, Fisher has been called to the rescue in six games, preserving the victory each time.

And he's been doing the job primarily with a knuckleball he polished with the aid of Wilhelm, 41, the master of the eva-sive pitch.

As a result of Fisher's aptitude for learning, Wilhelm—who appeared in 73 games with Chicago last year—has spent most of his time watching his prodigy on the mound, having been called on only six times.

Fisher's latest save came after the Athletics had cut Chicago's lead to 5-4 with a run in the ninth inning. Fisher replaced starter Tommy John and ended the game by retiring pinch-hitter Rene Lachemann on a pop fly.

Elsewhere in the AL, another relief pitcher, Boston's Dick Radatz, didn't come through as successs. Radatz, having a surprisingly difficult time this season, was the losing pitcher in New York Yankees' 12-inning, 4-3 victory over the Red Sox.

In other games, Minnesota Twins edged Baltimore Orioles 1-0, Los Angeles Angels trimmed Minnesota Twins 3-2 and Washington Senators outslugged Detroit Tigers 15-8.

The White Sox scored all of their runs in the fifth inning with the help of three straight walks by Pete Ward, Al Weis and Moe Drabowsky's wild pitch. Ron Hansen capped the rally with a two-run single.

The Yankees, held hitless for six innings by Dave Morehead, erupted for two runs and a 3-3 tie in the ninth before Tom Tresh's two-run triple in the 12th sent Radatz' earned run average to 7.27 and his record to 2-3.

Fred Whitfield singled across Joe Azcue in the sixth inning for the Indians' winning run. Jack Krallick retired 13 Orioles at one stretch but had to leave after seven innings when he broke a blister on his pitching hand.

The Angels exploded for three runs in the eighth inning. Joe Adcock drove in the winning pair with a double.

Frank Howard smashed a grand-slam home run during a seven-run fifth inning sparking Washington's spanking of the Tigers. Willie Horton drove in four Senator runs with a homer and a single while Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe homered for Detroit.

MUST SHAVE IT OFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight Rubin Carter has been ordered to shave off his mustache for his fight with Nigerian's Dick Tiger at Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

The ruling was made Tuesday by Frank Morris, chief deputy of the New York State Athletic Commission, after examining the Tiger's handlers. Tiger said he had been told by a recent Carter knockout victim, that Carter uses the moustache as a weapon in clinches.

Lightfoots Defeat Flyers

The defending champions Lightfoot Construction opened the 1965 Commercial Softball League season with a 7-3 triumph over RCAF at Prince Charles School last night.

Lightfoots took a 5-0 lead in the first but faelled to hold it when RCAF pulled another trio in the fifth second. Pairs in the third and sixth provided the winners' victory spread.

Joe Clapp pitched the victory, a three-hit performance, while striking out two and walking one.

Thompson was the RCAF loser before giving way to Phillips in the sixth inning. Thompson had one strikeout and one walk. They allowed eight hits in all.

Joe Clapp paced the Lightfoot batters, clouting a brace of doubles and a single, aided by Don Goodfellow's one of each. Don Wood and Don Smith each contributed a double and Doug Ross had two hits for the base knock.

RCAF base hits were shared by Knockwood, Lucas and Thompson.

The losers committed only two errors while Lightfoots were charged with five.

In today's scheduled action, Stewart Warner and Ter-Haar play at Prince Charles while Lightfoots visit Point Anne.

RCAF	030 000 0—3	3	2
Light foots	302 002 x—7	8	5

Batteries — Thompson, Phillips (6) and Mercer, Campbell (6); J. Harvey and D. Wood.

Will Willie Slump?

CHICAGO (AP)—Willie Mays is ripping National League pitching at a .400-plus clip but both he and San Francisco Giants are holding their breath in anticipation of a slump.

As great as the Say Hey kid is, in recent years he has run into periods of drought, a not uncommon occurrence for an older player. Willie is 34.

Last season Mays had a similar start but finished the year with a .296 average, hitting 47 home runs and driving in 111.

Currently, Mays is hitting .403 with 14 home runs and 29 RBI. Somewhere along the line Willie is going to get tired and he knows it.

The question was put to him why he doesn't try a time-table, for example, playing 35 games and resting for five.

After thinking it over, Willie said, "Nope, it would never work."

"I need a rest and nobody knows it more than I do," said Mays. "But a layoff of five games might mean not playing for up to six days.

"I'd be afraid I might get rusty, out of the groove or even put on weight. Then, too, you have to think about the team. Somebody might fill in for me a day or two but not for five games.

"I know when I get tired now, all I need is a day or two. If I need only do that, everything would be fine."

Outplaying the opposition in every department, Bloomfield defeated Ellis Juniors 11-3 here last night as the Belleville and District Softball League opened its 1965 schedule.

Bloomfield scored early and often to lead all the way before a slim crowd at the Fairgrounds. The winners outhit the Junior 12-7 and played errorless ball behind Ken DeMille's steady pitching chore.

DeMille visits Bloomfield and Stirling goes to Trenton in tonight's scheduled action.

Putting singles in the first and fourth, Bloomfield upped the lead to 5-0 with three in the third, notching two in the fifth, one in the sixth and three in the ninth.

Ellis' finally hit the scoreboard with two in the sixth and another in the eighth.

The lengthy game ended on a sour note when plate umpire Mike Whalen objected to remarks from the visitors' bench in the bottom of the ninth. He ejected Bob Moon, followed quickly by Jim Muirhead and coach Harold Reid. Minutes later Bob Boyle, pinch hitting, also got the boome after a called second strike.

DeMille let the loop's defending champs down on seven hits, five of them coming in the last four frames. He struck out eight and issued a single baseon-balls.

Bob Ethier went the route in defeat, striking out seven but walking the same number, while six miscues failed to help.

Ethier walked the first man he faced and the runner scored on Ostrander's two-out single. Yorke and Guernsey had singles before Lockwood's double made it 2-0. A walk and twin outfield errors plus a passed ball netted the next three. Walks, Yorke's hit, a wild pitch and an error made it 6-0 and Ostrander slammed a solid homer for a 9-0 count.

Gardiner's infield safety, Boomhower's double and infield outs by Moon and Muirhead got the first Junior pair. Gardiner doubled and scored on Moon's ground-out in the 8th.

Another walk, Lockwood's triple, St. Denis' hit and a bobble completed the route in the ninth.

Warren Ostrander rapped a homer and two singles to spark the Bloomfield attack, with Dave Lockwood adding a triple and double, Gene Yorke two singles, Lee St. Denis, Doug McMorris, Keith Stacey, Ken DeMille and Jim Guernsey also hit safely.

Don Gardiner had a double and single, Jim Rutherford a triple, Carl Boomhower a double, Bob Ethier, Mike Chatland and Stu Muirhead a single each, foe Ellis Juniors.

Liston Impressive
Cassius Declared Fit For Fight

LEWISTON, Me. (AP)—Doctors say heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is fit and ready for his May 25 title fight with Sonny Liston. The challenger relied on steaks to show he is ready to win back the crown he lost last year.

A Maine Boxing Commission doctor went to Chicago, Mass., Tuesday to give Clay his pre-fight physical. Dr. Lee Lemaire of Westbrook made the not-of-state trip so as not to interrupt Clay's training routine in the final week.

Clay weighed 211 pounds and promptly said he would remain there for the bout. The champion exercised and did some road work but he didn't spar Tuesday.

Liston sparred six rounds with three partners at Toland Spring, putting on an impressive show for a standing room crowd that included three former champions—Joe Louis, Jim Braddock and Jersey Joe Walcott.

All three thought The Bear, as Clay calls Liston, looked good—but no one offered any predictions on the outcome of the bout.

Huge Salmon Just Misses World Mark

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) A land-locked salmon measuring 32 inches, one inch off the world's record, was landed from a Charlotte County lake this week by Ralph Dunham of Brown's Flat, N.B.

Mr. Dunham said he used a 10-pound test line to boat the 12-pound fish after a battle of more than an hour.

The world's record for land-locked salmon was established at Sebago Lake, Me., in 1907. It weighed 23 pounds, eight ounces and was 36 inches long.

Tradeaus Whip Stirling

STIRLING (Special) — A 12-hit attack and the 17-strikeout pitching of veteran Bobby Green led Belleville Tradeaus Motors to a 6-3 Belleville and District Softball League win over Stirling here last night.

Tradeaus make their first long once in the first, three times in the third and once each in the seventh and ninth frames.

The inexperienced Stirling boys plated both their runs in the eighth inning, too late and too little.

Tradeaus's make their first home start, at the Belleville Fairgrounds against Trenton on Thursday night. Game time is eight o'clock.

Bobby Green struck out 17 batters and walked four on the winners' hilltop. He gave way to rookie Ken Osborne in the eighth inning. He fanned none and walked one. They let Stirling down on five hits in all.

Dave Rolls started and lost for Stirling, replaced by Howard Jeffs in the sixth and Bobby Hunter in the seventh. Both whiffed two and passed three, Jeffs fanned four and walked none and Hunter struck out the side in the ninth. Five errors hurt their cause.

In the Tradeau third, a four base error on Locke's misjudged fly led off the inning and made it 2-0. Wannamaker and Zakos followed with back-to-back singles, Meeker also hit safely to fill the bases. Keller's ground ball to short was booted for a two-run miscue and a 4-0 score.

Green had little trouble while piling up his strikeouts, getting six in succession in the sixth and seventh innings. He got good support, with only one error charged to Tradeaus.

Newcomer Tom Meeker made his debut a impressive one on Tradeaus behalf, slamming four singles in five trips to the plate.

Larry Mavety banged a double and single, Rick Locke and Paul Zakos two singles apiece, Gary Duggan a double, Bob Wannamaker and Pete Wasten a single each.

Howard Foxhay had a good night in defeat with three singles in four attempts. B. Noble and Doug Irwin added the other base hits.

No-Hit Jinx Haunts Astro Pitcher

Misses Second Time

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles Dodgers are building a reputation as late-inning terrors. That's when they break up no-hitters.

But the light-hitting Dodgers probably gained a better chance of holding the National League lead than Houston's Don Johnson does of breaking even on no-hit decisions.

Johnson, who lost a no-hitter last year, came within eight outs of winning one indoors Tuesday night. He wound up with a ninth-inning showers and a 4-1, three-hit triumph over Los Angeles that ended a seven-game Astro spin.

The victory in Houston's domed stadium was the third against one loss for the veteran right-hander, who pitched a no-hit gem against Cincinnati last season but bowed 1-0 on errors.

The near no-hitter was the second against the Dodgers in four days. Dick Ellsworth of Chicago Cubs stymied them for 7 1-3 innings last Saturday only to lose 3-1 on a three-run homer by pinch-hitter Al Ferrar.

The loss trimmed the Dodgers' league lead to 3½ games over Cincinnati Reds, whose game with Pittsburgh Pirates was rained out. St. Louis Cardinals drubbed Philadelphia Phillies 8-2 behind left-hander Ray Sadecki, Milwaukee Braves slipped New York Mets 4-3 and Chicago Cubs downed San Francisco Giants 7-4 in a game halted after 7½ innings because of darkness and rain.

Ron Fairly doubled with one out in the seventh, ending Johnson's no-hit bid at Houston, and scored the Dodgers' run on a single by Jim Lefebvre. Johnson gave way to Hal Woodeshick after walking Fairly with one out in the sixth.

Sadecki gave up fourth-inning home runs to Richie Allen and Alex Johnson but allowed only three other hits while winning his first game in five decisions. It was the first complete game for the St. Louis southpaw, a 20-game winner in 1964 who had been knocked out twice in the first inning this spring.

Home runs by Bill White and Tim McCarver paced the Cardinals' 11-hit attack.

Milwaukee's Rico Carty, heavily corseted to protect an aching back, belted a two-run homer in the second inning then singled and scored another run in the fourth, leading the Braves past the Mets.

The Cubs rallied twice after Willie Mays' 14th homer had helped the Giants to an early 4-0 lead and moved in front to stay on Don Landrum's two-run double in the third.

Oddfellows Honor Coach Floyd Crawford

Members of the Oddfellows hockey team, this city's OMHA representatives, honored their coach, Floyd Crawford, over the weekend.

The team players surprised Crawford by presenting him with a trophy, "in appreciation for everything you have done for us this past winter."

Team captain David House presented the trophy. Other players on hand for the presentation included Bernie Howe, Ted Walke, Alan Jones, Chuck Powell, Don Blaisd, Bill Jamieson and Bill Royes.

Here's How, Says Louis

Liston Can Catch Cassius

(Editor's Note: This is another article in a series by Joe Louis analyzing the Cassius Clay - Sonny Liston championship match.)

By JOE LOUIS

From the day after my first fight with Max Schmeling there wasn't any question how I would fight him in a return. Jack Blackburn decided it. And, though two years went by, I fought him that way — strictly to destroy, without wasting a second. You'll remember it was all over in 2:04 of the first round.

Sonny Liston has a man like old Jack in his camp, Willie Reddish, who was fighting heavyweighs in my time. He comes from Philadelphia, where Blackburn was a terror in his own fighting days and where there are more smart fighters than in a dozen other towns.

I don't think anybody who knows will disagree with me when I predict Reddish will send Sonny out to take Clay apart. Not to just throw a few knockout but to get the pressure on right away and to keep it on until something gives.

Let's face it, back at Miami Beach Liston started like he had all night. If you remember, he was trying to reach Clay with a left jab. Now that was being overconfident or plain silly — and even the people who don't like Sonny personally wouldn't call him anything but smart in his own way.

To get down to facts, I figure this as the one fight in which Liston isn't going to do much jabbing. He and Willie found out that you don't try a straight left on a tall, fast moving young fella who uses the ring.

I figure Sonny will be punching with left hooks and right crosses. All from close up and either digging up on the hooks or putting them together, left-right-left. This kind of punching, with Liston's power, has got to hurt his man . . . and most fighters who are hurt don't take long to finish off.

Now I expect people will say: "How is he going to do this if Clay stays on the move?" But there's an answer. The oldest gimmick in boxing is the cut-off and you don't have to be as fast as your opponent to work it. I never held any records for 100 yards, yet I worked it.

Like it sounds, the cut-off is stepping in and keeping your man from sliding out of your range. It's meant for situations when the both of you are only a few feet from the ropes and not too far from a corner. Once you get him in there, he should belong to you.

When I say belong to you, I mean that you are in position to work him over on the inside. And the body is the place to work which nobody's got a real defence. What Blackburn used to say had been said before me. I think he told me he got it from Sam Langford but that's still true. "Kill the body and the head will die."

Nowadays everybody looks back on Liston's knockout record before Clay, including those two knockouts of Floyd Patterson, and says: "Then he was hitting on the chin. When he couldn't get to Clay's chin, he was through." But let me remind you Sonny wrecked those guys inside before he finished them outside.

Let's talk about Patterson for a minute. You saw him only last winter against George Chuvalo in the Garden, and the only time he looked like he was going to blow it was when Chuvalo hurt him in the body. He took the chin punches pretty good . . . and Chuvalo can punch.

I'm living in Denver now, and I went over to watch some of Liston's workouts before he came east this trip. This was early boxing but he was using a rough sparring partner, Amos Lincoln, who's bigger and stronger and I saw him slam Lincoln around on the inside like he was a middleweight. Sonny was really caving him in. A couple of times he pulled up so as not to lose a good sparring partner. I aim to get another look at him this week.

But, as of now, I can only say he knows — and Reddish knows—the name of the game, the only one which can give him back his pride. Whether he can deliver is up to him. I know that when I had to, I did.

The Trots

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Harold McKinley raced his trotters to victories in the trotting double and quinuella events at Mohawk Raceway Monday night.

Mac McKinley won the second race with Armbro Flicka to complete the $15.80 double. Al-Walker drove Phyllis Marie to victory in the first race. The owner combined in the sixth race to pay $26.80 in the quinella.

Mac McKinley guided Late Frost to the win. Palmer came second with Rocket Irving. A total of 3,118 persons attended.

WINS TITLE

NAGOYA, Japan (AP) — Yoshiko (Fighting) Harada of Japan won the world bantamweight boxing title from previously undefeated Eder Jofra of Brazil in a 15-round split decision Tuesday night. The 22-year-old Japanese fighter piled up points with an early attack and Jofra on the verge of a knockout in the fourth round.

Jim Dunn Rejoins Larks

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes announced Tuesday that Jimmy Dunn, who served with the club during its happier days of the mid-1950s, has rejoined the coaching staff as assistant to head coach Jim Trimble.

Dunn, a native of Kennebunkport, Me., has served with various teams since he left the Als in 1960. Last season he was with Toronto Argonauts as an assistant to Nobby Wirkowski.

Dunn was backfield assistant to Douglas Clyde (Peahead) Walker from 1952 until Walker was fired by the Als at the close of the 1960 season.

When Dunn left the Alouettes along with Walker, he sat out the 1961 season. In 1962 he was assistant to the late Steve Owen with Saskatchewan Roughriders. Owen was fired and Dunn went with him in 1963 to Syracuse of the United Football League.

Coach Trimble has not yet announced definite plans for Dunn, who is to report June 1. It is probable that Dunn will be given full charge of the backs, both offensive and defensive.

Suggest Change In Series

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP) — A suggestion that the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League champions be given a bye into the Memorial Cup final will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in Victoria this weekend.

Some observers feel this will set the stage for development of a new "major" series involving eastern and western teams, association secretary - manager Gordon Juckes said Tuesday.

The meeting also will consider the junior age limit. The National Hockey League has asked that the association consider limiting juniors to under age 19 as of May 31, but others feel the limit should be under 20 as of Dec. 31, Juckes said.

Present rules say players must be under 20 on May 31.

The OHA has asked that the Northern Ontario Hockey Association become a separate member of the national body.

Committee meetings start Saturday. The annual meeting opens Monday.

PLAYING OFF HARDPAN

A most difficult shot for the average golfer occurs when his ball rests on bare, hard ground.

Many players fear that they will not be able to make this shot rise off the ground. Therefore, they make the mistake of trying to scoop it up by changing the backward arc of the ball. Usually they hit behind the ball instead, and the clubhead bounces into the side of the ball, dribbling it along the ground.

Instead, the golfer must make certain that the club strikes the ball before contacting the ground. It must meet the ball just before it reaches the lowest part of its arc.

To insure contacting the ball first on this shot, I play the ball back a little farther than normal in my stance. If the hands lead the clubhead into the ball as they should (see illustration), such positioning will help you avoid the clubhead's cutting behind the ball.

Don't worry about the ball rising. Your club's loft will take care of that automatically.

Indians Rehire Tebbetts

CLEVELAND (CP) —Cleveland Indians rehired Bernie Tebbetts Tuesday to manage the American League baseball club through the 1965 season.

Gabe Paul, Indians general manager, said in a press conference he "wanted to give additional security" to the 53-year-old Tebbetts, sidelined most of last season by a heart attack.

At the end of the current season, Tebbetts will complete the third year of an original contract he signed when he joined the Indians in 1963.

No salary was disclosed, but Tebbetts will get around $40,000.

Noting there isn't much security in managing a major league club, Paul said:

"I believe that giving him as much security as possible is helpful for both him and the players.

"I certainly think that extending the contract indicates the faith we have in Birdie as manager."

Crackers Shut Out, Leafs Lose

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The two leading teams in the International League couldn't buy a run between them Tuesday night but each had the satisfaction of chasing the starting pitcher who was frustrating them.

Jack Brewmeau of Toledo Mud Hens banded the league-leading Atlanta Crackers their first shutout of the year, scattering eight hits in recording a 1-0 victory. But he departed hurriedly in the ninth inning when his wild pitch put a man on third with only one out and Jim Horsford finished up.

Tom Phoebus set down 14 Toronto Maple Leafs on strikeouts but was in and out of trouble all the way as Rochester Red Wings downed the second-placers 4-0.

Gaels Win Second In Row

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The name of Davis is fast becoming an institution in lacrosse.

And it's all due to the scoring prowess of brothers Terry and John, formerly of Peterborough.

Terry was the 1953 Ontario Lacrosse Association Junior A scoring champion with Whitby, and last year won the western Canada senior championship with Nanaimo, B.C.

John, captain of the defending Minto Cup champion Oshawa Green Gaels of the OLA Junior A series, has won the circuit's scoring championship three times, including that of last season.

And John, who has spent seven years in the junior circuit, has a good start after two games this season with eight goals.

"The First 200" Newfoundland Sent First Commonwealth WW 1 Unit

By DAVE BUTLER

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The British press called them "hardy fisherfolk," but the first 200 Newfoundlanders to go to the aid of Britain in the Second World War were really a cross-section of the population of her oldest colony.

They enlisted in response to a personal request by Winston Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty, who wanted Newfoundlanders to man the small boarding boats of the Royal Navy.

Churchill had written to the first sea lord in September, 1939, asking for Newfoundland fishermen because "these men are the hardiest and most skilful boatmen in rough seas who exist." Many of the young Newfoundlanders inspired by these words had little conception of the ways of the sea.

Except for a small advance party of Canadian Army personnel, sent to England to prepare for the arrival of the 1st Canadian Division, the young Newfoundlanders were the vanguard of Commonwealth troops to go overseas.

The "first draft" or "first 200," as they came to be known here, went with no uniforms and with only three weeks of formal training.

On the foggy morning of Nov. 27, 1939, they boarded the passenger ship Newfoundland. The next three weeks were probably the biggest holiday they had experienced. The liner was still fitted with peacetime luxury facilities and accommodated two men in each spacious cabin. This was five years before they saw the rugged shores of Newfoundland again, and 21 never returned.

Having lost two men, one to illness before embarking and another in his mother who reported he had lied about his age, 198 Newfoundlanders arrived in Liverpool Dec. 15, 1939.

There they met two more men from home, Michael F. Power and Everett Brown, both 18 and both from St. John's. They had tired of waiting for the draft to leave and had worked their way overseas, arriving just in time to meet their comrades.

Mr. Power now is a chiropractor in St. John's and Mr. Brown is with the federal fisheries department at Ramea, Nfld.

Britain was in desperate need of seamen to man the ships being hurriedly reactivated and within four weeks all the Newfoundlanders had been assigned to ships.

Among ships they served in were the Caliconia, Worcestershire, Transylvania, Scotstoun, Andania, Cheshire, Astoria and Chitral.

These armed merchant cruisers had one thing in common—they were little match for the warships of the German navy.

All had basically the same armament. On each side were four six-inch guns and in the belly of the ship were tons of flak, flare and armor-piercing shells. Sterns were piled high with depth charges.

The Newfoundlanders were assigned almost wholly to manning the small boats that carried boarding parties.

In the early months of the war the Newfoundlanders were on northern patrol in the Atlantic stopping and boarding German ships. Many German captains preferred to scuttle their ships, however, and in most cases the Newfoundlanders would row through heavy seas to board them in a futile attempt to save them.

The Newfoundlanders' ships later operated out of Scapa Flow and Liverpool and served on convoy duty in the Atlantic.

In May, 1941, one of the men took a picture of the battle cruiser Hood as she lay at anchor in an Iceland Fiord. Several days later word was received she had been sunk by the German battleship Bismarck.

Within hours the California was prowling the North Atlantic with other ships searching for the gigantic Bismarck. W. R. Dawe Jr., now president of the First 200 World War Two Association, says he wonders "what in hell we would have done about her if we had found her."

But the problem didn't arise. British warships and carrier aircraft engaged in an intensive hunt which ended with the sinking of the Bismarck two days after the loss of the Hood.

The Newfoundlanders were determined to stay together as long as possible but as the war progressed they were absorbed into almost every section of the Royal Navy. Many contacts were lost but there were exceptions.

In early November, 1939, the four Puddestar brothers—Sandy, Tom, Fred and Willis—left their home at Western Bay, an inlet of Conception Bay, and went to St. John's to enlist. After arrival in England they managed to get assigned to the same boarding boat aboard Worcestershire. They were reassigned several times but managed to stay together and, after the war, came home together.

Today Sandy is a bartender in the St. John's Veterans' Club and Tom works for the federal fisheries department here. Fred lives in Glasgow and Willis in Waterboro, Miss.

Of the 198 who returned after the war, 31 were disabled and 13 have died since. A number were decorated or mentioned in dispatches.

Edward Lloyd Snow of Bay Roberts, now living in Ontario, received the British Empire Medal, and Frederick Spencer, who died here after the war, had Distinguished Service Medal.

Mentioned in dispatches were Henry George Squires of St. Phillips after he was killed in the sinking of Scotstoun June 13, 1940, James T. Moore, now a merchant in Avondale, and Leo Power, an electrician in St. John's.

For at least one of the men, coming home from the war was a bit of a happy experience. Leo Ezekiel, who left the iron mines of Bell Island, was accepted for service despite a thumb missing on his right hand. Though he served throughout the war as an able seaman, he was not permitted to return to work in the mines because of the disability and, except for brief periods, had been out of work ever since, still living on the island at $3.

After the war Leslie Barrett, one of the "first 200," was made captain of the CNR's new coastal vessel Tavernor. This held special nostalgia for him because Tavernor was named after Capt. Ben Tavernor, captain of Caribou, the ferry sunk in Cabot Strait by a German torpedo in 1942, and Mr. Barrett's father. Israel had been a member of the Caribou crew.

WON'T RETURN TO NHL

ANGELHOLM, Sweden (AP) Swedish forward Ulf Sterner, who played for New York Rangers last season, will not return to the National Hockey League this fall. A second-division team, Rogle B K, in southern Sweden, announced Tuesday that Ulf Canadian coach, Des Morrow, has contracted both Ulf and his brother, Ove. Formal contracts will be signed June 1, a club spokesman said.

RESTRICT ENTRIES

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Golf Association has accepted a recommendation from Pat Fletcher, president of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association, to restrict entries in the Ontario Open this year to members of the PGA of their own country. The ruling will prevent Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., from entering. Horvath has never been a member of the Canadian PGA.

Ford Buying Office Will Be Switched

TORONTO (CP)—Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. announced Tuesday that it will switch much of its purchasing function from Oakville to the head office of its parent company in Dearborn, Mich.

A letter signed by D. F. Moore, director of purchasing, was mailed Monday to the 2,800 Canadian companies supplying Ford of Canada. The letter informed them that effective immediately purchasing of production parts for the assembly plant at Oakville and the engine plant at Windsor would be done in Dearborn.

Purchasing will continue at Oakville for service parts and accessories, sales and advertising materials, maintenance, repair and operating supplies.

Facilities for purchasing the same items will be established for the Windsor plant.

Personnel in the Canadian purchasing division will be offered a chance to move to Michigan. A company spokesman said Tuesday that about one-third of the purchasing staff of 125 have indicated they wish to move.

Fisherman-hunter Given Chance to Get White Whale

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—A fisherman-hunter with a fancy for more adventure might find it this summer in a canoe, trying to harpoon a white whale in Hudson Bay.

It's a brand new sporting venture in Canada, though the prescribed method of the hunt is not unlike the storied exploits of the ocean whalers of earlier times.

White whales—better known as belugas—are small by whale standards, about 10 feet long and upwards of 800 pounds.

Sport licences are to be issued for the first time this year, permitting each holder to take two belugas between the nearly mouth of the Churchill River and the estuary of Seal River, about 30 miles north of here.

Churchill, 610 miles north of Winnipeg, is connected to southern Manitoba by railway and airline, but not by road.

CNR PLANS TOURS

Canadian National Railways, which built the line to this northern port, has already prepared package tours for whale hunters.

The licence fee is $10 for residents of the immediate area. Other Canadians must pay $20 and non-Canadians $40.

There is no set season, but the best time is expected to be from July 10 to Sept. 10, when the belugas concentrate in shallow water outside the mouth of the Seal River and the Churchill River estuary.

Ebb tide lowers the water level here 12 feet, and it will be at low tide that the hunts will take place.

Already a tourist whaling guide centre has been established by a community development officer here.

Chipewyan and Cree Indians, mixed - blood Metis and Eskimos have formed a 30-man organization to handle whale hunts this summer.

In a co-operative effort involving the federal Indian affairs branch, the Manitoba resources department and the federal northern affairs department, a course for guides was drawn up and provision made for boats, motors and other whaling equipment.

QUOTA UNCHANGED

The whale kill quota in Hudson Bay is 1,300, and a federal fisheries official says no change is contemplated. There has been commercial whale hunting in the bay, and the take last year was less than half the quota.

Also on the side of maintenance of the strong whale-population is the fact that harpooning a beluga from a canoe is expected to be no snap for an inexperienced sportsman.

Canoes about 22 feet long and powered by outboard motors of 18 horsepower and more are said to be the only type of craft practical and fast enough to run down the whales in deep water. Only this type of boat could be used in the rocky river estuaries and shallow bays.

A hunter is permitted to take home 25 pounds of whale meat and the jawbone for a trophy. Regulations under the Fisheries Act require hunters to give the rest of the beguia to the guides.

Archeologist's Dream

Fraser River Yields 120 Centuries of Man

YALE, B.C. (CP) — The remains of an Indian civilization traced back continuously for 11,000 years have been discovered along the narrow terraces of the Fraser River canyon near this community 90 miles east of Vancouver.

University of British Columbia scientists consider the find an archeologist's "dream" and one of the most important in North America.

"This is one of the longest continuous sequences of human occupation yet uncovered in the western hemisphere," says Dr. Charles Borden, a UBC archeologist who spent eight years tracing the history of the Indians back 120 centuries.

Dr. Borden believes the early tribes, a nomadic people who used simple tools and moved with the advance of ice sheets, crossed the Bering Sea land bridge from Asia 40,000 years ago during an interval in the ice age.

They probably inhabited parts of Alaska and the interior of British Columbia until being forced as far south as Washington state by the advancing ice.

Dr. Borden and his team have uncovered about 23,000 artifacts at the diggings near here. One of the biggest finds was an Indian pit house village.

USED STONE UTENSILS

Although little remained of most of these large conical structures, one had burned down, leaving a structure preserved in charcoal.

Dr. Borden's team pieced together the fragments and found intricate designs in the wood and carved implements.

Crude stone implements dating back 12,000 years were found in abundance. As time passed, the Indians developed more sophisticated tools and weapons in the struggle for food.

About 3,000 years ago carved figurines and ornaments were made.

"During this same period we can see the beginnings of outside influences in the form of tools like the mortar and pestle, which came from the south, and microblades, or small cutting tools, which were a northern influence," says Dr. Borden.

There are several gaps in the 12,000-year-old story.

The first is between 10,300 and 11,000 years ago, when a glacial advance again pushed the tribes south into Washington state. The tribes left as hunters and returned as fishermen.

The second gap occurred about 3,000 years ago. For more than 1,000 years there is no sign of human occupation.

"The people who returned after this break had a far more improved culture than the people who left," says Dr. Borden, who admits he knows of no reason why they left.

Dr. Borden and his team of students still are digging. He believes the remnants of an even older civilization—perhaps 25,000 years old—are beneath the diggings so far uncovered.

Variety and Documentary Shows Well Received

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a sign so there was none of the long way between Richard the Lion-Hearted and The Girl from Ipanema, but NBC-TV covered them both neatly Tuesday night in two fine special programs. One could hardly ask for better programming variety than The Best On Record and The Middle Ages.

The Best On Record was the awards show of the recording industry. And what it lacked in the high style ball gowns, elaborate hairdos and celebrities packed audiences of the Oscar and Emmy shows, it more than made up in style and pace.

Winners of the industry's Grammy statuettes had received their awards a month ago so there was none of the envelope - opening and those tedious thank yous. The program was a gathering of some winners.

Thus we were treated to everything musical from Bach to the Beatles, with some of the more tuneful of the season's big hits in between. And there was also some pleasant comedy by people like Bill Cosby, Woody Allen and Steve Allen.

A short time later there was a perfectly delightful, meticulously researched and exquisitely filmed color program, The Middle Ages, which conveyed a good idea of life in those primitive, often brutal days that ended in 1492 when a new world was discovered.

Dull British Winter Can Be Tedious for Young Canadian Soprano Away From Fiance

By RON HOWARD

LONDON (CP)—A dull British winter can be tedious for a young Canadian soprano, especially if she is 3,500 miles away from her fiance.

"It's been a long, cold winter," mused 24-year-old Heather Thomson during an interview in a Sadler's Wells Theatre dressing room of cubby-hole proportions.

"There have been several friends I knew from back home in Canada and we've managed to visit back and forth. But I'd hate to live here for the rest of my life."

She has spent most of her time in London living in a north-end flat rented by Jean Bonhomme and his wife from Ottawa. Bonhomme is also under contract to Sadler's Wells Opera Company.

The hard - to - please British opera critics have, however, gone out of their way to make things more pleasant for the Vancouver native who is combining work and study at the famed London company.

PLEASE CRITICS

An anonymous Daily Telegraph critic termed Miss Thomson "distinguished" her Feb. 11 portrayal of Marguerite, th a seduced maiden in Gounod's "Faust." He added her part was sung "with complete artistry and it was exciting to hear such a well - produced and effortless voice take on increasing depth in the garden scene."

Philip Hope-Wallace of The Guardian agreed, calling her performance "fresh, frank and promising." Andrew Porter of The Financial Times enjoyed the willowy, auburn-haired soprano's "gentle phrasing" and "the soft warm shine of her tones."

And the future looks even brighter for the talented, brown-eyed soloist, who opened May 11 in London for two performances as Anne Trenlove in a new arrangement of Stravinsky's The Rake's Progress. The company then packs up for a three-week tour of the continent, visiting Amsterdam, Vienna and Berlin.

A holiday follows with a trip home to Vancouver where she will meet her fiance, Percy Price of Houston, Tex., for the first time since she left Canada last October. Price, 28, spent the winter as lead tenor for the Grace Rook Opera Company of North Carolina.

They have set a tentative wedding date for June 28 and to add an operatic touch to the ceremony, she is having her dress—"rather simple and made from raw silk and French lace with a medium neck and low back"—tailored by a costume mistress at Sadler's Wells.

BRIEF HONEYMOON

Shortly back in London on a brief honeymoon, Heather will go right into rehearsals as Marcellina in another new arrangement, this time of Beethoven's only opera, Fidelio.

"In November we hope to get away to Germany for auditions with several opera companies.

This, she feels, is the next step in her career which began professionally with the Canadian Opera Company three years ago.

She was approached last summer in Vancouver by Tom Hammond, assistant to the director of Sadler's Wells, who offered her a one-year contract and a further one-year option.

She also received a $1,000 Canada Council grant and has been studying here under John and Ada Dickens, who once coached famed Australian soprano Joan Sutherland.

"There's no formula for success in opera," Heather admits. "You just have to keep working hard and have the patience to wait for offers. If you're lucky, suddenly you seem to be swamped by them."

Chaplin Junior's Law

How You Succeed in Show Biz---Don't Try

By THOMAS A. REDDY

LONDON (AP)—His mother says he's a beatnik.

His father hasn't spoken to him in three years.

But he says he is free and contented.

That's Michael Chaplin, 19-year-old son of Charlie Chaplin and Oona O'Neill, and grandson of playwright Eugene O'Neill.

He ran away from his father's Swiss home three years ago rather than bow to a demand that he go to college. He chose London where his father was born and developed the talent for comedy which brought fame and fortune.

Why London?

"Oh, it's slow and grim and not in a hurry. And I just want to be a spectator," young Chaplin explained in an interview.

He's married to actress Patricia Johns and they have a baby. He wears tennis shoes, slacks and old shirts. His hair falls down around his shoulders.

TALKS LIKE POET

Lean and lanky, with a moustache and stubble of chin beard, he has the hands of a pianist. His gestures are fluid and graceful. He smokes a cigarette in a holder. His dark, brooding eyes are those of an O'Neill. His soft voice is that of a boy who could have been a poet or a musician or anything gentle. Why has he chosen this way to live?

Young Chaplin opened up a bit about it when he got into the beer recording. It started when he was arrested with Peter Adler, son of harmonica king Larry Adler, for tossing coins into a fountain on a gay Hyde Park evening. Then somebody found he was drawing £10 ($30) a week National Assistance to support his wife and child.

His mother came to town with father Charlie and five of their eight children. Oonas, 40, chose the occasion to blast her son publicly. She said in a statement:

"The young man is a problem and I am sorry he was given National Assistance. He has stubbornly refused an education for three years and therefore he should get a job and go to work. If I do not wish to include him as a beatnik that is my privilege."

HAS NO AMBITION

Said Michael: "I left because my father insisted on my having an education, his way. I have been in many schools and I never passed an examination. I don't know anything. I have no ambition. I just want to be a spectator."

He sounded as though being the son of a famous father was more of a burden than he cared to carry.

"I haven't spoken to him for three years," said Michael. "I have seen my mother and talked to her from time to time."

The hubbub about Chaplin junior naturally attracted the entertainment world, if only because of the name.

Mother Oona's advice to get a job fell on attentive ears. A record company (Decca) hired Chaplin to cut a new record made for him called I Am What I Am. A publisher assigned a lyric writer to help him write a book about himself, a sort of "Me with father" thing. He has been tested for a screen role (he had appeared in his father's A King in New York.)

TO TOUR IN FRANCE

Then a Paris producer signed young Michael and Peter Adler for a tour of French music halls, starting in Paris in September.

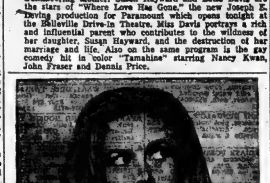
"How will this affect your lack of ambition?"

"I hope the song goes over. I don't know about the book," he said. "I like to sing, all sorts of pop music. I like music generally, and Beethoven as well, especially his Seventh (symphony) and the Pastoral (Sixth)."

He has been playing guitar and singing for his own amusement for years. His best friend, young Adler, joins him on harmonica. He's against boarding school for boys, having seen nothing else since he was eight. Though born in Santa Monica, Calif., March 3, 1946, he hasn't seen much of his native country and doesn't appear to hanker after it. The Chaplins live in Switzerland.

He's against people telling him how to live, how to dress, how to look, and how to think. Even about politics, says Michael:

"I find the political figures interesting in themselves, but as for what they say, I have no interest."



Money? He doesn't seem to have any or want any.

Where does one go from here?

"I get along," says Michael.

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — Sculptress Daughter and Domineering Mother! Susan Hayward and Bette Davis are the stars of "Where Love Has Gone," the new Joseph E. Levine production for Paramount which opens tonight at the Belleville Drive-in Theatre. Miss Davis portrays a rich and influential parent who contributes to the wildness of her daughter, Susan Hayward, and the destruction of her marriage and life. Also on the same program is the zay comedy hit in 'color "Tamahine" starring Nancy Kwan, John Fraser and Dennis Price.

AT THE BELLE — The exciting British actress, Honor Blackman, plays the enticing Puss Galore, in the latest James Bond suspense adventure film, "Goldfinger". The Technicolor film starring Sean Connory as the famous agent 007, will open today at the Belle Theatre in Belleville, for an extended engagement.

AT THE PARK — Delores Del Rio plays an important role with Elvis Presley in the outdoor cinema hit "Flaming Star" now playing opening Thursday at the Park. Starring Elvis Presley, Dolores Del Rio and Steve Forrest, the Twen-tieth Century Fox Cinema Scope production, in color by de luxe, shows at 7.00 and 9.10 p.m.

Actors From Abroad Having Biggest Broadway Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Actors from abroad are having their biggest Broadway season—especially the English. And a lot of domestic talent is fretting about the growing trend.

"We are in the unhappy position of being branded," says one theatre man.

Enjoying the trade unions of Equity, the trade union of performers, are 1,200 jobs available in productions this season, 342 have been filled by aliens. This is 28.5 per cent of total employment—the largest since statistics were started in 1954-55.

"Both numerically and by percentage there has been a steady increase each year," says Paul Porter, Equity business agent for foreign artists.

Porter reports that during all of last season (the theatre year runs July 1-June 30), there were 1,500 jobs, of which 385 went to aliens; 1962-63, 1,800 and 160; 1961-62 (the best employment year) 1,750 and 128.

Back to the beginning of the 1954-55 period, there were 1,400 jobs and 54 visitors—four per cent of those employed.

ALWAYS ENGLISH

"The alien problem is always the English," says Porter. "Since both countries speak the same language, the English are the only ones who can perform with impunity here."

Of this season's batch, "well over 200 are English," according to Porter. Among them are such stars as Sir John Gielgud, Sir Donald Wolfit, Alan Bates, Terence Stamp and Robert Shaw. Performers like that, and the guest conductors, are warmly welcomed.

The complaints fall on the Broadway producers who import lesser performers for roles that might be competently filled by local actors.

"Hit-and-run aliens" is the phrase used to describe such subordinate players.

"How" asks Porter, "can our own performers develop if the best supporting parts go to visitors?"

Recently a British lass was hired to play the ingenue daughter of an American mother in a drawing room comedy. On another occasion, over Equity protests, a London actress was cast to portray an American business executive.

DISAGREES ON CAUSE

Just why things are the way they are is a matter of disagreement among players, sponsors and the U.S. immigration service, which grants work permits to foreign actors.

Among reasons listed by Equity are: A dearth of parts written by American playwrights for Americans; the fact that many Broadway shows are directed by Englishmen "who naturally favor people they are familiar with;" and the possibility that visitors can be hired at a lower wage than Americans.

Producers talk mostly about simply wanting to get the best skill for a particular role, regardless of nationality.

Many managers feel English actors are better trained, associate more clearly, and bless a show with added flair. A verbal agreement between Equity and producers permits 20 per cent of the cast of a show to be alien. But Equity contends too many choice parts go to foreigners.

Only Advertising in Moscow Is Publicizing Red Party

MOSCOW (CP) — Next time you get mad at a singing commercial, stop for a moment and think of Moscow. Practically speaking, there are no commercials at all here.

Before you envy, you may say, Most Westerners living here would probably reply that Moscow could do with some additional flair. A few hundred colorful display ads might be just the place needs to liven it up.

Many Russians would agree. They will ask fairly pointedly for any debts incurred in my name on or after this date, May 19th, 1965.

When a food store shouts "bargain" do you say "show me"?

If you don't, you could be one of thousands of local shoppers who pay up to 15% more cash than necessary on your weekly food bill. If you do, then you're the kind of shopper who has discovered Rite-Way Food City where you really do get the lowest prices in town plus top quality. And you get both every day of the week . . . week in . . . week out.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Now I know why she doesn't look natural. She needs a telephone in her hand!"

LBJ Forges Ahead In First 100 Days

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — Napoleon is credited with launching the first 100-day offensive and Franklin Delano Roosevelt effectively polished up the 100-day phrase in his pell-mell assault on American depression ills in 1933.

Prime Minister Pearson in 1963 came to minority power on a pledge of "60 days of decision" and Prime Minister Wilson had another go at the 100-day call for parliamentary action after the British election last October.

The latest political personage to be judged on his first 100 days is President Lyndon Baines Johnson and the record seems to be a Texas-sized success.

Legislatively, the U.S. Congress has performed so willingly for Johnson that observers have to go back to the Roosevelt New Deal to find comparisons. That was when Johnson was just breaking in.

SOME CRITICIZE

Johnson, of course, is not escaping criticism.

There are largely - foreign grumbles about being insensitive to feelings abroad, over Viet Nam and other matters.

The American right wing suspects, as do some others, that while Johnson talks economy, his far-reaching legislative attacks on poverty, illiteracy and other basic flaws are starting with a trickle of government funds which will become a flood in the future.

This is what has been done, with the help of the full power of the president's own particular brand of persuasiveness administered by telephone, by a series of hard-sell sessions with almost all the 535 members of Congress and a concentration unmatched perhaps in presidential history:

1. Congress has passed the first effective American school aid bill, starting off with an initial $1,300,000,000 for local schools and skirting the old controversy about putting federal funds to work in private and parochial schools as well as public ones.

2. Johnson has broad support for a fundamental attack on any withholding of the right to vote from Negroes.

3. There is guaranteed passage of a landmark medical aid bill, stalled for 10 years.

4. He has the approval of $1,000,000,000 toward an 11-state development program in the depressed areas of the Appalachia region of the Eastern United States.

HOUSE UNDER SPELL

Along with this impressive fare is a rash of lesser measures passed by a Congress admittedly lop-sidedly Democratic but still remarkably docile under the Johnsonian spell. They were part of the 97 messages and proposals sent by Johnson to Congress with 10 draft bills.

The future is regarded as good, too, for a number of additions.

These include a reformed immigration bill ending quotas; attention to urban development, more conservation steps and—hopefully—passage of the foreign-aid bill which normally draws fire and almost-automatic reductions.

One trouble spot, which might hurt the massive support given to Johnson last year by labor, is a contentious amendment to the Taft-Hartley Act to remove the right of states to prohibit compulsory labor union membership as one condition for continued employment.

MANY BREED RABBITS

There are more than 40,000 rabbit farms in the United States.

Brief Critical of Practice of Asking Man's Religion

SUDBURY (CP)— The McRuer royal commission on civil rights in Ontario heard criticism Monday of the practice by police and magistrates of asking accused persons to disclose their religion.

Alex Roberts, mayor of Smooth Rock Falls, Ont., said in a brief that police ask the accused questions about marriage status, nationality and religion even for minor offences.

He presented the brief former Ontario Chief Justice James McCuaig, conducting the one-man inquiry into the state of civil rights in Ontario.

A. G. Burbidge, Sudbury Crown attorney, said the same practice is carried out in his area. He said magistrates ask the questions at the beginning of a trial if the information had not already been noted by police.

Mr. McRuer said there is nothing in the Criminal Code which permits this type of questioning until the accused has been convicted of an offence.

Many persons will feel they are under discriminated against in religious questioning, he said.

Mayor Roberts said the questions on religion appear on a standard government form issued to officials prosecuting summonses for minor offences.

On another religious issue, George Ingham, secretary of the Sudbury and District Labor Council, said he could not understand why workers who had abstained from voting in a union election on religious grounds were counted as voters for the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (Can.).

He referred to the election in 1962 in which Mine-Mill was defeated as bargaining agent for workers at International Nickel Co. in Sudbury by the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) by a margin of 15 votes out of 16,000 cast.

Ontario labor laws state that non-voters are tallied as supporters of the incumbent union when another union tries to displace it.

SIDNEY TOWNSHIP NEWS

Four Teams Enter Sports Competitions

SIDNEY TOWNSHIP—Four Sidney Township schools are entering teams in volleyball and baseball competitions: Bayside, Glen Miller, Turner's and Batawa.

The opening game was played at Glen Miller school May 14 with Bayside competing. The girls' senior team played volleyball and the boys' teams played baseball.

Miss Garrison, Grade 4 and 5 teacher at Bayside, coached the girls' team which won two games out of three. Bayside girls on the team were Sharon Groves, Beth Palmer, Cheryl Waite, Kathy Waite, Christy Haig and Joan Benjamin. The replacements were Marguerite Fulton and Dianne Harder.

Mr. Refausse, principal of Glen Miller school, coached the girls. The captain of the Glen Miller team was Gloria Peterson, and the members were Vicki Hie, Judy Potter, Susan Collier, Mary Lou Murray and Dianne Simpson. The substitutes were Veronica Wickens and Anita Monroe and Joyce Woodward.

Miss Garrison was referee for Bayside and Bonnie Wright for Glen Miller. Vicky Hie was Glen Miller score-keeper and Dianne Harder was Bayside score-keeper.

The Glen Miller boys won the baseball game with a score of 8 to 6. Leslie McCleachy was the winning pitcher, and Boys teammates were Raymond Moore, Scott Chamberlain, David Orr, Jacob Ridder, Ray Moore, John Doyle, John Blakely and Greg Orr. The substitutes were Randy Seabrook and Bill Huffman.

Mr. Refausse was umpire behind the plate and Mr. Anderson of Bayside school was first base umpire.

The boys representing Bayside school were Doug Miller, Ken Snowdon, Glenn Mallory, Bob Sealey, Archie Haig, Rodney May, Billy Tilley, Eddie Presley and Frank Curran.

The games were enlivened with two cheering sections. Cheerleaders for Glen Miller were Susan Galloway, Donna Trakhurst, Susan Gibson, Sharon McDonald and Betty Wallace. Bayside cheerleaders were Sharon Powers, Barbara Smith, Janice Langley, Donna Claus, Dianne Vlesn, Margaret Losey, Helen Ankerman.

Bayside Home and School Club provided transportation for the teams and the cheerleaders.

The next game is scheduled for Batawa and Bayside on May 21, at Batawa.

ESTIMATES TABLED

OTTAWA (CP)—A $2,000,000 supplementary estimate to cover additional outlays for the federal labor department's $200 bonus on winter-built homes was tabled in the Commons Tuesday. The bonus program, originally estimated at $15,000,000, was extended an extra two weeks this year because of severe winter conditions in some areas.

Home Ownership Involves Several Legal Documents

The purchase of a house usually involves the preparation of at least three legal documents. They include an offer to purchase, a transfer of title to the land, and acceptance of the mortgage debt by the purchaser.

The offer to purchase is a written contract which states that the owner agrees to sell and the buyer to buy, and binds both parties to the agreed terms and conditions.

The offer to purchase usually includes all necessary descriptions, the purchase price and terms of payment, the dates on which the deal is to be closed and when the buyer will obtain possession of the house. In all this your lawyer will see that your interests are protected. He will also make sure that the document covers the apportioning of taxes, and fire insurance coverage from the time your responsibility in the property begins. He will also check on the cost of services such as water, sewers and roads. These may be included in the purchase price or you may be required to pay them through increased taxes over a period of years. There is more to an "offer to purchase" than the average person realizes. That is why it pays to have a lawyer looking after your interests at this point.

Your lawyer searches the title and is personally responsible to see that you have clear title to the land. This will be confirmed by the issuance of a "Deed of Conveyance of the Title to Land" in your name.

The third essential document must be signed when closing the deal. The purchaser is then required to agree in writing to accept the mortgage debt unless, of course, he can pay for the property in cash, a privilege that very few people can afford.

The legal procedures are similar if you are buying a house which is in the process of being built, though in this case you should obtain a written agreement covering the work to be completed. This agreement should include a clause identifying the working drawings and specifications according to which the house is being constructed.

The person who plans on buying a lot on which to build a house should see a lawyer before he purchases the land. The legal documents in this case will include, in addition to those we have already discussed, a survey of the land, a building permit and a building contract. Your lawyer can arrange to obtain the building permit from local authorities.

The building contract with the builder is also an important document since it provides essential protection for the home-owner. This contract should identify the parties concerned, contain a description of the work to be done and the amount and method of payment. Reference should also be made to the working drawings and specifications and the right and responsibilities of both parties.

The lawyer may also be responsible for making progress advances to the builder; in other words, paying out portions of the mortgage money to the builder as the various stages of construction are completed. You can arrange with your lawyer for him to see that enough funds are withheld to cover and workmen's or mechanic's lien against the property.

What is a lien, you might ask? A lien is simply a claim against the property by the workmen or suppliers to cover goods or services unpaid by the builder.

When you realize how much legal work is involved in purchasing a house, you will agree that a lawyer is a home purchaser's best friend. When it comes to buying a home, the cost of legal work is more than repaid in the protection of your investment.

Double bowls for double convenience, have a decorative look, too, in this twin lavatory installation. The bowls have single-control faucets. Remodeling ideas include wood panelling, laminated countertop and twin oval mirrors.

Make More Room for Bathing

When it comes to expanding bathroom facilities in the home, family convenience comes first. However, today's designs in bathroom fixtures make it easy to plan for smart, decorative appearance, too.

Whether adding a new bath or modernizing an old one, homeowners will find that modern fixtures are designed to make the most of available space, in everything from the smallest powder room to the most spacious bathroom.

The size of the bathroom determines the size of the plumbing fixtures but even a five-foot by seven-foot area can contain a full-size bathtub and twin lavatories, with double bowls for double convenience and new single-control faucets. The emphasis in tub is on comfort and roominess; for example, a tub five and a half feet long, 32 inches wide and 16 inches high.

With the new, compact lavatories on the market, powder rooms with countertops along two walls are possible in areas as small as four feet by four feet. Wall-hung lavatories are also available in many new, modernistic designs.

Where room does not permit a twin lavatory installation, it's advisable to select a large single fixture, with ample ledgeroom and bowl size.

Water closet styling is streamlined, with emphasis on quality flushing mechanisms. Off-the-floor models gain popularity, due to greater cleaning ease.

Utilitarian white in plumbing fixtures is giving way to more and more color. Enameled cast iron and china are color matched in brand name fixtures.

LAUNDRY TRAY

An acid-resisting enameled cast-iron laundry tray, designed for counter top installation in kitchens or utility rooms, has been developed by American Standard for adaptation to their 5" faucets.

Building Your Own House Requires Careful Planning

There are several important reasons why a prospective home-owner might choose to build rather than buy. He may, for example, have difficulty in finding a ready-built house that fits his needs and tastes. Perhaps there are some special features he would like to have incorporated in his new house and by building he can have the house tailored exactly to his needs. In addition, the location of available houses for sale might not be satisfactory for his family or he may already own a choice lot in a desirable neighborhood.

The ideal procedure, of course, would be to engage an architect to plan your house for you. With his experience he would not only design a house to fit your family's needs but would ensure that the price would be within the amount you wish to invest in the property. He would prepare the necessary specifications and could also select the contractor and supervise the construction of the house for you. There are, however, other ways of getting a house built. One method is to purchase stock plans of a house, such as those available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, and have a contractor build from these plans. In this case it would be necessary to select a suitable building lot and ensure that the house chosen is adaptable to the location.

Some people do their own contracting. This is possible under the National Housing Act but the borrower would have to satisfy the NHA lender concerned of his ability to complete the transaction properly. This method calls for a lot of hard work, time and a good knowledge of the building industry. You would, for example, have to make your own arrangements for the purchase and delivery of all materials and equipment required and the hiring of sub-contractors. You would also be responsible for having the sewer, water and hydro connected and for your own accounting. It can be a very complicated undertaking and, unless you are entirely satisfied you can handle it properly, it might be well to employ a contractor and let him build for you.

You can still do some of the work on the house yourself when you use a contractor if you come to an agreement with him whereby you would be given credit for any work you are able to do. This matter should be taken up with the contractor in your initial discussions with him.

HOME OF THE WEEK

The clean cut lines of this contemporary split level emphasize the modern trend in architectural design. There are three bedrooms on the upper level, and underneath is an extra room which would be suitable for a study, den, office, or even an extra bedroom. There is a handy washroom convenient to the back door. Furnace and utility area are located in the full basement beneath the Kitchen - Living area. There is also ample space for a large recreation room if desired. This home offers an exceptionally convenient layout for a growing family. Because of the very efficient use of floor area, cost of building would be quite reasonable. 964 Sq. Ft.

Space-saving Furnaces Are New Trend

Whatever the type of heating in the home, and whatever the fuel, today's newest trend is certainly towards the compact, space-saving furnace.

Furnaces that will heat an entire home are now so compact that they can be tucked away in a closet. Or, if the furnace is located in the conventional area, the basement, there can still be plenty of room left for a family room or laundry centre.

Still another trend is toward the combined heating-cooling system. Homeowners planning to modernize the heating plant might well consider a system that will control the home "climate" in hot weather, too.

When the question of the type of heating to be used comes up, the new developments in hydronic (hot water) heating are worth attention, suggests the Better Heating-Cooling Council.

Oversized and inconvenient radiators can now be eliminated and replaced by compact, wall-hugging, baseboard units which allow much more space, and are out of the way.

If an entire heating system is to be replaced, hydronic equipment can frequently be connected to existing piping of an old steam or gravity-type hot water system, reducing material and labor costs. New lines of finer-size tubing are easily installed and normally do not require alteration in home construction.

Before installing any heating, it is advisable to get in touch with a heating contractor who will help with the choice of the type of fuel to be used and will also make sure that other remodelling projects will not hinder the heating modernization. His counsel at an early stage may save many problems and expenses.

Hidden in a closet is electric furnace which can heat an entire home. It can also be combined with central air conditioning.

Compact Hydronic (hot water) boilers with appliance-like styling can be placed almost anywhere in the home.

Tips for New Home Owners

The services of a lawyer or notary are essential to ensure a successful business transaction.

He should be consulted before any document is signed or monies paid.

A reputable builder is the best guarantee of a well constructed house. Some builders offer a written guarantee, usually for a year, on the homes they construct.

Before accepting any plan or offer of second mortgage financing you should consult your lawyer or your mortgage lender.

Check with the local municipal office regarding zoning regulations, improvement taxes and municipal services such as public transportation and garbage collection.

If you are buying a house before it has been completed, arrange with the builder for a definite date for occupancy.

Do not make the final payment to the builder of your house until it has been fully completed and is free from possible liens.

DUST COLLECTOR

Cut cleaning time when drilling in plaster by catching dust and grit in paper bag taped to wall below area where hole is being drilled.

Prospective Home Owners Should Consult Experts

Who are the people with professional experience who can be of greatest help to the future home-owner?

They are the lawyer, the realtor, the architect and the builder, not to mention the lender who can also offer professional advice in his own field. Obviously, the person who wishes to buy a ready-built house won't require the services of an architect-or a builder. Likewise, the one who wants to have a house built for himself may not need to deal with a realtor, if he already owns the property on which he intends to build.

None of these experts, of course, is altogether indispensable. But it would be foolhardy to think that we can do better than the professionals. Even in the purchase of a lot, for example, unless you're quite familiar with values of properties and with the procedures, you may be losing more than you gain by ignoring the services of the realtor. His knowledge can save you time, trouble and very often money as well. He has a listing of properties and knows all about the actual market values. He may also in some cases be able to point out why the particular property you have in mind is not suitable for your purpose. Or he may be informed of impending sales or transactions—which could permanently affect the value of the lot you intend to buy.

We're all tempted to try to do things for ourselves until we realize that we've slipped somewhere, either through lack of precaution or lack of experience. Most of us over estimate our knowledge and our capacities, and this is never more true than when buying or building a house. Take the legal aspect, for instance. A lawyer who spends years learning all about the intricacies of the law will usually act with much greater prudence than the layman who is often carried away by his enthusiasm and is unaware of the pitfalls that await him. Handling legal formalities should be left to someone experienced in this field. Processing a mortgage, for example, is a complicated business, beyond the scope of the untrained person. The part in any business deal who deprives himself of legal advice is placing himself at a serious disadvantage.

Most houses are built from ready-made plans, but the architect's services are also available on an individual basis. Those who want something special in the way of design or who feel that stock plans do not altogether meet their needs can hire an architect to design a house to their own specifications. The house can then be tailored to fit the lot and to incorporate those distinctive features sugested by the owner.

An architect can also help with the supervision of construction. That side of his training is not used as often as it should. On a large building, no one would dream of going ahead with construction without architectural supervision. But when it comes to a house we often think we can do without. Yet a lot of difficulties and regrets could be avoided simply by hiring an architect to oversee the job.

The builder is one expert we can't easily do without. Very few of us are either capable or willing to put up a house ourselves. Finding a reliable builder is usually not a problem. House builders are a conscientious group whose very livelihood is based on honest service. When possible, it is always better to examine a few of the houses already put up by a particular builder. If you're favorably impressed by his past work, you can be fairly well assured he will give you equal satisfaction.

THE KENSINGTON

Want to Buy a New Home?...

If so, the above illustrates one reason why you should build with Rollins Construction. Diversity! No one appreciates a subdivision in which there is too much repetition of design, with homes too similar to one another — this is why Rollins Construction designers have created litterly dozens of original plans for your inspection. Traditional, Modern, Colonial, Provincial, etc. are all represented. If you should happen to like the interior of one home but prefer the exterior design of another, we can do it! Want special appointments? Just ask! Maurice Rollins is the Quinte area's largest home builder, which enables him to provide these extras at little or even no extra cost to you — and of course, building this many homes allows him to build "and sell" for less. ....

Proper insulation does much to cut heating and cooling costs, since it holds in the heat in winter and does the reverse in summer. In accessible area, such as the attic, the homeowner can easily install insulation himself.

Insulation Adds to Living Ease, Cuts Costs of Heating, Cooling

A recent government report published by the U.S. Department of the Interior has recommended insulation as the solution to the high operating costs of home heating and cooling. While insulation cannot eliminate the costs of home heating and cooling, it will certainly help to make the most use of fuel ... keeping heat in the home and not letting it seep through to the outdoors. And cooling costs can be reduced by insulation that helps keep hot air out.

New research on the part of home insulation manufacturers has gone far to produce insulation that can be installed in most homes fairly easily and without large expense.

There are many types of insulation materials. They include: mineral wool, rock, glass, slag, paper pulp, gypsum, asbestos, cork, aluminum foil, vermiculite, cotton and other mineral and vegetable materials. Two forms of insulating materials commonly used are batts and blankets. They come with what is known as a vapor barrier on one side of the material and are vapor-permeable on the other.

For a long time it was thought that the effectiveness of insulation should be judged by the thickness of the material. This has, however, been found to be untrue. The factors which determine the effect of insulation, besides thickness, are density and conductivity.

CONSULT DEALER

Any local home insulation dealer should be able to help in finding the proper type and thickness of insulation needed in a particular home, and it does vary.

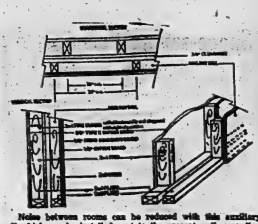
The tools needed for the installation of insulation are simply a sharp knife for cutting and fitting, and a good, heavy-duty staple gun for solid attachment. The latter can usually be rented at any hardware store.

In hard-to-get-to corners, or ceilings, particularly in attics where joists are exposed, there is insulation which can be poured from a bag into any crevice. In this case, it is best to call in professional help, as it entails the use of pneumatic hose. This type of insulation is also used in homes where studs for stapling are not readily available.

WAYS TO HELP

Here are some hints which should be helpful in the insulation of insulating materials:

The vapor barrier of the batts or blankets of insulation should face the heated side of any room.



The insulation, whatever material, must be bolted tightly — gaps will let the heat escape.

Eaves, vents, attic louvers, should not be covered as they are important to air circulation.

The staples holding the insulation should be no more than six inches apart.

Insulation, for complete effectiveness, should be packed tightly around windows, door framing and other such spaces. This can be achieved by cutting a piece of vapor barrier to cover the areas and form unbroken protection.

Pipes should be protected from winter freezing by insulating between them and the wall. For this separate pieces of vapor barrier can also be used.

Noise between rooms can be reduced with this auxiliary wall which can be installed next to the present wall, according to a plan developed by the Insulation Board Institute. A special IBI-rated sound-deadening insulation board controls flow of sounds.

Adding a room, or remodeling, offers an opportunity to add insulation, too. Wall here is being insulated with mineral wool.

NEW DRILL

Stanley Tools introduces an abrasive sharpening disc of neoprene impregnated with 24 grit aluminum oxide. It can be used with any electric drill, simplifies job of sharpening yard and garden tools.

ALL-PURPOSE TAPE

An aluminum-foil, pressure-sensitive tape with a weather-proof adhesive coating is offered by Johns-Manville. It can be used to repair almost any object of wood, metal, plastic, won't rust or corrode.

Right Color on Walls Will Show Faces in a Flattering Light

When it's tooth-brushing time in the morning, will the face in the bathroom mirror look cheery and bright or haggard and wan?

A lot depends on the color of the bathroom walls and trim. The right choice of hues in repainting the bathroom can make a big difference.

Walls painting in some yellows and greens reflect a most unflattering light. Pink, rose, coral and peach tones reflect a warm, healthful glow that starts the day off right. Pure green and gold are good choices. Hues with a touch of red are warmer and more flattering than pure or grayish blues.

Experts recommend semi-gloss or gloss enamel when painting bathroom walls for many reasons. Enamels keep moisture vapor from entering walls and damaging plaster. Enamels are also easy to keep clean, can be scrubbed often and are more mildew-resistant.

Before applying enamel, dirt should be washed away to insure adhesion of the paint and to prevent peeling. Glossy areas should be dulled with sandpaper or steel wool.

To make a bathroom look larger, walls and wood trim should be painted the same color. More than two accent colors in an average sized bathroom are distracting — accents should be picked up in towels or curtains.

BATH ACCESSORIES

Shower-rite Door Corporation is marketing a tub and shower enclosures and shower door in decorator colors and designs. The enclosure is made of Du-Pont Alathon folding panels on an anodized aluminum frame. The non-skid flooring comes in embossed marbelized colors.

Every Plant Can Be Put To Good Use

Every plant, every tree or shrub planted by the home owner should have a special purpose. Beauty is the principal purpose for planting the home property according to surveys, but there are many other reasons, as follows:

1. For shade—shade trees offer comfort and beauty in sizzling summer weather. When correctly placed they cool the home, or materially reduce air-conditioning costs. Shade trees lower temperatures near the ground as the layer of hottest air is transferred to the tree tops. They also may provide autumn color. Evergreens provide all-year color, particularly welcome green in winter.

2. Hedges provide family privacy — much needed in some housing developments. Hedges may provide flowers that are pleasing to neighbors as well as yourself.

3. Flowering trees, shrubs and annual plants offer the spring, summer and fall beauty of many types of blooms from roses to tipple blossoms. Trees and shrubs offer foods in the form of fruits and berries, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

4. Where grass will not grow or is hard-to-mow as in shade areas, or areas of poor soil, or on steep slopes, ground covers of many types form a beautiful green carpet.

5. Windbreaks of trees and shrubs provide warmth in winter and coolness in summer. A government tests showed that a perfectly placed windbreak sheltered a plains area home from cold north winds and reduced fuel costs 23 percent.

GARDEN LIVING IS HAPPIER THESE DAYS with landscaped patios, terraces and outdoor cooking and recreation areas in fashion across the country. Gardening has become a favorite for many Americans who say that it is "good for the health." But, health isn't the only good part of gardening. The beauty that can be achieved with a bit of imagination and ingenuity is "good for the eyes," too.

Make Garden Into Outdoor Living Room

Most families take pride in living in beautiful natural surroundings. More and more families are developing the grounds around their homes into lovely beautiful "outdoor living" rooms.

These "outdoor living" rooms furnish restful retreats for adults, places for teenagers to entertain and for the smaller children to play safely, and to learn about growing things.

Landscaping can accomplish the beauty; each family member can enjoy it. Seventy-two percent of home owners are critical of neighbors with poorly kept grounds — they think of them as too poor to do anything about beautifying, or lazy and shiftless.

On the other hand, they think of families living more beautifully as good citizens, refined and educated.

For individual members of the family, good landscaping can accomplish a great deal.

It is wholesome and educational for children. One industrialist planted a tree for each of his seven children, who watched the trees grow. They experienced the natural flowering and fruiting of the trees, the beneficial shade, the foliage color changes with the seasons, the nesting of birds and many other natural phenomena that helped to enrich their minds, while tree climbing helped strengthen their muscles.

So, valuable did these trees become to the family that they spent thousands of dollars just to transplant them when they moved to new homes.

With a beautiful property teen-agers are encouraged to entertain at home on terraces and in "outdoor garden living" rooms.

Parents living on beautifully planted properties have much pleasure in putting their "own mark" on the property in the form of trees and shrubs and better living. Young trees, planted when families are young, mature with the family and represent close family ties.

PATIO FURNITURE ENHANCES the looks of any outdoor living area. Smart choices of colors on all outdoor furniture from wrought iron to wood wicker can blend with plants surrounding the garden to produce a true outdoor paradise.

Basement Advantages

The majority of Canadian homes are provided with basements. In our colder climate the digging of a basement is the most practical way of getting the footings below the frost line while at the same time providing additional space at low cost. In our older homes the basement was often only serviceable in part, either because the ceiling was too low, the floor left unfinished or not properly drained, or because lighting was inadequate. In more recently built homes greater attempts have been made to make the basement truly functional. Home designers are increasingly striving to make the basement area an integral part of the home rather than just an extension with low concrete walls where junk and spider webs collect. With sufficient head clearance and if properly dampproofed or waterproofed the basement space is ideal for a utility room, laundry room, second wash room, or for a playroom, a den or even an extra bedroom, while still allowing sufficient space for storage purposes. Providing easy access to the basement from the outside is one means of increasing its usefulness. Even in the more temperate zones in Canada, where basementless homes are common, a home with a basement can offer decided advantages. However, a basement may not always be practical where the sub soil contains solid rock, where serious drainage problems.

Entertainment centre built in to the wall of a room provides space for the television set, with storage space above for books, ornaments and records. The TV set can be shut away when not in use, leaving shelves handy to the desk. Knotty grade Fordecron pine paneling used for walls as well as built-ins helps to unify the room.

Closed cabinets to centre for radio, TV and stereo phonograph, with removal of door, installation and painting of shelves and partitions.

Ingenuity Can Create Convenient Centre for Home Entertainment

Constructing a home entertainment center for the family does not necessarily mean adding on a whole new room. Using available space, ingenuity and a bit of imagination, part of a room can be attractively converted into an entertainment center that everyone will be able to enjoy.

A built-in unit may be simple or elaborate as space, needs and budget dictate. It may make use of ready-made cabinets, chests and bookcases that lumberyards sell.

HOUSE TV SET

A cabinet of wood built into a wall can house a TV set, solve a space problem and also serve as a decorative asset. Many homes have structural features that provide unused space within the walls for an extra cabinet to be wholly or partially built-in.

A free standing storage partition can also take many forms. It may be a waist-high plaster unit with TV space and shelving or cabinets. It can extend from floor to ceiling to serve as an actual wall, or within a foot or so from the ceiling to give the feeling of openness, yet still enclose an area.

ADJUST TO NEEDS

The use made of storage space will depend on individual needs. The unit can be designed with upper cabinets enclosed by doors which can be opened from either side and a TV set which swivels and is also accessible from either side.

Bookshelving could be added and hi-fi equipment or a writing desk with a top which folds when not in use.

When utility factors have been considered to determine the design of entertainment installation, the next question is what materials to use. Popular for such interior projects because they are easy to use and easy to live with are the woods from the Western Pine region, suggests the Western Wood Products Association.

Choice of grain, texture and natural color is wide, and different woods accept a variety of finishes.

HOME TILE KIT

A do-it-yourself liquid tile kit by Evershield Products, Inc., laminates colorful fabrics to wood, plaster, many other surfaces.

To Own or to Rent -- A Personal Decision

From a financial point of view, is a person further ahead to rent or to own his house? Owning a house can be a sound undertaking, but this is also true of renting an apartment or a house. It's really a personal decision — although Canada is known generally as a nation of home-owners. Of course, the availability of the two types of housing and comparative costs may have an important bearing on this personal decision.

The difference in cost which a family should consider is that in renting there is no capital investment and it's not too difficult to estimate the monthly expenses. Usually, apartments include a refrigerator, stove, heating and hot water in the rent. In a rented house these are more often expenses over and above the rent. So, in renting a house you're getting fairly close to owning because the tenants takes on some of the operating expenses that home owners pay. The owner family, in addition to the initial investment, would have operating costs made up of the payments on the mortgage, taxes, heating, utilities, all maintenance and repair and insurance on the house.

Many people enjoy the limited responsibility of an apartment. Some families find that renting a house is their answer to the housing problem, either because they're subject to transfer by their employer at any time or because they're unable to make the initial investment required in owning a house. There's a certain freedom or flexibility in renting. But a word of advice to tenant families — have a lease with your landlord and make sure you have a clear understanding of your rights and responsibilities under the terms of your lease.

Renting is a satisfactory form of housing for many families. Of course, they're subject to rent increases, and some tenant families have difficulty in agreeing with their landlord just who should pay for what maintenance and repair. The money that tenants don't feel obliged to save for a house downpayment is usually spent to provide other things their families want.

On the other hand owning a house seems to be the answer for a great many families, especially those who will be remaining in the community. They feel a house gives them an extra return for their money and when the mortgage loan is eventually paid off they can say they really own the house. Home-owners are pretty well their own bosses and find there's a certain satisfaction and a feeling of comfort and pride in owning.

NEW LAWNS and landscaping are going in on newly developed Kingsway Crescent in East Belleville, where only a year or so ago was empty farmland. Houses here are on the former Jack Haig farm.

Electricity Does Many Tasks in Modern Home

With each passing year electricity is called upon to do more jobs in the home. Once it was used solely to light the home. Today it helps the homeowner in an increasing range of tasks. Ten years from now electricity will undoubtedly have still further uses in the home. Some thought, therefore, should be given to future needs when planning the electrical system for a new home.

In areas where electricity is likely to be used either for cooking or heating, the capacity of the electric service entrance wires which carry electricity from the main cables to the house and fuse box, or "service entrance," should not be less than 100 amperes. A 60-amp service is no longer considered adequate in most new homes.

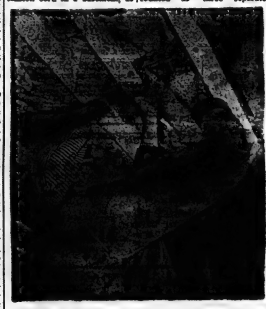
A sufficient number of outlets is another requirement of a good electrical system. For the living room a minimum of four duplex outlets should be provided. The kitchen requires two duplex wall outlets and one ceiling fixture, and if an electric range is used, a 220-volt cable will be necessary. The bathroom will need at least one wall fixture and a wall outlet may also be provided, unless prohibited by the local electrical code. Three duplex wall outlets, or one ceiling fixture and two duplex outlets should be provided in each bedroom and in the dining room.

Each hallway and vestibule should be serviced by a ceiling outlet. For houses of more than one storey, a three-way switch controlling the stairway lighting is required at both the top and bottom of the stairs. The basement should have at least one wall outlet; one ceiling outlet should be controlled from the top of the basement stairs. Any basement outlet which is to be used for an electric washing machine, clothes dryer or other equipment should be grounded or "polarized." Three-pronged plugs are used with polarized outlets.

As for the exterior outlets, a fixture is required at both the main entrance and the service entrance. A closed-in porch is usually equipped with its own lighting fixture, in addition to the light at the entrance.

An attached garage requires both a ceiling outlet and a duplex wall outlet. If the garage is directly accessible from the basement the ceiling fixture should be controlled from the main floor by a three way switch.

These, of course, are only minimum specifications. They may be quite inadequate in some houses. If there are two work areas in the kitchen, or if the eating area is separated from the working area, an additional ceiling fixture may be needed. Extra outlets can be provided at very little additional cost when included in the building contract.



The basement is another part of the house which is often electrically under-equipped. A single ceiling fixture will not normally give sufficient light for the stairway, the furnace area, the washing or working area, and the storage space elsewhere, is a poor substitute for additional outlets. Not only are they unsatisfactory but they may also become distinct hazards.

The number and type of outlets should be clearly stated in the building contract. Note that each wall switch is counted as an outlet. A panel with three switches, for example, will be counted as three separate outlets. To find the number of operative outlets, always deduct the number of switches from the total number of outlets.

To avoid having an exposed telephone wire running along the walls, have the phone connection wired in at the same time as the electrical outlets. The cost is comparatively small. It is also wise to provide a 220-volt wall plug for the electric range. This is more practical than connecting the heavy cable directly to the terminals on the stove.

Electrical outlets should be safe, as well as located for the best use. Wall outlets in the kitchen should be kept a safe distance from the kitchen sink to prevent accidental grounding. Wet hands and live wires make an unhealthy combination. For the same reason, outlets in the bathroom should be kept clear of plumbing fixtures, especially of the bathtub itself. In some provinces, regulations prohibit plug-in outlets in bathrooms.

If an outside wall outlet is being installed it should be high enough above ground to be clear of snow drifts. It should also be equipped with a cover and a locking device as a safety precaution.

THE MAGIC WIRE — Electricity is the housewife's most obliging and versatile helper. Sufficient electrical outlets should be provided in every part of the house to take care not only of present needs but also future electrical requirements. (CMHC Photo)

MAKING SPACE . . .

Need extra storage space? When remodeling, plan in advance to be sure "improvements" really make room for more storage.

Adequate storage can be provided by building special cabinets, adding a window bench with concealed storage, or constructing a series of wall-to-ceiling shelves.

Or storage may be included in another unit, such as a desk.

Investing in Comfort

A modest investment that can add a double value to a home is the dream of most improvement -minded home owners. Central air-conditioning fulfills this dream, while being easy to install and inexpensive to operate in most homes.

The first added value is air-conditioning's contribution to year-round comfort. The second is that it increases the resale value of a home, usually by considerably more than its cost.

There now are an estimated 2.5 million homes with air conditioning, and the U.S. Federal Housing Administration has said that within a few years houses without it will probably be obsolescent. Homes with central air-conditioning have a considerable advantage, therefore, on the resale market.

Once it is decided to air-condition a home, there are many points to be considered; such as what size and type of air-conditioning will be most effective, whether existing heating ducts can be utilized, importance of insulation, operating costs, assurances of quality and more.

Because it is built into the house, central air-conditioning gives a home more value. It takes up less interior space, is less obtrusive, more durable and is less expensive to operate than room air-conditioners.

If the house has a forced air heating system, the best bet probably will be a "split system" which locates the condensing unit outside the house and usually places the rest of the system on top of the furnace. This saves space and ordinarily makes it unnecessary to undertake any expensive structural alterations.

Frequently, existing heating ducts can be used for a cooling system, but a lot depends on the size and location of the ducts. The advice of an engineer or contractor should be sought.

If heating ducts are used for cooling, the problem of getting a balanced system arises in multi-level houses. Since hot air rises, most heating systems locate ducts and registers in the lower portion of rooms, and direct most of the warm air to the lower level. But cool air settles, so some adjustment must be made.

This can be accomplished by putting dampers on branch duct lines; so that in the summer most of the air flow can be directed to the upper levels, and by installing multi-directional registers, which can direct the air flow into a room up or down depending on the season.

If the home has more than the FHA-prescribed minimum of insulation, it will cut the operating costs of a heating-cooling system. Insulation of ducts is also vital. Bare metal can "leak" a lot of warm or cool air.

Size of the house, layout of the rooms, number of people in the family all have an effect on operating costs. The amount of glass exposed to East or West affects it too . . . the sun adds to the cooling load of air-conditioning.

To determine the size equipment needed to cool the house, the climate, number of occupants, exposed glass area, size and layout of the house and insulation should be taken into consideration.

An estimate should be made by a reliable air-conditioning contractor using "ARI Standard 250-62" a guide developed by the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute and accepted by FHA.

Until a few years ago, equipment was sized by "tons", "horsepower," and "amperes." There is now a program to standardize such ratings as Btuh. Most manufacturers adhere to this standard, enabling the buyer to judge the capacity of one unit against the other.

The "ARI Seal of Certification" is another assurance of quality, meaning that the manufacturer has agreed to submit test data to the ARI engineers for rigorous testing.

One thermostat controls both air conditioning and heating, with a heat pump at work to provide year-round comfort. System shown here is powered by an outdoor unit that is unobtrusive and can be neatly located near the home. Weathertron system by General Electric.

Niches Add Charm to Rooms At Low Cost

A wall niche can often add charm and distinction to an otherwise conventional room. Such a feature can be added to the average home at little expense or effort. It is particularly easy to do when a room is to be redecorated.

The space between wall studs will provide for a niche about 13 inches wide and as tall as desired — assuming there are no ducts, pipes or conduit in that part of the wall.

To build the niche, metal lath is best to the desired shape, and is nailed to the studs. The corners are reinforced with metal corner bead and plaster is then applied.

LEATHER TILES

New mass - produced leather floor tiles by American Leather Mfg. Co. are lightweight, easy to apply.

Do's and Dont's

You should make sure you understand the full meaning of everything you sign. You should consult with your solicitor or notary before you sign any document. You should obtain a copy of the plans and specifications if you are buying a house prior to completion. You should arrange for architectural or other professional advice in checking on the quality of materials and work as construction is carried out.

You should not rely on oral agreement on any point affecting the purchase or construction of the house. You should not sign any document which is incomplete or which you do not fully understand. You should not commit yourself to payment of the entire price until the house is finished and free from possible liens.

Landscaping Financing Made Easy

A survey shows that 87 per-cent of all home owners "believe landscaping adds more to the resale value of their property than the landscaping costs."

Apparently nine out of ten home owners want beautiful home grounds. It pays both in upping the resale value, as well as in living a healthier, more enjoyable family life.

Suppose you want landscaping. How do you finance it?

There are several ways the home owners can go about this. For as little as five to 10 percent of the value of the home, a sound landscaping plan can be carried out.

Savings and Loan Associations also will, in many cases, allow private loans to be made, or added to the mortgage.

Once the loan is arranged for, the home owner can then select a good landscape nurseryman to do the work.

In many cases, prominent nurserymen will arrange for the loans. Repayment must be made within five years.

Many landscape nurserymen also will prepare plans which can be carried out piecemeal until the whole job is completed. For example, the foundation planting may be done first, a garden living room installed secondly and children's play areas or fruit garden third, or in any other order, depending on what is desired.

Canadian Garden Service

KNOW WHERE YOU'RE GOING

It's possible, of course to develop a garden or build a house without some sort of a plan, but there will be more satisfaction and pleasure if we do have one. And these garden plans can be as simple or as elaborate as we desire. Some people even go so far as to draw the whole thing to scale, fit plants into this layout according to their mature height and width, match up colors, keep a precise record of planting, blooming and maturity dates from year to year, and they can string off variety names just like a good political speaker can reel of statistics. That is fine for those who like it. But the new gardener does n't have to bother with such voluminous data. All that he needs to know is whether a flower is hardy or tender, and whether it grows a few inches or a few feet. The rest he can learn pleasantly as he goes along.

TO BRIGHTEN SHADY PLACES

One of the most satisfactory flowers for brightening up dark corners is the imberous rooted begonia and for a lot of really magnificent blooms the bulbs should be bought and started now. These bulbs are fairly expensive but with a little care they can be used over and over again.

For the average householder the best way to start is in a flat box about three inches deep or shallow four inch flower pots. Fill these with damp peat moss and keep damp and place bulbs root side down covering almost but not quite completely. If one is not sure which is right side up for these bulbs he had better ask when buying. Keep the flat in a moderately lighted window, one facing the east is best, and when new sprouts are well started transplant to individual five or six inch pots filled with good soil, and keep in there until transplanted outside after all danger of frost is over, which means June 1st in most of Canada. Care must be exercised in handling as the stems are very brittle. The flowers are of brilliant coloring and they face the light direction as the first permanent leaves point.

Begonias will brown or burn if given too much direct sunshine. They do best in a sheltered place that gets direct sun no more than four or five hours a day. Along an east wall or hedge is ideal but they will bloom and do well with a western or even northern exposures and under trees.

After the first frost, the bulbs should be dug up, brought indoors and spread out somewhere to dry. After cleaning of stems and roots they should be packed in vermiculite or dry peat moss moistened very slightly and stored in a cool part of the basement.

An interesting and very useful way of spending a late winter's evening is to get a packet, paper, and a Canadian seed catalogue and plan the garden we are going to have just as soon as spring really arrives. Such plans will be a big help next anyway in gardening, planning is almost as good fun as planting.

While waiting for the snow to go and the ground to dry, one can clean up and oil the garden tools that were neglected last fall, can make sure the power mower is working and that the garden duster and sprayer are ready for action.

One of the earliest jobs is pruning. Most trees, shrubbery and vines can be trimmed anytime from February to June, though early blooming shrubs like Forsythia are best left until after flowering.

* * *

Nursery stock, that is bushes, shrubs, trees and vines are best planted as early in the spring as the ground can be dug. If this is impossible when they arrive, store in some cool, moist place and if possible cover the roots with damp earth or sand.

Plan Carefully

With the decision to purchase a new home, most families are embarking on the largest single investment they will ever make. As such, it deserves thorough advance planning and careful consideration of all the factors involved. Only in this way can successful home ownership be assured.

One of the most important matters is be considered is planning the financing of your new home. Not only must the down payment you will be required to make be within your financial means — but perhaps more important — the monthly payments on your mortgage and other continuing charges such as heat, electricity and maintenance costs should be covered comfortably by your housing budget.

A careful analysis of your ability to meet all the costs involved in home ownership will do much to ensure happiness in your new home.

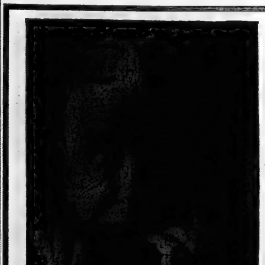
CATERING FOR KIDS

BERKHAMSTEAD, England (CP)—The new public library in this Hertfordshire town has a specially carpeted section in the children's department for those who read best when lying on the floor.

How to Build for Noise Control

When selecting materials for constructing room partitions, attention should be given to both the development of a satisfactory wall base for decorating and adequate noise suppression.

Plaster is a popular and effective method for finishing interior walls and ceilings. It is capable of receiving both paint and wallpaper and offers good sound suppression qualities.



Full effectiveness of plaster finish is achieved by using a good foundation. One of the best is expended metal lath, attached directly to joists and studding. If exterior walls are masonry, self furring metal lath is used.

Metal lath can be installed in a manner to prevent the plaster from coming into direct contact with possible dampness or moisture from the exterior walls of a home.

Building Boom

Industry Needs Stability

By BARRY McCULLAGH

The $13 billion construction boom predicted for 1970 at the recent conference in Ottawa of the construction industry associations is going to tax the industry to capacity.

Delegates to the conference were told that volume of construction in recent years had been relatively stable, although the industry's capacity continued to grow. Surplus capacity and related uneconomic competition and unprofitable operations had made construction for many a "sick industry," in spite of the large programs under way.

However, the volume picture, at least, now appears to be changing rapidly, according to a brief issued to the construction delegates.

"The total construction program in 1963 is estimated by the federal government to have been $7.7 billion. The total for 1964 was $8.6 billion and the estimate for 1965 is $9.3 billion."

A mid-year survey of investment intentions may well bring the 1965 total to the $10 Billion mark, the brief says.

"Looking further ahead, the Economic Council of Canada's studies covering the next five years forecast a continuing upward trend in the value of construction activity. If all factors in the economy operate satisfactorily, a 1970 total of 13.6 billion is indicated, expressed in terms of 1963 dollars. This represents a program almost twice as large as in 1963, an average increase in physical terms of more than 10 per cent a year.

To implement this program, the industry has been told it will have to recruit and train several hundred thousand employees, including supervisory and management personnel.

"The complexities of the larger programs will make it all the more imperative that business practices be developed that enable all members of the construction team to work smoothly and efficiently. Similarly, specifications and tendering and contract procedures must be such as to reduce delays and disputes to the minimum. Labor-management relations will have to be mature and stable. The industry will have to be effectively organized in order to develop its policies and promote them."

A rosy picture, to be sure. But what if things don't go smoothly?

Any long-term endeavor is usually fraught with difficulties. The construction industry associations' answer to the question is this: "If this is not done, the potentially brighter days ahead will be marked by king-size headaches in dealing with chaotic conditions. The long-awaited increase in volume in the second half of this decade, which has kept construction men's hopes alive during a number of difficult years will mean the industry will simply have a bigger jungle."

Obviously, the key factors in attaining these goals are stability, the training of new personnel and satisfactory working conditions.

The future seems bright. It will be for the industry itself to make or mar it.

Buying Builders' Houses Offers Many Advantages

By far the greatest number of home - owners purchase ready-built houses, and there are several reasons for this. First of all, the prospective home-owner can see exactly what he's paying for and he knows definitely how much it's going to cost him. It's a much less complicated transaction for the purchaser and he is sometimes able to move into his new house immediately. More important, perhaps, is the fact that the house will probably cost less than if he were to build a house of the same size and quality of construction.

There's economy in quantity. The builder constructing houses for sale probably has a number of units under way at the same time. Materials are purchased in large quantities and such items as the excavation work for foundations costs less per unit because all of the work is being carried out at the same location. Little time is lost or expense involved in moving the heavy equipment. In addition, the builder has an experienced working force that can keep construction progressing at a rapid pace; the overhead expenses of the builder are spread over the total number of houses. All of these savings are reflected in the selling prices of the dwellings.

When shopping for a ready-built house the purchaser should first of all be concerned with the suitability of the design of the house and its location. He should ask himself whether or not the layout of the unit fits the way his family likes to live. Will it still meet the family's needs in the years ahead? Will it accommodate his present furniture or would there be the added expense of buying new furniture? Is the location of the property within a reasonable distance from work, schools and churches? These are just a few of the questions to be answered before a purchaser can make his decision. Remember, purchasing a house is the greatest investment the average family ever makes and it should be entered into only after careful consideration has been given to all the factors involved.

Even if the price of the house seems reasonable as compared with other dwellings being sold in the area, and the dwelling fits in well, there are other points to be considered by the buyer.

The quality of the construction of the house is vitally important. In this regard, the best guide is probably the reputation of the builder for using quality workmanship and materials.

If the house has been built under the National Housing Act, this provides a certain assurance that it is well constructed.

However, buyers should remember that NHA inspections are made primarily to ensure that the completed house will be good mortgage security for the NHA loan. They are not full architectural inspections and the home-buyer benefits only indirectly. Even if the house is NHA financed it is still important for the purchaser to inspect it carefully himself or arrange for a qualified person to check it for him.

Interior Design

In planning the interior of a home the best use of space marks the skillful architect or designer. The interior of the house must be divided according to the various functions of its occupants. The eating, sleeping and living areas make up the basic divisions of every house. The difference between the various designs consists mainly in varying the size of rooms and arranging them in different patterns. The number of possible sizes and groupings is practically unlimited. But buyers also have a wide range of preferences. One will insist on a large living room with a fireplace — another one wants a house with a family room — a separate dining room is essential to the way of life of a third family, while their neighbors prefer the intimacy of an eating space in the kitchen. A second bathroom, a den, lounge or sewing room, laundry facilities in the kitchen instead of in the basement, all these features have a special meaning for certain home owners. However, there are a number of elementary rules for good interior design. One of these basic rules is good circulation, that is, easy access to the various parts of the house without having to cross intervening rooms. Safe stairways with sufficient head clearance, doors wide enough to move furniture in and out, space for furniture along the wall in the, living room and bedrooms, well lighted hallways and ample closet space and shelves are other "musts" in house designing.

GARDENING NEEDN'T COST a fortune. One way to keep costs down is to buy a good basic set of tools that will fill all the needs in garden care. Designed for strength, durability and ease of handling, steel tools will last for many years.

Planning a Garden Takes Patience and Enthusiasm

You can make your garden a beautiful frame for your home with a little patience, a lot of enthusiasm and these few pointers:

1. Don't plant too deep. Small flower or vegetable seeds only need to be covered. When reseeding bare patches in your lawn, loosen two inches of soil and then fertilize and sow.

2. Using too much fertilizer is much worse than using too little. Follow the directions on the package of a reliable manufacturer.

3. Overwatering washes nutrients out of the soil and helps to spread fungi. Let your turf dry almost to the wilting point between waterings, and then soak it to a depth of six inches.

You might consider a corrosion-resistant galvanized steel sprinkler, which will give you many years of service. Its advantage is that it furnishes water only as fast as the ground can absorb it.

4. Mow your lawn, but don't try to erase it. It's advisable to set your mower at one and a half inches high and then mow whenever the grass gets over two inches. If your mower blades get dull, they will split the grass tops, causing them to turn brown.

The blades should be made of high carbon or alloy steel which makes them rugged — so they won't chip when they hit a rock — and hard, so that when the blades are sharpened, they will stay sharp for a long time. Once a year have the blades removed, ground and balanced.

5. Buy good garden tools, so they won't have to be replaced periodically. A good basic set of tools includes: a spade or shovel, spading fork, rake, hoe, cultivator, shears, trowel, sprayer or duster for plant leaves, watering can, cords and stakes for vines, and a heavy and light pair of gloves.

6. Never leave lawn and garden tools outdoors. If you don't have a definite storage space for the smaller items, but put a cabinet in the garage and store them out of the way. And be sure to wash and dry your tools after using them. They'll not only look better, but they'll last longer.

7 Your war on weeds and insects should start before there is an invasion. All - purpose sprays and dusts will control most insects and diseases in flowers and vegetables if applied early and according to directions.

New Method Brings More Home Quiet

New ideas in remodeling offers a priceless feature for better family living — more quiet in the home.

There are now steps which can be taken to control irritating sounds within a room or between rooms, in existing homes or apartments, according to Robert A. Costa, president, Insulation Board Institute, Chicago, Ill.

These steps utilize just two IBI standard industry products — acoustical ceiling tile and sound - deadening insulation board.

Sound control noises between rooms, a plan has been developed for an auxiliary wall of sound - deadening insulation board and gypsum wallboard, which can be placed next to the existing wall.

The sound-stopping auxiliary wall uses two-by-three foot wood studs placed 24 inches apart, on two-by-three-foot wood floor and ceiling plates. There is a three-quarter-inch space between the new wall and the existing wall.

The new studs are faced with half-inch sound deadening insulation board with the nail heads dimpled. Half-inch gypsum wallboard is then applied vertically with the joints offset 12 inches with respect to the sound deadening board joints by installing with drywall laminating compound.

The gypsum wallboard is temporarily blocked around the perimeter until the laminating compound has adequate bond. The gypsum wallboard joints are then taped and finished and the entire perimeter of the new wall is sealed in place.

As a final step, noise is more effectively confined in a room if the door is of the solid core type with vinyl gasketing and a snug-up threshold.

To control noise within rooms, consider insulation board acoustical ceiling tile. Soft surfaces absorb noise; hard surfaces reflect it. Acoustical ceiling tile is essentially a "soft" material which absorbs up to 70 percent of the excess noise striking its surfaces.

Sound enters the tiny openings in the surface of the tile, and the sound energy waves are reduced or eliminated by the soft porous fibres.

Cleaning-up Tricks Ease Remodeling

Housemakers thinking of lowering house until after the family room has been panneled or the fixtures installed in the bathroom or the wallpaper added in the children's room will find that a few house-keeping precautions make the improvements much simpler.

Proper cleaning measures will preserve a tidy, clean house during redecoration, according to Service Master, professional cleaning organization.

Equipment should first be organized into two categories:

1. A variety of clean rags, from chamois to scraps of old bath towels and sheets.
2. Brushes and mops, including a chemically-treated mop head that will pick up gritty soil.
3. A supply of soap, cleaners, polishes and waxes.
4. A first-aid kit of solutions for spot emergencies.

They rugs, rubber mats or old pieces of carpet should be placed both inside and outside areas where work is in progress.

If heavy construction is scheduled, a coat of finish or "sealer" will help protect tile flooring. The surface of wood floors may be guarded with a special application of wax. Later, the floors should be thoroughly cleaned and refinished.

Rugs, furniture and walls should be vacuumed frequently to prevent a hard-to-remove film of soil from gathering.

Waste should be thrown out as each job is completed — or at the end of the day so that it doesn't pile up. If waste material contains plaster or dusty articles, sprinkling with water or wrapping in wet paper will make removal easier and less dusty.

Keeping work areas clear will reduce household hazards, as well as dirt. Steps should also be taken to clear these areas of curious young observers. If children are too small to heed "off-limits" signs or commands, a temporary barrier should be set up.

Lawyers Protect Interests Of Prospective Home Owners

OF Prospective Home Owners

Do I need a lawyer when buying a new home? This is a question that is often heard. The answer is that, though the services of a lawyer before signing a final agreement to purchase a home are not absolutely essential, they will provide you with peace of mind, knowing that your property and goods are protected. In other words, a lawyer's service is a form of protection, which should guarantee peace of mind for a home purchaser.

Another good argument is that since the buyer is going to require a lawyer at one point in the transaction to search the title for the land, why not hire one at the start?

To use the builder's lawyer to search the title, however, could result in an awkward situation for all parties concerned if a problem requiring legal action arose. Professional ethics may demand that the lawyer abondon one of his clients in such a situation and normally the home purchaser would be the one he would have to drop, because if the solicitor's services were obtained in the first place by the builder, he will have to stand by his first client.

Problems requiring legal action in home-buying transactions are not unknown, though not common. Most legal actions between the purchaser and the builder are the result of misunderstandings. You may well buy a house and have no legal difficulties. But if you happen to be unlucky and run into trouble, it's comforting to know you have someone around to advise you on your legal rights.

A lawyer's chief contribution in a real estate transaction is to advise both parties of their rights and obligations. This is why the buyer should hire a lawyer at the outset before he makes a deposit or signs any document, giving him a chance to protect your interests. Many people think a lawyer's services are too expensive and many never bother to find out if this impression is true. An estimate of his fee is obtainable once you explain what services you require. The final figure may vary because neither nor the lawyer will know exactly what legal entanglements may arise.

How does a lawyer set his fee? This is normally based on a tariff set by the local county legal association. The tariff is usually a percentage of the selling price of the house in this type of real estate deal. It depends also on the services the client demand and the time required to provide those services. A lawyer sells his time and the fees which may seem high in some instances, may be quite small when compared to the hours of work involved.

Basementless Houses

The basementless house is more popular in the warmer sections of Canada where there is no severe or prolonged freezing period. But basementless houses can also be designed for colder climates. With proper insulation around the edges of the house at ground level, they can be kept warm and comfortable. A low-lying basementless house may have greater eye-appeal than the house with foundation walls projecting above ground. The sleek flowing lines of the single level house without a basement provide the architect with greater freedom of design. The distinctive ranch style homes that you find in some of our better sub-divisions are often of the basementless type. With proper footings, basementless homes need not be limited to one storey houses. There are some attractive two - storey homes built without excavation. Project homes have also been built without basements permitting a measurable economy in cost. The use of compact heating units has assisted in the mass design of such homes. Storage space normally provided for in the basement is located in a separate closet or in a closed-in space attached to the garage or carport.

Floors Come Into View

With the return of the area rug to home decorating popularity, wood floors are coming into view again. As a result, an important home improvement project on the agenda for many households is the refinishing of wood floors.

"Improved wood stains add a touch of floor color and bring out the grain, textures and natural beauty of the wood," points out Anne Cain, color consultant for Nat Wood Stains, Inc.

It makes little difference how old the wood is. When unsightly scuff marks, scars or layers of paint are sanded off, the original personality of the wood will reappear.

Every species of wood takes a stain in a different manner. The finished look depends on the color of the stain, how much is applied, the type of wood, its grain and texture.

Oak is the most popular flooring because of its durability, rich, warm color and countless combinations of grain and texture. However, many people prefer the softer, more uniform texture of maple floors. Older homes will often have pine floors.

Any of the three flooring styles — strip, random-width plank or parquet—can be personalized through the application of liquid wood stains.

RING WASHERS

Keep washers and nuts neatly organized on an ordinary spring-type shower curtain ring which snaps open or closed like a key ring. Ring can be hung wherever handy.

SIMPLIFY SANDING

Sand hard-to-reach corners and inside of curved moldings or edges with a sanding stick, made by wrapping sandpaper around a dowel or other stick of appropriate size and shape.

Housing Hints

SMALL PARTS

When cleaning a number of small parts in solvent, keep them from getting lost by first putting them inside a scrap piece of wire or screening bent into a bowl shape which can be lowered into solvent.

MEASURING METHOD

The easiest way to measure the total length of an appliance or power tool V-belt that needs replacing is to use a flexible steel tape. Measure around the outside of the old belt while it is still in place.

NAILING TIP

Wedge small tacks and short brads between teeth of a comb, which may then be used to hold them in place for nailing without endangering fingers.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For May 20

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Best now to heed every counsel where rest, health are concerned. Social affair can wait. Today basic insensitive need attraction. Friend may be well meaning, but ill-advised.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Check sources for key to action. Don't nag at children, loved ones. Pressure from high-er-ups indicated. Remember sense of humor. A smile gains more than a frown today.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Good time to pay and collect debts. Day favours reorganization. Awareness of details, powers of observation put to test. Care in personal appearance proves profitable.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Express ideas. Be aware of public image. Realize others are talking you seriously. Question concerning legal manoeuvre could arise. Think before you speak!

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Day to be practical. Overcome temptation to throw caution to winds. Realize you must face yourself tomorrow. Keep promises made to loved ones. Good sense prevails!

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Read fine print. Perceive beyond the obvious. This is a "testing" day. If you are mature ... objective is in sight. Otherwise, delay and confusion reign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Basic needs in spotlight. Be realistic . . . or your past lessons, mistakes, can alter picture. No day to delay. You win friends, allies with frank approach.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Finish what you start . . . then keep going to gain objective. Friend who made promises may be called to task. Philosophical . . . and understanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Others due to show appreciation for past favors. But don't rest on laurels. New, original ideas, your innate sense of drama pays off. Give your all!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Money question can be resolved in your favor. Avoid needless gloom. Don't rush plans. Be thorough. Responsible person is shown. Behave this -- react accordingly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Key is now taking the initiative. This applies especially where business dealings are concerned. Don't be timid. If you have facts, you can proceed with confidence.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Use discretion in dealings requiring legal support. Seek attorney-ess. Advisor may be in different. Intuition on correct approach. Extra care now assures future dividends.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are sympathetic to plight of underdog. Your sensitivity finds excellent expression in the arts.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle hogs for Aquarius, Pisces. Special word to Libra: Key to success is acceptance of responsibility.

Outdoor Furniture Gets New Life With Paint

Lawn furniture that has taken a beating from exposure to the elements last summer can be re-vitalized with a little paint and a minimum of elbow grease, says the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

According to the association, there are three very important things to remember to restore a sparkling look to weather-beaten outdoor furniture. These are proper surface preparation; good application of a quality coating and effective color styling.

In preparing the surface, be sure it is completely clean, scrubbing it thoroughly to remove all dirt. All loose or blistered paint from previous coats must be sanded away. Any glossy areas should be sanded to provide "tooth" for the new paint. All rust must be removed from metal furniture, or wooden furniture with metal attachments.

When the furniture is ready to be painted, a quality enamel may be brushed or sprayed on. With the brush method, allow the paint to flow on generously, cross - stroking to spread coating evenly and catch any excess.

The spray method is most recommended for wicker furniture, but remember to cover the surrounding area with dropcloths or newspapers. It is a good idea to choose a calm day if the job is to be done outdoors, to make sure the least dust will be blown onto the wet paint.

White is the traditional color for outdoor furniture, because it adds freshness and in the case of metal furniture stays the coolest under long exposure to the sun.

Time Is Here To Clean up, Fix up Home

Spring time is synonymous with house clean-up and fix-up. And it's a job that the whole family can share, and enjoy, too.

Modern cleaning tools and supplies and the vast abundance of repair materials have made the job of cleaning and fixing up a home somewhat easier, but the job is still a big one. There's sure to be a chore for each member of the family, no matter what his or her age.

First item on the agenda is to make sure all the materials needed for the tasks ahead are on hand. When buying supplies, read the information on the bottle, can, tube, or whatever, carefully. Make certain you know what you are using and how to use it.

PUT THEM TO WORK

Now, on to the job of cleaning up. Mom might supervise the cleaning of the inside of the house while Dad takes to the outside. The youngsters can be responsible for many indoors, outdoors, garage and basement clean-up jobs.

Spring clean-up time is a good time for Father to check the walls and roof of the house for trouble spots.

On the roof make sure that all shingles are still in place, installing down or replacing the ones that aren't. Check for cracks around the chimney, and corrosion in flashing which, if severly damaged, should be replaced.

CHECK GUTTERING

Temporary repairs on the roof can be made with a coating of roofing cement, especially useful for minor cracks and rust spots.

The guttering of the house is probably one of the most important spots to check. Make sure that guttering is completely cleared of all debris that has accumulated during the winter. Re-inforce hangings which have worked their way loose and replace the ones which have deteriorated.

As Dad works his way down towards the foundation of the house, he should check the walls for cracks, filling them with caulking. Window pains, lintels and window heads should also be checked for cracks and filled with putty or caulking. These items should also be checked on the inside of the house.

At the base of the home, check for connections between the wood of the house and the ground, separating all such connections with some sort of cement to assure more protection from termites.

Around the foundation, see that all holes are filled with sand or gravel and topped with sod. These holes, if not filled, may cause rain leakage.

Paint Plans Create More Color Harmony

When color styling two adjoining rooms, care should be taken to make the transition from one to the other a smooth one so that the two do not clash.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association suggests two methods which help achieve a harmonious look.

One method is to paint the walls of the two rooms the same color and to repeat the color of the floor covering of one room on the ceiling of the other. A second idea would be to reverse the wall and ceiling colors of the two.

121 Die In Plane Crash At Cairo

London-Bound Pakistani Jet On First Flight

CAIRO (Reuters) — A Pakistani jetliner inaugurating a new route from Karachi to London crashed in flames in rugged desert country 10 miles from Cairo Airport today, killing 121 persons.

Airport officials said there were six survivors, all of them badly injured.

HITS HILL

The Boeing 720-B of the Pakistan International Airlines plowed into a sand hill in a heavy fog as it prepared to make its final approach to the Cairo airport.

Nearly impassable terrain delayed the arrival of rescuers until six hours after the crash.

Six ambulances and 20 fire brigades were sent out.

"It all happened so fast I didn't know what was going on," said one of the survivors, Galal Alkarimi, an employee of the airline.

"One minute I was sitting inside the plane with a safety belt fastened around my waist. The next thing I remember was hearing an explosion. When I came to, I found myself lying outside the wreckage."

"It was a horrible sight," said one of the rescue party, "an area of 2 square kilometers littered with what is left of

Dief To Join Fray

By PAUL DUNN

OTTAWA (CP) — Debate on proposed sweeping changes in the procedure rules of the Commons is expected to jump into high gear today as Opposition Leader Diefenbaker joins the fray.

Prime Minister Pearson took up virtually all the time available for debate on the resolutions Wednesday and Michael Starr, Conservative House leader, asked for adjournment on behalf of Mr. Diefenbaker, absent on a speaking engagement during the afternoon sitting.

The changes include imposition of a limit on supply debates to 36 days in any session —supply took 90 days at the last session—extension of Commons sitting hours, shakeup of committees and abolition of appeals of rulings by the Speaker, moderator of Commons conduct and debate.

House business would be arranged by an all-party business committee which would decide on priorities and the time allotted for debate on each topic. Should the committee not agree, the question would be referred back to the government for decision as at present.

Commons sitting hours would

Pearson Will Aid Labor Force

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP)-A program of loans and grants for workers who want to move to jobs in other areas was announced in the Commons Wednesday by Prime Minister Pearson as part of his "war on poverty" campaign. It will involve a $5,000,000 loan fund and another $3,000,000 a year in outright grants.

The aim is to put new mobility into the labor force, shifting labor surpluses to areas of labor shortage and encouraging workers to go where their skills can best be used.

Labor Minister MacEachen made a simultaneous announcement, with additional details during a speech to the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities at Windsor, Ont.

No starting date has been set for the program but Mr. MacEachen told reporters he hopes to have it under way soon. It will be administered by the National Employment Service.

Loans will be made to those who can afford to repay them. Grants—with repayment involved—will go mainly to persons who have been out of work for long periods.

WILL COVER COSTS

In either case the payment will cover actual costs of moving families and furniture plus a resettlement allowance of $400 for a man and wife and $100 for each dependent up to six dependents.

Shah Mixing Politics With Pleasure in Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—As it entered its second day, the state visit of the Shah of Iran to Canada already showed promise of being more than just a series of formall receiving lines and glittering banquets.

The 45-year-old shah, hailed by Prime Minister Pearson on his arrival here Wednesday as "a great leader with progressive policies," seems to have no cousins about mixing international politics with the lavish social entertainments usually associated with royal tours.

Wednesday night the Iranian ruler said his country would be ready to associate itself wholeheartedly with an international peace force set up under the control of the United Nations. Earlier, he had held discussions on international affairs with the prime minister and External Affairs Minister Martin.

Today he was to make a public speech at a joint meeting of the men's and women's Canadian clubs of Ottawa.

At a state reception Wednesday at Government House for over 1,000 people, the shah had brief but intensive discussions with a number of prominent Ottawa diplomats and parliamentarians.

Sitting next to Governor-General Vanier in one corner of the gold-and-grey Government House ballroom, the Shah talked for some time with the Russian ambassador to Canada, Ivan F. Shpedko, about international events.

The shah also spoke with the American ambassador to Canada, W. Walton Butterworth, and with the British high commissioner to Canada, Sir Henry Lintott.

Focus of most of the attention for the women was the Empress Farah's magnificent emerald and diamond tiara, part of the Iranian crown jewels. The sparkling tiara and matching drop earrings are part of a group gained by Iran in an early conquest of India.

While harried Government House aides rounded up the various dignitaries whom the shah wished to meet, the rest of the guests sipped champagne, listened to music played by a woodwind ensemble from the RCAF Central Command band.

One Killed, Four Hurt In Mishaps

CHATHAM (CP)—Three accidents involving trains in southwestern Ontario Wednesday, two of them near this Kent County city of 21,000, caused the death of one person, the injury of four others and the derailment of 34 railway cars.

The largest mishap, 12 miles southwest of here on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway line, caused a scare for a time when one tank car among the 20 freight cars and five diesel engines derailed, burst and spread hundreds of gallons of chemical into a ditch.

Police, fearing that the chemical might be explosive and poisonous, closed off a quarter-mile area. The chemical was later identified as phenolic acid, used in the treatment of copper wire. It can cause illness to people breathing its fumes.

Chemical experts were brought in from Sarnia to try to neutralize the acid.

The accident, in which a

Queen to Make Trip on Rhine; Threats Made

BONN (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth's state visit to West Germany — already hailed as a turning point in relations between the enemies of two world wars — moved into its third day today with a trip down the Rhine to Wiesbaden.

But there was a shadow over the royal tour. Another bomb police said Wednesday night that letters were received containing threats against the Queen's life.

The Queen and Prince Philip are due in the Bavarian city Friday. Security police, who first denied reports of threats, said there was "no cause for serious fears."

A London newspaper, The Daily Sketch, reported that the Queen was expected to decide at the end of her 11-day visit whether her son Prince Charles should go to school in Germany.

Leaflets Warn North Viet Nam Of 'Disastrous Consequences'

From Reuters-AP

SAIGON (CP) — United States aircraft made three separate strikes against military targets in North Viet Nam today.

Today's Chuckle

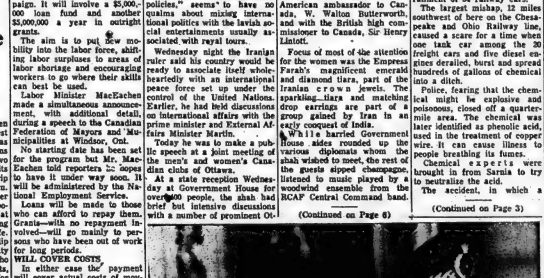
Love is when she sinks in his arms and winds up with her arms in a sink.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Fine sunny weather with temperatures just a little cooler than Wednesday is forecast for today in all regions. Friday's weather is expected to show a slight warming trend along with increased cloudiness and some scattered showers or thunderstorms.

The leaflets were dropped by 25 F-105 Thunderchiefs within 55 miles of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

On the ground, the Viet Cong fired a short mortar barrage into a U.S. marine patrol 15 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing one marine and wounding two others. The marines reported their return fire killed at least two guerrillas.



The dropping of the leaflets capped a day of almost continuous air strikes against the North on the third day of renewed raids.

Earlier strikes were reported against the Phu Qui petroleum complex, 125 miles south of Hanoi, and against a convoy of 15 trucks 90 miles south of Hanoi. Phu Qui also was attacked when the raids were resumed Tuesday.

Wednesday night three pairs of U.S. Navy Skyhawks made separate strikes against a bridge 77 miles south of Hanoi and boxcars and other targets about 120 miles below the capital. They followed a mass strike by 46 U.S. navy planes Wednesday morning.

The raids against the North were resumed Tuesday after a six - day suspension failed to bring any response from Hanoi to U.S. peace overtures.

On the ground today, 400 U.S. marines followed up a major pacifying operation in guerrilla-infested areas near the U.S. air base at Da Nang.

Bodies Rotting In Streets Of Santo Domingo

From Reuters-AP

SANTO DOMINGO (CP) — United Nations and Red Cross officials today tried to get leaders of the rival civil war forces in the Dominican Republic to sign a 12-hour ceasefire and allow the removal of dead and wounded from the fighting zone.

The Red Cross said bodies of men, women and children had been rotting in the streets for days.

A spokesman for the UN peace mission said both the junta and the rebels have agreed "in principle" to the 12-hour ceasefire.

But the spokesman said that Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, head of the "constitutionalist" rebel government, refused to sign a joint agreement with Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras, the "national reconstruction" junta president.

The UN official said efforts would be made to try to get the two men to sign separate agreements for-a daylight ceasefire Friday in order that the Red Cross can take care of wounded and dead in the fierce battle that has raged in the city this week.

CLAIMS CONTROL

The junta claimed "absolute control" of the country and called for unconditional surrender of the rebels.

"We have absolute control of the Dominican Republic," Imbert told a rally of about 1,000 cheering middle and upper - class followers inside the U.S.-occupied international zone of Santo Domingo Wednesday night.

Imbert spoke from a balcony at his headquarters in the Congressional Palace shortly after junta troops overran the rebel radio station and rebel resistance in northern Santo Domingo collapsed.

Caamano also has refused to reject with Imbert, contending that any compromise with the junta would violate rebel demands for a return to the 1963 constitution.

Shooting tapered off Wednesday night, but there apparently were no lulls in the fighting in the northern sector. Imbert told a reporter the battle would be over by the weekend.

CLAIMS 375 KILLED

Two days ago Col. Caamano claimed the junta soldiers had been killed.

Caamano's chief of staff, Col. Ramon Montes Arache, estimated his own army's losses at up to 25 dead. He said more than 300 civilians were killed in the battle.

A junta spokesman said 800 rebel troops had been taken in the battle in the northern suburbs.

Hospitals reported 20 dead in the fighting, but some estimates placed the total at more than 100 including civilians.

In New York, UN Secretary-General U Thant called on the United States to "use its good offices" to get the rival Dominican factions to sign a truce.

New Rail Service To Metro

TORONTO (CP) — A government - operated 52 - mile commuter train system along the CNR lakeshore right - of way from Burlington to Toronto and then to Dunbarton will begin late in 1966 or early 1967, Premier Robarts announced Wednesday.

The province will spend $7,500,000 for 48 railway commuter cage and 19 diesel locomotives to provide the new service. Part of the capital cost will also go into station improvements and relocations.

The CNR will operate trains under contract to the government at an estimated annual cost of $2,500,000. Revenue from fares will cut the government subsidy to about $1,500,000 or $2,000,000.

It is expected the commuter trains will run every 30 minutes during peak periods and will handle 6,000 passengers an hour initially, by increasing the size of the trains, up to 12,000 commuters an hour could be carried.

MAKE STATEMENTS

Premier Robarts and Highways Minister Charles MacNaughton both made statements announcing the program as the legislature began its sitting Wednesday. Later, they appeared at a press conference with CNR President Donald Gordon to answer questions on the project.

Mr. Robarts said the commuter service is designed as a two- or three-year experiment. But the government looked to it "with high hope for success so that it might be adopted more extensively in the region and, possibly, other parts of the province."

Mr. Gordon told reporters the inaugurating of the government program will mean that the CNR will have to seek permission from the board of transport commissioners to cancel its Hamilton - Toronto commuter trains.

Three Killed by 100-foot Fall Inside Fort William Chimney

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Three men were killed and four injured Wednesday when a scaffold inside a chimney they were building collapsed, plunging six of them more than 100 feet to the bottom of the chimney's interior.

George Bazicdo, 19, of Fort William and Larry Tremblay, 27, of Hagar were killed almost instantly. Myron Wetzyk, 23, of Fort William died in hospital six hours later.

Injured were Terence Byington, 26, of Fort William, William Bishop, 29, of Toronto, Ronald Oulmette, 17, of Blind River and Robert Godbout, 31, of Welland.

Officials said none of the injured is in critical condition.

Godbout, who was the crew foreman, was the only one of the seven who did not fall with the scaffold.

As the scaffold broke he jumped to the rim of the chimney and climbed over the top. Using his bare arms he made his way down a steel ladder imbedded in concrete on the outside of the chimney.

The men involved were employed by Canadian Custodia Chimney Co. Ltd. of Toronto. The chimney they were working on—to be 300 feet tall when completed—is part of a $31,000,000 kraft-paper mill being built Great Lakes Paper Co.

Sales and Ad Club Members Hold Annual Ladies' Night

The Belleville Sales and Ad Club held its 17th annual Ladies' Night Dinner and Dance last night at the Club Commodore. There were 167 couples in attendance, including members and out-of-town guests.

The evening opened with a reception line greeting and a social hour. Members of the reception line were Gerry Hyde, president, "Peggy" Hyde, Bill Slade, incoming president, Vera Slade, Stan Wiggins, Ladies' Night chairman and Mary Wiggins.

During the club's business session, following dinner, next season's president, Bill Slade was introduced and outgoing president, Jerry Hyde, reviewed the season's activities.

The new directors of the club were also introduced. They are: Bill Slade, Jerry Hyde, Bill McBride, Don Bowie, Louis Marshall, Stan Wiggins, Dick Barrett, Phil Flagler, Fred Deacon and Dick Beare.

Ladies' Night Chairman Stan Wiggins also addressed the large gathering.

A host of Booster prizes were raffled off. Winners of the three major prizes were: A ladies' wardrobe, Mrs. John Denton; an outdoor living room, Mrs. Bill McBride; and a ladies' perfume basket, Mrs. Bev Colleary. Another 25 prizes were won by lucky ladies during the evening.

Entertainment was provided by vocalist Doris Swan and comedian Billy Meek. John McFarlane and his ten-piece orchestra provided the music for dancing.

Horticultural Society Forms New Committee

A Trillium Award Committee of the Belleville Horticultural Society was formed Tuesday night at a meeting held at City Hall. Purpose of the committee is to present brilliant lawn markers to owners of well-turned-for and landscaped properties in Belleville, and thus promote a more beautiful city.

Individual homeowners, blocks, public buildings and industries are eligible for the awards. Two contests will be held each year, in early summer and in the autumn.

Later in the season, nomination coupons will be printed in the newspaper, for anyone to fill out with the name of deserving property owners, who are considered worthy of an award.

"Everyone should prepare now to qualify for a coveted trillium award by improving his property and garden," said Mr. Enos David, chairman of the Trillium Award Committee. "In Hamilton, where this type of program has been in operation for five years, it has done a tremendous amount toward the beautification of the city."

Members of the committee, besides Chairman David are: Mayor Jack Ellis; Mr. C. A. S. Smith, president of the Horticultural Society; Mr. Lloyd Syre, Parks Superintendent; Mr. George Wishart, chairman of the Moira Conservation Authority; Mr. Paul Wierzand; Mr. W. G. Glass, and Mrs. R. W. Norris.

Yvonne Dionne Leaves Convent

MONTREAL (CP) — Yvonne Dionne, one of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets, left a convent here at Monday night, apparently about "three weeks ago and is living temporarily with a married sister, a family spokesman said Wednesday.

Germain Allard, husband of Yvonne's sister Marie, had been at the convent for 24 years but did not take her final vows.

She was to take them next year," he said in an interview.

Inside Story Of Honda

When Honda considered getting into the motorcycle field, they decided to start from the ground up and design a new [illegible] tested four cycle engine, which operates on the same principle as your automobile's motor, has regular gasoline, separate tank and oil pump, that gives constant lubrication even when the engine is idling.

They decided against the two cycle engine, or "screamer" as they are affectionately called by some, for various reasons. One, for your automobile, the messy, bothersome mixing of oil and gasoline, which, while being burned in the engine, produces a large amount of smoke.

The main advantage in the four cycle engine, however, is the efficient oil pressure lubrication at low or high speeds, by the time-tested oil pump, as used on automobiles, aircraft, tractors and the better types of lawn mowers.

Most two cycle engines depend on the mixture of the gas and oil mixture, for lubrication. This works fairly well on an engine that is constantly flying. However on a wheeled vehicle, there are long hills, where the engine is throttled back, and the engine is not firing sufficiently to produce proper lubrication. With the resulting lack of oil, this may cause overheating, excessive wear, or engine seizure.

Even though the cost of building the more efficient and rugged four cycle engine was greater, Honda felt that by producing a superior product, they could capture the world market and bring down costs by mass production. Honda thinking couldn't have been better — the Honda was an instant hit. Their sales have exploded, putting Honda in number one position, taking over up to 85% of the motorcycle market. They achieved their goal by offering a superior product at less money!

Some competitors of Honda claim there are fewer moving parts in the two cycle engine. This may be true, but it's like comparing a two transistor radio with a ten transistor radio — there may be fewer parts, but there is a big difference in performance too, and if you could buy the ten transistor radio, with its superior performance, at the same price or less, it only stands to reason you would buy the ten transistor radio. This applies to Honda; the facts speak for themselves.

To give a boost to lagging sales it is rumored that other manufacturers of two cycle motorcycles are considering a change to the more efficient four cycle type of engine that is now in the Honda, but until they do, Honda is still the best buy.

With Honda you have the best now in engines, styling, economy, and performance, and at prices below most competitors.

Remember you meet the nicest people on a Honda.

Degrees Given Four District, City Students

Four Belleville and District students graduated recently from Saint Patrick's College in Ottawa and were awarded their Bachelors' degrees.

Awarded Bachelor of Arts degrees were Carol Casey and Douglas Daniels of Belleville, and Brian McCormack of Brighton. Charles Genore of Tweed attained his Bachelor of Commerce degree.

A total of 133 students received their degrees recently. This is the largest graduating class in the history of the college.

The degrees will be presented at Convocation ceremonies Sunday in Glebe Collegiate auditorium, Ottawa.

Experts Still Baffled by Dieoff of Fish

Fishery experts are still baffled by what they term an explosive dieoff of fish in the Bay of Quinte.

Water samples have been taken and analyzed, but so far without shedding any light on the causes.

"There is not one clue as to what killed the fish," said R. E. Whitefield, Fish and Wildlife supervisor at Tweed. "It could be any one of a number of virues or bacteria."

Mr. Whitefield said the dieoff was quite extensive, ranging from the Murray canal to the north end, virtually the entire bay area.

"Pretty near every species is [illegible] fish," he said. "There is a sizeable kill of pickerel and there are carp, suckers, perch, gar, pike and one sea lamprey."

Mr. Whitefield said the fisheries research station at Glenora is still investigating the kill and the Water Resources Commission had sent a representative from Toronto.

Meanwhile the Forest Protection supervisor at Tweed, Bert Dunn, reports that 530 acres have been burned in 61 fires this year. This compares with 50 fires at the same time last year.

Mr. Dunn said 26 of the fires had been caused by burning of grass and brush, 16 by people fishing and camping and 11 under the heading of "incendiarism" started with malicious intent.

Lightning caused two of the fires and there was attributed to miscellaneous causes. The fire hazard has been reduced to a low medium range by the recent rains" said Mr. Dunn.

Post Office Hours Given For Holiday

Postal letter carriers and a large percentage of the post office workers will take a day off on Monday, May 24th (Victoria Day) with only partial service offered on the holiday.

There will be no delivery by city or rural carriers, and all post office wickets will be closed, but the lock box office will be open from 8.30 until 6.00 p.m. Street letter box collections will be made in the evening only.

Special delivery service will be available and mails will be received and despatched as usual.

WO2 Victor Witriak Wins Third Time as Best Cadet

TRENTON — For the first time in a number of years, the Trenton High School Band played "background" music for the ceremonial review of the 72 cadets in Trenton High School Air Cadet squadron, No. 178, in the school playground last night. Reviewing officer was Wing Commander L. W. Bradley, CD, Staff Officer Supply, Air Transport Command, Trenton. He was assisted by F/O G. S. Park, CD.

For the third time, WO2 Victor Witriak was given the John Proctor trophy for the best cadet on parade. The cup has been won twice by the same person. Douglas Whitley, a local businessman (and a member of the Trenton Board of Education) who went on to become the vice-chairman of the Ontario Provincial Council, Air Cadet League of Canada. But this is the first time a cadet has won the cup three times. Victor Witriak last night put a drill squad through its paces.

Proficiency certificates were given to WO Witriak, FS R. Fish, Sgt. Steele, Sgt. R. Lowe and Sgt. D. Swann.

Attendance awards were given to WO2 Witriak (3 years); FS R. Steele, (2 years); FS J. Smith; Sgt. B. Alkerton, (2 years); Sgt. D. Knightley, (2 years); Cpl. D. Hinton, (3 years; Cpl. Ian Forbes; LAC A. Fash; LAC D. Ramsay; LAC J. Caesar; ACIs G. Burford, S. Campbell, R. Creelman, R. Hall, D. Inglis, L. Jones, G. Knight, B. Lloyd, D. C. Smith, R. St. Germain.

Proficiency awards were given to WO2 Witriak for sports and drill; FS Steele for general proficiency; FS D. Smith for general proficiency; Sgt. B. Alkerton, general proficiency; Cpl. D. Hinton, model aircraft; Cpl. A. Rogers, dress and model aircraft; Cpl. Ian Forbes, dress; LAC S. Bale, hockey; ACI S. Campbell, dress.

AWARDS MADE

Ribbons for the squadron crest contest: 1, AC1 D. Williamson; 2, Cpl. D. Hinton; 3, LAC W. Tarrant; 4, Sgt. D. Sanson.

The Flying Scholarship went to Sgt. D. Sanson.

F/L J. F. Rowe is the commanding officer of the squadron. The group's administrative officer is F/O W. M. Mack; supply officer, F/O G. B. Gallagher; F/O R. L. Mallock; other instructors, R. F. Hicks and W. V. Sheffield.

The Trenton High School Band was under the direction of Sgt. R. Lowe, CD, of No. 6 RD, RCAF.

For last night's march past, the commanding officer was WO2 V. Witriak; adjutant, FS R. Bale; Flight commanders, FS R. Steele, FS D. Smith and the squadron warrant officer is Sgt. D. Sanson.

Also present at the review were T. S. Kotcheson, chairman of the Trenton Board of Education, Jack Hadley, a board member and the chairman of the board's high school committee and John Garrett, principal of the school.

Flying Officer MacDonald praised the cadets for their smart performance and performance on parade.

Mr. Garrett read aloud greetings from Miss Marjorie Hamer and, a former high school teacher, who was unable to attend the parade.

WIRE MUST CONFORM

LONDON (CP)—British home office officials are considering banning imported electrical gadgets whose wiring does not conform to the British color code; red and black for power wires and green for ground.

VON Branch Down in Funds Despite Grant

TRENTON — The local Victorian Order of Nurses branch is down in funds this year, in spite of an increased town grant, ($4,000, upped $500 from last year), and the outstanding success of the VON spring tea, held last month in the Lyon Byron Street home of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McDonald. Gross receipts from the tea were $423.00, of which around $17 will have to be paid for necessary expenses. Last year's net was around $400.

Branch treasurer, H. J. "Bod" Swanson reported at Tuesday night's executive meeting that there was a bank balance of only $636.41.

Meanwhile, it was reported that "business" is down, with not too many people calling on the many VON nurses.

Miss Doris Nash, regional VON supervisor, was at the meeting and she had some suggestions. She said she felt the branch was not getting enough effort into selling Lyon Day tags. Miss Nash also suggested that a part - time nurse, Mrs. G. C. Onyette, not be replaced when she leaves Trenton at the end of June. Then with pre - school immunization clinics put down for the summer, and separate clinics there VON supervises here's supervision covered, the executive members also felt services of a part - time nurse could be dispensed with, in addition to the town grant and tag receipts, the branch recently received $550 from a "letter campaign" to businessmen. VON tag days will be June 4 and 5 and it is hoped receipts from these will be greater this year. Mrs. Lorne Richards is convener of the tag days, assisted by Mrs. Harry Wickson will handle the Frankford campaign. In Middleton Park Pat Gilles will head up the tag days.

VON door - to - door canvass will be held in October and a convener for this will soon be chosen, so that plans may be got underway.

The nurse - in - charge, Miss Mary Morgan Gillies reported she and her assistants had made 93 contacts in April. Maternity and newborn, for which there is no charge, numbered 20; infant and pre-school, two; adults, 71; patients not seen but given advice over the telephone, two.

Prison Escapee Captured in Bush Country

KINGSTON (CP) — Guards from Kingston penitentiary and provincial police captured John Kenneth Tyron, 30, of Kingston, a prison escapee, and another man in wild bush country 30 miles north of here Wednesday.

Tyron walked away from a work gang near the penitentiary Tuesday. He had about six months left to serve on a 3½-year sentence on nine separate charges including robbery while armed, auto theft and uttering forged documents.

Martin J. Purtell, 24, also of Kingston was arrested with Tyron.

IN MEMORIAM

PARKS — In loving memory of Edward Blake Parks who passed away May 20th, 1964.

Memories are precious lamps, dear Dad, that shine in the darkness. To the beautiful hope of reunion, when we meet at the end of the road.

— Ever remembered by your loving wife, children and grandchildren, Mrs. Mildred Parks.

LYON — In loving memory of a dear father, Wm. R. Lyon who passed away May 20, 1963.

A wonderful father, kind and true, One who was better God never knew.

A wonderful worker, loyal and true,

One in million, that father, was you.

Just to your judgment, always right,

Honest and liberal, scorned by no one,

Loved by friends and all who knew you.

A wonder father, that father was he,

Always remembered by daughter, Eva and son-in-law, George.

Either side of the Atlantic, Jersey cows are much the same discovers Irish Colleen Hilda Neil as she makes friends with five-year-old milker "Vedas" on farm of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hamilton, Sidney township.

Northern Ireland Girl Enjoying Canadian Visit

Hilda K. Neill is a young farmer from Northern Ireland — but she does not farm regularly any more. After three years on her family's 150 acres, Miss Neill decided to branch out. Now she is matron of Belmont House School, a school for retarded children in historic Londonderry, Ulster's second city.

Londonderry borders on County Donegal, in the Irish Republic. It is some 50 miles from the Neill farm at Dervock, County Antrim, which Hilda visits when she can — but for relaxation only, for as far as the farm is concerned her brother "is the boss." Her father also works the farm.

Miss Neill is one of eight young farmers from the United Kingdom who are visiting Canada under an exchange program. She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hamilton at their farm at R. R. 5 Trenton. She has already stayed with families in Carleton and Glengarry. After her visit with the Hamilton's she heads for Maple and then Brant, Lambton and Grey counties. She will also visit Niagara Falls.

"Talking of the farm operation at home, Miss Neill said; "We have 70 acres of barley and produce 250 tons of silage for the cattle. We have 70 head of beef cattle and 250 pigs."

ENJOYS HAYRIDE

Last night Miss Neill enjoyed her first Canadian hayride, and Friday night will attend a county Junior Farmers' dance.

At her school in Londonderry, Miss Neill looks after 41 girls who live in and 20 day students. Apart from visits home, she keeps up her interest in the land through membership of one of the Young Farmers' Clubs of Ulster which she is representing on this trip.

Miss Neill made the trip to Canada in the liner Carinthia, and like many a landlubber confessed to having felt rather the worse for a rough crossing. Still, she managed to win a prize at the fancy dress ball on board and has no fears for the return voyage in July.

During her visit to Ontario Miss Neill speaks to junior farmer groups and to school children, telling of farming practices in Ireland and showing colored slides of Irish scenes.

Imlach, Abel Both Pleased With Deal

TORONTO (CP)—The eight-player National Hockey League trade between Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs began as a one-for-one deal, Leaf manager - coach George (Punch) Imlach said today.

"It started out as a one-for-one situation. Then Sid (Detroit coach Sid Abel) and I decided we might as well make it a five-for-five trade and he gave me five for three."

Detroit sent defencemen Marcel Pronovost and Aut Erickson and forwards Larry Jeffrey, Eddie Joyal and Lowell MacDonald to Toronto for forwards Andy Bathgate, Billy Harris and minor leaguer Gary Jarrett.

Imlach was pleased with the deal, although he wouldn't say if Bathgate's public criticism of him last month prompted the trade.

Bathgate was quoted by the Brampton, Ont., Times and Conservator as saying the Leafs missed a fourth straight Stanley Cup because "there were exhausting practices and many (players) didn't get along with the coach."

GLAD FOR HARRIS

Imlach said he was glad for Harris

"This way he can stay in the NHL. Also, I am sure that we'll have the strongest player roster in the NHL. Pronovost is the fifth best defenceman in the world. Jeffrey and Joyal are proven. Williams. MacDonald could be a sleeper. Erickson will also be useful."

Abel said that he and Imlach had talked a couple of times about a deal.

"But I flew to Toronto last week and we worked things out. Even though I wanted to trade in order to strengthen our club, I hate to see Marcel go. I played with him and coached with him, but we had to give up something and I want to wish him all the best of success with the Toronto club. I had to give up a valuable player to get a player of the calibre of Bathgate.

"Jeffrey never produced what we expected of him but he is a good hockey player. Joyal is still developing and when we had to give up farmhands like Lowell MacDonald and Autrey Erickson, we had to pay a big price.

"I think Harris will surely help us. He is a class forward and Gary Jarrett is a rookie from Tulsa on whom we had good reports."

SEEK INQUIRY

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition spokesmen called in the Commons Wednesday for a parliamentary inquiry into reports of a crisis in the centennial administration. Prime Minister Pearson said the spending estimates of the agency soon will be referred to a committee and MPs would have the opportunity to question centennial planners.

Board Plans 600-Student Addition for Still Unbuilt High School in West End

Even before tenders are called for a fourth high school in Belleville, members of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board are making plans for an addition to the building.

Approvals are now almost all in for the construction of a 1,200-pupil fourth high school in West Belleville and tenders are expected to be called next month, but already architects Barnett and Rieder have been authorized to proceed with plans for a 600 pupil future addition.

The new high school board hoped to be completed in time for school re-opening in September 1966, while the 600-pupil addition is expected to be needed by 1968.

The decision to go ahead with plans for the 1968 school addition was made by board members at their May meeting held last evening.

LENGTHY SESSION

The meeting was one of the longest of the year's lasting until well past midnight and saw the hiring of nine more teachers bringing the number of new teachers engaged to 55.

Of this number about 23 are additional teachers made necessary by increased school enrolments and the "double shift" system of classes to be inaugurated at Belleville Collegiate next year.

Contracts to Carrol Electric of Campbellford, Garn Peacock Plastering, and Acme Plumbing, were awarded for continuation of classroom renovations at BCI.

Carrol Electric also received the contract for continuation of re-lighting at Quinte Secondary School.

Plans are also underway for changing a storage room at Quinte to a drafting room.

OFFER TO BUILD WALK

Students at Moira Secondary School are prepared to go ahead with still another school project providing board members are agreeable.

The students' council has offered to build a sidewalk from the corner of Victoria and Farley Ave. to the main school entrance.

The board will make a contribution to the recreation commission toward the cost of a new fence at the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church tennis court.

The board will take out a similar deal to install three high school auditoriums this year and then review the matter at the year end.

As has been customary in recent years the board will pay the cost of a bus to take local students to summer school at Kingston. The summer classes are arranged for students up to grade 12, who have failed in one or two subjects.

ORDINANCE BOOKS

Also agreed to by the board was a motion for school principals to co - ordinate as far as possible on the selection of textbooks for use in the three high schools.

At the meeting Board member, William Townson, tendered his resignation from the board. Mr. Townson's term on the board runs until December 1966 but for business reasons he has been forced to resign. City council will be asked to make an appointment to fill out Mr. Townson's term.

The labor minister listed these three categories of workers who will be eligible for loans, repayable "normally" in two years at interest not exceeding six per cent:

N. Unemployed persons whose prospects of finding steady employment in line with their qualifications are unfavorable in their own locality;

2. Workers who are facing layoff of a permanent nature and whose prospects of finding steady employment within commuting distance are unfavorable;

3. Previously unemployed workers who, on their own initiative, have moved to employment approved by the NES in another locality and who require assistance in moving their families and household effects.

WILL GIVE LEEWAY

Mr. MacEachen said regulations will be drawn up to provide partial forgiveness of the loans in some circumstances and for repayment periods of more than two years where necessary.

youth was killed and three railway workers injured, occurred when the 33-car train bound for Detroit struck a gravel truck at a crossing.

William John Imeson, 18, of Staples, Ont., driver of the truck, was killed.

In satisfactory condition in hospital are William Barker of St. Thomas, the engineer, who suffered back injuries and scalp cuts, and brakeman Fred Perfect, 44, of St. Thomas, with back injuries and head cuts.

Conductor A. T. Hanley of St. Thomas was bruised and cut when flung from one wall to the other in the caboose at the rear of the train.

District engineer Owen Jones of Detroit said 100 feet of track was ripped up and 300 feet of roadbed will have to be rebuilt. Damage was estimated at $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 and officials said it may take a week to restore traffic.

Toys, household appliances, auto engine blocks, auto accessories and groceries were scattered over a wide area and police guarded the wreckage overnight against looting.

Eighty-five per cent of the train was empty and some of the unloaded cars torn from the tracks were thrown 50 feet. Among the wreckage were 35 trucks which had been aboard piggy-back railway cars.

Also spewn over the area was diesel oil from the overturned locomotives. Firemen from Raleigh Township, Chatham, Merlin and Blenheim stood by.

Twelve miles northwest of here, meanwhile, a station wagon collided with a CPR freight train and was buried into a ditch, causing minor injuries to its driver, Charles Ramayol, 58, of Detroit. His wife jumped to safety.

Near Tillsonburg, 85 miles east of here and 20 miles south of Woodstock, nine cars of a 110-car freight train were derailed but no one was injured. The wreckage of the train, bound for Buffalo, N.Y., from Detroit, blocked both lines of the New York Central.

Officials said the derailment was apparently caused by a broken wheel.

A Cause for Concern

The Canadian government, according to The Canadian Press, without saying so publicly is deeply troubled about the United States military intervention in the Dominican Republic.

In this the Pearson administration has company, both in this hemisphere and elsewhere, both in official circles and outside them.

Somehow, though, we cannot get unduly alarmed about what, to read The Canadian Press story, appears to be one of the main reasons for uneasiness at Ottawa.

"In the long run," says the news agency, "the reaction of the communist bloc to the American intervention in the Dominican Republic will be far more critical than the intervention itself."

We are not disputing the truth of this statement, but at the same time it tends to make us overlook the fact that the most important reaction is likely to be that in various states of Central and South America, rather than the reaction in communist lands.

Barring some startling changes in the communist party line, the United States is unlikely to win the love and affection of any communist state for many decades. It had, though, painstakingly repaired the damage done its reputation in Latin America by earlier excursions of the marines, in the days when the right of big powers to safeguard their citizens and interests by the despatch of troops to strife-torn small countries was generally taken for granted. From the Latin American view, Uncle Sam had "reformed." (It was a reform duplicated in a measure, but perhaps not in so convincing a manner, by the other great powers, outside the fascist and communist group.) The intervention in the Dominican Republic is regrettable because for many Latin Americans it calls this reform into question.

Much of Latin America is under despotic rule. Despots rarely reform. They have to be deposed. Rarely can this be accomplished without violence. Revolutions are commonplace in many South American lands, but almost without exception in the past they have consisted of one military faction ousting another from power. Eventually, Latin America will be swept by revolutionary movements with more meaning, involving the transfer of political power from the hands of the wealthy few to those of the needy many. The only way to avoid such uprisings would be for outside powers to intervene in the case of those states with the harshest dictatorships. But the Organization of American States, wisely we think, has ruled out any intervention. A policy which permitted such action would almost inevitably lead to abuses worse than the disease of tyranny which needs curing.

Latin America, then, faces an epoch of revolution. In the nature of things, the revolutionary forces are going to include communists. This would be so even if the communists did not share some of the aims of the revolutionary movement. If the United States is going to send marines whenever a Latin American country has a revolution in which communists participate, then the Dominican Republic intervention will be just the first of many. This could easily result in the common people in Latin American lands regarding the U.S. not as the friend of liberty but as its foe. It could have the opposite result of that intended, breeding communists instead of controlling them.

No wonder statesmen at Ottawa, and in other capitals, too, not excepting, one suspects, Washington itself, are deeply troubled by the Dominican situation. It may have been imperative for President Johnson to act in this manner. But that in no way simplifies the nature of the problem; on the contrary it just emphasizes how complex and how difficult it is.

Many men of science start philosophizing late in the day. I have reversed the direction. The longer I go on, the more I turn away from broad syntheses to apply myself to patient analysis. I am more and more in love with fact. — Jean Rostand.

An educated man stands, as it were, in the midst of a boundless arsenal and magazine, filled with all the weapons and engines which man's skill has been able to devise from the earliest time. — Thomas Carlyle.

Having Wonderful Time, Wish You Were Here—'Oom Paul'

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — External Affairs Minister Martin, home now from his Geneva-Cyprus-Paris-London tour, probably won't believe it when he reads Hansard — but in absentia he provided this dour Parliament with about the only hilarious moment so far in this 2nd Session.

Old Oom Paul, one of the more blithe spirits of the Commons, would have loved it.

In fact, you hear in the Government Lobby that next time Monsieur Martin goes abroad, Finance Minister Gordon is thinking of selling tickets to the Public Galleries of the House and picking up a little pin-money for next year's Budget tax-cuts.

The incident, of course, had to do with Oom Paul's trials and tribulations in Gay Paree where the French Foreign Office is not only neglected to roll out the red carpet but, for a time, seemed to be thinking twice about letting him land at all.

That's the pudendal slap-happy Commons received news of Monsieur Martin's Parisian misadventures in such light-hearted, rollicking and fun-loving fashion was due, in part, to Prime Minister Pearson's surprise emergence on Parliament's stage as a really first class comedian.

That the French seemed to be treating Oom Paul as if he were a leper's rebel leader from Algeria or even a beardless and unlavished Castro-lookalike was rib-tickling enough to the Honorable Members when they recalled how The Hon. Member for Essex East can stand so eeriesomely on his very considerable dignity.

WITH SOUND EFFECTS

The prime minister really did not have to accentuate the politics of Jack Benny, but he did, and it is a pity that Hansard, silent-conscious, can't record his cheek.

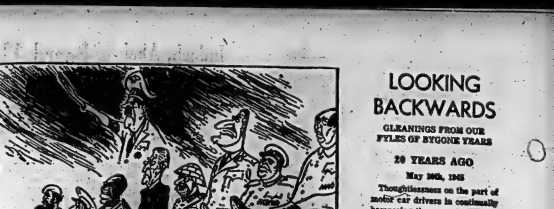
It began innocently enough with a question from the Opposition, timed by Oom Paul as if he were on Ottawa's Uptown Air Terminal when he flew in home from the tour. It so happened the Customs and Immigration men were off on their coffee break or something (maybe it was the start of their Civil Service vacation) and the airport attendants wouldn't roll up the ramp for de-planing until the Defence Minister and his party had been duly inspected and passed. They waited, therefore, perhaps 45 minutes, captive in their own VIP plane until Customs and Immigration officials were good and ready to look them over.

"Red bloody carpet!" snorted former artillery man Harkness.

(warning cries of 'Watch it, Paul' and 'Cover up in the chicchee') whose guest he is to be at luncheon (guffaws) for which arrangements he is very grateful (peals of laughter with a dense MPs collapsed, shaking, on their desk-tops.)

"They are long - standing friends (happy shouts of 'Oh, yeah!' and 'Who needs enemies with friends like him') and get along very well (screams of 'Oh brother' and 'Don't forget to duck, Paul!').

"Mr. Martin says he is having a very happy visit in Paris," concluded the PM, chortling, despite himself, by this time, with the rest of the House just about helpless with laughter.



Seems that VIP visits are always tricky exercises.

The "Mr. Martin's - having - a-happy-visit" story, as handled drolly by the Prime Minister, reminded former Conservative Defence Minister Douglu Harkness of another time and another place.

He, too, in an RCAF VIP aircraft, had been to Paramaya Places where the red carpet was rolled out in traditional style everywhere . . .

. . . everywhere, that is, except at Ottawa's Uplands Air Terminal when he flew in home from the tour. It so happened the Customs and Immigration men were off on their coffee break or something (maybe it was the start of their Civil Service vacation) and the airport attendants wouldn't roll up the ramp for de-planing until the Defence Minister and his party had been duly inspected and passed. They waited, therefore, perhaps 45 minutes, captive in their own VIP plane until Customs and Immigration officials were good and ready to look them over.

Dictatorship Is Dead — Or Is It?

and offers many opportunities for citizens to enjoy concerts, plays, etc., but to train those artists requires many years of study as well as the funds to achieve their objective. There are organizations in this area which make yearly presentations of prizes at commencement, but a continental scholarship fund could possibly assist a talented person to become a second Barbara Ann Scott, Lily Pons, Glenn Gould, Margot Fontaine, or a Dr. Wilder Penfield, of whom we could be very proud.

Another suggestion; there is a theatre building in our midst which could be used to worthwhile advantage, if renovated, instead of allowing it to deteriorate into rubble. If Lindsay could make a strong, friendly community effort, why cannot Belleville do likewise?

Also, will someone please tell me why there are no squares of park on Ann Street has been so neglected that the fountain is nothing but a dried relic of past glory? And in a so-called residential area, too.

Speaking of areas and zoning, who was responsible for issuing a building permit for a cellar on Dundas St. in the first place? That was when the Belleville Planning Board functioned, not after it is built.

Of course, Belleville does not have a large market as a local attraction, as other cities, i.e. Hamilton, Kitchener, and Toronto's St. Lawrence Market. Could the old police station not have been used for a winter - time inverted market, since there is no space in their former place in the City Hall?

Suggests Centennial Scholarship Fund

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

May I address a few lines to your newspaper to express some ideas with the hope that they may be some like - minded people hereabouts.

There is no doubt that many have thought of some tangible and worth while effort to commemorate Canada's Centennial Year as a suitable and lasting reminder, to assist some worthy and talented young person working and studying to perfect himself or herself in a chosen field of endeavor such as music, art, drama, ballet, opera, or any of the professions in the form of a centennial scholarship fund.

Opposes Lowering Of Drinking Age

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.
OPEN LETTER
To all Members of Parliament of the Ontario Government.

Gentlemen: There have been rumors to the effect that our government is processing legislation which would lower the legal age limit for purchasing alcoholic beverages from 21 to 18 years, and also legalize Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages, in the local outlets where meals are served.

Concerning the first item mentioned, that of lowering the legal age limit from 21 to 18. When our children are young we do all in our power to protect them from harm and from temptation. At what age should we remove this protection? Why cease? The argument can be presented that we send our young people to war at the age of 18 and we allow them to vote at the age of 18, so, why not let them buy alcoholic beverages at the age of 18? Gentlemen in the name of God think of the possible — probable — results arising from such legislation. Our young people are already faced with the problems of decision concerning moral factors; don't add this great burden to their lives. Give them the protection of law, and the three extra years in which to gain wisdom before they have to face this "freedom" to buy or not to buy.

Surely it is in the best interests of our Province, and indeed of our country, to have thousands of young people grow up clear-headed and physically and morally strong. Do you think that lowering the legal age limit for purchasing alcoholic beverages will help produce such young people?

Gentlemen this is a most serious moment, and I beg you to vote against both of these proposals, if they should ever arise in parliament.

Very sincerely yours,
Edna Cooper,
(Mrs. F. F. Cooper),
R.R. 4, Belleville.

Hernia Operation Suggested For Active Boy of 16 Years

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 16-year-old son has a hernia which annoys and hinders him in sports. He wants to be operated on, thinking he would then be able to run and exercise more strenuously!

I imagine that he would be cautioned to exercise only within reason, and therefore I prefer a truss to surgery. He rarely will use his truss. Who is right? — Mrs. F. S.

I think he is, for these reasons:

First, at his age, excellent healing and scar formation takes place, and he should expect complete relief.

Naturally he would be restricted for a few months in vigorous sports, but eventually he will be able to participate in any way he wishes.

Second, let's take the longer view (not just the question of school sports.) A hernia, or rupture, does not tend to get better as time passes. It can only get worse. This boy of yours, evidently a healthy lad otherwise, surely isn't going to go through life with a hernia. Better to have it repaired now and be done with the problem.

Further, even the small as well as the larger hernias can incarcerate (that is, a portion of the bowel is forced through and becomes trapped) and this means immediate, emergency operation.

Trusses have their place in controlling hernias as a temporary protection besides making the patient more comfortable — but they do nothing to repair the condition. They may, therefore, be a stopgap if an operation is being postponed for a time. In the case of older people who, for one reason or another, may not be good candidates for surgery, again a truss has its uses.

But for a young fellow of 16, depending on a truss is merely a matter of putting off what can best be done now.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any danger in too much Vitamin A? I am taking a capsule of 50,000 units a day. — Miss J. F.

Vitamin A is not eliminated as rapidly as some others. Hence it is stored in the body.

I certainly don't want you to be afraid of such a useful vitamin, but the danger is over, if can be harmful if taken too long in excessive quantities.

The maximum daily dose is 50,000 units, which you are taking. This should be continued only under your doctor's supervision. (I presume that he prescribed this dose for a particular purpose, and you are not taking any such amount of your own accord.)

Individuals vary in their ability to handle large doses of Vitamin A over long periods. Symptoms from overdosage may take some time to develop. These are weakness, loss of appetite, possibly some fewer, changes in the hair, bone tenderness, and enlargement of liver.

The symptoms subside when the overdose is reduced or stopped.

I decidedly do not imply that Vitamin A in reasonable amounts is dangerous. It isn't. And it is often very useful in large amounts short of the dangerous level. Since it builds up gradually, one must keep in mind that the length of time over which large amounts are taken is an important factor.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can masturbation in a female cause deformity of the organs? I wish to get married, but if I am deformed I will not. — Miss N. F.

No, it does not cause deformity of any kind.

Excess Ardor Is Enemy of True Love

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: What we call "idiocy" is a recognized mental state, but we have not yet recognized the widespread state of "moral idiocy," which is most commonly exemplified by the man who says: "I'm doing this for love," when he knows the job is a wicked one; Eichmann's highest example of a man who was neither a criminal (in a legal sense) nor a lunatic (in a psychiatric sense), but a moral idiot.

When a parent too evidently desires a child's love, it is the very ardor that becomes the chief impediment to filial love; for it is an emotional axiom that excessive feeling provokes repulsion, not attraction.

Everybody expects a miracle of some sort — what we call "hope" is really a modest expectation for belief in the miraculous; and the most intellectual and least superstitious among us, no less than others, conceal it though they may.

The greatest mistake in life is to think that one will only make the second greatest mistake is to think that one cannot change.

What someone like Harry Truman calls a "busybody" in Alabama, he calls a "fighter for democracy" in Viet Nam.

A cigaret does not taste as well in the dark; vision, rather than being an isolated sense, is the seasoning of all the other senses as well.

Primitive societies have no "pornography" or "obscenity"; they are the excrescences of "civilization," just as dirt, the price we pay for industrialism.

It always offends me, for some irrational reason, when a plane crash with 30 passengers gets a much larger headline than one with only 10 passengers; we judge "importance" by quantity, but to each of the 10 in the smaller crash, a whole universe has been extinguished, as much as in the greater crash.

The history of despotic nations is all the same; only the history of free peoples is different; indeed, history in a meaningful sense is possible only after despotism has been overthrown.

The way we commonly remember a truth is by disturbing it, by changing it into something more singular than it really is — just as a child remembers the tallest man he ever met by calling him a "giant."

"The value of a principle," said Emerson, "is the number of things it will explain." He might have added that the value of a political principle is the number of things it will explain away.

The past was an age of cruelty but only sporadic violence; the present is an age of sentimentality and widespread violence; a child was treated meanly at home, but safe on the streets; today he is indulged at home, but in peril on the streets.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

May 30th, 1948

Thoughtlessness on the part of motor car drivers is continually hampering the operations of the city street sweeper that operates over the city streets at night, according to reports from city police headquarters today. Actually it is by direct violation of city traffic regulations to park vehicles on city street overnight, but repeatedly the operators of the city sweeper are delayed in their efforts to keep streets clean. Today heads of the Department of Public Works reported this practice to police requesting that violators be summoned into court. Consideration on the part of motor vehicle operators would materially assist the Public Works Department employees. Police warned that future violators will be prosecuted.

30 YEARS AGO

May 30th, 1938

Mr. Archie Boyd has been successful in passing his first year examinations at the College of Pharmacy, Toronto.

Mr. Bruce Graham has arrived home from Port Arthur where he spent six weeks. He came over on the steamship "Duchess of York" and landed at Oswego.

Mr. J. Vanover of Picton and Mr. Charles Perry of Port Perry have purchased the City Hotel in this city from Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, who successfully conducted the hotel since the death of her husband, Henry Graham, who operated the hotel for many years. Mr. Vanover is well known in this city as he is closely associated with sport in Picton and two years ago he managed the provincial finals.

40 YEARS AGO

May 30th, 1928

Milton Sills, popular movie star and a native of Hastingdon township, passed through this city today enroute to Ottawa. Mayor W. C. Mikel and several other citizens had a brief interview with Mr. Sills in his compartment on the train, and invited him to attend the coming Old Boys' Reunion. Mayor Mikel was accompanied also by Miss Marguerite Ashley. Miss Ashley who is a distant relative of Mr. Sills.

Miss Evelyn Wilson of West Huntingdon attended the graduation exercises at the Kingston Hospital during the week.

Mrs. Allan Singer, Alexander Street, spent several days in Kingston this week.

Mrs. John McIntosh is spending some time in Guelph.

50 YEARS AGO

May 29th, 1918

Mr. T. E. Ewen, M.A., of this city, has been appointed to the Quinquennial Celebration of graduates of Toronto University to be held in June of 1970 and prior to that time. There are now only about 30 persons living who graduated in 1870 and prior to that time and among them are Sir John Gibson, the Hon. Richard Harcourt and Mr. Ewen.

The following have been elected members of the Official Board of Bridge Street Methodist Church this year: R. J. Clarke, E. F. Frederick, Douglas Holton, G. M. James, R. B. Morden, David Price, R. B. Wiseman, Dr. Day and Alex Ray.

jump to 30 hours a week from the present 25½. The two-hour dinner adjournment Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays would disappear along with the Friday luncheon adjournment, to create the extra debating time.

One dissenting MP now can force rejection of a motion to extend House sitting after hours. The present hour long question period would also be halved.

Mr. Starr asked whether the changes would be put on a trial basis first.

Mr. Pearson said this would be a mistake. The changes protected members' rights of discussion and he hoped the resolutions would be treated on a non-partisan basis. There might be amendments to improve the changes, he said.

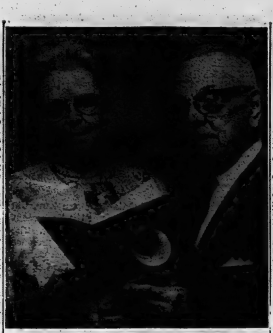
He had no illusions that rules alone would produce a more effective Parliament but without them there wasn't much likelihood this would occur.

HE ISN'T SURE

The prime minister said he is not sure a permanent Speaker from an "artificial constituency" is the way to assure the independence and prestige of the parliamentary office.

He said the proposals will go far towards enhancing the office.

Mr. Pearson said the most effective method of increasing the Speaker's authority is to abolish appeals from his rulings. They had increased considerably during the years.



It has been suggested, he said, that one way to assure independence is to make the speakership a permanent office. But the only way to achieve this would be to deprive a constituency of an elected representative.

There had been suggestions for a "constituency of Parliament Hill," an artificial seat. The Speaker would become the MP for the constituency.

But Mr. Pearson said such a change might reduce the prestige of the Speaker's office.

The Preakness Stakes, run May 13 this year, is the richest of the U.S. "triple crown," at $150,000 in prize money.

Dick Carruthers, Wife Mark Golden Wedding

Fifty years of married life were observed yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carruthers, Sidney Street, who were honored guests for their golden anniversary at the home of their son.

Almost 50 family members and close friends attended the anniversary party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carruthers, Dufferin Ave.

Natives of the English-Scotch border district, Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers came to Belleville from Carlisle. Mr. Carruthers was first to make the move to Canada, then two years later sent home for his bride-to-be.

"Moving to Canada was the smartest move I ever made," states Mr. Carruthers who 15 years ago retired as conductor from the CN railway.

He came to Canada in 1913 and after working at odd jobs for a few months joined the railway as brakeman and was classed conductor in 1920.

Before going to Belleville he had worked in the mechanical department of the Carlisle Journal for nine years. He retired from the railway 15 years ago and last year received his 50th year pin as a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. He served as secretary of Local 108 for eleven years.

Mrs. Carruthers is the former Jane Anne Carruthers (no relation) who met her husband-to-be after her family moved across the border from Scotland to Carlisle. Since their marriage they have been regular attendants at St. Thomas Anglican Church.

One of Mr. Carruther's few regrets is that ill health had forced him to give up active work in his flower garden. "I'll have only a few rock garden flowers this year," he says.

The couple have two sons, Harold and Thomas, both of Belleville, and four grandchildren.

Steelworkers Head Quitting Without Fight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. McDonald will step down as president of the United Steelworkers union next month without the fight he promised.

McDonald announced Wednesday that he was withdrawing his protests to the union's Feb. 9 election in which he was defeated by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel by slightly more than 30,000 votes.

Although associates said he still believes he won, McDonald told reporters he was bowing out after a 12-year reign to avoid a lengthy legal wrangle.

Booth Clears Entire Stock After Fire

Smoke and water damage suffered in last week's fire makes it necessary for Booth's to dispose of their entire stock. Rather than sell this in one large lot to a bulk buyer, they are offering it to their customers at a fraction of its original price.

Normally Booth's carry about $100,000 worth of television, stereo, refrigerators, sporting goods, binoculars, photographic supplies, transistor radios, car radios, etc. All this stock must be cleared, regardless of cost, so that Booth's may rid the store of smoke by redecorating before new merchandise is ordered.

Because of limited space, all of the merchandise can not be placed on display immediately. This means that it may take some time to dispose of the tremendous number of items.

However, for best selection we suggest that you don't delay. Come in this weekend to Booth Radio and Television Limited, 170 Front Street (Opposite City Hall), Belleville. (Advertisement)

Elks Picnic Will Be Held

The Belleville Elks Lodge voted Tuesday at a general meeting to hold its third annual picnic. There was some doubt as to whether or not the picnic would be held because of heavy financial losses suffered in the two previous attempts.

The Elks picnic will be primarily a day out for the children, but there will also be many activities for the parents. It is hoped that a sunny day will bring the public out to the picnic this year. The previous picnics experienced very cool weather, and attendance suffered as a result.

Brother Keith Gordon, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, attended the meeting.

Electrocution, Gas Chamber Suggested as Alternatives To Hanging for Executions

The forthcoming parliamentary debate on abolition of capital punishment may result in abolition of hanging and adoption of another method of execution. The alternatives are discussed in this story by a Canadian Press reporter.

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—There is a distinct possibility that this year's parliamentary debate on capital punishment will result in abolition of hanging and adoption of another method of execution.

Electrocution and the gas chamber have often been suggested as alternatives.

A close vote is expected in the Commons on a proposal to abolish the death penalty, now imposed for capital murder, treason and piracy. In the event that abolition fails to command majority support, strong pressure would build up to add to the modern method of execution.

In past debates, hanging has been attacked as barbaric, antiquated, gruesome and sadistic —even by MPs who strongly supported capital punishment.

Prime Minister Pearson criticized the gallows as inhumane in a 1948 debate. Mr. Pearson, then Opposition leader, asked the Conservative government to explain why it had not proposed execution by electrocution or lethal gas.

Mr. Pearson and then prime minister Diefenbaker did not commit themselves firmly for or against the death penalty, but both expressed doubts about its effectiveness as a deterrent.

With an unpredictable "free vote" on the issue scheduled for this session, the two party leaders could play pivotal roles. Many wavering Liberal and Conservative backbenchers are waiting to see what positions their leaders take.

EXECUTIONS STOPPED

Since taking office two years ago, the Liberals have commuted all death sentences to life imprisonment. During the six-year Diefenbaker administration, there were 32 commutations and 14 hangings. Before that, hangings far outnumbered commutations.

Mr. Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker both spoke May 28, 1961, on a government amendment to the Criminal Code section on murder, which was approved a short time later.

The new law retained hanging for those convicted of capital murder—defined as "planned and deliberate"—but provided for life imprisonment in all other types of murder convictions.

The Liberal leader supported the principle of the amendment but criticized it for making a vague distinction between capital and non-capital murders.

"... There are more humane methods of execution than hanging," he said. "As I see it, there could hardly be a less humane method."

Mr. Diefenbaker said his government always followed recommendations of mercy for juries in murder cases. He described the cabinet's review of death sentences as "a frightening experience."

"One of my major concerns has been the danger of the execution of someone who had not committed the offence," said Mr. Diefenbaker, whose distinguished law career included the defence of condemned men.

LIBERALS SPLIT

The 1961 amendment carried 139 to 21 on second reading—approval in principle—with the Liberals splitting wide open.

Eighteen French - speaking Liberals voted against the bill on the grounds it was the first step toward abolition. They included Lucien Cardin, now minister of public works.

The measure was supported by 12 Liberals, including five now in the cabinet. They are External Affairs Minister Martin, Defence Minister Hellyer, Transport Minister Pickersgill, Health Minister LaMarsh and Mines Minister Benidickson. Mr. Pearson was absent when the vote was taken.

Miss LaMarsh sought to amend the legislation to replace hanging with a central gas chamber, but her amendment was ruled out of order.

Davie Fulton, then justice minister, said the method and place of execution are provincial matters and the provinces would have to be consulted before making any change.

The substitution of a gas chamber or electrocution for the gallows was recommended June 27, 1956, by a special Commons-Senate committee that studied the issue for two years.

TOO SOON TO ACT

Committee members were aghast to learn that some persons could live as long as 15 minutes to die. (The Commons was informed in March of this year that four of the last 20 hangings in Canada resulted in death by strangulation.)

The 1956 committee voted 20 to 8 to retain the death penalty for murder on the grounds of deterrence. But St. Laurent Liberal government was known to oppose abolition because it felt public opinion was not ripe.

The committee reported that the humane method of execution to be used in restriction applied by "less repulsive facilities" than the electric chair.

Scientific research indicated that "the application of carefully regulated alternating shocks" resulted in instantaneous unconsciousness and speedy termination of life without any burning or mutilation."

The committee picked the gas chamber as its second choice, but reported that this method had been criticized "because of the danger to which it exposed the prison staff and because of the final strain it put on the condemned person."

Shah

Mme. Vanier and the empress sat in an opposite corner of the ballroom and also received a steady stream of visitors.

The reception began when all 600 guests filed through a receiving line to shake hands with the handsome shah, and ended with the playing of the Iranian national anthem, O Canada and God Save the Queen.

Mountbatten of Burma, who is also visiting Ottawa, stopped the shah as he was leaving the ballroom to whisper a final word in his ear.

Earlier Gen. Vanier had proposed a toast to the royal visitors at a state dinner attended by 50 people. The shah replied by toasting the Queen of Canada.

The shah and his wife fly to Quebec City Friday then go to Montreal Sunday and Toronto next Tuesday. They will end their Canadian visit the following day.

OPEN BIRTH CLINIC

TORONTO (CP) — A birth control clinic operated by the Ontario Planned Parenthood Association of Toronto went into operation Wednesday in a local United Church. Officially the clinic is illegal. Planned Parenthood dispenses birth control information and in cases where the patient cannot pay, provides free contraceptives. The group received a provincial charter from the Ontario government last week.

downtown Toronto to the outskirts of the metropolitan area. This freed the Lakeshore trackage for commuter trains.

Premier Roberts said traffic congestion in the Metropolitan Toronto area could be greatly relieved if commuter trains are accepted by the public. He would take a four - line freeway to handle the traffic that is to be built by the railway system.

ESTIMATES TIME

Mr. MacNaughton estimated that the trip to Toronto's Union Station from Burlington would take 37 minutes. From Oakville or from Dunbarton to Toronto the commuting time would be about 40 minutes. CNR officials said the light-weight trains may reach speeds of 80 miles an hour.

The service is to start at 6:45 a.m. and end at midnight, Monday to Friday. Trains would run at 20-minute intervals during rush hour and at one-hour intervals other times, except for a 90-minute schedule on Sundays and holidays.

Mr. MacNaughton said the exact fare structure has not yet been determined, although rates might be higher than those now charged by the CNR for its Hamilton - Toronto service.

Feeder bus services will be provided in the 24 stations along the 52-mile route. Some existing stations will be eliminated because of their proximity to each other. Parking areas will be provided at all stations except Union Station in Toronto.

COULD SERVE 18,000

Mr. MacNaughton said the Metropolitan Toronto and region transportation study, which he was chairman, showed that the 868,000 population of the Lakeshore corridor to be served by the commuter trains could provide a potential of 18,000 riders a day.

Heavy railway traffic on the lines between Burlington and Hamilton, and between Dunbarton and Oshawa, ruled out any possibility of commuter service there unless more than 20 miles of new lines are built. The cost of this program could not now be justified, said the highways minister.

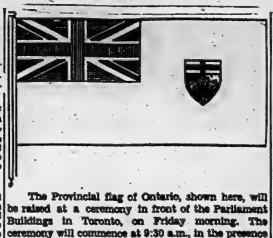
Whether the operation will begin late in 1966 or early in 1967 will depend upon the time of delivery of the new 125-passenger commuter coaches being ordered by the government.

Mr. MacNaughton said specifications for the coaches and locomotives are being prepared and Canadian manufacturers will be asked to bid on them.

COULD HELP ROAD COSTS

Premier Roberts pointed out that relatively small expenditures on commuter services could save considerably more on highway construction.

"If the choice of travel is confined to the automobile," he said, "inevitably of movement could become increasingly restricted, even with heavy expenditures on freeway and general road facilities."



"It would appear that there is considerable financial merit in looking to rail commuter service as an alternative mode of transportation."

Mr. Roberts said the commuter service was a pioneering development in that no other government in Canada had undertaken such an operation.

Mr. Gordon said the railway is happy to co-operate with Ontario in the project. CNR will operate it at cost and if there should eventually be a profit it will be entirely the province's, he said.

PRISONER RECAPTURED

KINGSTON (CP) — Ronald John Wilton, 25, was recaptured Wednesday night, 24½ hours after he escaped from the medium - security prison at nearby Joyceville.

The Provincial flag of Ontario, shown here, will be raised at a ceremony in front of the Parliament Buildings in Toronto, on Friday morning. The ceremony will commence at 9:30 a.m., in the presence of the Honorable W. Earl Rowe, Lieutenant-Governor, Prime Minister John Roberts, members of the Cabinet, members of the Ontario Legislature, and others.

the plane's wreckage, mutilated bodies, passenger bags, cameras and cigarette cases."

The wreckage was still burning when rescuers reached the scene. The desert sand in the immediate vicinity was blackened.

About $4,000 ($12,000) was recovered from the scene.

FLAPS TROUBLE

Shortly before the crash, the pilot reported having trouble with his wing flaps.

Witnesses reported seeing a "ball of fire" in the sky as the airliner plunged to the ground in the Wadi El Halsoni area, southeast of Cairo airport.

Reports from Karachi said a party of 36 Pakistani newspaper men led by Gen. Hayaudin Hayath, president of the Press Trust of Pakistan newspaper syndicate, strikes officials and other guests were aboard the plane. Only one of the newspaper men survived.

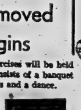
The Karachi office of Pakistan International Airlines said 28 foreigners were among the passengers and that five of them were Chinese. It did not know the nationalities of the others.

The airliner was opening a new route from Karachi to London via Dhahran, Beirut, Pakistan Gulf, Cairo and Geneva.

As soon as it was light enough, helicopters of the Egyptian Air Force flew to the site and rescued survivors.

WORST CRASH

The crash was the worst this year. The previous highest death toll was 118, when a Chilean DC-6 crashed near Santiago with the loss of 85 lives.



The worst disaster in the history of aviation was Dec. 16, 1960, when 135 persons died in a mid-air collision between a United Airlines DC-8 and a Trans-World super - constellation over New York.

Gloves Must Be Removed Before Eating Begins

DEAR DORIS — My son's graduation exercises will be held in the high school auditorium. The evening consists of a banquet at 6:30; speeches, graduation pins and diplomas and a dance.

Some of the mothers do not think we should wear hats. Some think suits are not suitable for dancing later on. Also, should gloves be worn while eating? I think it's awkward eating with gloves on.—ONE MOTHER.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR ONE — Hats stay home after five p.m. An informal afternoon dress is proper garb; with a dressy light suit acceptable but perhaps a little warm, unless the jacket may be removed for dancing to reveal a dressy blouse.

Indeed it is awkward to eat with gloves on; also very bad form. Take them off. If the glove sleeve is long, the hand of the glove may be tucked into the sleeve at the wrist, for eating.

Expect Ferry To Operate In Few Days

PICTON (Staff) — The car ferry "Quinte" has been out of operation since the first of May, however, work on the ferry loading ramps is nearing completion and work is expected to be finished within the next few days, and the Quinte will be back in operation. Some of the commuters who use ferries to and from their work have complained because of the traffic tie-ups due to the alteration in the ramps. Earlier this month Prince Edward County Council objected to the repair work at this time of year in a letter sent to the Department of Highways. Council felt that DHO waited too long to start repairs and hampered traffic because work was not commenced until late in spring. At this same time repairs were being made to the bay bridge at Belleville and it was closed to traffic for many hours each day. Between these two points traffic in the county has been handicapped this month.

During the winter months DHO was able to temporarily repair the mooring piles of the "Quinte Loyalist" on both sides. Severe water shortages and low level in December and January made docking the ferries hazardous. The repairs to the loyalist ramps are expected to hold out until next winter or fall when permanent shore installations will be started.

Work on the Quinte's mooring now being completed includes new steel structure loading and unloading ramps with solid wood decks. These are being installed on both sides of the water. Plans are to have this work completed before the heavy summer traffic load begins.

Many Active In Guide Work To Attend

PICTON (STAFF) — A number of women who were formerly active in Girl Guide work in Picton are among those planning to attend the Golden 50th anniversary observance at the Quinte Area Guide Camp at Wanpoose. The invitation committee invited all former leaders to attend if possible and are pleased to have been informed that many from out-of-town plan to attend. It is also hoped that many former guides and friends will also plan to attend and renew old acquaintances. The open house at the Wanpoose Camp will be from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday May 26. There will be an interesting program and displays and an opportunity to visit the camp site.

Divers' Rally To Be Held At Lakeland

PICTON (STAFF) — The Ontario Underwater council is sponsoring a diving rally, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday at Lakeland Resort. It is expected that 200 members and their families will spend the holiday weekend in the area. Hosts for the rally are the Flying Frogmen of RCAF Station Trenton and Quinte Aqua divers of Belleville.

On Saturday divers will inspect the wreck of the "Province" off Timber Island or the "Olive Branch" off False Duck Island.

Competitions are being planned for Sunday, included are a compass course, skin diving race, skin diving treasure hunt, scuba diving, unit and buoy competition and a skin diving log race.

Guards From Picton Given Tourist Duty at Ottawa

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Will the 1st Battalion, Canadian Guards, have to rush off on a United Nations peacekeeping mission still wearing their red coats and bearskin hats?

The defence department is keeping its fingers crossed that the UN won't make a new call for a Canadian contingent this summer.

It was announced Wednesday that the 1st Guards on June 28 will begin the daily changing the guard ceremony on Parliament Hill, a prime tourist attraction in the capital.

It had announced earlier that the 1st Guards will take over July 1 as Canada's UN standby battalion.

The fact that this country's UN standby unit will be performing a ritual for tourists at a time when External Affairs Minister Martin is saying that UN peacekeeping is the "wave of the future" has many officials here, especially in the foreign ministry, hopping with anger.

One said Canada's whole peacekeeping effort will be held up to ridicule.

SHORT OF INFANTRY

Defence department informants said, however, that with all its other commitments the army is running short of infantry battalions.

For the last five years the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Guards, has performed the Parliament Hill ceremony. But the 2nd Guards are scheduled to join the UN forces in Cyprus in September if the UN mandate there is renewed by the Security Council.

The 1st Guards are stationed at Camp Picton, Ont., and 2nd Guards at Camp Petawawa, Ont.

Officials said the 1st Guards, with their six months' experience in Cyprus, could take on a peacekeeping job for the UN at short notice.

The changing the guard ceremony will split the 1st Guards battalion. Some 200 will be required here, leaving some 300 or 300 at Camp Picton after reinforcements are sent to the 2nd Guards.

Trant said his special Dominican envoy, Jose Antonio Mayobre of Venezuela, told U.S. officials in Santo Domingo that's was an "unavoidable implication of United States forces during the (junta) offensive."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. But Stevenson said the United States "is not taking sides" and its forces "do not have . . . a mandate to enforce the cease-fire."

Former Pulp Mill Sold At Auction

CAMPBELLFORD — An old established industry in Campbellford reached the end of an era when a public auction sale was held at the former Campbellford pulp mill property on Thursday of last week.

The mill has been closed for some time and on Thursday all equipment was sold.

It was established early in the century by the Ontario Electric Company. Pulp was bought from Bancroft, Norwood and Warsaw areas and was brought to the mill by horse teams and train. Later trucks were used and for many years was a busy centre of employment. In 1942 the plant was purchased by Gair Company who continued the manufacture of pulp. In the early years about 55 men were employed with extra help for unloading.

In 1956 Continental Can Company became interested and acquired shares later took over-completely in 1958. There are about 15 acres in the property.

PICTURESQUE LOCATION

The building is situated on a bluff on the Trent River immediately above Ranney Falls. The location is one of the picturesque parts of the river, the Trent Canal and the river create an island of considerable size.

The pulp mill building has fallen some what into disrepair, the office building, a separate edifice shows signs of having been extravagantly designed of oak and mahogany, a long story consular and check writer and in the back room an ornate fireplace.

Those who have seen the rise and fall of this industrial unit in Campbellford must view what remains of it with nostalgia and a touch of sadness.

46-YEAR EMPLOYEE

Mr. Harold Sanders of Campbellford began his employment at the pulp mill in 1922 as bookkeeper, time keeper and did the general office work. He remained connected with the mill in various commitments until the sale last week having spent over 40 years as a part of the industry.

The only piece of mechanism not sold was the burner, a silent reminder of an idustry which has become part of Campbell's industrial history.

PLAN NURSING COURSE

How many low-priced cars offer a transistorized ignition at no extra cost?

Just one... STUDEBAKER!

The transistorized ignition system is a significant advancement in automotive engineering. What does it do? It gives you instant ignition with sure-fire starts, maintains peak fuel economy mile after mile, assures longer life for spark plugs and points. That means less frequent tune-ups. What does it cost? Nothing extra in Studebaker's vinyl-top Daytona Sports Sedan. Very little in all other Studebaker models. (Other makes of cars charge $107. to $133. extra.)

Transistorized ignition is the newest addition to the many other Studebaker extra-value features for 1965. Like padded dash, dual-system safety brakes, Armor-Guard frame, big 15" wheels, aluminized rustproofing, self-adjusting brakes, hang-gage steel body and beautiful interiors. All standard equipment on every '65 Studebaker.

What Women Are Doing

Federation of Women Teachers

Mrs. June Sine, President

President of F.W.T.A.O.
Federation of Women Teachers' Association of Ontario (F.W.T.A.O.)

On April 3rd, 1918, a group of women teachers decided that the time had come to have a Provincial Organization in Ontario. Up to that time there had been local associations and guilds in different cities, all working toward the same objectives. At the Ontario Educational Association of that year these women met and officially organized with Miss Evelyn Johnson of London as president and Miss Bertha Adkins as secretary.

At the first annual meeting in 1919 the aims of the Federation as stated were:

(1) The formation of local Women Teachers' Associations with the enrolment of all of the 11,259 women teachers as the objective.

(2) The promotion of the professional and financial status of the women teachers of the province.

With the passing in 1944 of the Teaching Profession Act, which brought the remainder of 12,000 women teachers in the public schools into membership in FWTAO, a change in organization was necessary. It was about this time that the present arrangement of regional representation was begun. The province was divided into five regions on the basis of membership—at that time approximately 2,400 members to each region. Today, with a total membership of over 24,000 the region vary in size.

With the expansion of membership came changes in office organization. The first secretary, Miss Adkins, held this part-time position for six years, after which Miss Harriet Carr was appointed as the first full time secretary in 1926. Her first office was her own home but later an office was rented at 30 Bloor Street West. Finally the Bloor Street accommodation became inadequate and FWTAO moved in 1949 to the Federation House at 34 Prince Arthur Avenue. The present day executive secretary, Miss Dorothy Martin and her staff are located in still larger offices at 1260 Bay Street.

More important than the increased membership and increased accommodation is the professional growth of the organization. Listed are some of the many accomplishments of FWTAO alone or in conjunctions with other affiliates of the Ontario Teachers' Federation.

1. Security of tenure under a Standard Contract, with recourse to the Boards of Reference Act in cases of irregular dismissal;
2. A Superannuation Act which is one of the best in operation;
3. Counsel in cases of professional difficulty;
4. Legal counsel in professional matters, when necessary and at no-cost to the member;
5. Direction and assistance in salary negotiations;
6. Opportunities for professional development through in-service training courses, conferences, etc.;
7. Constant vigilance and protection in developments in teacher qualification, teaching conditions and everything that pertains to the welfare of the members;
8. An opportunity to serve more fully the cause of education and to raise the status of the teaching profession through membership in a professional organization.

The first forty-eight years have brought untold benefits and advancement to thousands of women teachers in the elementary public schools of this province through the efforts of a relatively small number of far-seeing, dedicated women who through the years have given unstintingly of their time and effort for the sake of their fellow members. To these women our present members owe their deepest gratitude.

Master's Melancholy May Rub Off on Pet Poodle

DEAR ANN LANDERS — We have some close friends who are dog lovers. Last evening my husband was telling about our 8-year-old son's unusual interest in science. The dog-lover interrupted to tell a story about her poodle. Three years ago, she said, the dog began to take on the personality characteristics of her husband.

ANN LANDERS

"When Tom suffered business reversals and became depressed the dog became depressed, too," she said. "He would not eat a thing. Tom had to be hospitalized. That same day the dog had to be hospitalized because he had become so weak from malnutrition he could barely walk."

She continued, "Six weeks later Tom returned home feeling much better. When the dog was brought home he was still melancholy. Upon seeing his master improved the dog perked right up."

My husband and I believe that pet-lovers who become involved with their animals imagine all sorts of things. We can't buy her story. What do you think? — DOUBTERS.

DEAR DOUBTERS — Animals have distinct personalities. It is not uncommon for personalities to be influenced by what happens around them. I do not doubt this story for one moment.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — When I married my husband five years ago we were both in our middle 40's. Each year our marriage seemed to be rockier than the year before. I begged him to get professional help but his stock reply was, "I am all right. You are the one who is nuts."

Several months ago when my husband became abusive I packed up and left him because I feared for my life.

I haven't seen him for three weeks, but he telephones every day to say he loves me. He wants a divorce so he can start courting me again and decide if we should be remarried.

I'm hoping we can recapture the wonderful joys we knew when we first met. Is there a chance? — DREAMS OF THE PAST.

DEAR PAST — No . . . and if you would stop dreaming long enough to remember what your marriage was really like you'd know better, too. Why do you think your husband is going to treat you differently the second time around? Get with it, Sister.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — This afternoon I glanced out the window as I was doing my dusting and I just happened to see the woman next door shaking my five-year-old son by the arm. I dashed out and ordered her to take her hands off my child. She shouted, "Bernard is always hitting my Albert and I'm not going to put up with it any longer."

Both children are four years of age, but my Bernard is a little bit larger than her Albert.

I lost my temper and slapped the woman's face. She had metal curlers in her hair which caused a small cut on the side of her cheek.

The minute my husband drove into the garage my neighbor's husband was over here. He told my husband his wife was in bed with an ice pack and under sedation. He said his wife went to pieces after I hit her and they had to call the doctor. The last thing he said was, "There may be a law suit."

If a woman can be sued for protecting her child what kind of a country is this anyway? Please comment. — MRS. X.

* * *

DEAR MRS. — The kids are four years old. What's your excuse? Hitting people is called assault and battery and your lawyer can tell you more about the chances of a suit than I can.

But apart from possible court action, you owe this woman an apology, plus the price of the doctor's visit.

* * *

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

LADIES' AUX. - BRANCH 99

Tuesday evening the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary held a potluck supper before the regular meeting.

Mr. E. E. Follwell, chairman of the Canadian Cancer Society showed an interesting film on cancer, after which Mrs. Donaldson answered questions put to her by the members. The President, Mrs. B. Hodge presented Mr. Follwell with a cheque, and thanked him and Mrs. Donaldson for coming.

Mrs. Ray Clarke was initiated into the Auxiliary.

The Zone rally will be held at Wellington next Thursday May 24th, with a bus leaving the Legion Hall at 1 p.m. As usual a donation was also made to the Red Shield Campaign.

Legion Week will be held June 6 through June 12. A church parade to Christ Church will start the week's activities. Every night something different will take place. Wednesday June 5th will see a gathering of all new Canadians, and should be an interesting evening. The usual dances and euchre will take place, and will be announced later in this paper. Saturday a mass invitation is scheduled.

Shah and Empress of Iran Guests of Governor-General While on Visit to Ottawa

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP) — A light spring rain fell on the emerald green lawns of Government House Wednesday as the Shah of Iran and his wife the Empress Farah arrived for a two-day visit.

The shah and the empress will spend two nights at Government House as the guests of Governor - General Vanier and Mme. Vanier.

En route to Government House from Uplands Airport, the royal couple was driven along Sussex Drive, where poles holding the flag of Iran lined the road ray in honor of the visit.

The shah was the first person to get out of the official car. He leaned over and helped Governor - General Vanier out and they went quickly inside the house.

The 45 - year - old shah is a wiry, handsome man with steel grey hair. Of medium height, he is slightly shorter than his tall 26-year-old wife Farah when she is wearing high-heeled shoes.

EMPRESS SERENE

The empress, who looked serene but serious as she arrived at Government House, wore a cream-colored sleeveless dress with a matching full - length coat, a large black straw hat with a white flower at the back, and pearl jewelry. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mme. Vanier who drove from the airport with the empress, wore a pale turquoise dress and coat with matching hat.

Among others arriving with the official party were External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, and the Iranian ambassador to Canada, Nouredin Kia, and his wife.

While at Government House, the shah and the empress will stay in the royal suite, a five-room section of the Governor-General's spacious residence.

In the past it has housed such distinguished visitors to Ottawa as the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen Mother, Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, the president of France and Mme. de Gaulle, and the late president Kennedy of the United States and his wife.

FLOWERS AT REST

The suite has a large oval bedroom with an ornamented plaster ceiling, beige carpet, grey - green walls and chintz hangings. The other rooms a sitting room, smaller bedroom and two bathrooms, are decorated in matching colors.

The flowers on the grounds of Government House were at their best Wednesday. In front of the entrance is a large bed of bright red tulips, which gardeners have been carefully tending for days to bring to their peak in time for the visit.

The royal couple leave here for Quebec City Friday.

Legion Auxiliary

LADIES' AUX. BRANCH 428

The regular monthly meeting of Trenet Branch of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion No. 428 was held in the Legion Hall on Thursday evening with the president Mrs. Betty Long presiding.

Reports were read from the various committee chairmen and the financial statement read. Mrs. Margaret Rogers was elected to the office of Sergeant-at-Arms and was installed by the president.

Plans were finalized for the fireworks display which will be held on the 24th of May. About 12 members will be going to Wellington on the 27th of May for the annual zone rally. In place of the annual weiner roast which is held in early summer it was decided this year to have a potluck supper.

The draw prize was won by the president Mrs. Betty Long.

After the meeting cards were played.

U.C.W. Meetings

(UNIT 2-WOOLER U. C. W.)

The May meeting of Unit 2 of Wooler U.C.W. was held recently at the home of the leader, Mrs. Stan Fox. A good attendance was recorded.

Mrs. Fox presided and opened with a poem. Worship was under the leadership of Mrs. R. A. Read on the theme "For Io. I am with you always". Following the worship, business was discussed. A tea is being planned the first part of June and the next meeting will be held a week later at the home of Mrs. Hugh Fox.

Program was in charge of Mrs. Wilbur McColl who called on Misses Sandra and Connie Fox for a vocal duet. Karen McColl gave a most interesting talk on the life and work of Canada's "Sleven Lonecok". A chapter of "God and His Purpose" was read by Mrs. McColl and a discussion period followed.

A social time followed. Lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. Hugh Fox.

MUTED MARKS

Dear Susanna: We recently installed plain velvet broadloom in the living room of our compact apartment. This was my first experience with this type of carpeting, and although I love its richness and shadings, it got to be a little embarrassing when company came.

By this, I mean that just before our friends were due to arrive, I would quickly put a few last minute touches on our apartment. One of these would usually be to run the vacuum over the broadloom. Everything looked lovely, except that it was so obvious I had been preparing for guests. Always, there in full view, were the light and dark swooping tracks the vacuum had made on the rug. Eventually I found an easy way to eliminate them:

Fortunately, one afternoon a very dear friend — and fastidious homemaker — was visiting me and the marks seemed particularly apparent. She asked me if I had a soft push broom. She lightly ran it across the rug with the pile a few times (not against it), in long sweeping strokes, and voila, no vacuum tracks! A corn broom or clean dust mop will do, although they are a little more tedious to use. — Mrs. Blake.

Oh what a beautiful morning now that everything's swooping one way! — SUSANNA

STARCH FOR SMOOTHNESS

Dear Susanna: So often plain white icing will turn out to be raw and sugary. A great help towards a creamier, smoother result is the addition of a level tablespoon of cornstarch to each cup of icing sugar.

This also seems to cut that too sweet taste and gives the frosting a texture that is more prone to stick to the cake instead of the cake sticking to it in little chunks. It's fine for cup cakes. — M. A. H.

CONSUMERS ARE SHY

MONTREAL (CP) — Not enough Canadian consumers complain when they get bad service or goods, says Mrs. W. I. Pound of the Consumers' Association of Canada. "It seems a pity that we have not yet managed to give more of the public the benefits of our service when they encounter problems on the consumer level," she said.

WANT AUTOMATS BANNED

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec dietitians have sent the provincial department of health a brief suggesting automatic dispensers of cakes, chocolate bars and soft drinks be cleared out of public and high schools. The brief added that the teaching of good nutrition is "definitely inadequate at elementary and secondary school levels."

Dutch Decor Highlights O. E. S. Tea

"Goeden Middag en Welkom", the mannekin amid the lily ponds, carrying her basket of tulips, seemed to say to the throngs of ladies who attended the Spring Tea at the Masonic Temple on Wednesday afternoon. Chapter 55, Order of the Eastern Star, using Dutch motif, transported their guests to the dikes of the Zuider Zee for a pleasant afternoon.

The tea table, covered with white linen and adorned with flower filled wooden shoes flanked by gold and blue candles in gleaming silver, together with wall tapestries and plaques depicting the gardens of Holland, and myriads of real tulips and other spring flowers in overhanging baskets, must have created nostalgia in the Dutch people as well as native-born who have been fortunate enough to have visited that lovely little country.

SALES TABLES

Among the articles offered for sale was a table of home-made candy which was most unusual and eye-appealing, as overlaced table of baked goodies and one of cards for all occasions, powder boxes and many other dainty and useful articles. The latter was attended by the handsome ghost of the chapter. A small, though, interesting Dutch museum of old and new mementoes from the Lowlands proved of much interest.

Overall convener for the tea was Mrs. Margaret Booth with Mrs. Margaret Finnigan as co-convener.

Mrs. Dorothy Jones convened the tea-room assisted by Miss Jean Stephenson as co-convener.

Convening the kitchen was Mrs. Myrtle Cross with Mrs. Dorothy Ellis co-convening.

The candy table was in charge of Mrs. Lottie Faulkner and Mrs. Bea Southon; homebaking, Mrs. Ada McMullin and Mrs. Leah Pitt and the business girls' table was convened by Mrs. Phil Berry, Mrs. Lois Chaplin and Mrs. Wanda Claire looked after the tickets and Mrs. Beverley Shaw the sale of tickets on a beautiful blanket.

Taking tickets at the tea room were Mrs. R. Orne, Mrs. May Black, Mrs. Sarah Morgan, Mrs. Nellie Armstrong and Mrs. B. Metz.

TEA ROOM HOSTESSES

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Phyllis Barlow, P.M.; Mrs. Jean Adams, P.M.; Mrs. Edna Thomson, P.M., Mrs. Phyllis Berry, P.M.; Mrs. Pearl Johnson, P.M.; Mrs. Dora Ellis, P.M., and Mrs. Muriel Smith, P.M.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Beatrice Embury, P.M.; Mrs. Marjory Morgan, W.M. (Brighton); Mrs. Dorothy Maclachlan, P.D.D.G.M.; Mrs. Louella Brickman, P.D.D.G.M.; Mrs. Margaret Shaw, P.M.; Mrs. Marjorie Collyer, W.M. (Bloomfield); Mrs. Thelma Liddle, P.M.; Mrs. Hazel Barragar, P.M.; Mrs. Annie Davidson, P.M. and Mrs. Leah Pitt, P.M.

Mr. R. M. McLaskie, Mrs. Louella Brickman and Mrs. P. Annis held the lucky tickets for the baskets of groceries; Mrs. Jean Rump won the box of candy, Mrs. Ruby Skinner the blanket and Miss Nancy Jones and Mrs. Nettie Blatherwick won the floral centrepieces.

Women's Place Is in World Says Speaker

By LINDA CRAWFORD

MONTREAL (CP) — At women's place is in the world, Mrs. Joseph Willen, president of the National Council of Jewish Women of the United States said here Wednesday.

"We have a responsibility to our children, and the quality of the society they will inherit depends on our moving beyond the four walls of our own homes," she said in addressing delegates to the 12th biennial convention of the National Council of Jewish Women of Canada.

"My home and family always come first, but it is really not difficult to combine a full home life and a career as a volunteer worker."

A New Yorker, and a member of the committee appointed by President Johnson to foster voluntary compliance with the Civil Rights Act, Mrs. Willen said many people wonder why the Jewish organization concerns itself with people who are not Jewish.

"First of all, we fall as Jews if we do not act for the establishment of justice in the larger community," she said. "We believe each religious and ethnic group has something specific to contribute.

We believe in the responsibility of the community to society at large and the responsibility of society at large to the future."

Discussing the role of volunteer groups in social planning, Mrs. Willen said the American national council of Jewish women, Negro Women, Catholic women and United Church women have formed an organization called Women in Community Service to take part in the war against poverty in the United States.

This organization had been awarded the government contract to seek out and interview girls between 16 and 21 for the women's job corps, a project set up under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 to assist poverty - stricken girls.

The girls selected go to residence centres where they are given personal rehabilitation and a basic education. They also learn a trade.

"We believe the successful collaboration of government and voluntary organizations may provide a clue to methods of citizen involvement with the government financing that is so necessary in this mass society," Mrs. Willen said.

"Bureaucracy is not the answer. Money alone is not the answer. It is the people who really care who make the difference. Volunteers try to replace the stereotype with the human being."

The convention, attended by women from 14 Canadian cities, ends today.

GENUINE ITALIAN PIZZA

The children will love you if you make these pizzas for they permit — nay encourage — casual eating out-of-hand for your holiday supper. Theoretically these amounts serve 12, for each of the 2 pies cut into 12 wedges. But if your family are pizza addicts they will come back for seconds, so use your judgment about inviting neighbors!

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Lamb Stew with Potatoes, Onions and Carrots; Pan Tans (see Tuesday); Fine Cola Slaw; Deep Dish Apple Pie with Maple Sugar Shavings; Coffee.

SUNDAY

Fried Chicken Quarters (see Wednesday); Creamed Green Peas and Onions; Glazed Sweet Potatoes; Spinach, Cauliflower and Lettuce Salad with Cardinal Dressing; Aunt Janet's Soft Gingerbread (Hot — see Saturday) with Orange Hard Sauce; Tea.

GENUINE ITALIAN PIZZA:

Dough: 1 cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 package granular yeast, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup cooking or salad oil, 2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Topping: 1 teaspoon oregano, 1 teaspoon salt, one 6-oz. can (2/3 cup) tomato paste, ½ cup water, ½ lb. sliced or cubed Mozzarella cheese, 2/3 lb. sliced Polish sausage (or cooked pork sausage), 1/3 lb. sliced mushrooms (gently sauteed 3 minutes in 1 tablespoon butter), 12 sliced stuffed olives (or salad olives), 2 or 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons olive or cooking oil, 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan or old Cheddar cheese.

To make the plain dough add the 1 teaspoon sugar to the 1 cup lukewarm water in large mixing bowl and sprinkle yeast over top, give it one stir and let soak for 10 minutes. Then add the salt and oil and all but ¼ cup of the flour. Mix as well as you can, then turn out on board. Seem and with the remaining ¼ cup flour and knead 100 times. Return to greased bowl and let rise until doubled. Punch down dough and with floured hands divide into 3 balls. Have ready 2 large oiled baking sheets or proper 15" pizza pans and on each press a ball of dough with palms to form a very thin uniform circle 12" in diameter, slightly thicker at edges.

To make the topping, in a little bowl mix together the oregano, salt, tomato paste and water (using water to rinse out tomato paste can). Set aside. Then on each round of dough arrange all over in rings, the Mozzarella, then the sausage, mushrooms, green pepper and olives. They will overlap. Spoon half of the tomato sauce mixture over each. Sprinkle half of the oil and half of the grated cheese over each. By this time the dough has risen a little and it is ready to be baked. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 25 to 30 minutes until dough is well baked on bottom, cheese is melted and top is bubbling hot. Serve hot if possible.

NOTES:

1) I like this variation: Use 1 small can drained anchovies instead of the sausage. 2) If you use pork sausage sprinkle a little garlic salt over pizzas before baking.

WOMEN CHANGE GOALS

MONTREAL (CP) — The Junior League of Montreal has come to "the end of an era, the end of a way of thinking," president Mrs. Donald Dougherty told the annual meeting. "In the years to come our members will be freed from undue preoccupation with raising money and will be able to concentrate on training for community service," she said.

Council Wants Practical Nurses Up to Standards

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Provincial Council of Women will ask the Ontario government to conduct an "investigative study" of courses offered by schools of practical nursing.

The resolution was proposed by a London committee after a three-year study.

Grace Versey, head of the committee, said it had found at least one school in Ontario which offers a practical course mainly by correspondence.

"There is a need for practical nurses," Miss Versey said, "but we must make sure they come up to certain standards."

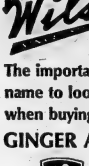
Approximately 60 women representing 18 provincial councils Tuesday registered at convention headquarters at the University of Western Ontario.

SEEK HIGHER STANDARDS

Delegates approved an amended resolution by the Toronto council asking the provincial body to approach the Ontario government to strengthen securities legislation by providing higher standards in financial reporting.

Also approved were two resolutions by the council dealing with a revision of film CENSORSHIP and a plea for clearly identified pedestrian crosswalks.

Windsor suggested in a resolution, approved by the group, that the provincial body undertake an extensive educational campaign to acquaint its federated associations with the facts on cancer of the cervix.



Kingston recommended that the provincial government allot additional funds to hospitals in order to have adequately-staffed poison control centres. The resolution was passed.

An approved resolution from Ottawa requests an amendment to the Juror's Act. It expressed concern that women are encouraged to ask for exemption from jury duty by filling out a form which excuses them from duty for one year. The Ottawa group emphasized that both sexes should be treated equally in the matter.

MARKET IS OPEN

MONTREAL (CP)—Gail Lamarche, whose batik prints on fabric have sold for $900 in the international market, thinks commercial copies of good Canadian batiks could easily compete with Danish and Swedish prints for upholstery. Batiks are not suitable for fashion wear, she said, because originals take so long to make and would raise the price of clothing.

CARS Plans Hospital Aid

The Belleville Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. A. W. Hume, 34 Hastings Drive. Miss Hilda Collier, president, presided.

Plans were discussed for an outing for the patients sometime in June. The social committee; Mrs. A. A. Gemmell and Mrs. McKinney, will make final arrangements and report back to the June meeting.

Mrs. C. A. Campbell gave her report on the volunteer service at the treatment centre at the Hospital. Due to the full case load, two volunteers are needed each evening, and it is becoming more difficult to staff this service from the Society's membership. The auxiliary are most grateful to the assistance given by two members of the St. John Ambulance Corps one evening each week.

A report was received on the progress of research under Arthritis Research Unlimited, to which the Auxiliary has contributed and are sincerely interested.

A rummage sale which had been planned for this month has been postponed till late September.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Anglicans Ask End of Ban on Contraceptives

KINGSTON (CP)—The synod of the Anglican diocese of Ontario called on the federal government Wednesday to delete the portion of the criminal code that outlaws the sale and advertising of contraceptives.

In a resolution passed in the second and final day of its 99th session, the synod said family planning is the responsibility of "the parents together in prayerful consideration of their resources, the society in which they live and the problems they face."

The synod also passed resolutions on sex education and against capital punishment.

The resolution on sex education asks the Ontario department of education to re-examine its whole program of sex education in schools and suggests the government consider presenting such education to Grades 9 and 10.

The committee said the department now presents sex education as part of the Grade 10 curriculum only.

Canon A. J. Anderson, secretary of the synod, said it is "a sad commentary on family life" when the government has to be asked to take sex education into its hands. He said this type of education is something the church should encourage the family, not teachers, to provide.

Canadian OAS Membership Put Further Into Future By Dominican Troubles

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There was this recent exchange in the Commons concerning creation of a Latin American peace force for the Dominican Republic:

Prime Minister Pearson: "The operation will take place under the authority of the Organization of American States of which Canada, of course, is not a member."

George Nowlan (PC—Digby-Annapolis-Kings): "And I don't think it will be a member for quite a while."

Mr. Nowlan was probably voicing the attitude of the government, as well as that of the Opposition.

NO CONSULTATION

The concensus here is that any Canadian membership in the Organization of American States has been shuttled further into the future by the United States' military intervention in the Dominican Republic.

The Canadian government is touring on consultation among allies before action is taken. President Johnson didn't consult any other member of OAS before he sent the marines into Santo Domingo.

It is obvious any Latin American peace force for the Dominican Republic will be completely dominated by the U.S., which won a bare two-thirds majority in OAS for approval of such a force in the first place.

It is doubtful that Canada would wish to serve in any such operation if it were a member of the OAS.

UN FIRST

In fact, Mr. Pearson made this pretty plain in the Commons the other day when he said:

". . . We would prefer peacekeeping forces of this kind to be under the United Nations rather than under any regional organization, though there may be occasions when regional organizations could be useful, especially if they could be brought under the general auspices of the United Nations."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker asked: "Can it be taken for granted that Canada's attitude would be that it would be opposed to setting up any peacekeeping operations in any part of the world except under the auspices of the United Nations?"

Mr. Pearson: "Well, that would certainly be preferable."

There is a feeling in Ottawa that the U.S. would oppose any UN peace-keeping force in Latin America, which it regards as under U.S. management. If correct, this attitude in itself would be sufficient to keep Canada out of the OAS.

Young Vandals Sinking Cars In Seaway

MONTREAL (CP) — Because of the work of thieving and prankish young vandals, at least 40 automobiles are believed to be at the bottom of the St. Lawrence Seaway in the Greater Montreal area, provincial police said Wednesday.

It is believed possibly another 30 may be at the bottom of lagoon-like waters between the seaway proper and the mainland, along the south shore of the St. Lawrence River.

Several young sters have been taken into custody and questioned, said police, and investigations are continuing.

"They get their fun and kicks by stealing a car early in the evening, driving it a few hours and then sending it into the water," said Staff Sgt. Bertrand Marion of the QPP.

Lights of cars are left on so that they shine up for some time through the dark waters. Some cars are all but wrecked first.

Indian Scientists Move Within Step of Entering Nuclear-Weapons Business

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's scientists have moved within one step of entering the nuclear - weapons business. But there is no indication they soon will take that last step.

Well - informed experts say that within 18 months of receiving a "go" signal, India's highly regarded nuclear establishment could explode a crude plutonium device.

In the context of modern weaponry, however, such a device probably would not qualify as a bomb. Competitive weaponry to match nuclear arsenals in the West, Soviet Union or even China is far beyond India's reach.

Additionally, India has neither rockets nor planes with which to deliver substantial numbers of nuclear weapons—especially the cumbersome type it now is capable of producing.

The main fear among diplomats here is that India, for reasons of international prestige or internal politics, might go ahead with a crude device, thereby setting off a chain reaction of nuclear proliferation in such countries as Pakistan, Japan, Indonesia and the United Arab Republic.

STRONG DEMAND

Prime Minister Shastri insists India will not start such a dangerous arms race. But there is strong demand for a nuclear bang to match neighboring China's — and Shastri shows it. Shortly after Peking's first nuclear explosion last year, Shastri declared unequivocally that India would not follow suit. Now, he says this decision "stands for the present."

But now that China, India's arch - enemy, has exploded a second nuclear device, pressure on Shastri will increase greatly.

Neutral experts are certain India has not yet launched the expensive and complicated job of building a "sophisticated" nuclear weapon.

This requires, among other things, huge amounts of electricity and the experts can find no signs that India's nuclear establishment at Trombay on the west coast is diverting extra-large portions.

Also, experts say, making a sophisticated weapon based on uranium - 235 demands large amounts of intricate machinery which India does not make and —at present — isn't buying abroad.

There have been, however, substantial increases in budget outlays for nuclear energy development — $28,500,000 this year, compared with $61,200,000 last year.

Some experts feel this indicates India is improving its nuclear technology to a level just below bomb-making capability.

"When the politicians say 'go,' the scientists want to be ready," one expert said.

India has raw materials necessary for a crude device. It produces plutonium at Trombay and is thought to have several pounds on hand.

Dr. H. J. Bhabha, head of India's nuclear development, denied in an interview that he secretly is building weapons for underground testing.

Bhabha is interested in atomic power stations, badly needed by power-hungry India.

At the moment, so is Shastri's government, and unless pressure for a "prestige bang" gets too strong, it is likely to stay that way.

There's a touch of Ananias in every guy that goes or rather comes home from a fishing trip, but generally where there are patty of verbal smoke you'll find a scintilla of truthful fire.

Generally the fishing "liar" is not trying to convince gullible buddies or other listeners, but usually trying to beat a lesser liar to the punch. It all depends on the length of the story-teller's arms.

During the last few days stories of good hauls of lake trout from the northern regions of the district have been trickling in. In the southern regions, the reports state, the pickerel or wall-eyes have returned from their May 15s vacation and taking on home-cooked dinners.

West Lake, near Wellington, has been yielding good hauls of pickerel. Hazen Stairs and a hook-a-line buddy split ten bonnies between them. From Desoronto comes blurbs that the wall-eye is biting well.

I contacted Mr. Russ Whitfield, wildlife chief at the Tweed headquarters of the Department of Lands and Forests, a gentleman whose word is beyond reproach.

If Mr. Whitfield told me the wall-eyes were biting in Twin Thumb Lake or the Oakbush river, I'd invite the gang for dinner before I went thanking for Pickerel Pete.

"The pickerel are biting well in the Moira River, near Tweed," he said. "Likewise near Napanee."

But reports sifting in from the north, backed up by actual catches, indicate the lake-trout are off their fin-down strike and are ready to partake of angler hospitality.

"The ice is out of all the northern lakes and reports coming to my office state that the fishing is good," said Mr. Whitfield.

"Back in Brule Lake" another informant, possibly with a touch of the Ananias brush, said "the trout were so hungry they practically leaped out of the water at the bait. The seven-hungry lunkers [illegible] future. We came home with ten."

Frank Seymour, I'm told, had luck back in Opeongo this week, bringing home five lovely lakers, one around the five-pound mark.

The word has got around to the wall-eye mob and several are passing up the pickerel to join the big exodus of lake trout anglers over the holiday weekend.

Hazen Stairs and Jackie Wardhaugh head large parties who take off for the northern haunts on the Queen's Birthday respite from toil.

And don't pass up the other trout, Mr. Whitfield told me the rainbows and speckles are craving a spring diet and are rising well to lures.

"Fishing throughout the Tweed district," Mr. Whitfield said, "is generally fair to good. The pickerel hunting is fair; the lake trout fishing good as is that of the rainbows and speckles."

A veteran "trouter" once told me that he had better luck with spoons than any lure. I am no authority on the subject, but history has it that the spoon is the oldest bait on record.

Nearly 300 years ago, says outdoor writer Bob Turnbull, Captain James Cook found Hawaiian natives [illegible] spoons made of shell. Indians and Eskimos even [illegible] had similar baits made of shell, wood or bone. The ancient Romans used polished clam shells [illegible].

An American named Julio Buel, it is claimed, originated the name "spoon." He noticed when a child that when he tossed bright pebbles into a stream, trout would rise to hit them. Next he tried tossing in bits of tin. Again the fish rose. Next he attached hooks to larger pieces of tin. He caught fish.

A few years later, while eating lunch on a riverbank he accidentally dropped a teaspoon in the water. A large fish struck at it. He went home for another spoon and fired a hook to the lip of the bowl, and tied the line to the handle end. He began to catch fish galore. Later he perfected the lure and began commercial production.

Boxox Blank Yanks ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Tribe Zero's Birds

A's Snap Chisox Nine-Game String

By MIKE RATHEY

Minnesota Twins are talking trade, apparently in an effort to bolster their relief pitching. Los Angeles would like to know why.

The Angeles saw four Minnesota relievers Wednesday night but not too many of their pitches, resulting them for only two hits in 7 2-3 innings as the Twins swept a doubleheader 3-1 in 12 innings and 2-1.

Before the twin bill, Twins' president Cal Griffith revealed that he had been discussing a trade with Kansas City.

The Twins presumably might be agreeable to part with one of their sluggers, say Jimmie Hall or Bob Allison, along with a southpaw like Dick Stigman, in return they probably would want one of the Athletics' infielders, Ed Charles or Wayne Causey, plus John Wyatt, the workhorse Kansas City reliever.

The Twins, naturally, would like to get a top reliever of Wyatt's calibre but that fourman relief parlay they threw at the Angeles in the opener got the job done about as effectively as it can be.

Dave Boswell, the Twins starter, allowed only two hits and then Jerry Fosnow, Al Worthington, Bill Pleis and Stigman went hose one better by holding the Angels to one hit over the final six innings.

Then, in the nightcap, Jim Grant needed help, so Worthington came on again and allowed just one hit over the last 1 2-3 innings.

OTHER PITCHERS STAR

It was pitchers' night all around the American League with San McDowell of Cleveland Indians checking Baltimore Orioles 2-0 on three hits, Denny McClain of Detroit Tigers stopping Washington Senators 4-0 on four hits, Jim Lonborg allowing only four in a 3-0 victory by Boston Red Sox over New York Yankees and Kansas City's John O'Donoghue snapping Chicago White Sox' nine-game winning streak with a four-hit, 7-3 triumph.

The Twins won the opener in the 12th when Zoilo Versalles and Sandy Valdespino singled, moved up on a long fly by Rich Rollins and scored on Tony Oliva's single.

In the nightcap, Jerry Zimmerman's single drove in the first run in the second inning and Versalles tripled and scored the decisive run in the fifth on a single by Jerry Kindall.

While McDowell, now 3-2, was handcuffing the Orioles, the Indians nicked Chuck Hiller for four singles and both their runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

McLain, now 2-2, got the only runs he needed to beat the Senators when the Tiers lumped on Bernie Denicki for two runs in the fifth inning.

A's Wynn and Siglin by Georgs Thomas and Don Wert—the first hits off Daniels—produced the first run. Mickey McLain delivered a run-scoring single Lonborg, now 2-2, beat the Yankees for the second straight time with the aid of rookie teammate Rico Petrocelli who stroked two doubles, drove in one run and scored another.

O'Donoghue, winning his first game for the Athletics since April 15, brought his record to 2-2 with the aid of third inning homers by John Blanchard and Bill Bryan.

Lightfoots Win Over Point Anne

Lightfoots Construction chalked up their second straight Commercial Softball League victory last night turning back Point Anne by a 3-1 score.

George Young of Lightfoots and Vern Whalen duelled in twin four hitters with the winners timely clouts deciding the issue.

Young struck out nine and walked five with Whalen whiffing three and strolling six.

Lightfoots grabbed a 1-0 lead in the opening frame and added another in the fourth. The Pointers cut the margin to one run in the same inning. The winners scored the clincher in the sixth.

The Lightfoot bats collected two doubles and a single off Whalen's delivery while the Pointers accounted for a double and three singles off Young.

The winners kicked the ball around twice with Point Anne bobbling once. Lightfoots left six on bases with the losers stranding seven.

The relievers Jack Whiting led the hit parade for Lightfoots with a double and single. Don Bolen collected a double and Don Wood a single.

Gerry Maher blasted out a double for the Pointers with Deanis Maher, Rick Rosebush and Perry Ellis good for singles.

The score —

Lightfoots	100	101	0	—	3	4	2
Point Anne	000	100	0	—	1	4	1

Batteries — Young and Don Wood; Whalen and Eric Maher, David Akey (6).

Umpires Nickel and Kelleher.

S. Warner Trounce Daubers

Stewart Warner made their initial start in the city Commercial Softball League with an impressive one last night by trouncing Ter - Haar Daubers 16-1, at Prince Charles School.

Powers, Leveck and Masters combined on the Stewart Warner mound to pitch a two - hitter Each man hurled three innings.

Pointer and Jeffrey looked after the losers' pitching, tagged for 15 assorted safeties.

B. Jeffrey got both Ter - Haar hits, connecting for a double in the fourth and a single in the sixth.

Floyd Crawford slammed a two-run homer on Stewart Warner's behalf, the only four-bagger of the night.

Gee hit a triple and a double, Turner got a double and two singles and Rowbotham one of each. P. White, Trendall, Brant, Gary Wood, R. Donovan, Powers and Carruthers also hit safely.

Seeks Canadian Mat Title
Ted Pordham Faces Test

Moira Secondary School's 125-pound wrestling ace, Ted Pordham, faces the supreme test of his athletic career tomorrow and Saturday.

Ontario champion in his class, Ted has been named a member of a 16-man Ontario team to take part in the Canadian Amateur Wrestling Championships.

They are slated for the University of British Columbia, Vancouver. Ted joins the team in Toronto tonight.

The first city student to win an Ontario title, Ted will wrestle in the bantam 125-pound class.

Winners in six of the eight championship classes will take part in the world free-style championships scheduled for Manchester, England, June 1-3.

It is not known at this writing if Ted's class is included.

Harry Peace, Toronto, Ontario representative of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, says that Ontario will be represented in each of the eight championship classes except flyweight.

Pordham has compiled an enviable record since he started wrestling three years ago under the supervision of Moira's physical director, David Reid.

In his mat career to date he has won 31 bouts and lost three.

He climaxed a brilliant school record when he won the all-Ontario championship in his class a year ago.

Ted is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pordham, Elmwood Drive.

Leafs Trade Three For Five Wings

Bathgate, Harris Go

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League announced today they have traded three players, including forwards Andy Bathgate and Billy Harris, to Detroit Red Wings for five players, among them veteran defenceman Marcel Pronovost.

The Leafs also sent Gary Jarrett, 22-year-old left winger who played with Tulsa of the Central Professional Hockey League last season, to the Red Wings.

In addition to Pronovost, 34-year-old veteran of 15 seasons with Detroit, the Wings traded for young players to the Leafs, hey are:

Ed Joyal, 25, centre with the Wings the last two seasons; left winger Larry Jeffrey, 24, with Detroit for three years; right winger Lowell MacDonald, 23, with Detroit for one season, and sat Erickson, 27-year-old defenceman who went to the Wings last season in a trade with Chicago Black Hawks.

11 SEASONS IN NHL

Bathgate, 32 - year - old right winger, has been in professional hockey 13 seasons, 11 of them in the NHL. He went to Toronto with centre Don McKenney two years ago in a surprise trade that sent forwards Dick Duff, Bob Nevin and Bill Collins and defencemen Rod Seiling and Arnie Brown to New York Rangers.

Harris, 29, spent 10 seasons as a centre with the Leafs, but saw little action as a regular and was sent to Rochester Americans, Leafs' American Hockey League farm club, late in the 1964-65 season.

Quinte Trap, Gun Club

Cy Gardner registered a perfect 25 score at the Quinte Trap and Gun Club's regular mid-week shoot last evening.

Other good scores were: Earl Marvin 24, Doug Johnston 23, Dr. Jim Hale 22 and George Bates 20.

Regular shoots are held every Wednesday evening, at 6.30, and every Sunday morning, at 10.30.

Trenton Defeats Stirling

TRENTON (Special)—Building an early 6-0 lead, Trenton Commercial Printers made their first start in the Belleville and District Softball League a winning one here last night. They dumped Stirling 8-5.

The Printers got their early lead with single markers in the first and third, sandwiched around two in the second. Stirling ripped back and scored three in the top of the fifth. The visitors threatened to pull ahead until a sharp double play, Manacle to Drake to White, ended the rally.

The winners came back with three runs of their own in the bottom of the inning, Stirling got two in the top of the seventh, making it 7-5, but Trenton sewed it up in their half with a final marker.

Pat Manacle hurled the victory, spacing nine hits over the route. He blew third strikes past 11 batters and issued three walks.

Wayne Shaw toed the rubber for Stirling, allowing 11 safe hits. He chalked ten strikeout victims and walked only one.

The game was cleanly played with but three errors charged, two going to the losers.

Lorn Howatt clouted a bases-empty home run and a single while Don Cole doubled and singled to pace Trenton. Roger Drake and Terry Hutchinson each collected two singles, Bob McAlpine a triple, Pat Marcle and Jim White a double apiece.

Lorn Hagerman sparked Stirling with a double and two singles. Wayne Shaw helped his own cause with a triple and single and Doug Bolte hit a double. Doug Potts, Bob Neal and Don Harris also hit safely.

Bower Picks 'Big Jean'

Give young Belleville a sports celebrity "live" for the first time, and it will pay homage regardless of the uniform he wears.

The dean of National Hockey League goaltenders was in the city yesterday as a feature of the grand opening of Mike Amodeo's new modern Super-Save Market, 242 North Front St.

Johnny was here in connection with the Bell-Kilgour Division of the Dontar Packaging Ltd.

Swarms of hockey mappets were on hand to get their first view of the veteran netminder—and his autograph. And not a few admiring oldsters "got in on the act."

The quiet-spoken, likeable Bower, who will never become famous as an after-dinner speaker was all smiles and handshakes for his young admirers.

Bower played his first pro hockey with the American League, mostly with Cleveland and Providence. After seven seasons he made the grade to the National League ranks.

KNEW GORDIE BELL

Asked if he had seen Gordie Bell who played in the American League at the same time, Johnny looked surprised and said "I didn't know Gordie was here."

Then he added, "Gordie was one of the best—a real tough competitor."

Montreal Canadiens Jean Beliveau was the outstanding performer in the Stanley Cup playoffs, Bower said.

"Big Jean turned in a terrific performance and was one of the main reasons the cup went back to Montreal."

Johnny paid fine tribute to the play of Jim Roberts of the Habitants. "The youngster played like a veteran and his work was one of the outstanding features of the series."

And loyal to the goalie clan, Bower gave Gump Worsley a big pat on the back. "The Gump was outstanding and came through when the chips were down.

National Hockey League records state Johnny was born in Prince Albert, Nov. 8th, 1924. That makes him 41 this year, but that is the least of the Bower troubles. He looks many years younger.

Will he play again next year?

"I have a year to go on my present contract," he said. "I hope to sign another two year contract."

If he does this will make him a 10-year man and hoist him into a nice pension bracket.

Bower made a host of friends here yesterday and probably in the doing added not a few to the already large number of Toronto Maple Leaf buffs of the city.

A taped interview with Jack Devine will be aired over CJBQ on Saturday, starting 12.45 p.m.

Minor Softball Results

In the R.M.S.A.'s powerful division Tuesday night, Hyde and Son Giants outlasted the Woodland Braves 23-18, while the Colts battled to a low-scoring 4-4 tie and the Phillies nipped Barrett's Tigers 13-12.

The Squirt division saw action last night.

In the East Hill section, Redskins topped the Shopping Plaza Rams 16-13, Stephen Leacock Dodgers clobbered Vaughan's Packers 43-3 and Kiddies' Corner Astros dumped the Browns 26-14.

On the West Hill, Cubs shaded Peacock Plastering Cardinals 7-6 while the Mustang-Steelers game was rescheduled for tonight.

Pitching — Sam McDowell, Cleveland Indians, shut out Baltimore Orioles 2-0 on three hits, striking out 10.

Batting—Ron Fairly, Dodgers, hit two-run homer in the 14th inning—his fourth hit of the game—and gave Los Angeles a 4-3 victory over Houston Astros.

Argonauts Sign Nine Canadians

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference Wednesday announced the signing of nine Canadian players, including veteran performers Dave Mann and Jon Rechner.

This group will attend the Argos early training camp which opens at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds June 21.

Mann led the EFC in punts last season, averaging 41.3 yards on 111 punts. His longest punt was 64 yards.

Rechner, a fullback, will be returning for his fourth season.

The other seven Canadians signed are Ted Aldridge, Ed Hulse and George Sirtzger of the Canadian senior football champion Toronto East York Argos; John Rumbray and Bernie Rodwitt of the Montreal NDG Maple Leaf junior club; Peter Thompson of Queen's University and halfback Jim Walters of Montreal intermediate football.

SMALL ARE MANY

Children under five make up 25 per cent of the 2,000,000,000 population of the world's underdeveloped countries.

Bloomfield Blanks Madoc 4-0

BLOOMFIELD (Special) — A strong pitching chore by Carl Stacey sparked Bloomfield to their second Belleville and District League victory in as many nights here Wednesday.

Bloomfield blanked a young Madoc crew 4-0 in a well-played contest.

Stacey hooked up in a pitching duel with Madoc lefty D. Kramp. Each gave up four hits over the nine-inning route.

Stacey fired third strikes past 17 Madoc batters and issued one walk. Kramp claimed half a dozen strikeout victims and did not walk a batter.

Bloomfield broke a scoreless tie with two runs in the fourth, adding singlestrips in the fifth and eighth. Meanwhile Stacey kept the Madoc hits well spaced and got good support.

In the Bloomfield fourth, Frank Forster beat out a bunt single and advanced to second on a misplay. Ron Weese followed with a base hit and Carl Stacey won his own game with a two-run double.

The only other hit Kramp allowed was a single by Gene Yorke in the seventh. A hit batter and wild pitch scored one in the sixth while a dropped fly ball and a ground-out plated the final marker.

M. Dinch hit a double for Madoc with singles going to B. Gray, C. Whiteman and Stickwood.

In tonight's two league games Ellis Juniors travel to Madoc, while Trudeau Motors make their home debut at the Belleville Fairgrounds, against Tweed Lombards, at 8.00 p.m.

Yearling Harness Horses

Glencoe Trainer Rated Tops

MELBOURNE, Ont. (CP) — A wealth of experience and a cart that looks like a Roman chariot have made 58-year-old Gordon Ramsey of nearby Glencoe, one of North America's top trainers of yearling harness horses.

Ramsey gets the yearlings ready for their debuts as two-year - olds for owners racing them at Canadian and U.S. tracks.

Few trainers can match the results he's had at his headquarters in this village 20 miles southwest of London. Several of his horses have earned more than $30,000, but the fastest horse he has broken and schooled is Jerry Hal.

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Langford of Chatham, Jerry Hal already is a Canadian champion pacer. Last Dec. 31, he turned in a 2:03.1 clocking over a mile at Florida's Pompano Park Raceway, the fastest a Canadian - bred two-year-old has run the distance.

Racing as a three-year-old for the Langford's at Northfield Raceway near Cleveland, Ohio, this year, Jerry Hal has lowered his mile mark to 2:00.2.

START EARLY

Ramsey and his assistants, Earl McMaster, Alex Halliday and Bill Nevilles, start working with horses in October of their first year.

After they get used to having a bit in their mouths and equipment on their backs, the horses are introduced to the chariot. This is where they learn to obey commands.

They are hooked up to the chariot and Ramsey or one of his helpers stands inside the vehicle to do the driving.

"Don't sit down, you know," Ramsey explained, peering out from behind spectacles smeared with dust from the Melbourne fairground track. "On the step, it's easy to get off to help the colt if he gets a little frightened and tangled up."

In about two weeks, the horse is ready for a regular sulky.

"That's about all there is to it," Ramsey said. "Then you just go to finding out what breeding and mother nature put into the animal to see how he'll do racing."

Braves Fans Out To See Spahn Pitch

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves, who have been having trouble selling tickets, will open the upper deck at County Stadium for the first time since opening day tonight when Warren Spahn of New York Mets pitches against his former teammates.

POP MUSIC MAKES MONEY

At the height of their popularity, the Victorian light opera collaborators Gilbert and Sullivan made more money each than Prime Minister Gladstone's £10,000 a year.

Rogers Tops Big Field In Judo

TORONTO (CP)—Fifty-eight of Canada's top judo experts, including heavyweight Olympic medallist Doug Rogers of Vancouver, will compete in the Canadian championship here Saturday.

Rogers, 24, winner of a second - place silver medal for Canada in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, will fly here from Japan where he is attending university and studying judo. The 255-pound Truro, N.S., native will defend his Canadian over - all championship.

Every province except Newfoundland will be represented with Ontario and Quebec sending the largest contingents, 12 each. British Columbia will have nine competitors.

Results will help determine Canada's representatives in the world judo championships in Rio de Janeiro Oct. 17-18.

PUT A TIGER IN YOUR TANK!

ALL-OUT QUALITY ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE BOOSTS POWER THREE WAYS:

1 Cleaning Power! Deposits can clog even a new carburetor in a few months of normal operation—causing hard starting and rough idling. Esso Extra will start to clear away these deposits—in new engines or old—to improve power and mileage.

2 Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. Esso Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits to help your engine fire smoothly, to help preserve the power of new cars and restore lost power to many older cars.

3 Octane Power! Esso Extra has the high octane that high-compression cars now need for full smooth performance without knocking. You'll get all these extras with all-out quality Esso Extra gasoline—it puts a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!

Teen-age Canada
Many Canadian Parents Try to Label Teeners

Shaggy haircuts, sported above, by the Rolling Stones, don't represent Canadian youth, says a Teen-Age Canada reader.

By JACK HUTTON

Do adults seize upon examples of an eccentric teen-age minority to comfort themselves that the next generation isn't so smart after all?

And is this why they are eager to agree that Beatle haircuts, and thrill-seekers are typical of an entire Canadian generation?

One of our readers, Bryce Dyer, just finishing his first year at the University of Toronto, suspects so. His letter arrived shortly after our column on the tendency of adults to fit labels on the teen years.

It so impressed me that I'd almost consider it required reading for all Canadian parents who have or will someday have sons or daughters in that wide age group between 13 and 20.

But I'll let his letter speak for itself. (I've had to abbreviate it slightly, so if you want to contact him directly his address is 16 Killdeer Crescent, Toronto 17, Ont.)

REASONS OBVIOUS

"Of course many Canadian parents do try to label all teenagers with categories that apply to only a minority. The reasons for this are blatantly obvious.

"First of all we must consider the everyday mass media — radio, newspapers, magazines, and television. Which teen-agers do we hear and read about?

"We receive information concerning Beatle-boys, motorcycle gangs and drop-outs. What could be worse than a reporter's story concerning the ideas of a president of a student council? The public would prefer to read about a boy's hair being six inches long and dirty, and messy.

"Oftentimes the only things people are told about the younger generation are the bad things. Isn't this psychologically natural?

"Secretly inside we all like to feel or anticipate that we are a little better than our sons and daughters are or will be. 'Things were better in my day' must be a hackneyed cliche that has dripped from the mouth of many an adult.

"We triumph when we find a concrete example to prove our theories.

"Our parents reason as follows: In our day we dressed neatly with well-trimmed hair. Look at some of these boys. What is the matter with the teen-ager of today, the younger generation? The haircuts of a few jeopardize the position that all the young occupy in the minds of many parents.

DIFFICULT TO ACCEPT

"Is it also not true that people, or Canadians, are basically pro status quo and small 'c' conservatives at heart? Change is difficult for our parents to accept.

"They try to measure a new era with an old rusty measure of values.

"Our parents took the street-car to formals because they had no cars to use. It was not a matter of rightness or wrongness of using a car; there simply were far fewer to be used. Adults must cease to become aggravated by things they see happening today that are different than in their day.

"Adults also find it difficult to be objective. They are subjective when they look at a young person. If that person is like them or does things that they did, then he or she is a good citizen.

"But should the individual in question be radically different the first impression is one of disgust mixed with horror. The conservative adult, when he meets a new breed and cannot understand it, labels it a menace to society.

"Finally, it is human nature once again to notice the different, the unique and the extraordinaire. One would not particularly notice what color of tie a next door but would certainly notice the one man in the same room without a tie.

"So the Beatle haircut, the hood, the boozer and the fluke are different. They are noticeable. They provide concrete material to feed the ego-building arguments of parents who must make sure they cannot only be better than a few of the younger generation but all of them."

Thanks, Bryce, for a very able defence of the majority.

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — The game between Nancy Kwan and John Fraser turns out to be a love game in "Tamahine," MGM-Seven Arts romantic-comedy of a Polynesian girl whom circumstances transplant to a British public school where the customs and morals are far different from those of the South Sea Islands. The picture was filmed in CinemaScope and color on locations in England, Paris and the island of Bora-Bora. The romantic comedy hit is showing Tonight and Friday at the Belleville Drive-In Theatre. 2nd feature attraction also in color "Where Love Has Gone", stars Susan Hayward, Bette Davis and Michael Connors.

Some New Organized Sports Being Added to Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—What network television wants — and needs—are some new organized sports, preferably ones with championship playoffs.

ABC came up with a new one Wednesday: The U.S. skateboard championship playoffs, which it will televise May 29.

Roone Arledge, network vice-president in charge of sports, said that with television's desire to cover spectator games, "a great premium has been placed on all the very large, established sporting events."

He estimates that "premium" is quadrupling in price over a four-year period for the TV rights to the popular sports — baseball, football, golf and a few others.

With all three networks interested there is a frantic, worldwide search for new, "telegenic" sports.

WILL SHOW RALLY

NBC will broadcast the Monte Carlo auto rally Sunday night. Meanwhile, ABC will broadcast the Le Mans auto race June 15-16. The Indianapolis 500 is all tied up for a closed circuit broadcast to theatres around the continent.

His personal definition of an interesting spectator sport: "An event that takes the crises in average people's lives, distills them and puts them into a game, so the players are forced to face them at a pre-determined time."

ABC's search for sports to televise will lead to coverage of the Irish Sweepstakes Derby June 26 and the U.S.-Russian track meet in Moscow in July.

Studies indicate that close to half of the audience of the average sport show (as opposed to the coverage of a special event) consists of women. Arledge thinks they are more interested in "the panorama and spectacle than the contest itself."

Parachute jumping for sport, while most colorful, is about the most difficult sport to cover, Arledge says, while hockey is the game least successfully exploited with the TV viewers. But baseball, with football the most famously covered sport of all, is the game he wishes could be speeded up for the benefit of the viewers.

"With all the competition, TV has created a sort of sports monster," Arledge admitted. "But we're all learning to live comfortably with it."

Blackman has been signed to a five year contract by Harry Saltzman and Albert R. Broccoli, producers of the popular James Bond series. Her first "Pron Russia With Love") were the first two — and there are seven more to go! In "Goldfinger", Honor is the pilot of Arch-criminal Aurie Goldfinger, who plots to rob, of all places, Fort Knox!

Honor Blackman is Love Interest in

BOND'S "GOLDFINGER"

A top-rated British television series called "The Avengers" made Honor Blackman famous as a black-booted, leather-clad heroine — but she is destined for American immortality as Pussy Galore in the latest James Bond Technicolor thriller, "Goldfinger", now attracting large audiences to the Belle Theatre. Again starring Sean Connory as the dapper agent 007, "Goldfinger" has Miss Blackman as a man-hating girl flyer who succumbs to the romantic attentions of the irresistible, indestructable James Bond.

A former Rank contract star, Miss Blackman's film credits include "Fame is the Spur", "Quartet", and "A Night to Remember." More recently she has concentrated mainly upon stage and television work, since her last screen role as the governess Hera in "Jason and the Argonauts."

Daughter of Henry Fonda Well Received in France

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With pouty face, long, laffy - bured tresses and hip-hugging pants, she looked like the latest movie star from France as she paraded down the steps to the Beverly Hills Hotel pool.

But when she spoke, the tones were not left bank but eastern finishing school. She is Jane Fonda, daughter of film star Henry Fonda.

The French influence is no doubt the result of Jane's romance with the French people, and, on a more personal basis, with Roger Vadim, the mentor and former husband of Brigitte Bardot. He has been visiting Jane here.

The second - generation actress, on a day off from the to Marlon Brando film The Chase, talked about such things as France and being a second-generation actress.

Reports from Paris indicate that she has been well received in France.

HAS EXPLANATION

How does she explain it?

"It's very simple: My father," she said. "I knew he was popular, but I never realized what a hold he had on Europeans. He is loved everywhere, even in Russia, where War and Peace and Grapes of Wrath were very popular. They love him in France and other countries because he made social pictures.

"That admiration was naturally transferred to me. And I couldn't be more grateful."

She admitted there might be other elements as well, such as the fact that she didn't just pass through France, she stayed.

She not only established herself in a Paris apartment; she bought a farm 45 minutes from the city and converted it to a home for herself. She still has both—as well as her own New York apartment and a rented house at Malibu.

"But I'm not an expatriate by any means," she said. "I still am very much American and will stay that way."

La Fonda made two pictures in France, but it remained for a basic American horse opera to shift her screen into high gear. She stars in Cat Ballou, a raucous western that has drawn as many critical hurrahs as any film in 1965 so far.

"It's quite a new experience for me," said Jane. "I've been in films that made money but got poor reviews—like A Walk on the Wild Side, The Chapman Report, Sunday in New York. I've been in films that got good reviews but weren't well received. This is the first time I seem to be in a picture that gets both."

PLAY SET NEAR HOME

A stage version of Anne of Green Gables will be performed this year in the Confederation Theatre at Charlottetown.
